Topic: 1 Message: 1

Hello,

The moderator of the AmateurRadioOnLine_PandM_Net group has changed the group's name.
This means that both the group's email address and the group home page location have changed.

The group email address:
WA1UOL_PandM_Net@yahoogroups.com

The group home page location:
http://groups.yahoo.com/group/WA1UOL_PandM_Net

If you have links which point to this group or an address book entry for the group, you should update them, as the old addresses will no longer work.

Regards,

Well..........Peter......

That particular plane is partially parallel to the perplexingly perpendicular pendulum of pompousity, pinned painfully to the pectorals of the proverbial procrastinating perpitrator !

Perfectly presented......??Or perhaps... plainly preposterous?

Prismatically Pink.....PHLOYD.

Incidentally, in as much as I missed the ceremony, could an innocent observer please inform me as to which Royal Title actually was bestowed upon me? Should I be referred to as Sir, or Duke, or perhaps Earl, nay, ... methinks it must be Lord....Lord Guttersnipe !
Yes, that truly must be it.....Lord Guttersnipe, what an appealing ring that fine moniker brings forth. 'Tis truly a blessing from Heaven sent upon Royal Wings.

The plan of which I have spoken of does not sound like the same plane of which you speak.
The one of which you speak sounds like the ultimate high plane. The one of which I speak was made of man. Parts of this plane seem to be falling off!!!

Your attention, please !!

Courtesy of webmaster Rob, the KD1XP Repeater Group now has a streaming audio feed of the 145.13 2M Repeater available on the world wide web!!!!! go to www.kd1xp.org and click on streaming audio or go directly to http://www.kd1xp.org/145.13.asx

after loading, windows media player will play the audio from the repeater with several seconds of delay (of course, if the repeater is not in use ,you won't hear anything) this will allow anyone who wants to,
to monitor the repeater from their computer from any location Great for business trips and vacations!

jill kb1gsd reports that it works fine on mac's too and tony kc0ikk was so excited to hear all his old friends from way out in st .louis missouri

MARCUS N5OMV.......this will allow you to monitor our sstv net on tuesday nights way down in texas !!!!!!!
let us know how the pictures come thru!

the possibilities are endless...... have fun and enjoy this new innovation of the evergrowing KD1XP Repeater Group
give it a try soon

First, let me welcome all the new members to the newsgroup, and express my apologies to all those who have been offended by the recent posts and events!
Hopefully this will be the last of the posts on these subjects, but I feel I must speak out about the situations.
And a warm welcome back to our friend Marcus, thank you so much for rejoining!
Please remember that the opinions expressed in this forum are only those of the writers and are not, necessarily, those of KD1XP or the other members of the KD1XP Repeater Group.

Dear Alvah

I am replying to your recent letter under separate cover, as I will not be a party to propagating your viscious, slanderous rumors, and I vigorously object to you using this newsgroup as your own personal Mt. Tom political battleground.
I recommend that you retract that evil letter and apologize to the group, or I will remove it from the archives! If you wish to establish a group of your own for your Mt. Tom in-fighting, I will be happy to help get you started.
That whole episode is an utter embarassment to Ham Radio, and, as you all threaten to intensify the actions with lawyers and federal agencies, the results will be disasterous to all our interests! There appears to be some fault shared by all involved, and perhaps for the good of all, the matter should be forgiven and forgotten. Perhaps, resignations by all, and a fresh start for your club is in order.
As for your repeated abuse of my character, and your childish name-calling, both on and off the air, I will tolerate NO MORE!! It stops here and now! I have tried to make light of your insults and labels, and laugh it off with creative joking, but these latest episodes go over the limit! I grow very tired of your myopic tunnel-vision view of all events, your continued abuse of many individuals, and your whining accusations about what others are doing to you, when your words most closely resemble the treatment you dish out to virtually everyone with whom you have contact.
I do , however, rather enjoy the many unintentional ways in which you defeat your own arguments. They may not be apparent to you in your fits of blind anger, but they are rather striking to the unemotional reader!
Please be advised that my call is WA1UOL and not WA1LOU.....I'm sure that Stan at ARRL does not wish to be associated with this nonsense and would not appreciate your mentioning of his call.
You would not recognize me if I stood in front of you, yet you lash out at me repeatedly for my supposed transgressions. I have done nothing to you, other than try to maintain order and mutual respect in these newsgroups. But your delusions of grandure, and perpetual superiority complex, will allow no one to speak even slightly contrary to your views, lest they invoke the wrath of Your Royal Highness!
Alvah the Second,..... King #1, with Too Much Authority,.....how appropriate a title!
Perhaps not as appealing to the ear as Lord Guttersnipe, but infinitely more accurate.
As for your recent fifteen minute on the air assault on my character, to which I was alerted by several hams, I was only fortunate enough to hear the last few comments regarding your desire to meet me without my entourage of body guards and dispatch me with one swift kick to a certain area. I have no bodyguards, my friend, and usually, only travel to ham events with my twelve year old son Bobby, but I respectfully decline your invitation as I have no desire for violence in any arena. I do, however, object to being publicly threatened with bodily harm and will be investigating the remaining content of your ravings!

Perhaps a lengthy course in anger management, would help soothe your irritated nerves and better protect the interests of Ham Radio in general. I sincerely hope you never speak out against me or anyone else in that fashion ever again.

As for your remaining comments in your disgusting recent letter, I strongly object to your comparison of me to Adolph Hitler, although everyone has had a much needed belly laugh when realizing that a pompous authority, such as yourself, can not even correctly spell the six letter proper name of perhaps the world's most notorious villain. And not once, but several times.....perhaps you should proof read your rantings before presenting them publicly and causing yourself further embarassment.

Exploring further, we find the concept that guttersnipes are often and rightfully eliminated by the proper authorities, how should I interpret that innuendo? With your inflated view of yourself as the ultimate authority figure, should I construe this to be another threat to my continued existence?

However, the most vile comment I discovered was in regard to your insinuations that I might be destroying the lives of my own children. I have two wonderful children and anyone who knows me, soon realizes what a devoted and caring father I am. My wife and I have done a very commendable job in raising my daughter and son in a proper manner. I pray I can find in my heart the strength to forgive you for that horrible misrepresentation.

Hopefully for all concerned, this will be the last posting on any of these subjects and soon we can all return to our normal lives and interests. Please leave the personal attacks and the Mt.Tom politics to some other venue and remember that what we do always reflects on Amateur Radio in general.

Best wishes to all

If I understand the intent, it is:

Lighten up!

I heartily support this concept. Now that I'm officially an Old Fart (tm), and I look back over 25 years of mostly great people/things and a few piles of over-the-air (or otherwise) dung, it is helpful to remember this simple fact: the radio has a power switch. Use it.

North American Mushroom Poisoning Case Registry

The North American Mushroom Poisoning Case Registry invites reports whenever anyone experiences or encounters symptomatic or potentially symptomatic contacts with mushrooms.

The Registry, which is sponsored by the North American Mycological Association (www.namyco.org), through the NAMA Toxicology Committee, seeks data from as broad a base as possible including but not limited to the mycological (amateur and professional), medical, outdoor/recreational and environmental communities.

For information and submitting reports the Registry's website is (www.sph.umich.edu/~kwcee/mpcr);

Funding Amateur Science
There is no reason that we, as members of an official research and educational organization, cannot write grants proposals to funding agencies and organizations. Look for a funding opportunity that pertains to your research and make the attempt. My recommendation would be to get a good book on Grant-Writing.

George Hrabovsky

In all due respect, I think you are naive. For several years, in the middle to late 80's, I was actively seeking out funds for my scientific research with the Armed Forces and the National Science Foundation and repeatedly ran into one mess after another until I had gathered enough evidence to prove conspiracy and the operation of the "Good O'Boys' Network."

With enough experience, through time, you will begin to recognize the "Good O'Boys' Network" as a psychiatric disorder, probably related to the personality disorder we call "inadequate personality." It means, when two or more people are living and working closely together, they lose sight of the responsibilities and begin to perceive people, outside of their "network", as a threat or intruder.

This happened to me when I tried to receive grants from the NSF. When I had enough evidence, I brought it to the attention of my state senator, Mike Knapik, who took it before the Attorney General's office. Immediately, there was a criminal investigation by the FBI and subsequently several people were arrested, prosecuted and convicted of conspiracy. It was reported they were awarding grants only to their "friends" and "friend's friends" -- the "Good O'Boys!"

What surprised me, however, was the fact there was indeed an criminal investigation, prosecution and conviction. Usually, when I report a crime among government officials, the immediate tendency is to ignore me.

I don't know the answer to your question. I understand the NSF has been thoroughly re-organized. As to whether or not it works more honestly in its granting system, I can not say. It was around 1990 when I had burnt out and decided to stop seeking out grants. I had no level playing field! And I was getting tired of it!

I was also running into people, in high positions, making neurotic reactions to my intellectuality and intellectual and scientific accomplishments. The strength of my emotional and intellectual personality would almost consistently intimidate them even though it was not my intention and I had no desire to intimidate anyone. At the same time, while in the middle of these neurotic -- and sometimes psychotic -- reactions, they would deny me a level playing field on the grounds of a lack of credentials. It was their prejudice, if I were not educated in the conventional university programs, then I didn't have the education to carry out a scientific investigation (though they had access to enormous documentation to prove otherwise). I am self-taught all the way to a doctorate and have the equivalent of a doctorate in physics and computer science.

While denying I had the capability to examine a scientific investigation; to handle all of the mathematics and managerial responsibilities and to work out relationships mathematically, they were making neurotic and psychotic reactions to these capabilities they had denied while continually denying their prejudice or the existence of psychological problems. "If one does not go to school to study a subject, then one can not become an expert on the subject. To become an expert on anything, it is first necessary to study in the same way they did; in the same kind of educational structure and conventional university programs ... Anyone who asserts a capability to do the same thing as they can do, without going through the same university programs, is a fraud or fool ...," they believe. They deny such a belief; however, their behavior reveals the existence of their belief and contradicts their statements to the contrary.

I don't have a solution. I tried working with a local university and ran into the same prejudice with some of the professors. Some people have tried lying about their credentials and it works as long as no one takes the time to research them. In my instance, everyone assumes I have a doctorate or two and treats me accordingly until I file an application for something, such as a grant. Then all hell breaks loose!

Perhaps the solution is to make these people more aware of their prejudice and to demand a more level playing field? When I get angry with such people, I demand they see a psychiatrist and stop bluffing their way through life. In time, if I am really very persistent and strong enough, they will break down and sometimes resign or retire out of frustration. But that has never been my original intention. My original intention has always been a desire to receive a level playing field.

Respectfully,

Alvah Buckmore, Jr.,

Great read. Good for a long laugh!!!!

Good O'l Boys Network Revisited

Dear Johann Joss:

Your comments were most interesting to me and, I thought, insightful. I am curious, however. What is your nationality or country of origin?

The comment you made in reference to the threat I would face criminal prosecution for reporting, or attempting to report, criminal conduct reminds me of several countries in the world, particularly the formal Soviet Union ("organized crime using government as a front'") and the present Communist China.

Presently, I am going through a phase of studying every constitution in the world today. China's Constitution is written within the framework of an ideological belief system, which doesn't work, and has given the citizen sweeping civil rights -- such as the right to conduct scientific research -- but then allows the Government the power to take away these rights if the citizen's exercise of his rights runs counter to the interpretation of their belief system.

India's Constitution is just as useless. In each article of civil rights, there is a following article giving the Government the right to take away the right for a variety of reasons, such as "national security."

The American Constitution was written without a belief system in mind. It was meant to allow everyone a level playing field in life. This is nice! Of course! Actually, it is absolutely beautiful and I sincerely appreciate the work and effort of our Founding Fathers.

However, it was written well over 200 years ago in a age of great poverty and economic and technological primitiveness. There was no way these Founding Fathers could possibly anticipate the enormous development in the next 200 years. They were trying to design a political system that would avoid or prevent the kind of abuse of power common in their days (through the separation of the legislative, executive and judicial branches of government). It works, too! They obviously did their homework.

We no longer have that kind of abuse of power, such as death squads running amuck through-out the country, as is common through-out most of South America and a good deal of the rest of the world.

But, over a period of time, other problems have developed which our Constitution was not designed to handle, most notably the problem of "false advocacy", people making their careers in areas of political controversy in which they have no measure of competence. I am thinking of subjects such as gun-control, the environment, crime, sex, homo sexuality, hunting, trapping, etc.

I am an expert on the gun-control controversy, guns and the science of ballistics. I can assure you, Johann, almost every article on the gun-control controversy I see on television or read in the newspapers is completely incompetent and dishonest. In each instance, the motivation and drive responsible for these people writing this material, who make their careers in this controversy, is simply a quest for power, influence and wealth. But our Constitution was written to protect the citizen from the abuse of power by the Government -- not by another citizen. Our Founding Fathers could not have possibly anticipated such a development. When we find ourselves a victim of the "Good O'Boys' Network", it is the direct results of this deficiency.

Our Constitution was designed to prevent only certain kinds of political abuses, a results of an accurate analysis of these certain abuses. It was not written as a direct results of a comprehensive study and analysis of the abuse of power, per se. That may not have been possible in their days. They lived in a totally different world than we live today. So we have to look at it from their world viewpoint in their period of history -- not ours!

But, nevertheless, I have been subject to a great deal of abuse by both Government and the private citizen. I have been maliciously prosecuted 7 times in my life and falsely imprisoned three times.

Twenty seven years, when I was a field-commissioned officer in the United States Army, trained in nuclear weapons, I inadvertently found myself an eye-witness to some very serious crime among very, very high-ranking military officers. I was held prisoner for four months under difficult living conditions. When I managed to manipulate myself out of this situation and got home, I found my military records had been significantly altered and references to my commission, training in nuclear weapons, secret security clearance and education had been purged and, in its place, false and highly inflammatory psychiatric material. I found legal documentation to certify I had a history of serious psychiatric disorders prior to my entry into the United States Army. Of course, that was impossible.

From 1975 to 1988 I was involved in a program to remove these false records and to re-insert the correct material. When I sued the United States, I soon discovered, I had no level playing field. The defendant United States communicates with the court to get a decision in the favor of the defendant and, when I appealed to the Appellate Division and, finally, to the Supreme Court of the United States, I found a continuity of conspiracy travelling from the lower court to the court of appeals to the Supreme Court.

Finally, after enormous stress and work, I was able to publish one -- only one -- article describing my situation in court. Within days, some judges were forced to resign, most notably Chief Judge Alex Kozinski of the U.S. Court of Claims and Chief Justice Warren Burger of the Supreme Court.

Both of those men had been part of a criminal conspiracy to deny me the right to receive justice; to report crime; and, particularly, to correct and remove the false psychiatric material from my military records.

Now, you know the reason I don't have a doctorate in physics and computer science.

I was not allowed the opportunity to earn any college degree! You can research me in Who's Who, if you like, for some proof if you need it.

Alvah Buckmore, Jr.

hi marcus
we'd all love to send you some of our snow and cold temps......
15 below zero yesterday am 12 below this am sunday even colder by midweek you probably can't imagine how cold that really is!!!

also can you tell the group about your setup for receiving sstv over the web on the streaming audio link??

i think you're using a laptop and a desktop to run media player on one then feeding audio into second for mmsstv.....??? a good description may help others do the same....thanks
i wonder if it would be possible to do it on one desktop running two sound cards??? or anybody else have any ideas ??
thanks and best wishes

A few days ago I was having some work done at my local garage when a blonde came in and asked for a seven-hundred-ten. We all looked at each other and another customer asked, "What is a seven-hundred-ten?" She replied, "You know, the little piece in the middle of the engine, I have lost it and need a new one." She replied that she did not know exactly what it was, but this piece had always been there. The mechanic gave her a piece of paper and a pen and asked her to draw what the piece looked like. She drew a circle and in the middle of it wrote 710. He then took her over to another car which had its hood up and asked "is there a 710 on this car?" She pointed and said, "Of course, its right there."

Maybe because nobody has changed the picture or anything else on this page in months.

AS I MATURE
I've learned that you cannot make someone love you. All you can do is stalk them and hope they panic and give in.

I've learned that no matter how much I care, some people are just assholes.

I've learned that it takes years to build up trust, and it only takes suspicion, not proof, to destroy it.

I've learned that you can get by on charm for about fifteen minutes.
After that, you'd better have a big weenie or huge boobs.

I've learned that you shouldn't compare yourself to others -- they are more screwed up than you think.

I've learned that you can keep puking long after you think you're finished.

I've learned that we are responsible for what we do, unless we are celebrities.

I've learned that regardless of how hot and steamy a relationship is at first, the passion fades, and there had better be a lot of money to take its place.

I've learned that the people you care most about in life are taken from you too soon and all the less important ones just never go away.

Pass this along to 5 friends...trust me, they'll appreciate it. Who knows, maybe something good will happen.

If not...tough shit

WA1UOL@...

Two Tough Questions - read to the end

Question 1:

If you knew a woman who was pregnant, who had 8 kids already, three who were deaf, two who were blind, one mentally retarded, and she had syphilis, would you recommend that she have an abortion?

Read the next question before looking at the answer for this one.

Question 2:

It is time to elect a new world leader, and only your vote counts. Here are the facts about the three leading candidates.

Candidate A -

Associates with crooked politicians, and consults with astrologists.
He's had two Mistresses. He also chain smokes and drinks 8 to 10 martinis a day.

Candidate B -

He was kicked ou t of office twice, sleeps until noon, used opium in college and drinks a quart of whiskey every evening.

Candidate C -

He is a decorated war hero. He's a vegetarian, doesn't smoke, drinks an occasional beer and never cheated on his wife.

Which of these candidates would be your Choice?

Decide first, no peeking, then scroll down for the answer.

Candidate A: is Franklin D. Roosevelt.
Candidate B: is Winston Churchill.
Candidate C: is Adolph Hitler.

And, by the way, the answer to the abortion question: If you said yes, you just killed Beethoven.

Pretty interesting isn't it? Makes a person think before judging someone.

Never be afraid to try something new.

Remember:

Amateurs built the Ark

Professionals built the Titanic and in case you never saw this one......

Can you imagine working for a company that has a little more than 500 employees and has the following statistics:

* 29 have been accused of spousal abuse
* 7 have been arrested for fraud
* 19 have been accused of writing bad checks
* 117 have directly or indirectly bankrupted at least 2 businesses
* 3 have done time for assault
* 71 cannot get a credit card due to bad credit
* 14 have been arrested on drug-related charges
* 8 have been arrested for shoplifting
* 21 are currently defendants in lawsuits
* 84 have been arrested for drunk driving in the last year

Can you guess which organization this is?

Give up yet?

It's the 535 members of the United States Congress. The same group of idiots that crank out hundreds of new laws each year designed to keep the rest of us in line.

You gotta pass this on.....

what would some of these guys do with REAL radios that have tubes and individual components?

probably send them back to the factory for repair and realignment?

some of those reports this morning should be translated as:

Dennis,........
My radio is much better than yours, and I really don't know what those numbers on the dial actually mean, ...but you're WAY off frequency and it must be your fault!
I had to touch my dial and some numbers changed, and I don't like that.......

Subject: Our President

Date: Wed, 1 Oct 2003 21:21:44 EDT

I attacked and took over two countries.

I spent the U.S. surplus and bankrupted the US Treasury.

I shattered the record for the biggest annual deficit in history (not easy!).

I set an economic record for the most personal bankruptcies filed in any 12 month period.

I set all-time record for the biggest drop in the history of the stock market.

I am the first president in decades to execute a federal prisoner.

In my first year in office I set the all-time record for most days on vacation by any president in US history (tough to beat my dad's, but I did).

After taking the entire month of August off for vacation, I presided over the worst security failure in US history.

I set the record for most campaign fund raising trips by any president in US history.

In my first two years in office over 2 million Americans lost their jobs.

I cut unemployment benefits for moreout-of-work
Americans than any other president in US history.

I set the all-time record for most real estate foreclosures in a 12-month period.

I appointed more convicted criminals to administration positions than any president in US history.

I set the record for the fewest press conferences of any president, since the advent of TV.

I signed more laws and executive orders amending the Constitution than any other US president in history.

I presided over the biggest energy crises in US history and refused to intervene when corruption was revealed.

I cut health care benefits for war veterans.

I set the all-time record for most people worldwide to simultaneously take to the streets to protest me (15 million people), shattering the record for protest against any person in the history of mankind.

I dissolved more international treaties than any president in US history.

I've made my presidency the most secretive and unaccountable of any in US history.

Members of my cabinet are the richest of any administration in US history. (The poorest multimillionaire, Condoleeza Rice, has a Chevron oil tanker named after her.)

I am the first president in US history to have all 50 states of the Union simultaneously struggle against bankruptcy.

I presided over the biggest corporate stock market fraud in any market in any country in the history of the world.

I am the first president in US history to order a US attack AND military occupation of a sovereign nation, and I did so against the will of the United Nations and the vast majority of the international community. (and to add something else, I am now asking those countries to help pay for the clean up and to establish a new government)

I have created the largest government department bureaucracy in the history of the United States, called the "Bureau of Homeland Security"(only one letter away from BS).

I set the all-time record for biggest annual budget spending increases, more than any other president in US history. (Ronnie was tough to beat, but I did it!!).

I am the first president in US history to compel the United Nations remove the US from the Human Rights Commission.

I am the first president in US history to have the United Nations remove the US from the Elections Monitoring Board.

I removed more checks and balances, and have the least amount of congressional oversight than any presidential administration in US history.

I rendered the entire United Nations irrelevant.

I withdrew from the World Court of Law.

I refused to allow inspectors access to US prisoners of war and by default no longer abide by the Geneva Conventions.

I am the first president in US history to refuse United Nations election inspectors access during the 2002 US elections.

I am the all-time US (and world) record holder for most corporate campaign donations.

The biggest lifetime contributor to my campaign, who is also one of my best friends, presided over one of the largest corporate bankruptcy frauds in world history (Kenneth Lay, former CEO of Enron Corporation).

I spent more money on polls and focus groups than any president in US history.

I am the first president to run and hide when the US came under attack (and then lied, saying the enemy had the code to Air Force 1)

I am the first US president to establish a secret shadow government.

I took the world's sympathy for the US after 9/11, and in less than a year made the US the most resented country in the world (possibly the biggest diplomatic failure in US and world history).

I am the first US president in history to have a majority of the people of Europe (71%) view my presidency as the biggest threat to world peace and stability.

I changed US policy to allow convicted criminals to be awarded government contracts. I set the all-time record for the number of administration appointees who violated US law by not selling their huge investments in corporations bidding for gov't contracts.

I have removed more freedoms and civil liberties for Americans than any other president in US history.

I entered office with the strongest economy in US history and in less than two years turned every single economic category heading straight down.

RECORDS AND REFERENCES:
I have at least one conviction for drunk driving in Maine (Texas driving record has been erased and is not available).

I was AWOL from the National Guard and deserted the military during time of war.

I refuse to take a drug test or even answer any questions about drug use.

All records of my tenure as governor of Texas have been spirited away to my fathers library, sealed in secrecy and unavailable for public view.

All records of any SEC investigations into my insider trading or bankrupt companies are sealed in secrecy and unavailable for public view.

All minutes of meetings of any public corporation for which I served on the board are sealed in secrecy and unavailable for public view.

Any records or minutes from meetings I (or my VP) attended regarding public energy policy are sealed in secrecy and unavailable for public review.

GEORGE W. BUSH
The White House,
Washington, DC

(Note: this information should be useful to voters in the 2004 election.
Circulate to as many citizens you think would be helped to be reminded about this record)

55. A dam funny letter

This P and M comes to us from my friend Bob Stone!

~This is an actual letter sent to a man named Ryan DeVries by the Michigan Department of Environmental Quality, State of Michigan. This guy's response is hilarious, but read the State's letter before you get to the response letter.~
SUBJECT: DEQ File No.97-59-0023; T11N; R10W, Sec. 20; Montcalm

Dear Mr. DeVries:

It has come to the attention of the Department of Environmental Quality that there has been recent unauthorized activity on the above referenced parcel of property. You have been certified as the legal landowner and/ or contractor who did the following unauthorized activity: Construction and maintenance of two wood debris dams across the outlet stream of Spring Pond. A permit must be issued prior to the start of this type of activity. A review of the Department's files shows that no permits have been issued. Therefore, the Department has determined that this activity is in violation of Part 301, Inland Lakes and Streams, of the Natural Resource and Environmental Protection Act, Act 451 of the Public Acts of 1994, being sections 324.30101 to 324.30113 of the Michigan Compiled Laws, annotated.

The Department has been informed that one or both of the dams partially failed during a recent rain event, causing debris and flooding at downstream locations. We find that dams of this nature are inherently hazardous and cannot be permitted. The Department therefore orders you to cease and desist all activities at this location, and to restore the stream to a free-flow condition by removing all wood and brush forming the dams from the stream channel.

All restoration work shall be completed no later than January 31, 2003. Please notify this office when the restoration has been completed so that a follow-up site inspection may be scheduled by our staff. Failure to comply with this request or any further unauthorized activity on the site may result in this case being referred for elevated enforcement action.

We anticipate and would appreciate your full cooperation in this matter. Please feel free to contact me at this office if you have any questions.

Sincerely,

David L. Price,
District Representative Land and Water Management Division

~ This is the actual response sent back: ~

Dear Mr. Price,

Re: DEQ File No. 97-59-0023; T11N; R10W, Sec. 20; Montcalm County.

Your certified letter dated 12/17/02 has been handed to me to respond to. I am the legal landowner but not the Contractor at 2088 Dagget, Pierson, Michigan. A couple of beavers are in the (State unauthorized) process of constructing and maintaining two wood "debris" dams across the outlet stream of my Spring Pond.

While I did not pay for, authorize, nor supervise their dam project, I think they would be highly offended that you call their skilful use of nature's building materials "debris." I would like to challenge your department to attempt to emulate their dam project any time and/or any place you choose. I believe I can safely state there is no way you could ever match their dam skills, their dam resourcefulness, their dam ingenuity, their dam persistence, their dam determination and/or their dam work ethic.

As to your request, I do not think the beavers are aware that they must first fill out a dam permit prior to the start of this type of dam activity.

My first dam question to you is:

(1) Are you trying to discriminate against my Spring Pond Beavers?

(2) do you require all beavers throughout this State to conform to said dam request?

If you are not discriminating against these particular beavers, through the Freedom of Information Act, I request completed copies of all those other applicable beaver dam permits that have been issued. Perhaps we will see if there really is a dam violation of Part 301, Inland Lakes and Streams, of the Natural Resource and Environmental Protection Act, Act 451 of the Public Acts of 1994, being" sections 32430101 to 324.30113 of the Michigan Compiled Laws, annotated.

I have several concerns. My first concern is -- aren't the beavers entitled to legal representation? The Spring Pond Beavers are financially destitute and are unable to pay for said representation-so the State will have to provide them with a dam lawyer. The Department's dam concern that either one or both of the dams failed during a recent rain event causing flooding is proof that this is a natural occurrence , which the Department is required to protect. In other words, we should leave the Spring Pond Beavers alone rather than harassing them and calling their dam names.

If you want the stream "restored" to a dam free-flow condition please contact the beavers - but if you are going to arrest them, they obviously did not pay any attention to your dam letter-they being unable to read English. In my humble opinion, the Spring Pond Beavers have a right to build their unauthorized dams as long as the sky is blue, the grass is green and water flows downstream. They have more dam rights than I do to live and enjoy Spring Pond. If the Department of Natural Resources and Environmental Protection lives up to its name, it should protect the natural resources (Beavers) and the environment (Beavers' Dams).

So, as far as the beavers and I are concerned, this dam case can be referred for more elevated enforcement action right now. Why wait until 1/31/2003? The Spring Pond Beavers may be under the dam ice then and there will be no way for you or your dam staff to contact/harass them then. In conclusion, I would like to bring to your attention to a real environmental quality (health) problem in the area. It is the bears! Bears are actually defecating in our woods. I definitely believe you should be persecuting the defecating bears and leave the beavers alone. If you are going to investigate the beaver dam, watch your step! (The bears are not careful where they dump!) Being unable to comply with your dam request, and being unable to contact you on your dam answering machine, I am sending this response to your dam office.

THANK YOU

RYAN DEVRIES + THE DAM BEAVERS

Then Peter came to Jesus and asked,
"Lord, how many times shall I forgive my brother when he sins against me?
Up to seven times?"
Jesus answered,
"I tell you,.... not seven times,
...... but seventy-seven times."

Twas the Night Before Thanksgiving

'Twas the night before Thanksgiving and all through the kitchen; I was cooking and baking and moanin' and b*tchin'.

I've been here for hours, I can't stop to rest, This place is a disaster, just look at this mess!

Tomorrow I've got thirty people to feed, They expect all the trimmings, who cares what I need!

My feet are both blistered, I've got cramps in my legs, The dog just knocked over a bowl full of eggs,

There's a knock at the door and the telephone's ringing; Frosting drips on the counter as the microwave's dinging,

Two pies in the oven, dessert's almost done; My cookbook is soiled with butter and crumbs.

I've had all I can stand, I can't take anymore; Then in walks my husband, spilling rum on the floor.

He heaves and he wobbles, his balance unsteady; Then grins as he chuckles "The eggnog is ready!"

He looks all around and with total regret, Say's "What's takin' so long? aren't you through in here yet?"

As quick as a flash I reach for a knife; He loses an earlobe; I wanted his life!

He flees from the room in terror and pain, and screams "MY GOD WOMAN, YOU'RE GOING INSANE!"

Now what was I doing, and what is that smell? Oh, ST, it's the pies! They're burned all to h*ll!

I hate to admit when I make a mistake, But I put them on BROIL instead of on BAKE.

What else can go wrong? Is there still more ahead? If this is good living, I'd rather be dead.

Lord, don't get me wrong, I love holidays; They just leave me exhausted, all shaky and dazed.

But I promise you one thing, if I live 'til next year, You won't find me pulling my hair out in here.

I'll hire a maid, a cook, and a waiter; And if that doesn't work, I'LL HAVE IT ALL CATERED!

HAPPY THANKSGIVING!

GM vs. Bill Gates

For all of us who feel only the deepest love and affection for the way computers have enhanced our lives, read on. At a recent computer expo (COMDEX), Bill Gates reportedly compared the computer industry with the auto industry and stated, "If GM had kept up with technology like the computer industry has, we would all be driving $25.00 cars that got 1,000 miles to the gallon".

In response to Bill's comments, General Motors issued a press release stating: If GM had developed technology like Microsoft, we would all be driving cars with the following characteristics (and I just love this part):

1. For no reason whatsoever, your car would crash twice a day.

2. Every time they repainted the lines in the road, you would have to buy a new car.

3. Occasionally your car would die on the freeway for no reason. You would have to pull over to the side of the road, close all of the windows, shut off the car, restart it, and reopen the windows before you could continue. For some reason you would simply accept this.

4. Occasionally, executing a maneuver such as a left turn would cause your car to shut down and refuse to restart, in which case you would have to reinstall the engine.

5. Macintosh would make a car that was powered by the sun, was reliable, five times as fast and twice as easy to drive -- but would run on only five percent of the roads.

6. The oil, water temperature, and alternator warning lights would all be replaced by a single "This Car Has Performed An Illegal Operation" warning light.

7. The airbag system would ask "Are you sure?" before deploying.

8. Occasionally, for no reason whatsoever, your car would lock you out and refuse to let you in until you simultaneously lifted the door handle, turned the key and grabbed hold of the radio antenna.

9. Every time a new car was introduced car buyers would have to learn how to drive all over again because none of the controls would operate in the same manner as the old car.

10.You'd have to press the "Start" button to turn the engine off.

Please share this with your friends who love -- but sometimes hate -- their computer!

I can be thankful or I can complain...?????

Happy Holidays, P and M ers...

The Smile Starter

Each new day is a gift.

Focus on the new day.

I have a choice everyday.

I can be bitter or better.

I can be thankful or I can complain

I can be happy or very miserable.

The Smile Starter

Smiling is infectious,
You catch it like the flu.
When someone smiled at me today,

I started smiling too.
I passed around the corner, and someone saw my grin.

When he smiled I realized,
I'd passed it to him.
I thought about that smile,
then I realized its worth.

A single smile just like mine, could travel the earth.
So, if you feel a smile begin,
don't leave it undetected.

Let's start an epidemic quick, and get the world infected!
INSTANTLY WHEN YOU RECEIVE THE SMILE STARTER, YOU MUST SEND IT ON

I worked forty-five years for someone else
So that I could retire.
I dreamed of sleeping late
And sitting by the fire.
I dreamed of long vacations,
Enjoying stage and song.
But, let me set you straight on that concept,
It is simply wrong.
I did junk my safety glasses
And the work boots that cramped my toes.
But, the rest of it had a mind of it's own
And this is how it goes.
My wife had been thinking of retirement
And had plans of her own.
She had spent much time with the kids
But, now they are grown and gone.
We sold our cattle and horses
So we wouldn't have that chore.
I poured concrete over my alarm clock
But, I still wake up at four.
I get my eyes checked on Monday.
Ann gets hers checked the next day.
I go for a colon check on Wednesday
And pass my wife going the other way.
I have a dental appointment on Thursday.
Ann goes for a test on her heart.
Friday we go get prescriptions filled
And browse a while at Wal-Mart.
Saturdays we just stay home
And try to get the paper work right.
We can't take any overnight trips
'Cause we can't see to drive at night.
Restroom confusion keeps us out of church on Sunday
And we really do hate that.
There's nothing wrong with the restrooms,
We just can't remember where they're at.
We don't need to plan next week,
Just make sure we can drive.
And not forget where the hospitals and clinics are.
We'll need them to survive.
Once a week we visit the cemetery
And it seems more like home each time we go.
I look around at the headstones
And see everyone I know.

So, don't build your castles too high, my friend,
While strolling through the clover.
This is a typical week in retirement
And on Monday we start all over!

Me and my big mouth

I think you will really like this, so make sure you read all the way down to the last sentence...enjoy!

There once was a little girl who had a bad temper. Her mother gave her a bag of nails and told her that every time she lost her temper, she must hammer a nail into the back of the fence.

The first day the girl had driven 37 nails into the fence. Over the next few weeks, as she learned to control her anger, the number of nails hammered daily gradually dwindled down. She discovered it was easier to hold her temper than to drive those nails into the fence.

Finally the day came when the girl didn't lose her temper at all. She told her mother about it and the mother suggested that the girl now pull out one nail for each day that she was able to hold her temper.

The days passed and the young girl was finally able to tell her mother that all the nails were gone. The mother took her daughter by the hand and led her to the fence. She said, "You have done well, my daughter, but look at the holes in the fence. The fence will never be the same. When you say things in anger, they leave a scar just like this one. " You can put a knife in a person and draw it out. It won't matter how many times you say I'm sorry, the wound is still there. A verbal wound is as bad as a physical one.

Friends are very rare jewels, indeed. They make you smile and encourage you to succeed. They lend an ear, they share words of praise and they always want to open their hearts to us.

Show your friends how much you care. Send this to everyone you consider a FRIEND, even if it means sending it back to the person who sent it to you.

If it comes back to you, then you'll know you have a circle of friends.

Happy Friendship week! You are my friend and I am honored. Now send this to every friend you have!! And to your family.

Please forgive me if I have ever left a hole in your fence.

Hooray for Andy Rooney.

Andy Rooney said on 60 minutes a few weeks back: (for those of you that don't know Andy Rooney, he is a 82 year old US TV commentator.)

I like big cars, big boats, big motorcycles, big houses and big campfires. I believe the money I make belongs to me and my family, not some governmental stooge with a bad comb-over who wants to give it away to crack addicts for squirting out babies.

Guns do not make you a killer. I think killing makes you a killer. You can kill someone with a baseball bat or a car, but no one is trying to ban you from driving to the ball game.

I believe they are called the Boy Scouts for a reason, that is why there are no girls allowed. Girls belong in the Girl Scouts!

I think that if you feel homosexuality is wrong, it is not a phobia, it is an opinion.

I don't think being a minority makes you a victim of anything except numbers. The only things I can think of that are truly discriminatory are things like the United Negro College Fund, Jet Magazine, Black Entertainment Television, and Miss Black America. Try to have things like the United Caucasian College Fund, Cloud Magazine, White Entertainment Television, or Miss White America; and see what happens. Jesse Jackson will be knocking down your door.

I have the right "NOT" to be tolerant of others because they are different, weird, or tick me off.

When 70% of the people who get arrested are black, in cities where 70% of the population is black, that is not racial profiling, it is the Law of Probability.

I know what sex is, and there are not varying degrees of it. If I received sex from one of my subordinates in my office, it wouldn't be a private matter or my personal business. I would be "FIRED" immediately!

I believe that if you are selling me a milk shake, a pack of cigarettes, a newspaper or a hotel room, you must do it in English!

As a matter of fact, if you want to be an American citizen, you should have to speak English!

My father and grandfather didn't die in vain so you could leave the countries you were born in to come over and disrespect ours. I think the police should have every right to shoot your sorry self if you threaten them after they tell you to stop. If you can't understand the word "freeze" or "stop" in English, see the above lines.

I feel much safer letting a machine with no political affiliation recount votes when needed. I know what the definition of lying is.

I don't think just because you were not born in this country, you are qualified for any special loan programs, government sponsored bank loans or tax breaks, etc., so you can open a hotel, coffee shop, trinket store, or any other business.

We did not go to the aid of certain foreign countries and risk our lives in wars to defend their freedoms, so that decades later they could come over here and tell us our constitution is a living document; and open to their interpretations.

I don't hate the rich. I don't pity the poor. I know pro wrestling is fake, but so are movies and television. That doesn't stop you from watching them.

I think Bill Gates has every right to keep every penny he made and continue to make more. If it ticks you off, go and invent the next operating system that's better, and put your name on the building. Ask your buddy that invented the Internet to help you.

It doesn't take a whole village to raise a child right, but i! t does take a parent to stand up to the kid; and smack their little behinds when necessary, and say "NO!"

"I think tattoos and piercing are fine if you want them, but please don't pretend they are a political statement. And, please, stay home until that new lip ring heals. I don't want to look at your ugly infected mouth as you serve me fries!

I am sick of "Political Correctness." I know a lot of black people, and not a single one of them was born in Africa; so how can they be "African-Americans"? Besides, Africa is a continent. I don't go around saying I am a European-American because my great, great, great, great, great, great grandfather was from Europe. I am proud to be from America and nowhere else.

If you don't like my point of view... tough. DON'T PASS IT ON!!

Have a nice day and be good!

from ashfield and beyond.....

COUNTRY WISDOM:

Don't name a pig you plan to eat.

Country fences need to be horse high, pig tight, and bull strong.

Life is not about how fast you run, or how high you climb, but how well you bounce.

Keep skunks and lawyers at a distance.

Life is simpler when you plow around the stumps.

A bumble bee is faster than a John Deere tractor.

Trouble with a milk cow is she won't stay milked.

Don't skinny dip with snapping turtles.

Words that soak into your ears are whispered, not yelled.

Meanness don't happen overnight.

To know how country folks are doing, look at their barns, not their houses.

Never lay an angry hand on a kid or an animal, it just ain't helpful.

Teachers, Moms, and hoot owls sleep with one eye open.

Forgive your enemies. It messes with their heads.

Don't sell your mule to buy a plow.

Two can live as cheap as one if one don't eat.

Don't corner something meaner than you.

You can catch more flies with honey than vinegar, assuming you want to catch flies.

Man is the only critter who feels the need to label things as flowers or weeds.

It don't take a very big person to carry a grudge.

Don't go huntin' with a fellow named Chug-A-Lug.

You can't unsay a cruel thing.

Every path has some puddles.

Don't wrestle with pigs: You'll get all muddy and the pigs will love it.

The best sermons are lived, not preached.

Most of the stuff people worry about never happens.

Thank God you included me in your quest to inform! Thanks to all of you:
*I stopped drinking Coca-Cola after I found out that it's good for removing toilet stains.
* I stopped going to the movies for fear of sitting on a needle infected with AIDS.
* I smell like shit, but thank God I stopped using deodorants because they cause cancer.
* I don't leave my car in any parking lot even though I sometimes have to wa! lk about seven blocks, for fear that someone might drug me with a perfume sample and then and try to rob me.
* I also stopped answering the phone for fear that they will ask me to dial a stupid number and then I get a phone bill from hell with calls to Uganda, Singapore and Tokyo.
* I stopped consuming several foods for fear that the estrogen they contain may turn me gay.
* I also stopped eating chicken and hamburgers because they are nothing more than horrible mutant freaks with no eyes or feathers that are bred in a lab so that places like McDonalds can sell their Big Macs.
* I also stopped drinking anything out of a can for fear that I will get sick from the rat feces and urine.
* When I go to parties, I now don't look at any girl no matter how hot she is, for fear that she will take my kidneys and leave me taking a nap in a bathtub full of ice.
* I donated all my savings to the Amy Bruce ! account. That poor sick girl that was about to die in the hospital. Funny thing, she never seems to get any older ...
* I went bankrupt from bounced checks that I made, expecting the $15,000 that Microsoft and AOL were supposed to send me when I participated in their special e-mail program.
It's weird, though that my new free cell phone never arrived, and neither did the passes for my paid vacation to Disneyland.
But I am positive that all this is because of the chain I broke or forgot to follow and I got a curse from hell.
IMPORTANT NOTE: If you don't send this e-mail to at least 1200 people in the next ten seconds, a bird will shit on you sometime this week at 7:00 pm.

Firemen Do It With Their Hoses
A man who worked for the fire department came home from work one day and told his wife, "You know, we have a wonderful system at the fire station.
"'Bell 1' rings and we all put on our jackets. "'Bell 2' rings and we all slide down the pole. "'Bell 3' rings and we're on the fire truck ready to go. From now on, we are going to run this house the same way.
When I say 'Bell 1' I want you to strip naked. When I say 'Bell 2' I want you to jump in bed. When I say 'Bell 3' we are going to make love all night. " The next night he came home from work and yelled, "Bell 1."
The wife took off all her clothes.
He shouted "Bell 2," and the wife jumped in bed. "Bell 3," he yelled, and they began making love. After 2 minutes the wife yelled, "Bell 4!" "What the hell is 'Bell 4'?" asked her husband. "I need more hose!"
she replied. "You're no where near the fire "

The next time you hear a politician use the words "billion" casually, think about whether you want that politician spending your tax money.

A billion is a difficult number to comprehend, but one advertising agency did a good job of putting that figure into perspective in one of its releases:

A billion seconds ago, it was 1959.

A billion minutes ago, Jesus was alive.

A billion dollars ago was only 8 hours and 20 minutes, at the rate Washington spends it.

The Democrats are complaining on how long the war is taking but consider this:

It took less time to take Iraq than it took Janet Reno to take the Branch Davidian compound. That was a 51-day operation.

It took less time to find Saddam's sons in Iraq than it took Hillary Clinton to find the Rose Law Firm billing records.

It took less time for the 3rd Infantry Division and the Marines to destroy the Medina Republican Guard than it took Teddy Kennedy to call the police after his Oldsmobile sunk at Chappaquiddick.

It took less time to take Iraq than it took to count the votes in Florida!

Man our military is GREAT!

Reporters interviewing a 104 year-old woman:

"And what do you think is the best thing about being 104?" the reporter asked.

She simply replied, "No peer pressure."

Just before the funeral services, the undertaker came up to the very elderly widow and asked, "How old was your husband?"

"98," she replied. "Two years older than me."

"So you're 96," the undertaker commented.

She responded, "Hardly worth going home is it?"

---------- * * * * *

I've sure gotten old. I've had 2 By-pass surgeries.
A hip replacement, new knees. Fought prostate cancer, and diabetes.

I'm half blind, can't hear anything quieter than a jet engine, take 40 different medications that make me dizzy, winded, and subject to blackouts.

Have bouts with dementia. Have poor circulation, hardly feel my hands and feet anymore. Can't remember if I'm 85 or 92. Have lost all my friends.

But..... Thank God, I still have my Florida driver's license!

A 97 year old man goes into his doctor's office and says, "Doc, I want my sex drive lowered."

"Sir", replied the doctor, "You're 97. Don't you think your sex drive is all in your head?"

"You're damned right it is!" replied the old man.
"That's why I want it lowered!"

An elderly woman from Brooklyn decided to prepare her will and make her final requests.
She told her rabbi she had two final requests.

First, she wanted to be cremated, and second, she wanted her ashes scattered over Bloomingdales.

"Bloomingdales!" the rabbi exclaimed. "Why Bloomingdales?"

"Then I'll be sure my daughters visit me twice a week!"

Home remedies

thanks to "emergency" Dennis !

1. If you are choking on an ice cube, don't panic.
Simply pour a cup of boiling water down your throat and presto!
The blockage will be almost instantly removed.

2. Clumsy? Avoid cutting yourself while slicing vegetables by getting someone else to hold them while you chop away.

3. Avoid arguments with the Mrs. about lifting the toilet seat by simply using the sink.

4. High blood pressure sufferers: simply cut yourself and bleed for awhile, thus reducing the pressure in your veins.

5. A mouse trap, placed on top of your alarm clock, will prevent you from rolling over and going back to sleep when you hit the snooze button.

6. If you have a bad cough, take a large dose of laxatives, then you will be too afraid to cough.

7. Have a bad tooth ache? Hit your thumb with a hammer, then you will forget about the tooth ache..

AND.....
Sometimes we just need to remember what The Rules of Life really are:

You need only two tools: WD-40 and duct tape.
If it doesn't move and it should, use WD-40.
If it moves and shouldn't, use the duct tape.

And finally... Be really good to your family and friends. You never know when you are going to need them to empty your bedpan.

The Clinton Show

Bill Clinton

Just watched a show on Canadian TV.

There was a black comedian who said he misses Bill Clinton.

"Yep, that's right - I miss Bill Clinton!

He was the closest thing we ever got to having a black man as President.....

Number 1- He played the sax.

Number 2- He smoked weed.

Number 3-He had his way with ugly white women.

Even now? Look at him; his wife works, and he don't!

And, he gets a check from the government every month.

Manufacturers announced today that they will be stocking

America's shelves this week with "Clinton Soup," in honor of one of the nations' most distinguished men.

It consists primarily of a weenie in hot water.

Chrysler Corporation is adding a new car to its line to honor Bill Clinton. The Dodge Drafter will be in production in Canada this year.

When asked what he thought about foreign affairs, Clinton replied, "I don't know, I never had one."

American Indians nicknamed Bill Clinton "Walking Eagle" because he is so full of crap,... he can't fly.

Clinton lacked only three things to become one of America's finest leaders: integrity, vision and wisdom.

Clinton was doing the work of three men: Larry, Curly and Moe.

The Clinton revised judicial oath: "I solemnly swear to tell the truth as I know it, the whole truth as I believe it to be,

and nothing but what I think you need to know."

Clinton will be recorded in history as the only President to do

Hanky Panky between the Bushes.

Greetings all,
I'm passing this along for your information and discussion...

----- Begin Message -----

From another list:

Apparently young guy in WI who intefered with public safety comms about 37 times, was sentenced to 8 yrs in jail under a new law that considered his acts to be domestic terrorism. See the complete details at:

http://www.madison.com/captimes/news/stories/74232.php

So as one can see from this court action, there's some VERY severe penalties for interfering with public safety radio systems.

thanks to K2YSR Jim for this......

BIG JOHN (KERRY)

Every mornin' on the Hill you could see him arrive Standing six-foot-four, weighing one-twenty-five Kinda' scrawny at the shoulders and lacking a spine
And when he spoke at all, it was mainly to whine.
(Big John, Big John) Big Bad John.

Nobody seems to know what's in John's soul
His 'beliefs' are based on the latest poll
Though he'll say what it takes to get your votes It's the leftist agenda that he really promotes Big John.

Some one said he came from Boston town
Where he joined the Navy and gained renown
'Earning' three purple hearts and one bronze star
The home folks said, "This boy will go far"
(Big John, Big John) Big Bad John (Big John)

Then came a day back in '71
When he renounced all the medals that he had won
Then turned against his country and his Navy friends
And sold them out for his own selfish ends
(Big John)

He appeared before Congress and on left-wing talk shows Giving aid and comfort to America's foes
It was clear to see whose side he was on Some say he helped cause the fall of Saigon Big John. (Big John, Big John) Big Bad John (Big John).

He claims to be for the working poor
Yet he owns 5 mansions from shore to shore
He never had to work a day in his life
Cause he learned it helps to have a wealthy wife!
Big John

Now he wants to be our next President and Commander-in-chief of those he resents:

The American soldiers who fight and die
To give him the freedom to tell us his lies (Big John, Big John) Big Bad John (Big John)

Thousands have sacrificed their young lives
To help ensure that our nation survives
A vote for Kerry is a slap in the face
To all the brave soldiers that he's disgraced
(Big John, Big John) Big Bad John (Big John)

88. Poor kids at the mall

(From a Grandmother)

I just spent several hours observing teenagers who were hanging out at our local mall. I came to the conclusion that many teenagers in America are living in poverty. Most of the young men I observed didn't even own a belt; there was not one among the whole group. But that wasn't the sad part . . . many of them were wearing their daddy's jeans. Some of these jeans were so big and baggy that they hung low on their hips, exposing their underwear. I know some of them must have been ashamed their daddy was short, because his jeans hardly went below their knees. They weren't even their daddies' good jeans, for most of them had holes ripped in the knees and had a dirty look to them.

It grieved me that in a modern, affluent society like America, there are people who can't afford a decent pair of jeans. I have been thinking about asking my church to start a jeans drive for the "poor kids at the mall." Then on Christmas Eve, I could go Christmas caroling and distribute jeans to these poor teenagers.

But here is the saddest part..... it was the girls they were hanging out with that disturbed me the most. I have never in all of my life seen such "poor" girls. These girls had the opposite problem of the guys . . they all had to wear their little sisters clothes. Their jeans were about five sizes too small. I don't know how they could even put them on, let alone button them up. Their jeans barely went over their hipbones. Most of them also had on their little sister's top; it hardly covered their midsection.

Oh, they were trying to hold their heads up with pride, but it was a sad sight to see these almost grown women wearing children's clothes. However, it was their underwear that bothered me the most. They, like the boys, because of the improper fitting of their clothes, also had their underwear exposed. I have never seen anything like it. It looked like their underwear was only held together by a single piece of string.

I know it also saddens your heart to receive this report on the condition of our American teenagers. While I go to bed every night with a closet full of clothes nearby, there are millions of "mall girls" who barely have enough material to keep it together. I think their "poorness" is why these two groups gather at the mall, the boys with their short daddies' ripped jeans, and the girls wearing their younger sisters' clothes. The mall is one place where they can find acceptance.

So, the next time you are at the mall doing your shopping and you pass by some of these poor teenagers, would you say a prayer for them? And one more thing .
.. . Will you pray that the guys' pants won't fall down, and the girls' strings won't break?!

Sweets

Resume

John Kerry Curriculum Vitae

Education

College

a.. I graduated from Yale University with a low C average.
b.. Unlike my counterpart George Bush, I have no higher education and did not get admitted to Harvard or graduate with an MBA.

Experience

Law Enforcement

a.. I voted to cut every law enforcement, CIA and defense bill in my career as a US Senator.
b.. I ordered Boston to remove a fire hydrant in front of my mansion, thereby endangering my neighbors in the event of fire.

Military

a.. I used three minor injuries to get an early discharge from the military and service in Vietnam.
b.. I then returned to the US, joined Jane Fonda in protesting the war, and insulted returning Vietnam vets, claiming they committed atrocities and were baby killers.
c.. I threw my medals, ribbons, or something away in protest.
d.. Or did I?
e.. My book Vietnam Veterans Against the War: The New Soldier shows how I truly feel about the military.

Past Work Experience

a.. I ran for U.S. Congress and have been there ever since.
b.. I have no real world experience except marrying rich women and running HJ Heinz vicariously through my wife Teresa.

Accomplishments as US Senator

a.. I set the record for the most liberal voting record, exceeding even Ted Kennedy and Hillary Clinton.
b.. I have consistently failed to support our military and CIA by voting against budgets, thus gutting our country's ability to defend itself.
c.. Although I voted for the Iraq War, now I am against it and refuse to admit that I voted for it.

d.. I voted for every liberal piece of legislation.
e.. I have no plan to help this country, but I intend to raise taxes significantly if I am elected.
f.. My wealth so far exceeds that of my counterpart, George Bush, that he will never catch up.
g.. I make no or little charitable contributions and have never agreed to pay any voluntary excess taxes in MA, despite family wealth in excess of $700 million.
h.. Although I claim to be in favor of alternative energy sources, Ted Kennedy and I oppose windmills off Nantucket and Martha's Vineyard as it might spoil our view of the ocean as we cruise on our yachts. NIMBY (not in my backyard).

Records and References

a.. None.

Residence

a.. Seven mansions, including one in Washington DC, worth multimillions a.. I ride a Serotta Bike.

Personal

b.. I call my Gulfstream V Jet The Flying Squirrel.
c.. I call my $850,000 42-foot Hinckley twin diesel yacht the Scarmouche.
d.. I am fascinated by rap and hip-hop and you had better listen to it as it reflects our real culture.
e.. I own several SUVs including one parked at my Nantucket summer mansion, though I am against large polluting inefficient vehicles and blame George Bush for the energy problems.

Please consider my experience when voting in 2004.

OK time to piss and moan. I'm gonna try to use this reflector for this every week or so. I think the therapy in it will be good for me. I'm very pissed off person most of the time LOL. For those who don't know I own Western Mass Radio yahoo group. As well as being a Amateur radio operator sense 2001.
That's my credentials as far as that goes, now lets the piss session begin.

First my anger is directed towards us Ham heads. (Amateur radio) Some of these basterd's really piss me off. The ones that thumb there nose at change, and look down at people of other areas of the hobby. Like CB. I love CB. Most of the people on CB are assholes yes! I don't deny that. But for Christ sakes don't give me hell because of it. I had one SOB yesterday leave WMR because he basically told me in his direct email that we are not the group he thought it was and all it was is garbage because we did to much rag chewing. Well asshole did you read the fing intro page? I guess they don't teach you SOB's out in Worchester how to read because that is what the group is intended for. TALKING ABOUT RADIOS. He had the nerve to call it a chat room and continued to discredit WMR. Well Mr. `Head of the emergence whatever' out in Worchester county. You better call 911 because if there ever is a flood and you're called to provide communications for it I'm tossing you ass in water. By By pal. Jerks like you are what ruins the fun of this hobby and I hope someday soon someone knocks you off your high horse. I hope it's me. But I don't waste my free time hitting crap, Ive been told it splatters, ta hell with cleaning that BS up. I'm really not sure what English I'm typing with WMR's front page but it doesn't seem like the English I grew up with. I hope the Mt Tom site comes out with there own Yahoo group, then I can send all the political a holes where it really belongs. Then the groovy basterds like my self and other cool hams can truly enjoy this wonderful hobby to its fullest. That's it for today.

Thanks for listening
Jay

The Apollo Moon Missions...Fact or Fiction???

Whatever your thoughts are.....it's worth visiting:

http://www.apolloarchive.com/apollo_gallery.html

NASA has posted hundreds of "Moon Mission" photos for your viewing pleasure.....

While you're looking....

Just ask yourself how that "contraption" could possibly softly land on the moon, with a rocket engine for braking, and not disturb the "soil" or leave a large crater below the rocket engine?

Or, who took the pictures from a distance, as the first astronaut on some of the missions, steps on the moon?
And, ask, why are there never any pictures showing a landing or a take-off ..(or many other things)?
Or, why does the earth appear so small in the few photos that show it, when it's so much larger than the moon?
And do those "space suits" look strong enough to protect their occupants from the deadly intense radiation of outer space, beyond our protective Van Allen Belt?

The list of questions will continue to grow if you use your eyes and your brain....

Make your own judgments.....don't just believe what you've been "told"!!!

Best Wishes

some john kerry humor for y'all......

sorry if i'm always picking on john kerry,

but he really does make my skin crawl....

ickkkkk....(shiver)

and I'm not a big fan of bush, either, but...

(well, maybe i should re-phrase that....uummmhhhh!)

george bush......

these were taken from:
http://politicalhumor.about.com/library/bljohnkerryjokes.htm there's alot more there......too....

John Kerry spent the day reading to preschoolers ... and the kids said Kerry actually lacked warmth and failed to articulate a clear message." -David Letterman
"Lot of people wondering if John Kerry supports gay marriages. Here's a hint ... he gets $1,000 haircuts." -Craig Kilborn

"Courtney Love said she once escorted Kerry to a concert. John Kerry once went out with Courtney Love and he's questioning Bush's judgment." -Jay Leno

"John Kerry announced his plan for how to handle those poor naked prisoners. His wife is going to buy them all a $1,000 Armani suit." -Craig Kilborn

"Kerry was here in Los Angeles. He was courting the Spanish vote by speaking Spanish. And he showed people he could be boring in two languages." -Jay Leno

"President Bush listed his income as $822,000. You know what John Kerry calls someone who earns $822,000? Not even worth dating." -Jay Leno

"John Kerry fell off of his bicycle over the weekend. He went for a Sunday afternoon ride, fell off in front of the news media. Luckily, his hair broke the fall so it's not as serious. ... Thankfully, Senator Kerry was not seriously injured. In fact, when the police arrived, Kerry was well enough to give conflicting reports to the officers about what happened." -Jay Leno

"Please explain to me why John Kerry sounds more dickish telling the truth than Bush sounds when he's lying. How is that possible?" -Jon Stewart

"John Kerry's wife Teresa Heinz is on the cover of Newsweek magazine this week and they said that if he is elected president, she will be the oldest first lady in American history. But that doesn't bother John Kerry, he said, 'To me, she looks like a million bucks'" -Jay Leno

"John Kerry reportedly flew in his private hairdresser before his "Meet the Press" interview for a total cost of $1,000. That's $1,000 for a haircut, which sounds like a lot, but have you seen the size of Kerry's head." -Jay Leno

"Well the good news for Democrats, now over half the country can identify a picture of John Kerry. The bad news, the majority still thinks he's the dad from 'The Munsters."' -Jay Leno

"John Kerry had surgery on his right shoulder this week to repair some damage. It was pretty bad, he had no feeling. It was almost like he was a Republican." -David Letterman

"John Kerry accused President Bush of catering to the rich. You know, as opposed to John Kerry who just marries them." -Jay Leno

"They say John Kerry is the first Democratic presidential candidate in history to raise $50 million in a three-month period. Actually, that's nothing. He once raised $500 million with two words: 'I do.'" -Jay Leno

"Senator Kerry recovering very nicely after having shoulder surgery. The doctors said the senator was fully awake, lucid and joking after the surgery was done, but cautioned that that was just the drug. He went back to his boring self soon afterward." -Jay Leno

"John Kerry will undergo surgery to repair his right shoulder. He originally hurt it when he suddenly switched positions on Iraq." -Craig Kilborn

"Today, John Kerry announced a fool-proof plan to wipe out the $500B deficit. John Kerry has a plan, he's going to put it on his wife's Gold Card." -Craig Kilborn

"We make jokes about it but the truth is this presidential election really offers us a choice of two well-informed opposing positions on every issue. OK, they both belong to John Kerry, but they're still there." -Jay Leno

"The Secret Service has announced it is doubling its protection for John Kerry. You can understand why - with two positions on every issue, he has twice as many people mad at him." -Jay Leno

"John Kerry says that foreign leaders want him to be president, but that he can't name the foreign leaders. That's all right, President Bush can't name them either." -David Letterman

"John Kerry is busy trying to raise money right now for his campaign. It was reported today that Kerry's hoping to raise $80 million before the Democratic convention. That's a lot of money. Yeah, Kerry has two ways to raise the $80 million: soliciting Democratic donors and going through his wife's purse." -Conan O'Brien

"John Kerry says that he wants to debate President Bush once a month until the election. This could be a risky move for Senator Kerry. If Bush doesn't show up for the debates, John Kerry may end up debating an empty chair. And that could be pretty much a toss up as to which one has the better personality." -Jay Leno

"John Kerry described his Republican critics as 'the most crooked, lying group I've ever seen.' Now, that's saying something, because Kerry's both a lawyer and a politician." -Jay Leno

"The White House begun airing their TV commercials to re-elect the president, and the John Kerry campaign is condemning his use of 9/11 in the ads. He said, it is unconscionable to use the tragic memory of a war in order to get elected, unless of course, it's the Vietnam War." -Jay Leno

"John Kerry has promised to take this country back from the wealthy. Who better than the guy worth $700 million to take the country back? See, he knows how the wealthy think. He can spy on them at his country club, at his place in Palm Beach, at his house in the Hamptons. He's like a mole for the working man." -Jay Leno

"I'm worried about John Kerry, he's so confident now that he's already planning his White House sex scandal." -David Letterman

"John Kerry will be the Democratic nominee for president. Democrats finally found someone who is Al Gore without the flash and the sizzle." -Craig Kilborn

"Earlier today, President Bush said Kerry will be a tough and hard-charging opponent. That explains why Bush's nickname for Kerry is math." -Conan O'Brien

"Kerry has already begun his search for a running mate. They say that because John Edwards still has $50 million in campaign money, Kerry might pick him. Pick him? Hey, for $50 million, Kerry will marry him." -Jay Leno

"Yesterday Senator John Kerry changed his mind and now supports the ban on gay marriages. I'm telling you this guy has more positions than Paris Hilton." -David Letterman

"During last night's debate, John Kerry and John Edwards were so friendly to each other some political experts think that they may end up running together. In fact Kerry and Edwards were so friendly, President Bush accused them of planning a gay marriage." -Conan O'Brien

"It really kind of looks like now that John Kerry is on his way to the presidential nomination. The only thing that can sink John Kerry now is an Al Gore endorsement." -Jay Leno

"According to a new study, Botox injections can help back pain. So you see, that's why John Kerry had all that Botox - his back was killing him from all that flip-flopping on issues." -Jay Leno

"An Internet rumor claims that John Kerry had an affair with a young woman. When asked if this was similar to the Clinton-Lewinsky scandal, a spokesman said 'Close, but no cigar.'" -Jimmy Fallon, Saturday Night Live's "Weekend Update"

"Over the weekend, John Kerry - the big John Kerry juggernaut moves on - he won primaries in Washington D.C., Nevada and, I think, Canada. And he's so confident that he's started nailing that intern again." -David Letterman

"Presidential campaign getting kind of ugly, did you hear about this? Yesterday, a 27-year-old woman came for to deny rumors that she had an affair with Democratic front-runner John Kerry. The woman added, 'I would never cheat on Bill Clinton.'" -Conan O'Brien

"Senator John Kerry released his plan today to eliminate the deficit. He said all we have to do is find a really rich country like Switzerland and marry it." -Jay Leno

"The head of the AFL-CIO endorsed John Kerry, saying, 'The time has come to come behind one man, one leader, one candidate.' Then he said, 'And until we find that man, we will endorse John Kerry.'" -Conan O'Brien

"The Democrats are all over this. Democratic strategists feel John Kerry's war record means he can beat Bush. They say when it comes down to it voters will always vote for a war hero over someone who tried to get out of the war. I'll be sure to mention that to Bob Dole when I see him." -Jay Leno

"John Kerry said today that he wants to get rid of tax cuts for the rich and his wife said, 'Hey, shut up! What's the matter with you?! Are you nuts?!'" -Jay Leno

"They had a profile of John Kerry on the news and they said his first wife was worth around $300 million and his second wife, his current wife, is worth around $700 million. So when John Kerry says he's going after the wealthy in this country, he's not just talking. He's doing it!" -Jay Leno

"In a new issue of Esquire magazine, they revealed that before he was married to Teresa Heinz, Senator John Kerry dated Morgan Fairchild, Michelle Phillips, Catherine Oxenberg and Dana Delany. Finally a Democratic presidential candidate with good taste in women." -Jay Leno

"It's nine months before the election and Bush's poll numbers have fallen to the exact level that his father's poll numbers were nine months before he lost to Bill Clinton. Today front runner John Kerry said he's not superstitious, but just to be on the safe side, he's going to start f---ing everything that moves." -Bill Maher

"John Kerry was officially endorsed by Dick Gephardt, and Kerry said, 'What did I ever do to you?'" -Craig Kilborn

"A number of plastic surgeons are claiming that looking at John Kerry now, as opposed to a few months ago, they believe he's had Botox shots. They claim a number of his worry lines have vanished. They haven't vanished, just Howard Dean is wearing them now." -Jay Leno

"John Kerry is finding out that it is no fun to be the front runner, that's when you get all the heat. He had to deny internet rumors this week that he had Botox treatments. The Republicans say Kerry should have a clear, unfurrowed brow the old fashioned way by not giving a sh--." -Bill Maher

"In his big victory speech last night, Senator Kerry said that he wanted to defeat George Bush and the 'economy of privilege.' Then he hugged his wife, Teresa, heir to the multi-million dollar Heinz food fortune." -Jay Leno

"Political experts are saying the reason John Kerry is doing so well is because he's 'electable.' Hey, so was Al Gore - in fact, he even got elected and it didn't help him at all." -Jay Leno

"A new poll shows that Senator Kerry's support in the South is strongest amongst blacks. Kerry's appeal to Southern blacks is obvious. He is a white man who lives far, far away." -Dennis Miller

"The big winner last night in New Hampshire - Senator John Kerry. He won 39 percent of the vote, which is pretty good, and begs the question, why the long face?" -Jay Leno

"Real movement in the Kerry campaign now. His poll numbers are moving, donations are moving, endorsements are moving. The only thing not moving is his hair." -Jay Leno

"In his speech last night, John Kerry said this was the beginning of the end of the Bush administration. I agree. Sure, it may take another five years, but this is it." -Jay Leno

"John Kerry's victory over Howard Dean has completely changed the presidential race around. Now instead of the rich white guy from Yale who lives in the White house facing off against the rich white guy from Yale who lives in Vermont, he may have to face the rich white guy from Yale who lives in Massachusetts. It's a whole different game." -Jay Leno

"A Newsweek poll said if the election were held today, John Kerry would beat Bush 49 percent to 46 percent. And today, President Bush called Newsweek magazine a threat to world peace." -Jay Leno

"During the Democratic presidential debate Howard Dean started off by apologizing to the crowd for having a cold. Then John Kerry apologized for once having a cold while serving his country in Vietnam." -Conan O'Brien

"John Kerry was the big winner in Iowa. Ted Kennedy introduced Kerry as the 'comeback kid.' That used to be Bill Clinton's name - because every time he would come back to a city, he would find out if he had a kid or not." -Jay Leno

"These campaigns are getting so nasty. They are going through people's old taxes, coming up with these old quotes. Today, somebody released footage of John Kerry throwing apples at Dorothy. To me he just looks like the tree from 'The Wizard of Oz.'" -Bill Maher

"Ted Kennedy is endorsing John Kerry and I'm wondering, do you really want the endorsement of a guy with a Bloody Mary mustache?" -David Letterman

"In an interview with Rolling Stone, Senator John Kerry, who is running for president, said that when he voted for the war in Iraq, he didn't expect President Bush to 'f--- it up as badly as he did.' Here's some breaking news, tomorrow former Vice President Al Gore expected to endorse Howard Dean as the Democratic nominee for president of the United States - and you thought John Kerry was using four letter words before! Actually, to John Kerry, Dean is a four letter word." -Jay Leno

"Democratic presidential candidate John Kerry came down pretty hard on fellow candidate Howard Dean this weekend. After Dean misspoke several times, Kerry said you can't misspeak 15 times in a week and be president. And Bush said, 'You can't'?" -Jay Leno

"The Boston Globe is reporting that Democratic presidential candidate John Kerry used to date actress Morgan Fairchild but it didn't work out. Apparently she couldn't handle dating someone with bigger hair then she had." -Jay Leno

"John Kerry is recovering nicely after having prostate surgery. But the doctors did tell him it would be several months before he could be sexually active again. All the other Democratic candidates have been very supportive. Joe Lieberman called to wish him the best. The Rev. Al Sharpton called to offer prayers. Former President Bill Clinton called Mrs. Kerry and asked if she was lonely." -Jay Leno

IMHO:

Here we go again!

Crude oil is $45/barrel this morning.

The Washington oil cartel is gearing up for Labor

Time to general strike for two to three days.
I think they would understand that.

Oddly enough, retail gas prices have gone down since the June "peak" at $42/bbl.
It was well over $2 back then. I just paid $1.80 yesterday.

And why is gas always 10 cents cheaper in Western Mass. than Central Mass?
Maybe it's because the truck don't have to drive as far. Yeah, that's it!

Go figure.

You think this is bad, wait, just wait, my product, propane is higher now than I paid last winter. If it is high now, what is it going to be like in winter and it is going up every week.

Yes, right now it's down but still 30 cents or more since last year.

Today(Tues) it should be around $45/barrel for crude.

Pump prices go up about 10 to 20 cents/gallon for every $10 increase in the price per barrel(42 gallons) of crude on the market according to Mobil/Exxon.

It's on the way back up. Hess on King street in Northampton is up one cent from the low of $1.719 last week.

Subject: 26th Annual Bridge of Flowers Classic Race Up Dated info.

26th Annual Bridge of Flowers Classic Race.

Hello from your newly elected club President and County EC.

The FCARC needs your help in a BIG WAY for this event on Saturday August 14 2004 26th Annual Bridge of Flowers Classic Race. The location is in the town of Shelburne Falls, MA

We will need around 10 to 14 radio operators to work this event and provide the communications they are asking for. Right now we have W1ZPB, W1DKY & WIFE, KB1FBC, KA1OVV, KB1KEY AND W1ZS I hope I did not miss any one.

I know from talking to the event staff and some of the participants they look forward to us being there. If you have the time can you come out and lend a helping hand. Please e-mail me or call or you can check in to the net on Tuesday night at 9.00 pm or Thursday night at 8.00 pm. I ask that all Amateur radio operators please meet a little after 7.00 am in the parking lot of the Trinity Church.

Direction to the Bridge of Flowers 10K Road Race.

From I 91 North or South take ext 26 and go RT 2 West to Shelburne Falls. Turn left at the Sweet Heart Restaurant RT 112S Maple St. then turn left on to Bridge ST. Next right on to Severance ST and then right in to the Trinity Church parking lot.

I Thank you for you're on going support.

here's GW"s latest resume....

RESUME

GEORGE W. BUSH

1600 Pennsylvania Avenue

Washington, DC 20520

EDUCATION AND EXPERIENCE:

Law Enforcement: I was arrested in Kennebunkport, Maine, in 1976 for driving under the influence of alcohol. I pled guilty, paid a fine, and had my driver's license suspended for 30 days. My Texas driving record has been "lost" and is not available.

Military: I joined the Texas Air National Guard and went AWOL. I refused to take a drug test or answer any questions about my drug use. By joining the Texas Air National Guard, I was able to avoid combat duty in Vietnam.

College: I graduated from Yale University with a low C average. I was a cheerleader.

PAST WORK EXPERIENCE: I ran for U.S. Congress and lost. I began my career in the oil business in Midland, Texas, in 1975. I bought an oil company, but couldn't find any oil in Texas. The company went bankrupt shortly after I sold all my stock. I bought the Texas Rangers baseball team in a sweetheart deal that took land using taxpayer money. With the help of my father and our friends in the oil industry (including Enron CEO Ken Lay), I was elected governor of Texas.

ACCOMPLISHMENTS AS GOVERNOR OF TEXAS:

- I changed Texas pollution laws to favor power and oil companies, making Texas the most polluted state in the Union. During my tenure, Houston replaced Los Angeles as the most smog-ridden city in America.

- I cut taxes and bankrupted the Texas treasury to the tune of billions in borrowed money.

- I set the record for the most executions by any governor in American history.

- With the help of my brother, the governor of Florida, and my father's appointments to the Supreme Court, I became President after losing by over 500,000 votes.

ACCOMPLISHMENTS AS PRESIDENT:

- I am the first President in U.S. history to enter office with a criminal record.

- I invaded and occupied two countries at a continuing cost of over one billion dollars per week.

- I spent the U.S. surplus and effectively bankrupted the U.S. Treasury.

- I shattered the record for the largest annual deficit in U.S. history.

- I set an economic record for most private bankruptcies filed in any 12-month period.

- I set the all-time record for most foreclosures in a 12-month period.

- I set the all-time record for the biggest drop in the history of the U.S. stock market. In my first year in office, over 2 million Americans lost their jobs and that trend continues every month.

- I'm proud that the members of my cabinet are the richest of any administration in U.S. history. My "poorest millionaire," Condoleeza Rice, has a Chevron oil tanker named after her.

- I set the record for most campaign fund-raising trips by a U.S. President.

- I am the all-time U.S. and world record-holder for receiving the most corporate campaign donations.

- My largest lifetime campaign contributor, and one of my best friends, Kenneth Lay, presided over the largest corporate bankruptcy fraud in U.S. History, Enron.

- My political party used Enron private jets and corporate attorneys to assure my success with the U.S. Supreme Court during my election decision

- I have protected my friends at Enron and Halliburton against investigation or prosecution. More time and money was spent investigating the Monica Lewinsky affair than has been spent investigating one of the biggest corporate rip-offs in history. I presided over the biggest energy crisis in U.S. history and refused to intervene when corruption involving the oil industry was revealed.

- I presided over the highest gasoline prices in U.S. history.

- I changed the U.S. policy to allow convicted criminals to be awarded government contracts.

- I appointed more convicted criminals to administration than any President in U.S. history.

- I created the Ministry of Homeland Security, the largest bureaucracy in the history of the United States government.

- I've broken more international treaties than any President in U.S. history.

- I am the first President in U.S. history to have the United Nations remove the U.S. from the Human Rights Commission.

- I withdrew the U.S. from the World Court of Law.

- I refused to allow inspector's access to U.S.
"prisoners of war" detainees and thereby have refused to abide by the Geneva Convention.

- I am the first President in history to refuse United Nations election inspectors (during the 2002 U.S. election).

- I set the record for fewest numbers of press conferences of any President since the advent of television.

- I set the all-time record for most days on vacation in any one-year period. After taking off the entire month of August, I presided over the worst security failure in U.S. history.

- I garnered the most sympathy ever for the U.S.
after the World Trade Center attacks and less than a year later made the U.S. the most hated country in the world, the largest failure of diplomacy in world history.

- I have set the all-time record for most people worldwide to simultaneously protest me in public venues (15 million people), shattering the record for protests against any person in the history of mankind.

- I am the first President in U.S. history to order an unprovoked, pre-emptive attack and the military occupation of a sovereign nation. I did so against the will of the United Nations, the majority of U.S. citizens, and the world community.

- I have cut health care benefits for war veterans and support a cut in duty benefits for active duty troops and their families in wartime.

- In my State of the Union Address, I lied about our reasons for attacking Iraq and then blamed the lies on our British friends.

- I am the first President in history to have a majority of Europeans (71%)view my presidency as the biggest threat to world peace and security

- I am supporting development of a nuclear "Tactical Bunker Buster," a WMD.

- I have so far failed to fulfill my pledge to bring Osama Bin Laden to justice.

RECORDS AND REFERENCES:

-All records of my tenure as governor of Texas are now in my father's library, sealed and unavailable for public view.

- All records of SEC investigations into my insider trading and my bankrupt companies are sealed in secrecy and unavailable for public view.

- All records or minutes from meetings that I, or my Vice-President, attended regarding public energy policy are sealed in secrecy and unavailable for public review.

here's GW"s latest resume....

RESUME

GEORGE W. BUSH

Washington, DC 20520

EDUCATION AND EXPERIENCE:

Law Enforcement: I was arrested in Kennebunkport, Maine, in 1976 for driving under the influence of alcohol. I pled guilty, paid a fine, and had my driver's license suspended for 30 days. My Texas driving record has been "lost" and is not available.

Military: I joined the Texas Air National Guard and went AWOL. I refused to take a drug test or answer any questions about my drug use. By joining the Texas Air National Guard, I was able to avoid combat duty in Vietnam.

College: I graduated from Yale University with a low C average. I was a cheerleader.

PAST WORK EXPERIENCE: I ran for U.S. Congress and lost. I began my career in the oil business in Midland, Texas, in 1975. I bought an oil company, but couldn't find any oil in Texas. The company went bankrupt shortly after I sold all my stock. I bought the Texas Rangers baseball team in a sweetheart deal that took land using taxpayer money. With the help of my father and our friends in the oil industry (including Enron CEO Ken Lay), I was elected governor of Texas.

ACCOMPLISHMENTS AS GOVERNOR OF TEXAS:

- I changed Texas pollution laws to favor power and oil companies, making Texas the most polluted state in the Union. During my tenure, Houston replaced Los Angeles as the most smog-ridden city in America.

- I cut taxes and bankrupted the Texas treasury to the tune of billions in borrowed money.

- I set the record for the most executions by any governor in American history.

- With the help of my brother, the governor of Florida, and my father's appointments to the Supreme Court, I became President after losing by over 500,000 votes.

ACCOMPLISHMENTS AS PRESIDENT:

- I am the first President in U.S. history to enter office with a criminal record.

- I invaded and occupied two countries at a continuing cost of over one billion dollars per week.

- I spent the U.S. surplus and effectively bankrupted the U.S. Treasury.

- I shattered the record for the largest annual deficit in U.S. history.

- I set an economic record for most private bankruptcies filed in any 12-month period.

- I set the all-time record for most foreclosures in a 12-month period.

- I set the all-time record for the biggest drop in the history of the U.S.
stock market. In my first year in office, over 2 million Americans lost their jobs and that trend continues every month.

- I'm proud that the members of my cabinet are the richest of any administration in U.S. history. My "poorest millionaire," Condoleeza Rice, has a Chevron oil tanker named after her.

- I set the record for most campaign fund-raising trips by a U.S. President.

- I am the all-time U.S. and world record-holder for receiving the most corporate campaign donations.

- My largest lifetime campaign contributor, and one of my best friends, Kenneth Lay, presided over the largest corporate bankruptcy fraud in U.S.
History, Enron.

- My political party used Enron private jets and corporate attorneys to assure my success with the U.S. Supreme Court during my election decision

- I have protected my friends at Enron and Halliburton against investigation or prosecution. More time and money was spent investigating the Monica Lewinsky affair than has been spent investigating one of the biggest corporate rip-offs in history. I presided over the biggest energy crisis in U.S. history and refused to intervene when corruption involving the oil industry was revealed.

- I presided over the highest gasoline prices in U.S. history.

- I changed the U.S. policy to allow convicted criminals to be awarded government contracts.

- I appointed more convicted criminals to administration than any President in U.S. history.

- I created the Ministry of Homeland Security, the largest bureaucracy in the history of the United States government.

- I've broken more international treaties than any President in U.S. history.

- I am the first President in U.S. history to have the United Nations remove the U.S. from the Human Rights Commission.

- I withdrew the U.S. from the World Court of Law.

- I refused to allow inspector's access to U.S. "prisoners of war" detainees and thereby have refused to abide by the Geneva Convention.

- I am the first President in history to refuse United Nations election inspectors (during the 2002 U.S. election).

- I set the record for fewest numbers of press conferences of any President since the advent of television.

- I set the all-time record for most days on vacation in any one-year period. After taking off the entire month of August, I presided over the worst security failure in U.S. history.

- I garnered the most sympathy ever for the U.S. after the World Trade Center attacks and less than a year later made the U.S. the most hated country in the world, the largest failure of diplomacy in world history.

- I have set the all-time record for most people worldwide to simultaneously protest me in public venues (15 million people), shattering the record for protests against any person in the history of mankind.

- I am the first President in U.S. history to order an unprovoked, pre-emptive attack and the military occupation of a sovereign nation. I did so against the will of the United Nations, the majority of U.S. citizens, and the world community.

- I have cut health care benefits for war veterans and support a cut in duty benefits for active duty troops and their families in wartime.

- In my State of the Union Address, I lied about our reasons for attacking Iraq and then blamed the lies on our British friends.

- I am the first President in history to have a majority of Europeans (71%)view my presidency as the biggest threat to world peace and security

- I am supporting development of a nuclear "Tactical Bunker Buster," a WMD.

- I have so far failed to fulfill my pledge to bring Osama Bin Laden to justice.

RECORDS AND REFERENCES:

-All records of my tenure as governor of Texas are now in my father's library, sealed and unavailable for public view.

- All records of SEC investigations into my insider trading and my bankrupt companies are sealed in secrecy and unavailable for public view.

- All records or minutes from meetings that I, or my Vice-President, attended regarding public energy policy are sealed in secrecy and unavailable for public review.

For those of us flying the flag at half staff for 30 days out of respect for President Reagan, it is reminded that we will have to wear our pants around our knees for 30 days when Clinton dies.

hi everyone....
does anyone know what has happened to the ECARS net on 7255 khz??
I joined back before the "hostile???" takeover.... and i'd love to know what is REALLY going on there?
I get emails from different groups with differing opinions, and i don't know what to believe......
but I don't find it to be the friendly helpful net that it was for years.... it seems to me that several people resigned their positions and then several others stepped in to take the offices over, and then attempted to re-write all the bylaws and constitution to sanctify what they had done....and insure that they would be forever in control of the organization and the net..... and I certainly don't agree with their restrictions....

I got an email today saying a law firm is involved and the matter will be going to the courts.......
anyone have any idea of what's happening......Russ...maybe??
sure wish it was like the old days.....

130. The Future of Texas

Yahoo group: WA1UOL_PandM_Net

From: Ralph Lovering WA1UOL
Topic: 130 Message: 130

The Future of Texas

Please note that Texas is the only state with a legal right to secede from the Union.
(please refer to the Texas-American Annexation Treaty of 1848).

We Texans love y'all, but we'll have to take action if Kerry wins president over Bush. We'll miss you too.

Texas has given all those complainers plenty of time to get used to the results. After seeing the whiners along the campaign route, the folks from Texas are considering taking matters into our own hands.

Here is our solution:

#1: Let John Kerry become President of the United States.
(all 49 states.)

#2: George W. Bush becomes the President of the Republic of Texas.

So what does Texas have to do to survive as a Republic?

1. NASA is just south of Houston, Texas.
(we will control the space industry.)

2. We refine over 85% of the gasoline in the United States.

3. Defense Industry. (we have over 65% of it)
The term "Don't mess with Texas," will take on a whole new meaning.

4. Oil - we can supply all the oil that the Republic of Texas will need for the next 300 years.
Yankee states? Sorry about that.

5. Natural Gas - Again we have all we need and it's too bad about those northern states.
John Kerry will figure a way to keep them warm....

6. Computer Industry - we currently lead the nation in producing computer
chips and communications: Small places like Texas Instruments, Dell Computer,
EDS, Raythe! on, National Semiconductor, Motorola, Intel, AMD, Atmel, Applied
Materials, Ball Semiconductor, Dallas Semiconductor, Delphi, Nortel, Alcatel, Etc, Etc. The list goes on and on.

7. Health Centers - We have the largest research centers for Cancer research, the best burn centers and the top trauma units in the world and other large health planning centers.

8. We have enough colleges to keep us going: UT., Texas A&M,
Texas Tech, Rice, SMU, University of Houston, Baylor, UNT,
Texas Women's University, etc. Ivy grows better in the south anyway

9. We have a ready supply of workers.
(just open the border when we need some more).

10. We have control of the paper industry, plastics, insurance, etc.

11. In case of a foreign invasion, we have the Texas National Guard and the Texas Air National Guard. We don't have an army but since everybody
down here has at least six rifles and a pile of ammo,
we can raise an army in 24 hours if we need it.
If the situation really gets bad, we can always call
Department of Public Safety and ask them to send over a couple Texas Rangers.

12. We are totally self sufficient in beef, poultry, hogs and several types of grain, fruit and vegetables and lets not forget seafood from the gulf.
And
everybody down here knows how to cook them so that they taste good.
Don't
need any food.

This just names a few of the items that will keep the Republic of Texas
in good shape.
There isn't a thing out there that we need and don't have.

~ ~ ~ ~ ~

Now to the rest of the United States under President Kerry:

Since you won't have the refineries to get gas for your cars, only President Kerry will be able to drive around in his 9 mile per gallon SUV. The rest of the United States will have to walk or ride bikes.

You won't have any TV as the space center in Houston will cut off your communications. You won't have any natural gas to heat your homes but since
Mr.
Kerry has predicted global warming, you will not need the gas.

Signed, The People in Texas

Hey Rich.. Famous Quote
"Make the world a better place, punch a Yankee fan in the face."

Riddle
Q: What has 400 feet and 3 teeth?
A: The first row of the bleachers at Yankee Stadium.

Yankee Stamps
Did you hear that the Post Office just recalled their latest stamps?
They had pictures of Yankees players on them ...people couldn't figure out which side to spit on.

Yankee Fans on a Bike
Q: If you see a Yankees fan on a bicycle, why should you never swerve to hit him?
A: There's a good chance it's your bicycle.

Yankee fans and Sperm
Q: What do Yankees fans and sperm have in common?
A: One in 3,000,000 has a chance of becoming a human being.

Yankees in the Sand
Q: What do you have when 100 Yankees fans are buried up to their neck in sand?
A: Not enough sand.

Dead Dog and a Yankee Fan
Q: What's the difference between a dead dog in the road and a dead Yankees fan in the road?
A: There are skid marks in front of the dog.

Birth Control
Q: What do Yankees fans use for birth control?
A: Their personalities.

Two Bullets...
Q: You're trapped in a room with a tiger, a rattlesnake, and a Yankees fan. You have a gun with two bullets. What should you do?
A: Shoot the Yankees Fan.......Twice!

Money saving tip for Yankees fans rather than waste more money on yet another replica hat, simply strap a large rubber  to your head. It'll be perfectly obvious to everyone who you support.

New York Fans on a Bridge
Q: A Yankee fan and a Jet fan jump off of a bridge. Who falls first?
A: Who cares!?

Eyes lit up
Q: How do you get a Yankee fans eyes to light up?
A: Shine a flashlight in his ear!

Driving with a Yankee fan
Q: Why is it good to be driving with a Yankee fan?
A: You can park in the handicap zone!

Big Foot and a Yankee fan
Q: What's the difference between Bigfoot and a smart Yankee fan?
A: Big Foot has been cited before!

Yankee's quick humor
Q: How do you make a Yankee fan laugh on Monday?
A: Tell them a joke on Friday!

Fax from a Yankee fan
Q: How can you tell if a Yankee fan just sent you a fax?
A: There's a stamp on it!

Yankee fans on your computer
Q: How can you tell if a Yankee fan has been using your computer?
A: There is whiteout on your screen!

Steinbrenner is lying?
Q: How can you tell when George Steinbrenner is lying?
A: His lips are moving!

Yankees marketing department
Q: What's the biggest challenge for the Yankees marketing department?
A: Literacy!

Yankees players showering
Q: Why don't Yankees players shower after home games?
A: Becuase veryone will just assume it's the city that stinks!

Chuck Knoblauch and Michael Jackson
Q: What do Chuck Knoblauch and Michael Jackson have in common?
A: They both wear a glove for no aparent reason!

Paul O'Neill in High School
Paul O'Neill is trying to graduate high school. His teacher says if you solve this math problem, you can graduate: What is 14-3? Paulie says 9, and the rest of the Yankees say, "give him another chance, give him another chance!" So the teacher says "Okay, what is 7+7?" Paulie says 10. The team members say "give him another chance!" The teacher says, "OK, what is 3x3?" Paulie says 9, and the rest of the Yankees say "give him another chance, give him another chance!"

Baseball Fans
Three baseball fans leave the stadium after a game and come across a dead, naked man with breasts lying in the middle of the street. After they call the cops, they each take off their baseball caps and place them on the dead man out of respect and to cover his private parts until the cops arrive.

The first fan places his Boston Red Sox cap over his left breast, the second places his Phillies cap on his right breast and the third fan places his Yankees cap on his pubic area.

The cops finally arrive, and the officers take statements from the fans to find out what happened. After explaining that they found his naked and covered him up with their caps, the cop went over to examine the body. He briefly lifted the Red Sox cap, and quickly replaced it; then he lifted the Phillies cap, and also quickly replaced it.

However, when he lifted the Yankees cap, he stared and stared for what seemed to be two or three minutes. Finally, he let the cap drop, walked away, wrote in his notebook, then returned and lifted the Yankees cap once again and stared for a long time.

As he was walking away the second time, the fans were curious and stopped him and asked him why he spent so much time looking at the man's genitalia, and he said, "It's the first time I've seen anything but an asshole under a Yankees cap."

Jack and Jill
Jack and Jill went up the hill For a bit of hanky panky Jill came back With a very sore crack Jack must have been a Yankee

Sitting on a stool
Q: How do you get four Yankees to sit on a stool?
A: Turn it upside down!

Pee Wee Herman is a baseball fan?
Q:What baseball team does Pee Wee Herman like?
A:The Yankees

Darryl's Crack
Yankees slugger Darryl Strawberry fouled a pitch off his foot on Sunday and now has a crack in his big toe. This is the first time that the name Strawberry and the word crack were used in the same sentence without it ending with his suspension.

Yankee Crack
Did you hear about Yankee stadium falling apart?
A huge beam fell through the deteriorating roof.
In fact, this was the first time the Yankees have had a problem with crack without it resulting in the suspension of a player.

Good ole Yogi
A couple of Yogi Berra's teammates on the Yankees ball club swear that one night the stocky catcher was horrified to see a baby toppling off the roof of a cottage across the way from him.

Yogi dashed over and made a miraculous catch - but then force of habit proved too much for him. He straightened up and threw the baby to second base.

Yankee IQ test
Q:what does your average yankee fan get on an i.q. test
A: Drool

Yankee hats
Q:why would an A's/Red Sox/Mets fan keep a yankee hat on the dashboard of his car?
A: so he can park in handicaped zones

Yankees and the Devil
One Day the Devil challenged the Lord to a baseball game.
Smiling the Lord proclaimed, "You don't have a chance, I have Babe Ruth, Mickey Mantle, and all the rest of the great Yankees up here".
"Yes", snickered the devil, "but I have all the umpires."

(on the topic:
Q: What happens to a baseball player who becomes blind
A: He becomes an umpire)

Pennant Fever
A Boston Red Sox fan, a Chicago Cubs fan and a NY Yankees fan were all in Saudi Arabia performing military duty for the US Army.

While off base, they were caught sharing a smuggled case of booze. All of a sudden Saudi police rushed in and arrested them. The mere possession of alcohol is a sever offense in Saudi Arabia, so for the terrible crime they were sentenced to death!

With the help of good lawyers, they were able to successfully appeal their sentence down to life imprisonment.

By a stroke of luck, a benevolent Sheik decided that they could be released after receiving just 20 lashes of the whip.

As they were preparing for their punishment, the Sheik said, "It's my 1st wife's birthday today, and she has asked me to allow each one of you one wish before your whipping".

The cubs fan was 1st in line (he had drunk the least), so he thought about this for a while and then said, "Please tie a pillow to my back." This was done, but the pillow only lasted 10 lashes before the whip went through. The cubs fan was carried away bleeding and crying.

The Yankees fan was up next (he almost finished an entire 5th by himself), and after watching the scene, said "OK please fix 2 pillows to my back." But even 2 pillows could only take 15 lashes before the whip went through again, sending the Yankee fan crying like a baby.

The Red Sox fan was the last up (he had finished off the crate- given his allegiance, who could blame him), but before he could say anything, the Sheik turned to him and said "you support the greatest baseball team in the world, your supporters are the best and most loyal fans in all the world. For this you may have 2 wishes"

"Thanks, your most royal highness'" the Red Sox fan replied.

"In recognition of your kindness, my first wish is that you give me not 20, but 100 lashes".

"Not only are you an honorable, powerful man, you are also very brave," said the Sheik. "If 100 lashes is what you desire, then so be it. And your second wish? What is it to be?" the Shiek asks..

To which the Red Sox fan replied... "Tie the Yankee fan to my back."

Team Pride
Four baseball fans, each from a major league city, are climbing a mountain.
On the way to the top, each is arguing about how loyal they are to their team and what they would do for their team.

As the climb progresses, the odds increase. Upon reaching the top, the Mets fan shouts, "This is for the Mets," and hurls himself off the top.

Next the Brave fan yells, "I love Atlanta, this is for the Braves," and hurls himself off the mountain.

Suddenly the Red Sox fan yells "This is for everyone," and pushes the Yankees fan off .

Einstein at a Party
Albert Einstein arrives at a party and introduces himself to the first person he sees and asks, "What is your IQ?"

The man answers, "241."

"That is wonderful!" says Albert. "We will talk about the Grand Unification Theory and the mysteries of the universe. We will have much to discuss!"

Next, Albert introduces himself to a woman and asks, "What is your IQ?"

The lady answers, "144."

"That is great!", says Albert, "We can discuss politics and current affairs. We will have much to discuss!".

Albert then goes to another person and asks, "What is your IQ?"

The person answers, "51."

Albert ponders this for a moment, and then smiles and says, "GO YANKEES"!!

Okay okay okay! I know there are already 4 boards for us to use. But I am not a yahoo boards person. I bet some of you LOVE yahoo and that is up to you. But I created a board for you guys. It has many catagorys to choose from and it is AD FREE!!!!

Hopefully this might get everyone on one page instead hopping from on group to another.

It is hosted on my sever
Http://www.n1bmx.com/forum

Please take the time to check it out. The more people that join (Please?) the more I will work on it to make it the best viewable enjoyment for you.

Once again thanks for letting me post and hope to see you on the new forums

The Future of Texas

Please note that Texas is the only state with a legal right to secede from the Union.
(please refer to the Texas-American Annexation Treaty of 1848).

We Texans love y'all, but we'll have to take action if Kerry wins president over Bush. We'll miss you too.

Texas has given all those complainers plenty of time
to get used to the results. After seeing the whiners along the campaign route, the folks from Texas are considering taking matters into our own hands.

Here is our solution:

#1: Let John Kerry become President of the United States.
(all 49 states.)

#2: George W. Bush becomes the President of the Republic of Texas.

So what does Texas have to do to survive as a Republic?

1. NASA is just south of Houston, Texas.
(we will control the space industry.)

2. We refine over 85% of the gasoline in the United States.

3. Defense Industry. (we have over 65% of it)
The term "Don't mess with Texas," will take on a whole new meaning.

4. Oil - we can supply all the oil that the Republic of Texas will need for the next 300 years.
Yankee states? Sorry about that.

5. Natural Gas - Again we have all we need and it's too bad about those northern states.

John Kerry will figure a way to keep them warm....

6. Computer Industry - we currently lead the nation in producing computer chips and communications: Small places like Texas Instruments, Dell Computer, EDS, Raythe! on, National Semiconductor, Motorola, Intel, AMD, Atmel, Applied
Materials, Ball Semiconductor, Dallas Semiconductor, Delphi, Nortel, Alcatel, Etc, Etc. The list goes on and on.

7. Health Centers - We have the largest research centers for Cancer research, the best burn centers and the top trauma units in the world and other large health planning centers.

8. We have enough colleges to keep us going: UT., Texas A&M,
Texas Tech, Rice, SMU, University of Houston, Baylor, UNT,
Texas Women's University, etc. Ivy grows better in the south anyway

9. We have a ready supply of workers.
(just open the border when we need some more).

10. We have control of the paper industry, plastics, insurance, etc.

11. In case of a foreign invasion, we have the Texas National Guard and the Texas Air National Guard. We don't have an army but since everybody down here has at least six rifles and a pile of ammo,
we can raise an army in 24 hours if we need it.
If the situation really gets bad, we can always call
Department of Public Safety and ask them to send over a couple Texas Rangers.

12. We are totally self sufficient in beef, poultry, hogs and several types of grain, fruit and vegetables and lets not forget seafood from the gulf.
And
everybody down here knows how to cook them so that they taste good.
Don't
need any food.

This just names a few of the items that will keep the Republic of Texas
in good shape.
There isn't a thing out there that we need and don't have.

~ ~ ~ ~ ~

Now to the rest of the United States under President Kerry:

Since you won't have the refineries to get gas for your cars,
only President Kerry will be able to drive around in his 9 mile per gallon SUV. The rest of the United States will have to walk or ride bikes.

You won't have any TV as the space center in Houston will cut off your communications. You won't have any natural gas to heat your homes but since
Mr.
Kerry has predicted global warming, you will not need the gas.

Signed, The People in Texas

Thanks for starting my day off right...!!
These were great.....
(but MOST of us already knew what you usually find under a Yankee's hat...hihi)

Well...if you didn't go...you missed a good time!

What a beautiful morning...sunny, cool fresh air....
great company and conversation....

(well,...except for one, big ALPHA---HOTEL from northwest connecticut..call ends with PUG
...shoulda been P-I-G....but...what a jerk!!!) &&%#%^&(((P and M !!!!!!!!!!!!!)

...great food.....etc. etc.

Enjoyed it a lot...saw stan and son nick N1VAP and ???
dave nk1u....george k1anx...pete k2aep... bill w1tge...obie n1qov sigurd kj1k, dave k1ttt.....and many many others........

the absence of SOME people was very noticable, too HIHI........

I donated a 10m antenna to stan's radio club station project and gave him a good deal on a 220 rig so he could run another band in the upcoming VHF contest with Whiskey ONE Dupa up in erving sounds like a great time everyone plan on trying to get up there for some fun on the hilltop

I exchanged alot of my stuff for some green paper.....

and believe it or not..............

I didn't buy anything !!!!!!!!

well,.....except donuts.....a couple raffle tickets.....and a cheeseburg!

No radio stuff,.....no computer stuff bet ya can't believe that........

It was a great time..... sorry most of you missed it !

mark it down for next year.....

Hi john

sorry i wasn't able to get down to the hot dog fest !
we were packing up for the pre dawn ride to worcester on thursday morning.....
we had to move my daughter stephanie into worcester state as a freshman........in the nursing program

how did the event turn out....?? was there a good turnout of hungry hams?
and the big question is,....i guess....

WHO ate the most hotdogs.....hihi??

HI Ralph-

Event went well for our first time at it!
Had aout 25 people show up.
Even had a couple club members come show up that we have not seen in years!!
I feel this will become an annual event for us.
It was fun and the dogs were great!! and LOTS of them. I had 5! :-(
:-)
Take care and hope to see you at the MARC HAMFEST on 10/9 in Orange!

more "news" about the moon landings....

When NASA was preparing for the Apollo Project, it took the Astronauts to a Navajo reservation in Arizona for training in the hostile environment that replicated the surface of the moon. One day, a Navajo elder and his son came across the space crew walking among the rocks. The elder, who spoke only Navajo, asked a question. His son translated for the NASA people: "What are these guys in the big suits doing?"
One of the astronauts said that they were practicing for a trip to the moon. When his son relayed this comment, the Navajo elder got all excited and asked if it would be possible to give to the astronauts a message to deliver to the moon.

Recognizing a promotional opportunity when he saw one, a NASA official accompanying the astronauts said, "Why certainly!" and told an underling to get a tape recorder. The Navajo elder's comments into the microphone were brief. Then NASA official asked the son if he would translate what his father had said. The son listened to the recording and laughed uproariously.

But he refused to translate. So the NASA people took the tape to a nearby Navajo village and played it for other members of the tribe. They too laughed long and loudly but also refused to translate the elder's message.

Finally, an official government translator was summoned.
After he finally stopped laughing the translator relayed the message:

"Keep a close eye on these assholes - they have come to steal your land".

Subject: ATM machine

A sign in the Bank Lobby reads: "Please note that this Bank is installing new "Drive-through" teller machines enabling customers to withdraw cash without leaving their vehicles. Customers using this new facility are requested to use the procedures outlined below when accessing their accounts. After months of careful research, MALE &FEMALE procedures have been developed. Please follow the appropriate steps for your gender."

MALE PROCEDURE
1. Drive up to the cash machine.
2. Put down your car window.
3. Insert card into machine and enter PIN.
4. Enter amount of cash required and withdraw.
5. Retrieve card, cash and receipt.
6. Pu! t window up.
7. Drive off.

FEMALE PROCEDURE
1. Drive up to cash machine.
2. Reverse and back up the required amount to align car window with the machine.
3. Set parking brake, put the window down.
4. Find handbag, remove all contents on to passenger seat to locate card.
5. Tell person on cell phone you will call them back and hang up.
6. Attempt to insert card into machine.
7. Open car door to allow easier access to machine due to its excessive distance from the car.

NEW YORK (AP) -- Dale Earnhardt Jr. says he believes his late father, seven-time NASCAR champion Dale Earnhardt, had a lot to do with his surviving a burning wreck at a sports car event in July.

Earnardt, interviewed for Wednesday night's edition of 60 Minutes on the CBS Television Network, was engulfed in flames after the Corvette he was driving at an American Le Mans Series event in Sonoma, Calif., spun and backed into a tire wall. The Nextel Cup star escaped with second-degree burns to his neck and legs, which hampered his racing for several weeks but did not sideline him.

"...At that moment, you think of everything...you think, '...This would really suck if it's the way I'm going out,"' Earnhardt told interviewer Mike Wallace.

Earnhardt's father was killed three years ago in a crash on the final lap of the Daytona 500, but Junior tells Wallace that it was his father who helped him escape from the burning car.

"I think he had a lot to do with me getting out of that car," says Earnhardt. "...I don't want to put some weird, you know, psycho twist on it like he was pulling me out or anything, but he had a lot to do with me getting out of that car. From the movement I made to unbuckle my belt to lying on the stretcher, I have no idea what happened. ... "

Earnhardt told Wallace the feeling was so real that when he reached safety, he began inquiring about the "person" who helped him out of the burning car.
"I had my...PR man...by the collar screaming at him to find the guy that pulled me out of the car," recalls Earnhardt.

"He was like, 'Nobody helped you get out,' and I was like, 'That's strange because I swear somebody...had me underneath...my arms and was carrying me out of the car.' I mean, I swear to God."

Wallace asks, "And that was your dad?" Earnhardt responds, "Yeah, I don't know. You tell me. It...freaks me out today just talking about it. It just gives me chills."

Subject: D-Day Today

This is what you would hear if today's liberal media reported on D-Day at Normandy)

June 6, 1944. -Normandy- Three hundred French civilians were killed and thousands more wounded today in the first hours of America's invasion of continental Europe. Casualties were heaviest among women and children. Most of the French casualties were the result of artillery fire from American ships attempting to knock out German fortifications prior to the landing of hundreds of thousands of U.S. troops. Reports from a makeshift hospital in the French town of St.Mere Eglise said the carnage was far worse than the French had anticipated and reaction against the American invasion was running high. "We are dying for no reason," said a Frenchman speaking on co ndition of anonymity. "Americans can't even shoot straight. I never thought I'd say this, but life was better under Adolph Hitler."
The invasion also caused severe environmental damage. American troops, tanks, trucks and machinery destroyed miles of pristine shoreline and thousands of acres of ecologically sensitive wetlands. It was believed that the habitat of the spineless French crab was completely wiped out, threatening the species with extinction. A representative of Greenpeace said his organization, which had tried to stall the invasion for over a year, was appalled at the destruction, but not surprised. "This is just another example of how the military destroys the environment without a second thought, " said Christine Moanmore. "And it's all about corporate greed." Contacted at his Manhattan condo, a member of the French government-in-exile who abandoned Paris when Hitler invaded said the invasion was based solely on American financial interests.
Administration supporters said America's aggressive actions were based in part on the assertions of controversial scientist Albert Einstein, who sent a letter to Roosevelt speculating that the Germans were developing a secret weapon, a so-called "atomic bomb." Such a weapon could produce casualties on a scale never seen before and cause environmental damage that could last for thousands of years. Hitler has denied having such a weapon and international inspectors were unable to locate such weapons even after spending two long weekends in Germany. Shortly after the invasion began reports surfaced that German prisoners had been abused by Americans. Mistreatment of Jews by Germans at so-called "concentration camps" has been rumored but so far, remains unproven.

Several thousand Americans died during the first hours of the invasion and French officials are concerned that uncollected corpses pose a public health risk. "The Americans should have planned for this in advance," they said. "It's their mess and we don't intend to clean it up."

The Patriots are like the new boyfriend that you really, really like - he's awesome, but almost too good to be true, so you worry.

The Bruins are like the guy that you just casually dated and you don't really care about him, he's just someone to hang with once in a while.

The Celtics are like the marriage that was great at one time, but has lost its spark, and you always kinda look back and think about how great it was.

And the Sox are the abusive husband who beats the crap out of you, but day after day you always go back to him, because you always believe that tomorrow will be different & you just love him too much.

Surfin': Joe Rudi, NK7U and Red Sox Mania

By Stan Horzepa, WA1LOU
Contributing Editor
October 22, 2004

This week, your Surfin' editor goes off the deep end with Red Sox mania and takes you along for the ride.

Forgive me. I am a sleep deprived Red Sox fan.

The events of the past week were emotionally charged for Red Sox and Yankee fans alike, but unlike past years, the Red Sox came out on top and the its Nation is still celebrating their team's unprecedented revival from three games in the hole to a four game sweep of that dreaded team from the Bronx.

Some fans swore off the Red Sox last year when the Yankee's Aaron Boone broke a Sox fans' hearts with his home run in the 11th inning of the deciding game of 2003 American League Championship Series (ALCS). I just shut the television off and went to bed resigned to the fact that the Red Sox were in my blood and swearing them off was fruitless. I knew that in the spring, I would be their fan again because that 's the way it has always been as far as I was concerned.

Back in 1958, the old man bought me my first pack of baseball cards. When I opened the wax pack, I found Ted Williams among the five cards and slab of bubble gum inside. The old man indicated that Williams was the best baseball player around, so I studied his card and found out that he played for the Boston Red Sox. If my old man said Williams was the best around, I figured I might as well root for him and his team, so I became a Red Sox fan.

Would you believe that your Surfin' editor made a connection with the Boston Red Sox at the Dayton Hamvention?

It was hard being a Red Sox fan in the late 50s and early 60s. The team was perennially near the bottom of the American League standings (while the Yankees were near or at the top) and as a Red Sox fan, my only elation was when a Red Sox player finished the season leading the league in batting average, home runs, and/or runs batted in. I thank Williams, Pete Runnels, Jackie Jensen, Dick Stuart, Tony Conigliaro, and Carl Yastrzemski for helping me keep the Red Sox faith during those very lean years.

The Red Sox world changed in 1967, when they won the American League championship for the first time in my lifetime. And since 1967, the Red Hose have been more competitive and often are vying for first place in the American League.

But during that 37-year run, there have been heart-breaking moments that caused me to swear off the Sox. Like Luis Aparicio stumbling on the third base line in Baltimore to blow the Sox's chance to beat out the Orioles for the pennant in 1972; Bill Lee throwing a fat pitch to Cincinnati's Tony Perez, who hit out of the park to help Reds win the 1975 World Series; Bucky Dent's home run in the 1978 playoff game to give the pennant to the Yankees; Bill Buckner's fielding and the Sox's gut-wrenching loss to the Mets in Game 6 of the 1986 World Series; and it goes on and on.

After those losses, I sometimes swore off the Sox, but I always came back the following spring. So last year, after Boone's home run, I was very upset, but I knew better than swear off the Sox. They had a good team, I thought, and maybe, just maybe, they could do better in 2004. They did and I am a very happy camper.

What does this have to do with ham radio? Not much, I admit, but it is hard for me to think about ham radio after all that has happened this past week. However, I do have a baseball connection to ham radio for you. In fact, this baseball connection to ham radio is related to another heartbreak for Red Sox fans.

Joe Rudi, NK7U, was one of the key players on the Oakland A's world championship teams of 1972, 1973, and 1974. He was a great hitter and I was an elated when the Oakland team owner, Charlie Finley, began to break up his team in the mid-1970s and sold the slugger and future ham radio operator and contest super station owner to the Red Sox. But, the Commissioner of baseball, Bowie Kuhn, voided the deal and Red Sox fans hearts were broken once again.

Near the end of Joe's career, he played one year (1981) with the Red Sox, but it was not a good year for Joe or the Sox and so it goes. I did meet Joe at the Dayton Hamvention a few years ago and he was surprised that I came all the way from Connecticut to go to Dayton. I guess my affinity for the Red Sox and the Dayton Hamvention are similar. I even got Joe's autograph on a flyer for the ham radio software he was involved with back then. It was a thrill to meet a real Red Sox player and one who was a ham, too!

Until next week, keep on surfin'

Editor's note: Stan Horzepa, WA1LOU, became a radio fan while listening to his beloved Red Sox on Hartford's WTIC 1080 AM radio station and discovering DX in the form of the Baltimore Oriole's game on WBAL 1090 AM. To discuss the Red Sox, DX, and other passions, write Stan by sending e-mail to wa1lou@...."

Would you believe that your Surfin' editor made a connection with the Boston Red Sox at the Dayton Hamvention?

His 21 Best One Liners...

1. I was so poor growing up ... if I wasn't a boy ... I'd have had nothing to play with.

2. A girl phoned me the other day and said, "Come on over; nobody's home." I went over. Nobody was home.

3. During sex, my girlfriend always wants to talk to me. Just the other night she called me from a hotel.

4. One day I came home early from work ... I saw a guy jogging naked. I said to the guy, "Hey buddy, why are you doing that?" He said, "Because you came home early."

5. Its been a rough day. I got up this morning ... put a shirt on and a button fell off. I picked up my briefcase, and the handle came off. I'm afraid to go to the bathroom.

6. I was such an ugly kid...When I played in the sandbox; the cat kept covering me up.

7. I could tell my parents hated me. My bath toys were a toaster and radio.

8. I was such an ugly baby...My mother never breast-fed me. She told me that she only liked me as a friend.

9. I'm so ugly...My father carries around a picture of the kid who came with his wallet.

10. When I was born, the doctor came into the waiting room and said to my father, "I'm sorry. We did everything we could, but he pulled through."

11. I'm so ugly...My mother had morning sickness...AFTER I was born.

12. I remember the time that I was kidnapped and they sent a piece of my finger to my father. He said he wanted more proof.

13. Once when I was lost, I saw a policeman, and asked him to help me find my parents. I said to him, "Do you think we'll ever find them?" He said, "I don't know kid. There's so many places they can hide."

14. My wife made me join a bridge club. I jump off next Tuesday.

15. I'm so ugly...I worked in a pet shop, and people kept asking how big I'd get.

16. I went to see my doctor. "Doctor, every morning when I get up and I look in the mirror...I feel like throwing up; What's wrong with me?" He said..."I don't know but your eyesight is perfect."

17. I went to the doctor because I'd swallowed a bottle of sleeping pills. My doctor told me to have a few drinks and get some rest.

18. With my old man I got no respect. I asked him, "How can I get my kite in the air?" He told me to run off a cliff.

19. Some dog I got. We call him Egypt because in every room he leaves a pyramid. His favorite bone is in my arm. Last night he went on the paper four times -three of those times I was reading it.

20. One year they wanted to make me poster boy - for birth control.

21. My uncle's dying wish was to have me sitting in his lap; he was in the electric chair.

Women are like apples on trees. The best ones are at the top of the tree. Most men don't want to reach for the good ones because they are afraid of falling and getting hurt. Instead, they just take the rotten apples from the ground that aren't as good, but easy.....
The
apples at the top think something is wrong with them, when in reality, they're amazing. They just have to wait for the right man to come along, the one who's brave enough to climb all the way to the top of the tree. Share this with other Women who are good apples, even those who have already been picked!
> > >>
Now Men... Men are like a fine wine. They begin as grapes, and it's up to women to stomp the shit out of them until they turn into something acceptable to have dinner with.
OUCH!!

hi everyone

last sunday I tried out the new 60m band for the first time,....
inspired by AA2T and the ARES emergency test net held there for the first time it was a very interesting experience.... here is the report from the net and some important info about the band...
give it a try...sometime

Ralph WA1UOL

EmComm test on Sixty mtrs.

EmComm on Sixty

One item on the state meeting (23 Oct) agenda was the feasability of 60 meters over 75 or/and 40 meters for emergency communications. Jerry AA2T had brought this issue up in correspondence several times in view of comments from both the FCC and the Leagues' ARESCOM committee favoring the positive. Naturally the other side of the coin concerned the secondary status we have on sixty, and the maximum power limit of 50 Watts using a dipole or any 0db gain antenna.

On 31 October the "test Net" was launched at 8 AM, thirty minutes before the Western Mass ARES Section Net began on 75 meters (3937/ 42). As NCS Jerry found channel #1 to be open, he staked claim quickly. This is a compiled listing of the stations that participated:

AA2T NCS Leominster WA1UOL Ralph Ashfield
WE1C John (assist) Worc. N1QOV Obie Pittsfield (Berk)
WA1R Marc Framingham KE1BZ Bill RI/ wMa Liaison

Non-Officials

W1PXA Steve CT. K2ZVL Van Indian Lake NY.

Jerry said the solar (X) flair brought his noise level from zero to an S-7. "looks like on the rising edge of the flares intensity the noise comes up."

Jim K1RMS, says most stations were between an S-4 to S-9 (averaging S-6), with WAR very light at his Spencer location.

Thanks to K1LRB Russ in Northfield for his report/comments sent by IM.

Sixty meters can be another EmComm path used when propagation is poor on the 80/40 platform. It will take us some time to follow it's habits, but for now we can see some possibilities with 4 States and 4 Counties on the "QT."

Thanks guys, SET: 06 Nov 9:30 AM to 12:00 SAT AM info on 60 meter frequencies from arrl.org:

http://www.arrl.org/news/stories/2003/05/23/3/?nc=1

The NTIA says that hams planning to operate on 60 meters "must assure that their signal is transmitted on the channel center frequency." In general, the NTIA advised in its letter to the OET, users should set their carrier frequency 1.5 kHz lower than the channel center frequency. According to the NTIA: Channel Center
Amateur Tuning Frequency

5332 kHz
5330.5 kHz

5348 kHz
5346.5 kHz

5368 kHz
5366.5 kHz

5373 kHz
5371.5 kHz

5405 kHz (common US/UK)
5403.5 kHz

THE NEW FREQUENCIES:

Five SPECIFIC FREQUENCIES for amateur use on a SECONDARY BASIS
FOR GENERAL AND HIGHER CLASS AMATEUR RADIO OPERATORS

5332, 5348, 5368, 5373, and 5405 kHz--at 60 meters
The FCC has granted operation on USB (2K8J3E emission) only, maximum effective radiated power (ERP) limit of 50 W relative to a 0 dB gain antenna-- (a half-wave dipole.)
The NTIA advised in a letter to the FCC Office of Engineering and Technology (OET) that users of 60 meters should set their carrier frequency 1.5 kHz lower than the channel center frequency.

Chemtrails And Radio Propagation -
Some Observations
By Jim Mortellaro Jsmortell@...
11-7-4

Note: At the time of submission, the sun had become slightly more active, with half a dozen sunspots on the solar surface. While much less in intensity than during the recent solar maximum, the reader should know that this recent activity has no effect on the observations made.

I am an Amateur Radio operator. Been licensed since 1957. Since I operate the low frequency bands, like 80 and 160 meters and enjoy listening to long distance (DX) AM radio broadcasts (such as Rense, the nearest station carrying Jeff is well over 800 miles away) I depend on 'skip' conditions which occur on these frequencies on a regular basis only during the period of time the sun is in it's active phase. This past August (2004) the sun was extraordinarily active. Now, the sun is at peace with nary a sunspot on it's surface. It is in it's 'minimum' stage.

This means low frequency radio signals during the nighttime hours are mostly local. On rare occasions, will these bands 'open up' to skip and long distance (DX) conditions. The sun's cycle is 11 years. But solar maximums and minimums will sometimes occur very close to one the other. We appear to be at a minimum just 3 months after the solar maximum. Not terribly unusual.

Now let's get to the point.

A look at the NASA sites show the sun as clear and clean of sunspots as the sun can be. This past week, there was absolutely NOTHING there. Nothing. That means the activity on low band radio frequencies, from 3 MHz on down to about 1 MHz, should be dead. No skip, no long distance stations coming in, nothing. Quiet.

Nothing could be farther from true. Listen in to your own AM radio and see for yourself. Sunday night (10/24/04) produced a plethora of stations coming in that should definitely not have been heard. Near the 1500 and up portion of the spectrum, long distance stations (DX) were blasting in as if they were local. This occurs only during Solar Maximum. The Amateur 80 Meter band is bringing in stations from all over the world. Not only has this condition continued, but it has increased. Stations on the AM radio dial begin phasing in and out before 7PM EDST and continue to sunup.

I was trying to listen in to a show I cannot receive on AM radio one night. The closest stations and therefore the strongest signals in my area, come from New York and Albany. Tonight, I could not here those stations. I was hearing stations from Mexico, Canada, LA, and points all over the compass including Canada.

A digression. When the solar maximum occurs, ionized particles flood the upper atmosphere. These particles allow AM stations, and Amateur radio stations from 80 through 160 meters to bounce off the ionosphere, landing at great distances beyond the ground wave. The ground wave for a typical AM broadcast station is normally in the 300+ mile range. More or less. During skip conditions, the ground wave is less effective, since the sky wave interferes with local stations.

A powerful AM station in New York such as WABC (770) or WCBS (880) will fade in and out as stronger stations come in. And those NY stations will actually cancel themselves out as the sky wave arrives a little after the ground wave, causing phase differences sufficient to reduce signal strength to near zero at times.

Don't give up now, people, there's a lot more to this little tutorial than a lesson in DX radio conditions.

Here is the premise. If the sun is no longer active, if the sun has a nice, clean surface, and if there are no other perturbations affecting radio communications, then what the heck is causing this windfall for Hams and lousy listening for AM radio?

Not a darn thing. Not a darn NATURAL thing that is. But something is happening here and I think I know what it is, Mr. Jones. The biggest phenomena lurking in our skies is Chemtrails. Chemtrails contain at least one interesting element and that would be barium. Barium is used as substrate material since it is not a conductor of electrons. Coat the barium with other elements and voila, you have a great conductor.

I posit the idea that chemtrails may be responsible for this bounty of good DX radio on the low frequencies. And to add to the rationale, some high frequency bands are also active which should NOT be active. These include the ham 10 meter band and even the Citizen's Band 11 meter band. This is quite bizarre. Low frequency bands open up BEFORE 8 PM in the Eastern Time Zone. This is not normal. DX continues until just before daylight. Also quite impossible, since the sun is not active and there is NOTHING else known to us which may cause these conditions.

It may be that chemtrails are specifically used to enhance low frequency propagation. Or it may be that chemtrails have the side benefit of creating superb radio propagation. For there is one additional observation made by our local Amateur Radio Group. Immediately following a spraying, band conditions open up wide. And not only on lower frequencies, but also on some of the high frequency bands.

We are not speaking here, of some intermittent phenomena. We are speaking of continuous, long distance low band radio communications which should be rare to non-existent during this phase of the solar cycle.

Coincidence? Doesn't seem so to us. But hey, you never know.

Jim Mortellaro

After a few years of married life, a man finds that he is unable to perform. He goes to his doctor, and his doctor tries a few things but nothing works. Finally the doctor says to him "This is all in your mind" and refers him to a psychiatrist.
After a few visits to the psychiatrist, the shrink confesses, "I am at a loss as to how you could possibly be cured." And he refers the man to a witch doctor.
The witch doctor says, "I can cure this." He throws some powder on a flame and there is a flash with billowing blue smoke. The witch doctor says, "This is powerful healing, but you can only use it once a year!
All you have to do is say '123' and it shall rise for as long as you wish!"
The guy then asks the witch doctor, "What happens when it's over?" The witch doctor says, "All you or your partner has to say is '1234' and it will go down. But be warned: after that, it will not work again for another year!"
The guy goes home, and that night he is so excited and anxious to surprise his wife. He can't wait to go to bed. They get in bed and he says, "123", and just like magic, he gets an erection. His wife turns over and says, "What did you say '123' for?"

Fender Skirts

What a great blast from the past! I haven't thought about "fender skirts" in years. When I was a kid, I considered it such a funny term. Made me think of a car in a dress. Thinking about fender skirts started me thinking about other words that quietly disappear from our language with hardly a notice.

Like "curb feelers" and "steering knobs". Since I'd been thinking of cars, my mind naturally went that direction first. Any kids will probably have to find some elderly person over 50 to explain some of these terms to you.

Remember "Continental kits"? They were rear bumper extenders and spare tire covers that were supposed to make any car as cool as a Lincoln Continental.

When did we quit calling them "emergency brakes"? At some point "parking brake" became the proper term. But I miss the hint of drama that went with "emergency brake".

I'm sad, too, that almost all the old folks are gone who would call the accelerator the "foot feed".

Here's a phrase I heard all the time in my youth but never anymore-"store-bought". Of course, just about everything is store-bought these days. But, once it was bragging material to have a store-bought dress or a store-bought bag of candy.

"Coast to coast" is a phrase that once held all sorts of excitement and now means almost nothing. Now we take the term "worldwide" for granted. This floors me.

On a smaller scale, "wall-to-wall" was once a magical term in our homes.

In the '50s, everyone covered their hardwood floors with, wow, wall-to-wall carpeting! Today, everyone replaces their wall-to-wall carpeting with hardwood floors. Go figure.
When's the last time you heard the quaint phrase "in a family way"? It's hard to imagine that the word "pregnant" was once considered a little too graphic, a little too clinical for use in polite company. So we had all that talk about stork visits and "being in a family way" or simply "expecting".
Apparently "brassiere" is a word no longer in usage. I said it the other day and my daughter cracked up. I guess it's just "bra"
now. "Unmentionables" probably wouldn't be understood at all.
Most of these words go back to the '50s, but here's a pure-'60s word I came across the other day -- "rat fink". Ooh, what a nasty put-down!
Here's a word I miss -- "percolator". That was just a fun word to say. And what was it replaced with? "Coffeemaker". How dull. Mr. Coffee, I blame you for this.
I miss those made-up marketing words that were meant to sound so modern and now sound so retro. Words like "DynaFlow" and "ElectraLuxe".
Introducing the 1963 Admiral TV, now with "SpectraVision"!
Food for thought - Was there a telethon that wiped out "lumbago"? Nobody complains of that anymore. Maybe that's what castor oil cured, because I never hear mothers threatening their kids with castor oil anymore.
Some words aren't gone, but are definitely on the endangered list. The one that grieves me most is -- "supper" Now everybody says "dinner". Save a great word. Invite someone to "supper". Discuss fender skirts.
Someone forwarded this to me, and I thought some of us of a "certain age" would remember most of these.

are you using outlook express or something else?

youe emails come thru as text only and i know you set your Groups to send text emails only so you may need to turn on "display rich text or html"

in your email program options

many default to text only check it out
the picture may be there and your program just isn't showing it

Get ready for winter....

FYI..... K1ARC Red Cross information

Attention HF Operators:

==========

Emergency Power Test for K1ARC Red Cross Net

K1ARC American Red Cross Emergency Training Net

On Wednesday, December 1st, is the next American Red Cross K1ARC Emergency Training Net. This net is open to any amateur radio operator who is interested in HF emergency communications.

All stations are requested to use EMERGENCY POWER when checking into the December 1st Net as we will be conducting a test in preparation for the winter's upcoming "Nor-Easters" snow storms. This request is optional.

The net meets at 8:00 P.M. (local) on 3.915 MHz, plus or minus 5 kHz, Voice/LSB on the FIRST Wednesday of each month.

Are you ready to operate an Emergency HF Radio Station during the next blizzard or ice storm to hit the area?!?

Now is a great time to test your emergency power supply for your station.

But, please remember... SAFETY FIRST!!!

Portable generators can kill by electrocution, fire, and carbon monoxide poisoning. Acid storage batteries can maim and burn. For example, a 12-volt/300-amp lead-acid storage battery can mutilate a finger in a fraction of a second by shorting it through a wedding ring and handheld screwdriver. Ouch!

Use extreme caution, and again, SAFETY FIRST!!!

Please note that using emergency power is requested, but is it NOT required. So, please check-in even if you are unable to use emergency power.

A national directory of cell phone numbers will be published soon.
This opens the door to solicitors calling our cell phones using up our minutes.
The Federal Trade Commission has set up a do not call list. You must call FROM the number you wish to register. The number is 1-888-382-1222 (takes 1 minute) or you can click on the link below to register your cell phones on line.

News Gathering Is Illegal
Under New Patriot Act ll
By Alex Jones
InfoWars.com
11-20-4

SECTION 102 of the new Patriot Act ll states clearly that any information gathering, regardless of whether or not those activities are illegal, can be considered to be clandestine intelligence activities for a foreign power. This makes news gathering illegal.

A Brief Analysis of the Domestic Security Enhancement Act 2003
- Also Known as USA Patriot Act II

Congressman Ron Paul (R-Tex) told the Washington Times that no member of Congress was allowed to read the first Patriot Act that was passed by the House on October 27, 2001. The first Patriot Act was universally decried by civil libertarians and Constitutional scholars from across the political spectrum. William Safire, while writing for the New York Times, described the first Patriot Act's powers by saying that President Bush was "seizing dictatorial control." On February 7, 2003 the Center for Public Integrity, a non-partisan public interest think-tank in DC, revealed the full text of the Domestic Security Enhancement Act of 2003. The classified document had been leaked to them by an unnamed source inside the Federal government. The document consisted of a 33 page section by section analysis of the accompanying 87 page bill.

The bill itself is stamped "Confidential - Not for Distribution." Upon reading the analysis and bill, I was stunned by the scientifically crafted tyranny contained in the legislation. The Justice Department Office of Legislative Affairs admits that they had indeed covertly transmitted a copy of the legislation to Speaker of the House Dennis Hastert, (R-Il) and the Vice President of the United States, Dick Cheney as well as the executive heads of federal law enforcement agencies.

It is important to note that no member of Congress was allowed to see the first Patriot Act before its passage, and that no debate was tolerate by the House and Senate leadership. The intentions of the White House and Speaker Hastert concerning Patriot Act II appear to be a carbon copy replay of the events that led to the unprecedented passage of the first Patriot Act.

There are two glaring areas that need to be looked at concerning this new legislation:

1. The secretive tactics being used by the White House and Speaker Hastert to keep even the existence of this legislation secret would be more at home in Communist China than in the United States. The fact that Dick Cheney publicly managed the steamroller passage of the first Patriot Act, ensuring that no one was allowed to read it and publicly threatening members of Congress that if they didn't vote in favor of it that they would be blamed for the next terrorist attack, is by the White House's own definition terrorism. The move to clandestinely craft and then bully passage of any legislation by the Executive Branch is clearly an impeachable offense.

2. The second Patriot Act is a mirror image of powers that Julius Caesar and Adolf Hitler gave themselves. Whereas the First Patriot Act only gutted the First, Third, Fourth and Fifth Amendments, and seriously damaged the Seventh and the Tenth, the Second Patriot Act reorganizes the entire Federal government as well as many areas of state government under the dictatorial control of the Justice Department, the Office of Homeland Security and the FEMA NORTHCOM military command. The Domestic Security Enhancement Act 2003, also known as the Second Patriot Act is by its very structure the definition of dictatorship.

I challenge all Americans to study the new Patriot Act and to compare it to the Constitution, Bill of Rights and Declaration of Independence. Ninety percent of the act has nothing to do with terrorism and is instead a giant Federal power-grab with tentacles reaching into every facet of our society. It strips American citizens of all of their rights and grants the government and its private agents total immunity. Here is a quick thumbnail sketch of just some of the draconian measures encapsulated within this tyrannical legislation:

SECTION 501 (Expatriation of Terrorists) expands the Bush administration's "enemy combatant" definition to all American citizens who "may" have violated any provision of Section 802 of the first Patriot Act. (Section 802 is the new definition of domestic terrorism, and the definition is "any action that endangers human life that is a violation of any Federal or State law.") Section 501 of the second Patriot Act directly connects to Section 125 of the same act. The Justice Department boldly claims that the incredibly broad Section 802 of the First USA Patriot Act isn't broad enough and that a new, unlimited definition of terrorism is needed.

Under Section 501 a US citizen engaging in lawful activities can be grabbed off the street and thrown into a van never to be seen again. The Justice Department states that they can do this because the person "had inferred from conduct" that they were not a US citizen. Remember Section 802 of the First USA Patriot Act states that any violation of Federal or State law can result in the "enemy combatant" terrorist designation.

SECTION 201 of the second Patriot Act makes it a criminal act for any member of the government or any citizen to release any information concerning the incarceration or whereabouts of detainees. It also states that law enforcement does not even have to tell the press who they have arrested and they never have to release the names.

SECTION 301 and 306 (Terrorist Identification Database) set up a national database of "suspected terrorists" and radically expand the database to include anyone associated with suspected terrorist groups and anyone involved in crimes or having supported any group designated as "terrorist." These sections also set up a national DNA database for anyone on probation or who has been on probation for any crime, and orders State governments to collect the DNA for the Federal government.

SECTION 312 gives immunity to law enforcement engaging in spying operations against the American people and would place substantial restrictions on court injunctions against Federal violations of civil rights across the board.

SECTION 101 will designate individual terrorists as foreign powers and again strip them of all rights under the "enemy combatant" designation.

SECTION 102 states clearly that any information gathering, regardless of whether or not those activities are illegal, can be considered to be clandestine intelligence activities for a foreign power. This makes news gathering illegal.

SECTION 103 allows the Federal government to use wartime martial law powers domestically and internationally without Congress declaring that a state of war exists.

SECTION 106 is bone-chilling in its straightforwardness. It states that broad general warrants by the secret FSIA court (a panel of secret judges set up in a star chamber system that convenes in an undisclosed location) granted under the first Patriot Act are not good enough. It states that government agents must be given immunity for carrying out searches with no prior court approval. This section throws out the entire Fourth Amendment against unreasonable searches and seizures.

SECTION 109 allows secret star chamber courts to issue contempt charges against any individual or corporation who refuses to incriminate themselves or others. This sections annihilate the last vestiges of the Fifth Amendment.

SECTION 110 restates that key police state clauses in the first Patriot Act were not sunsetted and removes the five year sunset clause from other subsections of the first Patriot Act. After all, the media has told us: "This is the New America. Get used to it. This is forever."

SECTION 111 expands the definition of the "enemy combatant" designation.

SECTION 122 restates the government's newly announced power of "surveillance without a court order."

SECTION 123 restates that the government no longer needs warrants and that the investigations can be a giant dragnet-style sweep described in press reports about the Total Information Awareness Network. One passage reads, "thus the focus of domestic surveillance may be less precise than that directed against more conventional types of crime."

*Note: Over and over again, in subsection after subsection, the second Patriot Act states that its new Soviet-type powers will be used to fight international terrorism, domestic terrorism and other types of crimes. Of course the government has already announced in Section 802 of the first USA Patriot act that any crime is considered domestic terrorism.

SECTION 126 grants the government the right to mine the entire spectrum of public and private sector information from bank records to educational and medical records. This is the enacting law to allow ECHELON and the Total Information Awareness Network to break down any and all walls of privacy. The government states that they must look at everything to "determine" if individuals or groups might have a connection to terrorist groups. As you can now see, you are guilty until proven innocent.

SECTION 127 allows the government to takeover coroners' and medical examiners' operations whenever they see fit. See how this is like Bill Clinton's special medical examiner he had in Arkansas that ruled that people had committed suicide when their arms and legs had been cut off.

SECTION 128 allows the Federal government to place gag orders on Federal and State Grand Juries and to take over the proceedings. It also disallows individuals or organizations to even try to quash a Federal subpoena. So now defending yourself will be a terrorist action.

SECTION 129 destroys any remaining whistle blower protection for Federal agents.

SECTION 202 allows corporations to keep secret their activities with toxic biological, chemical or radiological materials.

SECTION 205 allows top Federal officials to keep all their financial dealings secret, and anyone investigating them can be considered a terrorist. This should be very useful for Dick Cheney to stop anyone investigating Haliburton.

SECTION 303 sets up national DNA database of suspected terrorists. The database will also be used to "stop other unlawful activities." It will share the information with state, local and foreign agencies for the same purposes.

SECTION 311 federalizes your local police department in the area of information sharing.

SECTION 313 provides liability protection for businesses, especially big businesses that spy on their customers for Homeland Security, violating their privacy agreements. It goes on to say that these are all preventative measures - has anyone seen Minority Report? This is the access hub for the Total Information Awareness Network.

SECTION 321 authorizes foreign governments to spy on the American people and to share information with foreign governments.

SECTION 322 removes Congress from the extradition process and allows officers of the Homeland Security complex to extradite American citizens anywhere they wish. It also allows Homeland Security to secretly take individuals out of foreign countries.

SECTION 402 is titled "Providing Material Support to Terrorism." The section reads that there is no requirement to show that the individual even had the intent to aid terrorists.

SECTION 403 expands the definition of weapons of mass destruction to include any activity that affects interstate or foreign commerce.

SECTION 404 makes it a crime for a terrorist or "other criminals" to use encryption in the commission of a crime.

SECTION 408 creates "lifetime parole" (basically, slavery) for a whole host of crimes.

SECTION 410 creates no statute of limitations for anyone that engages in terrorist actions or supports terrorists. Remember: any crime is now considered terrorism under the first Patriot Act.

SECTION 411 expands crimes that are punishable by death. Again, they point to Section 802 of the first Patriot Act and state that any terrorist act or support of terrorist act can result in the death penalty.

SECTION 421 increases penalties for terrorist financing. This section states that any type of financial activity connected to terrorism will result to time in prison and $10-50,000 fines per violation.

SECTION 427 sets up asset forfeiture provisions for anyone engaging in terrorist activities. There are many other sections that I did not cover in the interest of time. The American people were shocked by the despotic nature of the first Patriot Act. The second Patriot Act dwarfs all police state legislation in modern world history.

There are many other sections that I did not cover in the interest of time. The American people were shocked by the despotic nature of the first Patriot Act. The second Patriot Act dwarfs all police state legislation in modern world history.

Usually, corrupt governments allow their citizens lots of wonderful rights on paper, while carrying out their jackbooted oppression covertly. From snatch and grab operations to warantless searches, Patriot Act II is an Adolf Hitler wish list.

You can understand why President Bush/Dick Cheney & Dennis Hastert want to keep this legislation secret not just from Congress, but the American people as well. Bill Allison, Managing Editor of the Center for Public Integrity, the group that broke this story, stated on my radio show that it was obvious that they were just waiting for another terrorist attack to opportunistically get this new bill through. He then shocked me with an insightful comment about how the Federal government was crafting this so that they could go after the American people in general. He also agreed that the FBI has been quietly demonizing patriots and Christians and those who carry around pocket Constitutions.

I have produced two documentary films and written a book about what really happened on September 11th. The bottom line is this: the military-industrial complex carried the attacks out as a pretext for control. Anyone who doubts this just hasn?t looked at the mountains of hard evidence.

Of course, the current group of white collar criminals in the White House might not care that were finding out the details of their next phase. Because, after all, when smallpox gets released, or more buildings start blowing up, the President can stand up there at his lectern suppressing a smirk, squeeze out a tear or two, and tell us that See I was right. I had to take away your rights to keep you safe. And now it's your fault that all of these children are dead. From that point on, if anyone criticizes tyranny they will be shouted down by the paid talking head government mouthpieces in the mainstream media.

You have to admit, its a beautiful script. Unfortunately, it's being played out in the real world. If we don't get the word out that government is using terror to control our lives while doing nothing to stop the terrorists, we will deserve what we get - tyranny. But our children won't deserve it.

Dear Jeff,

After reading excerpts from the posted article on the Patriot Act-2, I can only say this is the the most Draconian piece of filth I have ever read.

ANY American politician who would give any thought whatsoever to attempting to make this the Law of the Land is committing Constitutional Heresy.

Only a degenerate megalomaniacal mind could conceive such a piece legal excrement. Patriot Act 2 is the most vile obtrusive document to ever go before the Legislative branch of our Government.

Jeff get ready for the Concentration Camp, because that's where all free-thinking and freedom-loving Americans' destinies are vested under the Jack-boot of Puppet Act-2.

May God have mercy on us all.

'Do Not Call' List for Cell Phone Users

Netlore Archive: Email flier warns that a directory of cell phone numbers will soon be published and urges users to enter their cell phone numbers on a federal 'do not call' list to prevent unsolicited calls from telemarketers

Description: Email flier Circulating since: Sep. 2004
Status: Partly true
Analysis: See below

Email example contributed by Gail E., 14 October 2004:

Cell Phone Directory:

A directory of cell phone numbers will be published soon. This opens the door to solicitors calling our cell phones using up our minutes. The Federal Trade Commission has set up a do not call list. You must call FROM the number you wish to register, or go to their website at www.donotcall.gov, to be included on the do not call list. The number is 1-888-382-1222.

Comments: While it's true that the major wireless phone providers (with the sole exception of Verizon) have announced their intention to compile a directory of customers' cell phone numbers, it isn't true that they plan to "publish" said directory for all to see. The numbers will be made available only if customers opt in, and will be accessible only by those who call information and pay a fee.

Participating service providers swear the numbers will never be available to telemarketers.

Not everyone believes that, however, as evidenced by a privacy protection bill already introduced in Congress which would modify the plan to allow 411 callers to be directly connected to requested parties but would not allow those parties' numbers to be given out. It remains to be seen precisely what form the cell phone "directory" will ultimately take.

Meanwhile, the Federal Trade Commission does allow worried cell phone users to add their numbers to the National Do Not Call Registry — the same one that is already in force for landlines — either online or by calling 1-888-382-1222 .

HOW TRUE IT IS

Another year has passed and we're all a little older.
Last summer felt hotter and winter seems much colder.

There was a time not long ago when life was quite a blast.
Now I fully understand about "Living in the Past"

We used to go to weddings, football games and lunches.
Now we go to funeral homes,
and after-funeral brunches.

We used to have hangovers,
from parties that were gay.
Now we suffer body aches and while the night away.

We used to go out dining,
and couldn't get our fill.
Now we ask for doggie bags,
come home and take a pill.

We used to often travel to places near and far.
Now we get sore asses
from riding in the car.

We used to go to nightclubs and drink a little booze.
Now we stay home at night and watch the evening news.

That, my friend is how life is,
and now my tale is told.
So, enjoy each day and live it up...
before you're too damned old!

A woman and her boyfriend are out for New Years having a few drinks. While they're sitting there having a good time together she starts talking about this really great new drink. The more she talks about it the more excited she gets, and starts trying to talk her boyfriend into having one. After a while he gives in and lets her order the drink for him. The bartender brings the drink and puts the following on the bar -- a salt shaker, a shot of Baileys and a shot of lime juice.

The boyfriend looks at the items quizzically and the woman explains. "First you put a bit of the salt on your tongue, next you drink the shot of Baileys and hold it in your mouth, and finally you drink the lime juice." So, the boyfriend, trying to go along and please her, goes for it. He puts the salt on his tongue -- salty but OK. He drinks the shot of Baileys - smooth,rich, cool, very pleasant. He thinks - this is OK. Finally he picks up the lime juice and drinks it ... in one second the sharp lime taste hits... at two seconds the Baileys curdles... at three seconds the salty curdled bitter taste hits. This triggers his gag reflex but being manly, and not wanting to disappoint his girlfriend, he swallows the now nasty drink. When he finally chokes it down he turns to his girlfriend.

She smiles widely at him and says, "So, how did you like it? It's called 'Blow Job's Revenge.'"

A Ham's Night Before Christmas

December 24, 2004

We reprise yet another corruption of Clement Clarke Moore's classic Christmas tale, this time distorted by Gary Pearce KN4AQ, and the Raleigh Amateur Radio Society, Raleigh, North Carolina, December 2, 1996. Read by Gary Pearce.

'Twas the night before Christmas,
And all through 2 meters,
Not a signal was keying up
Any repeaters.

The antennas reached up
From the tower, quite high,
To catch the weak signals
That bounced from the sky.

The children, Tech-Pluses, Took their H-Ts to bed,
And dreamed of the day
They'd be Extras instead.

Mom put on her headphones,
I plugged in the key,
And we tuned 40 meters
For that rare ZK3.

When the meter was pegged
By a signal with power.
It smoked a small diode,
And, I swear, shook the tower.

Mom yanked off her phones,
And with all she could muster
Logged a spot of the signal
On the DX PacketCluster,

While I ran to the window
And peered up at the sky,
To see what could generate RF that high.

It was way in the distance,
But the moon made it gleam.
A flying sleigh, with an Eight-element beam,

And a little old driver
Who looked slightly mean.
So I thought for a moment,
That it might be Wayne Green.

But no, it was Santa,
The Santa of Hams.
On a mission, this Christmas,
To clean up the bands.

He circled the tower,
Then stopped in his track,
And he slid down the coax
Right into the shack.

While Mom and I hid Behind stacks of CQ,
This Santa of hamming
Knew just what to do.

He cleared off the shack desk
Of paper and parts,
And filled out all my late QSLs
For a start.

He ran copper braid,
Took a steel rod and pounded
It into the earth, till
The station was grounded.

He tightened loose fittings,
Resoldered connections,
Cranked down modulation,
Installed lightning protection. He neutralized tubes
In my linear amp.
(Never worked right before;
Now it works like a champ).

A new, lowpass filter Cleaned up the TV.
He corrected the settings
In my TNC.

He repaired the computer
That would not compute,
And he backed up the hard drive
And got it to boot.

Then, he reached really deep
In the bag that he brought,
And he pulled out a big box.
A new rig? I thought!

A new Kenwood? An Icom?
A Yaesu, for me?!
(If he thought I'd been bad, it might be QRP!)

Yes! The Ultimate Station!
How could I deserve this?
Could it be all those hours that I worked Public Service?

He hooked it all up
And in record time, quickly
Worked 100 countries,
All down on 160.

I should have been happy,
It was my call he sent.
But the cards and the postage
Will cost two month's rent!

He made final adjustments,
And left a card by the key:
"To Gary, from Santa Claus.
73."

Then he grabbed his H-T,
Looked me straight in the eye,
Punched a code on the pad,
And was gone with no good-bye.

I ran back to the station,
And the pileup was big,
But a card from St. Nick
Would be worth my new rig.

Oh, too late, for his final came over the air.
It was copied all over.
It was heard everywhere.

The Ham's Santa exclaimed
What a ham might expect,
"Merry Christmas to all,
And to all, good DX!"

Gee...I hear a lot of hams P and M ing about the term.......

...FIRST PERSONAL..........

What are your feelings about it?
any funny anecdotes about the term?
anything to say ??????????

Well....it's always been a pet peeve of mine!!!!!!

Can't stand it.....

Why would you use 2 words with 4 syllables to express the one syllable word ....NAME......?

Of course there's always the issue of ...HANDLE......too

Hams used the term.... handle .....for years before it was perverted by the 11 meter crew..... now most hams won't use the term ....Handle.....

One well-known ham always responds..... the handle here is .....BROKEN........

Of course, if you wrote The Messiah.......
you could say........

the handle here is......HANDEL.......hihi getting back to the dreaded....FIRST PERSONAL....

one famous ham from Sunderland says....

the first personal here is .....JERK.....

but the best one I heard was from an old ham
I used to work on 6M ssb.........

when someone mentioned ...first personal...
he always said......

well, my name is Jack(or whatever it was...my memory fails me right now) but the FIRST PERSONAL here is about 3 inches.....but with the proper inspiration.... it expands to about 8 inches

No one ever used "First Personal " a second time in his presence !!!

any comments or p and m's ???????

73 and Happy New Year

I do not like it at all.

Rich, N1KXR; Alex, KB1FYU; and Richard, KD1XP and I were talking about that this afternoon on '13.

Rich told us that the term "first personal" came from the Law Enforcement/Public Safety communities as a clarification term. 10-4, 10-20, ect..also came from the same source as well. The CB community grabbed them using the 10 codes for CB-AM operations in the 1950's and the "first personal" term for 11 meter SSB in the mid 1970's.

I still believe, after some thought, that "first personal", like the 10-codes, have NO place on the Amateur Radio bands..period. 146.940 is fast becoming known as the
"34/94/10-4" repeater. This has to CEASE! The MTARA Board of Directors needs to tackle this issue. I had to get rid of my own CB and 11 meter SSB lingo(Q codes) when I went into ham radio in 1977.

Are these new "hams" even reading a book like "Now You're Talking" or any of the Gordon West books? OR are they just DOWNLOADING question pools from the ARRL Website and others and MEMORIZING questions and answers?

I had an incident durning the summer when I was on 94 talking to a newcomer and I suggested that we go to a simplex frequency(146.520). The other station replied he did not have that one. I asked which frequency he wanted to go to and he came back with 151.825 or something close to that!! I repeatedly told him that was NOT an amateur frequency and he would not respond to my transmissions.

Remedial Technician classes or seminars for some already licensed operators are in order here, I believe.

Respectfully,

Greetings all,

Seems like our good neighbor to the north, Canada, is now looking to do away with the morse code requirement.
The link to the below atricle may be found by clicking onto this link:
http://www.remote.arrl.org/?news_list_off=462

----- Begin Text -----

RAC sends formal Morse testing proposal to Industry Canada (Jul 27, 2004) -- Radio Amateurs of Canada (RAC) has proposed formally that Industry Canada (IC) eliminate Morse code as a ham radio testing requirement for operation in bands below 30 MHz in Canada. RAC wants Industry Canada to continue to make Morse testing available to Canadian amateurs who wish to have that qualification specified on their certificate, however. At the same time, the RAC wants IC to require applicants for the Basic examination to score at least 80 percent before permitting operation below 30 MHz. ?Achievement of at least 80 percent will lead to a new qualification to be called the Intermediate qualification,? RAC said. Present Basic plus Morse holders would be considered as Intermediate holders under the proposal. Basic holders who have not passed the Morse exam would continue to hold that qualification with their existing operating privileges. Under the RAC plan, current Basic-without-Morse licensees who retake the Basic examination and obtain at least 80 percent would get an upgrade to Intermediate. RAC also recommends that the passing grade for the Basic and Advanced examinations be raised to 70 percent when the Morse requirement is dropped. Anyone holding both the Basic and Advanced qualifications would have HF privileges, and the Intermediate qualification or Basic plus Morse would become a prerequisite to obtaining the Advanced. The RAC also wants IC to create a new entry-level qualification ?designed to ensure good operating practices and requiring only an introductory level of theory.? RAC President Daniel Lamoureux, VE2KA, says Canadian amateurs can anticipate implementation of a first phase of the RAC recommendations by year?s end. Complete details of the proposals are available on the RAC Web site.

Birds & Bees

A father asked his 10-year old son if he knew about the birds and the bees.

"I don't want to know!" the child said, bursting into tears. Promise me you won't tell me."

Confused, the father asked what was wrong.

The boy sobbed, "When I was six, I got the 'There's no Santa speech."

"At seven, I got the 'There's no Easter Bunny' speech."

"When I was eight, you hit me with the 'There's no Tooth Fairy speech."

"If you're going to tell me that grownups don't really get laid, ...

.......I'll have nothing left to live for."

Hi all,

Remember in school, that we were always told to reduce all common fractions to the lowest common denominator?

Shouldn't that apply to check-writing too? Hmm....

Ex: xxxx and 50/100 Dollars
xxxx and 1/2-------Dollars

xxxx and 68/100 Dollars
xxxx and 17/25---Dollars
ect...

The amount box that uses the normal decimal amount is the same($xxx.50).

That way, all checks would be arithmetically correct though the banks might not see it that way, nor your payee(s) whose check might not get cashed. :-)

No wonder no one understands us.....

If you've learned to speak fluent English, you must be a genius! This little treatise on the lovely language we share is only for the brave. Peruse at your leisure, English lovers.

Reasons why the English language is so hard to learn:

1) The bandage was wound around the wound.

2) The farm was used to produce produce.

3) The dump was so full that it had to refuse more refuse.

4) We must polish the Polish furniture.

5) He could lead if he would get the lead out.

6) The soldier decided to desert his dessert in the desert.

7) Since there is no time like the present, he thought it was time to present the present.

8) A bass was painted on the head of the bass drum.

9) When shot at, the dove dove into the bushes.

10) I did not object to the object.

11) The insurance was invalid for the invalid.

12) There was a row among the oarsmen about how to row.

13) They were too close to the door to close it.

14) The buck does funny things when the does are present.

15) A seamstress and a sewer fell down into a sewer line.

16) To help with planting, the farmer taught his sow to sow.

17) The wind was too strong to wind the sail

18) After a number of injections my jaw got number.

19) Upon seeing the tear in the painting I shed a tear.

20) I had to subject the subject to a series of tests.

21) How can I intimate this to my most intimate friend?

There is no egg in eggplant nor ham in hamburger; neither apple nor pine in pineapple. English muffins weren't invented in England or French fries in France. Sweetmeats are candies while sweetbreads, which aren't sweet, are meat.

Quicksand works slowly, boxing rings are square and a guinea pig is neither from Guinea nor is it a pig.

And why is it that writers write but fingers don't fing, grocers don't groce and hammers don't ham?

If the plural of tooth is teeth, why isn't the plural of booth beeth?

One goose, 2 geese. So one moose, 2 meese? Doesn't it seem crazy that you can make amends but not one amend. If you have a bunch of odds and ends and get rid of all but one of them, what do you call it? Is it an odd, or an end?

If teachers taught, why didn't preachers praught?
If a vegetarian eats vegetables, what does a humanitarian eat?
In what language do people recite at a play and play at a recital? Ship by truck and send cargo by ship? Have noses that run and feet that smell?

How can a slim chance and a fat chance be the same, while a wise man and a wise guy are opposites? You have to marvel at the unique lunacy of a language in which your house can burn up as it burns down, in which you fill in a form by filling it out and in which, an alarm goes off by going on.

English was invented by people and not computers, and it reflects the creativity of the human race, which, of course, is not a race at all.

That is why, when the stars are out, they are visible, but when the lights are out, they are invisible.

P.S. Why doesn't "Buick" rhyme with "quick"?

I recently picked a new primary care physician. After two visits and exhaustive lab tests, he said I was doing "fairly well" for my age. A little concerned about that comment, I couldn't resist asking him, "Do you think I'll live to be 80?" He asked, "well, do you smoke tobacco or drink beer or wine?"
"Oh no", I replied. "I've never done either." Then he asked, "Do you eat rib-eye steaks and barbecued ribs?" I said, "No, I heard that all red meat is very unhealthy." "Do you spend a lot of time in the sun, like playing golf / sailing / ballooning / motorcycling / rock climbing?" "No I don't", I said.
He said, "Do you gamble, drive fast cars, or sexually fool around?" "No", I said. "I have never done any of those things." He looked at me and said, "Then why do you give a shit if you live to be 80?"

Walter Wren had this to say about Martha Stewart:

This will warm your heart. Just when you have lost faith in human kindness:

This letter was sent to the principal's office after an elementary school had sponsored a luncheon for the elderly. An old lady had received a new radio at the lunch as a door prize, and was writing to say thank you. This story is a credit to all human kind. Forward to anyone you know who might need a lift today!

Dear Faculty and Students:

God bless you for the beautiful radio I won at your recent senior citizens' luncheon. I am 84 years old and live at an Assisted Home for the Aged. All of my family has passed away. I am all alone now and it's nice to know someone is thinking of me. God bless you for your kindness to an old forgotten lady.

My roommate is 95 and always had her own radio. Before I received this one, she would never let me listen to ! hers, even when she was napping.

The other day, her radio fell off the night stand and broke into a lot of little pieces. It was awful and she was in tears. She asked if she could listen to mine, and I said fuck you.

Thank you for that opportunity.

Sincerely, Agnes.

History lesson....

The Year is 1904

Maybe this will boggle your mind,

The year is 1904 one hundred years ago.

What a difference a century makes! Here are some of the US statistics for 1904:

The average life expectancy in the US was 47 years.

Only 14% of the homes in the US had a bathtub.

Only 8% of the homes had a telephone.

A three-minute call from Denver to New York City cost $11.00

There were only 8,000 cars in the US, and only 144 miles of paved roads.

The maximum speed limit in most cities was 10 mph.

Alabama, Mississippi, Iowa, and Tennessee were each more heavily populated than California. With a mere 1.4 million residents, California was only the 21st most populous state in the Union.

The tallest structure in the world was the Eiffel Tower.

The average wage in the US was 22 cents an hour.

The average US worker made between $200 and $400 per year.

A competent accountant could expect to earn $2000 per year, a dentist $2,500 per year.

A veterinarian between $1,500 and $4,000 per year.

A mechanical engineer about $5,000 per year.

More than 95 percent of all births in the US took place at home.

Ninety % of all US physicians had no college education. Instead, they attended medical schools, many of which were condemned in the press and by the government as "substandard."

Sugar cost four cents a pound. Eggs were fourteen cents a dozen.

Coffee was fifteen cents a pound.

Most women only washed their hair once a month, and used borax or egg yolks for shampoo.

Canada passed a law prohibiting poor people from entering the country for any reason.

The five leading causes of death in the US were:

1. Pneumonia and influenza

2. Tuberculosis

3. Diarrhea

4. Heart disease

5. Stroke

The American flag had 45 stars. Arizona, Oklahoma, New Mexico, Hawaii, and Alaska hadn't been admitted to the Union yet.

The population of Las Vegas, Nevada, was 30!

Crossword puzzles, canned beer, and iced tea hadn't been invented.

There was no Mother's Day or Father's Day.

Two of 10 US adults couldn't read or write. Only 6% of all Americans had graduated high school.

Marijuana, heroin, and morphine were all available over the counter at corner drugstores. According to one pharmacist, "Heroin clears the complexion, gives buoyancy to the mind, regulates the stomach and bowels, and is, in fact, a perfect guardian of health." (Shocking!)

Eighteen percent of households in the US had at least one full-time servant or domestic.

There were only about 230 reported murders in the entire US

And I forwarded this from someone else without typing it myself, and sent it to you in a matter of seconds! Try to imagine what it may be like in another 100 years ... it staggers the mind.

Think of this when someone talks about the "good old days" !

Radio Hams at Risk from Mains Broadband -Magazine

2 hours, 12 minutes ago Technology - Reuters

LONDON (Reuters) - Plans to send Internet broadband signals down mains electricity cables rather than telephone lines could hit the radio hams whose transmissions were so vital in the aftermath of the Asian tsunami, New Scientist magazine reported on Wednesday.

AFP
Slideshow: Asian Tsunami Disaster

Defend Yourself
Stop and destroy PC scourges, and kill spyware with an arsenal of tools.

The technology is being pushed by power companies keen to compete with traditional broadband suppliers and get a slice of the profits from the demand for fast Internet connection.

"The downside is that packets of Internet data pulsing down unshielded mains cables makes the cables behave like aerials that send short-wave interference beaming out over a wide area," the magazine reports.

Amateur radio operators believe this could threaten reliable communications on short-wave frequencies, which are invaluable to global broadcasting and emergency communications when all other options fail.

"A few extra decibels of interference from future networks and I would not have been able to hear the news from amateurs in Sri Lanka, India and the Andaman Islands," Hilary Claytonsmith of the International Amateur Radio Union's UK branch told the magazine.

The U.S. government approved the power line technology in October, while the European Commission (news - web sites) is set to approve its version soon.

The U.S. Federal Communications Commission (news - web sites) (FCC (news - web sites)) has ruled service providers must use filters on their household equipment, to avoid the problem. The EC is trying to set similar rules.

You might be a New Englander

If you consider it a sport to gather your food by drilling through 36 inches of ice and sitting there all day hoping that the food will swim by, you might live in New England.

If you're proud that your region makes the national news 96 nights each year because Mt. Washington is the coldest spot in the nation, and Boston gets more snow than any other major city in the US, you might live in New England.

If your local Dairy Queen is closed from September through May, you might live in New England.

If you instinctively walk like a penguin for six months out of the year, you might live in New England.

If someone in a Home Depot store offers you assistance, and they don't work there, you might live in New England.

If you've worn shorts and a parka at the same time, you might live in New England.

If your town has more bars than churches, you might live in New England.

If you have had a lengthy telephone conversation with someone who dialed a wrong number, you might live in New England.

YOU KNOW YOU ARE A TRUE NEW ENGLANDER WHEN:

1. "Vacation" means going South past New York City for the weekend.

2. You measure distance in hours.

3. You know several people who have hit a deer more than once.

4. You often switch from "heat" to "A/C" in the same day and back again.

5. You can drive 65 mph through 2 feet of snow during a raging blizzard, without flinching.

6. You see people wearing camouflage at social events (including weddings).

7. You install security lights on your house and garage and leave both unlocked.

8. You carry jumper cables in your car and your girlfriend / wife knows how to use them.

9. You design your kid's Halloween costume to fit over a snowsuit.

10. Driving is better in the winter because the potholes are filled with snow.

11. You know all 4 seasons: almost winter, winter, still winter, and road construction.

12. You can identify a southern or eastern accent.

13. Your idea of creative landscaping is a statue of a deer next to your blue spruce.

14. You were unaware that there is a legal drinking age.

15. Down South to you means Philadelphia.

16. A brat is something you eat.

17. Your neighbor throws a party to celebrate his new shed.

18. You go out for a fish fry every Friday.

19. Your 4th of July picnic was moved indoors due to frost.

20 You have more miles on your snow blower than your car.

21. You find 10 degrees "a little chilly."

22. You actually understand these jokes, and you forward them to all your New England friends.

Sad....but true!!

Gov. Declares Snow State Of Emergency

1 minute ago

M.R.F. Buckley,
Staff Writer
January 22, 2005, 7:54 p.m. EST

As the Bay State hunkered down for a nasty blizzard that's expected to dump up to 2 feet of snow in some areas, Massachusetts Gov. Mitt Romney declared a state of emergency, saying coastal town evacuations may be necessary.

Romney made the declaration just as the snow began to fall about 4 p.m. Saturday. As he became swiftly covered with snow, Romney made the announcement at a DPW facility in Lexington, saying with a full moon, there could be critically dangerous conditions for coastal residents.
"The snow is falling not in inches but in feet, we also have a full moon and that means a tidal surge. We expect 3 to 6 feet above normal high tide. That could be a problem on the coast. We're expecting high wind gusts. Very, very high winds gusts. With 4-to 6-feet surges above normal high tide, it could represent a very real problem for a number of homeowners. Shelters are being opened and the reason we're activating the National Guard is to be able to help in sheltering people who need to evacuate and find themselves on higher ground," Romney said.
As plowing and sanding trucks loaded up on sanding materials to begin their runs, the governor warned residents to stay off the roads so that DPW crews can deal with the huge amounts of snow that are anticipated.
"We need people off the roads. Not just tonight, but also tomorrow. With the snow anticipated falling at such a high rate, our plows can't possibly keep up, they'll probably be working right through the night and again right through tomorrow to get things ready for Monday," Romney said.
State DPW officials said they had about 2,000 pieces of equipment on the roads at the start of the snow storm. They have access to more than 5,000 and said, at the height of the storm they may have as many as 4,000 out trying to clear the roads.
Boston Mayor Thomas Menino also declared a state of emergency in the city in order to get residents to clear their cars off the streets so plows can do their work.
"The size and intensity of the storm requires us to declare a snow emergency beginning at 4 p.m. this afternoon," Menino said. He said the key to managing public safety in the city during the storm has everything to do with managing automobiles.
"The automobile, and what you do with the automobile before you go to sleep, is going to be a big factor in how we can make our city safe for everybody," said DPW Commissioner Joseph Cassaza.

"Let the public works departments do their job. It's important that we stay off ... no double-parking, no parking at fire hydrants or cross-walks. And also, during the snow storm and afterward, please, please dig out your fire hydrants," Menino said.
Added to that list, he said, there is no parking on main thoroughfares and no throwing snow back out onto plowed streets.
Both Romney and Menino were asking Bay State businesses to voluntarily close down by 11 p.m. Saturday to ensure that employees get off the roads and home safe during the storm.
In communities across the Bay State, blizzard warnings and snow emergencies prompted residents to flock to grocery and hardware stores to stock up for the kinds of provisions that many remember lacking during the notorious Blizzard of 1978.
The National Weather Service (news - web sites) has issued a blizzard warning until 6 p.m. Sunday evening. Winds are expected to be over 35 mph, with gusts over 60 to 70 mph. Snow is expected to fall at 1 to 3 inches per hour during the height of the storm and visibility will be less than 1/4 of a mile.
During high tide between 10 and 11 a.m. Sunday morning, there could be very strong winds and coastal flooding with damage. More than 2 feet of snow is expected along the South Shore, Cape Cod and the islands, with ranges of 1 to 2 feet inside the Boston, Interstate 495 belt, and 6 to 12 inches further north to Nashua, N.H.

Winter Weather Statement

Expires 5:59 AM EST on January 23, 2005

Statement as of 5:40 PM EST on January 22, 2005

... Heavy Snow Warning remains in effect until noon EST Sunday...

Snow will fall at the rate of 1 to 3 inches an hour at times tonight through midday Sunday with storm totals of 12 to 22 inches over all of northwest Massachusetts and south central New Hampshire.

It will be exceedingly cold throughout this storm with temperatures mostly in the single numbers.

Strengthening north winds will be causing drifts of several feet tomorrow morning.

Travel may become impassable in some areas with near blizzard whiteout conditions for brief periods of time due to falling and blowing snow.

Snow will taper to flurries or scattered snow showers around midday Sunday.

Travel on the snow covered roads will be very dangerous and is not recommended until Sunday afternoon.

from weather underground:

Special Weather Statement

Statement as of 5:55 PM EST on January 22, 2005

... Safety rules for blizzards...

What is a blizzard? As defined by noaa's National Weather Service... a blizzard occurs when sustained winds or frequent gusts reach 35 mph and snow or blowing snow reduces visibilities to 1/4 of a mile or less... for at least three hours. There is no temperature requirement for a blizzard.

Blizzards are dangerous. Dozens of americans die during major winter weather episodes... either due to heavy snowfall or prolonged exposure to the cold. Other hazards can also be attributed to winter weather... such as vehicular accidents... structure fires due to dangerous use of heaters and blockage of vents due to heavy snowfall which can lead to Carbon monoxide poisoning. Widespread power outages could also occur... which can be prolonged as the snow falls... making it difficult for repair crews to restore power.

When blizzards are expected... you should dress for the season... especially with the very cold temperatures and high winds expected with this storm. If you have to go outside... wear loose fitting... lightweight... warm clothes in layers. Outer wear should be tightly woven... water repellent and hooded. A hat should be worn. Half of a person's body heat loss occurs from the head. The mouth should be covered to protect The Lungs from extreme cold. Mittens should be worn rather than gloves and should be snug at the wrist. Do your best to remain dry. Melting snow on the clothes as well as perspiration will add to the danger of frostbite and hypothermia.

To be prepared for winter weather... here are some items to have on hand at home or work:

A flashlight and extra batteries.

Battery powered radios and television sets... including a NOAA Weather Radio all hazards with a warning alarm tone... so you can receive emergency information. These may be your only link to the outside.

Extra food and waters... have high energy foods such as dried fruit... nuts and granola bars... along with food that does not require cooking or refrigeration.

Extra medicine and baby items.

First aid supplies.

Heating fuel for oil heated homes. Fuel carriers may not be able to reach your home for days after a winter storm.

An emergency heat source... such as a fireplace... wood stove or space heater. Ensure proper use to prevent fires and proper ventilation.

A fire extinguisher and smoke alarm. The smoke alarms should be tested monthly to ensure they work properly.

Make sure that your vents are cleared of heavy wet snow or snow drifts to prevent the risk of Carbon monoxide poisoning.

If you have pets... make sure they are taken care of as well. Make sure they have a warm shelter and plenty of food and water. Preferably..they should be brought into the home for their safety.

If you are driving... here are some safety tips in case the worst happens and you are caught in the storm:

Make sure to keep your Gas Tank near full to avoid freezing up the gas lines and ice in The Tank.

You should carry a winter survival kit in your car... which should include:

A Mobile phone with charger and batteries

Blankets or sleeping bags

A flashlight with extra batteries

A first aid kit

High calorie... non-perishable food

Extra clothing to keep dry. The danger of hypothermia is real... especially if going out of your car to clear the tailpipe.

Small can and Waterproof matches to melt snow for drinking water.

A sack of sand or Cat litter for traction

A shovel

A windshield scraper and brush

A tool kit

A Tow rope

Battery jumper cables

A water container

A Compass and Road maps... or even a GPS system

If you are traveling during this storm... you should avoid driving alone. Make sure that you let someone... a family member or friend... know your travel plans... including your timetable and primary and backup routes.

The best thing to do is to stay inside and monitor the latest on this winter storm on your favorite radio or television station or on NOAA Weather Radio all hazards.

ARRL member is Jeopardy "Teen Tournament" semifinalist (Jan 31, 2005) -- The ARRL has learned that 16-year-old Michael Braun, K3LNT, from Silver Spring, Maryland, is among the semifinalists in the Jeopardy! Sony Pictures television quiz show's "Teen Tournament," Wednesday through Friday, February 2-4. The program typically airs at 7 or 7:30 PM in most TV markets. A high school junior, Braun hold a General ticket, enjoys HF operating and is a member of the Montgomery Amateur Radio Club (MARC). The Teen Tournament offers a $75,000 grand prize. Braun says any winnings will go toward his college expenses and into savings. He also told Jeopardy! that he hopes to eventually work for a computer company and considers Microsoft's Bill Gates "somewhat of a role model." The Jeopardy! "Teen Tournament" finals take place February 7 and 8. Good Luck!--some info from MARC

False Alarm, Connecticut Not Being Evacuated
Connecticut emergency management officials have apologized for an erroneous message sent to state broadcasters today saying an evacuation of the state had been ordered.

State emergency management officials believe someone pressed the wrong button.

Instead of running a test of the emergency alert system, midday television viewers and radio listeners were told that the state was being evacuated.

"There is absolutely no evacuation or state emergency," said Kerry Flaherty, of the Office of Emergency Management. "It was an erroneous message."

The department was investigating how the alert was sent.

Officials said it is manually released to broadcasters.

The error prompted Gov. M. Jodi Rell to issue a statement reassuring residents.

"We are looking into the circumstances and will take every step necessary to make certain this type of problem does not reoccur in the future," she said.

State police said they received no calls related to the erroneous alert.

Den's Blog
by Dennis A. Malone

The Patriots have established a dynasty.
I'm a very happy camper today.

The game was close, makes you think twice about getting too cocky or pontifical. We need to keep that in mind when we brag this week. Let's enjoy the fact that this year we are the center of the sports universe with the Red Sox and the Patriots as world champions.

Next year may be a different story as the Yankees and every other MLB organization will do as they will to keep the Sox contained in 2005. The Patriots are in the target sights for '05. I bet Mr. Stallone and Mr. Eubanks(Tonight Show) are bouncing off the walls just as much as Mr. Steinbrenner must have in October. I'll still hold out that the Sox and the Pats can do again.

So party and revel like it's 1999 the rest of this winter.
Spring training is only a few weeks off now, back to business at Fenway this April. Don't forget, the Daytona 500 is two weeks away. The Pro Bowl is a week off.

Congratulations to Mr. Kraft, Coach Belichick, and the entire Patriots organization. Also, belated congratulations to Mr. Henry, Terry Francona and the Red Sox organization as well.

from new york post online....

SHUT THE CELL UP

By ANGELA MONTEFINISE

Email Archives
Print Reprint

February 20, 2005 -- Can you hear me now?
Unsuspecting cellphone users may find themselves saying that more often now that cellphone jammers - illegal gizmos that interfere with signals and cut off reception - are selling like hotcakes on the streets of New York.

"I bought one online, and I love it," said one jammer owner fed up with the din of dumb conversations and rock-and-roll ringtones.

"I use it on the bus all the time. I always zap the idiots who discuss what they want from the Chinese restaurant so that everyone can hear them. Why is that necessary?"

He added, "I can't throw the phones out the window, so this is the next best thing."

Online jammer seller Victor McCormack said he's made "hundreds of sales" to New Yorkers.

"The interest has gone insane in the last few years. I get all sorts of people buying them, from priests to police officers."

Jammers come in a variety of shapes and sizes, from portable handhelds that look like cellphones to larger, fixed models as big as suitcases.

Their sole goal is to zip inconsiderate lips. The smaller gadgets emit radio frequencies that block signals anywhere from a 50- to 200-foot radius. They range in price from $250 to $2,000.

But don't expect to find jammers at the local Radio Shack - they're against Federal Communications Commission regulations because they interfere with emergency calls and the public airwaves. They are illegal to buy, sell, use, import or advertise.

A violation means an $11,000 fine, but the FCC's Enforcement Bureau has yet to bust one person anywhere in the country.

"This is not a crime that they're going after," said Rob Bernstein, deputy editor at New York City-based Sync magazine.

He said jammers are here, and their use is multiplying.

"Right now, there's a growing curiosity about jammers in the United States and New York," Bernstein said. "There's no better way to shut up a loudmouth on the phone, so people definitely want them and are finding ways to get them."

One way is at a spy shop on Third Avenue, which sells medium-sized jammers out of a back room for $1,500. The sales clerk there said he had sold jammers to a 50-year-old man who bought one to use on the Long Island Rail Road, and to restaurateurs.

Folks who run auto auctions also buy them to stop people from chit-chatting about prices and rigging their bids, the clerk said.

An employee at a West Village spy store said the shop also sells jammers, but only to people from other countries.

One local purchaser bought a portable jammer last year, and said he likes using it at Roosevelt Field mall on Long Island.

"One time I followed this guy around for 20 minutes," he said. "I kept zapping him and zapping him, until finally he threw the phone on the floor. I couldn't stop laughing. It was so cool."

Jammers were first developed to help government security forces avert eavesdropping and thwart phone-triggered bombings. But by the late 1990s they were being sold to the public.

There are suspicions that some hotel chains employ jammers to cut down on guests' cellphone use and boost in-room phone charges.

from kd1xp.org

Staff writes: "So far this year has been the lowest ever in the support of the repeaters and website. A big thank you goes out to the good people that have supported. Most, like 95 percent of the people who support this system, hardly, if at all use the repeaters or the website. The other 5 percent use the repeaters and website. There is something wrong with this picture? The repeaters that do not get any support whatsoever are the 442.200 and 443.450 repeaters. Plus, there is a yearly fee for having these repeaters. The situation is, no support, no repeaters. Sorry to be so blunt, but something has to be stated. Do people think these repeaters and the website cost nothing? The one repeater that is in big jeopardy is 442.200, Deerfield. Why should this one exist? 443.450 covers most of the Northern area that this one does and 53.35 and 145.130 cover points in between, very nicely. 442.200 will be the first to go if no one supports it. The Blandford, 442.200 is just a simple project, just for informational purposes. Everyone likes the new 145.130 and 443.700 repeaters, but none of the users are supporting them. A total of $2300.00 was spent on them and none of the people who use them, aside from 4-5 people, support them out of about a good 20 people. Thanks to the people who support this system, it means a lot. You support what others take for granted" thanks and 73.....

Condom Factory Tour
A fellow is going on a tour of a factory that produces various latex products. At the first stop, he is shown the machine that manufactures baby-bottle nipples.
The machine makes a loud hiss-pop! noise. "The hiss is the rubber being injected into the mold," explains the guide. "The popping sound is the needle poking a hole in the end of the nipple." Later, the tour reaches the part of the factory where condoms are manufactured. The machine makes a noise: 'Hiss. Hiss. Hiss. Hiss-pop!"
"Wait a minute!" says the man taking the tour, "I understand what the 'hiss, hiss,' is, but what's that 'pop!' every so often?" The tour guide says, "That's the sound that ensures us that we will keep producing the baby bottle nipples...

911 Is Still A Cry For Help

911 Is Still A Cry For Help
By Judy Andreas

We sat in the Conference Room, our eyes riveted to the TV monitor. Some of my colleagues were sniffling, others were crying softly. Occasionally an angry statement could be heard. Over and over again we watched the World Trade Center footage. Over and over again, the newscasters cemented their version of reality into our stunned psyches. It was September 11, 2001.....the day the music died.

Something was terribly wrong. It was more than the film that unfolded in front of my eyes. It was more than the words of the newscasters talking about the fact that we were under siege. It was more than the threat of never ending terrorism. The television screamed the official story, yet the voices in my head muted the words. Something was terribly wrong.

My feeling of disbelief was palpable. Sitting in that room of mourners on that sorrowful day, I was having a solitary experience. Questions begged for answers. How could our sophisticated system have gone awry? How could everything that had previously worked flawlessly, suddenly simultaneously failed? How could a small group of Arabs with boxcutters have thrown the whole nation into a tailspin? .

Most of the people, if not all of the people, in the Conference Room had never heard of Payne Stewart. They did not know the story of the golfer whose private Learjet had lost contact with the air traffic controllers. They did not know that when the golfer's jet failed to respond to air traffic controller communications, F-16 interceptors were quickly dispatched. According to an Air Force timeline, a series of military planes provided an emergency escort to Payne's stricken Learjet starting about 20 minutes after contact with his plane was lost.

Later I learned that the Miami Herald talked to air traffic controllers who said they could not understand why there was no reaction to what was happening in the skies the morning of September 11, 2001. Why was there no reaction from the Federal Aviation Administration and the military?

"That's a question that more and more people are going to ask, " one controller in Miami told the Herald.

Are more and more people asking that question? Are more and more people asking any questions?

"They attacked us because they hate our freedom." The President's eyes darted back and forth as he mouthed the words.

It could have been a laughable comment...it was certainly a ludicrous comment. It could have been funny if I hadn't seen people jumping hundreds of feet to their death. It could have been funny if thousands of people hadn't lost their lives on that infamous day.
I wanted to ask him why they didn't fly planes into Amsterdam....after all .....they have more freedom than we do. I wanted to ask him why they didn't cripple a nuclear reactor. I wanted to ask him why he was lying to us.

Each day as the story unfolded, another alternative website pointed to another anomaly in the official story. Had a plane really hit the Pentagon? The size of the hole in its supposed wake left room for doubt. Was it physically possible for the Towers to collapse as stated, or was it controlled demolition? Were there explosives in the World Trade Center? Could burning jet fuel initiate structural damage within the towers? Why was Building 7 pulled? Could a cell phone call be made on a plane? Why was the Mayor of San Francisco, Willie Brown, told not to fly on that date? Why was the rubble from the buildings hauled off without a proper investigation?

Wonderful books kept flying off the shelves of the alternative press. And yet, the mainstream media stuck with the official story. It could have been the Kennedy Assasination(s). It could have been TWA Flight 800. It could have been Oklahoma City or Waco. I had visited this place before. It was difficult to breathe with the stench of deception in the air.

Although movies have always been a passion of mine, I have tried to be discerning about time spent in the cinema. And yet, as the days grew into months, I was trapped in the theater of the absurd mainstream media, forced to watch a poorly crafted film about the events on September 11. Such props as Mohammed Atta's passport placed pristinely on the set cried out for a director's intervention.

Who put the Korans in the vehicle near the scene of the crime? How did we immediately know it was Osama bin Laden who had designed the events of September 11, 2001? How did we immediately know the name of the 19 highjackers? Why were some of them showing up alive and well and safe in distant ports of call? Why couldn't we locate Osama bin Laden, a 6 foot 5 man on dialysis? It was not like misplacing ones keys.
Mr. Bush said "If you're not with us, you're with the terrorists." My questions subjected me to words like "traitor." My questions subjected me to ridicule and jokes about tinfoil hats.

"If you don't like this country...get the hell out."

Could anyone know how deeply I loved this country? Could anyone know the heart of an idealist who was once again being sickened by another lie? Could anyone know how much I treasured life?

The dinner of deception had been placed on the public table and people were devouring it. Once more I had strayed from the herd unable to graze on the lies and distortions that had been specially prepared for the flock. I sat in a lonely place.
The following September 11th, I attended a conference in New York City called "Confronting the Evidence" Among the many speakers were Jenna Orkin, Webster Tarpley, Dave Von Kleist, Christopher Bollyn, Paul Hoffman, and Karl Schwarz.

Jenna Orkin delivered a chilling disclosure on the coverup of the air poisoning at Ground Zero. Asbestos, mercury and lead had been released into the air. And yet, the EPA lied and told the American people that the air was safe to breathe. They even allowed the White House to edit their press releases. "Over half of our heroes had begun manifesting respiratory problems and there were firefighters who could no longer work. Fourteen rescue dogs had already died."

Does anyone know the statistics over two years later? Does anyone care? Were our "best and bravest" merely fodder for a diabolical plan?

At the conference in New York, The Project for the New American Century, known as PNAC was discussed. This is a document that was crafted in September of the year 2000, which, in essence, was a plan for increasing defense spending, preemptive actions and the use of military force and domination. The creators of PNAC were the same neocons that are running the Bush administration, including the brains behind the plan, Paul Wolfowitz. This project included regime change in Iraq as a central element. The originators of the plan, realized that the American populace would not allow this to happen unless there was an event of catastrophic proportion. "A New Pearl Harbor"

9/11 was clearly that event. I thought it would only be a matter of time before everyone would begin questioning the official story. I thought it would only be a matter of time before people would wake up.

When I left that wonderful evening on September 11, 2002, I was filled with hope. Sure....we did not all agree on everything, but was that a necessary component for our working together to uncover the truth? Yes.....there were some egos that were larger than the event itself, but isn't that to be expected in the world of personalities? If we all, indeed, had the same goal, couldn't we band together in deference to the old adage "there's strength in numbers."

It has been three and a half years since the planes flew into the towers. Has any progress been made? It's difficult to gauge. The mainstream media continues to ridicule the truth seekers.....having the audacity to print bogus articles in such magazines as Popular Mechanics. It shies away from interviews with authors who have published well researched and well documented books on the subject of 9/11. Perhaps the mainstream media realizes that it is no match for the truth. After all, how loud can Sean Hannity yell?

As the days grow into years, my sphere becomes increasingly populated with others who share a commitment to the truth. The Internet has brought a vast assortment of like minded people into my world. I will be eternally grateful to this global telephone. Those I have met have provided a "net" to catch me from falling into the abyss of despair.

Everyday people may sense something is wrong but they prefer to chase it quickly from their thoughts. Feeding their families, making a living and watching television are their rituals and routines for survival. I cannot fault them. I cannot hit them over the head with my "two by four" of Judytruth. I cannot evangelize them into the 9/11 movement. This is something I have slowly learned over the three and a half years. This is something I am still learning.

Will we ever uncover the truth about September 11, 2001? Please do not expect a Hollywood ending from my pen. Should we give up? A resounding "NO." Can we continue along our unique path, inviting others to join us, while not demanding that they do? I hope so. Is life about conformity? I don't think so.

I frequently refer to a quote from the Hindu Guru, Maharaj. He said "You can try to change the world. You won't accomplish much, but you will change yourself in the process."

And yet, I confess that there are some days when I cannot shake the fear. There are some mornings when my optimism does not awaken. There are times when my heart aches under the weight of the whispered truths and my soul knows that I am helpless to do anything about it. I have learned to understand those days and not to fight them. They are the sorrow that makes the joy more delicious. They are illusions melting into disillusionment. They are a necessary movement in the symphony of the soul.

Life is a spiritual trip. We must find our own answers to the question of meaning. And, if we do not, that too is a choice.

My joie de vivre is precious.....it is mine. I stamp the foot of indignation. Nobody can destroy me. Only I can do that. I smile at the animals and the trees and take a deep breath of the air that coughs under the weight of its pollutants.

My awareness of the fragility of life has been heightened. I smile at the shopkeepers and chat with passersby. I seize each opportunity to be a support and source of strength to those whose paths cross mine. I silence, if only for a day or an hour ...the voice within that beckons me into a world beyond this world. No.....I do not want to fall into the well of bitterness and anger. How would that serve my fellow travelers? How would that serve my friends and family? How would that serve myself?

911 Is Still A Cry For Help

911 Is Still A Cry For Help
By Judy Andreas

We sat in the Conference Room, our eyes riveted to the TV monitor. Some of my colleagues were sniffling, others were crying softly. Occasionally an angry statement could be heard. Over and over again we watched the World Trade Center footage. Over and over again, the newscasters cemented their version of reality into our stunned psyches. It was September 11, 2001.....the day the music died.

Something was terribly wrong. It was more than the film that unfolded in front of my eyes. It was more than the words of the newscasters talking about the fact that we were under siege. It was more than the threat of never ending terrorism. The television screamed the official story, yet the voices in my head muted the words. Something was terribly wrong.

My feeling of disbelief was palpable. Sitting in that room of mourners on that sorrowful day, I was having a solitary experience. Questions begged for answers. How could our sophisticated system have gone awry? How could everything that had previously worked flawlessly, suddenly simultaneously failed? How could a small group of Arabs with boxcutters have thrown the whole nation into a tailspin? .

Most of the people, if not all of the people, in the Conference Room had never heard of Payne Stewart. They did not know the story of the golfer whose private Learjet had lost contact with the air traffic controllers. They did not know that when the golfer's jet failed to respond to air traffic controller communications, F-16 interceptors were quickly dispatched. According to an Air Force timeline, a series of military planes provided an emergency escort to Payne's stricken Learjet starting about 20 minutes after contact with his plane was lost.

Later I learned that the Miami Herald talked to air traffic controllers who said they could not understand why there was no reaction to what was happening in the skies the morning of September 11, 2001. Why was there no reaction from the Federal Aviation Administration and the military?

"That's a question that more and more people are going to ask, " one controller in Miami told the Herald.

Are more and more people asking that question? Are more and more people asking any questions?

"They attacked us because they hate our freedom." The President's eyes darted back and forth as he mouthed the words.

It could have been a laughable comment...it was certainly a ludicrous comment. It could have been funny if I hadn't seen people jumping hundreds of feet to their death. It could have been funny if thousands of people hadn't lost their lives on that infamous day.

What has happened to freedom of speech in America?
How much longer will WE be able to piss and moan?

Eternal Vigilance?

First Amendment rights under George Bush are as good as dead. The truly disturbing aspect of all this is the increasing complacency with which people seem to view authoritarian government.
By William Marvel

Any remark about the curtailment of liberties in the United States is bound to excite the retort that the critic should be thankful to live in a country where such a complaint can be made. Complaint alone does not restore those rights, though: that would take agitation and demonstration, if not outright revolution. It is only when one undertakes even the more nonviolent of those actions, however, that one discovers exactly how much freedom we have lost.

Anyone who still considers this the cradle of freedom might try standing within sight of George W. Bush with a critical placard, as one South Carolina man did. Because he refused to be restricted to the shrinking "free-speech" zones defined by Bush's goon squads, that protester will probably spend six months in prison when all his appeals run out. There was a time when the entire breadth and depth of the United States consisted of a free-speech zone, where citizens had the right to criticize any of their leaders face-to-face, but that time has evidently passed. Now, the crime of offering an unpopular opinion to a Republican president elicits about the same amount of jail time as a Republican Party official in New Hampshire recently received for helping to subvert the election that put John Sununu in the U.S. Senate.

The truly disturbing aspect of all this is the increasing complacency with which people seem to view authoritarian government. A study conducted by researchers at the University of Connecticut suggests that the First Amendment -- the enabling principle of American freedom -- is as good as dead. After surveying more than 100,000 public and private high school students, they reported that most of the rising generation neither knows much about nor cares much about the First Amendment.

Fully one-half of those students apparently felt that the government should be able to approve or disapprove of articles before they appear in newspapers. A third of them replied that the free-speech protections of the First Amendment "go too far." Not surprisingly, three-quarters believed that it was already illegal to burn the U.S. flag; doubtless they also think that it should be. One student in eight did not even believe that people should be allowed to express any unpopular views at all.

The increasing indifference to our constitutional protections originates with the failure to teach history adequately. It therefore struck me as ironic that this study came from the University of Connecticut. On research trips I spend most of my days in manuscript repositories and most of my evenings in the libraries of nearby colleges and universities: of all the main campuses of state universities that I've visited, the University of Connecticut appears to own the thinnest American history collection, at least for the nineteenth century.

It is difficult to condemn young people for undervaluing the First Amendment, though, when the most prominent of those who exercise it abdicate their responsibility to perpetually scrutinize the government. Most high-profile journalists failed their public miserably two years ago by letting the Bush administration get away with a pathetically flawed case for war against Iraq, and that reluctance to question White House wisdom had been growing since the Clintons disappeared from Washington.

The Bush team has gone so far as to plant fake journalists like Jeff Gannon of "Talon News" in White House press conferences to throw loaded, softball questions. They have hired journalists and columnists like Michael McManus and Maggie Gallagher (who have legitimate credentials but no more integrity) to film fake news reports favorable to the Bush agenda. Yet they need not have even stooped to such dishonesty: plenty of media celebrities stand ready to sell out without any cash payoff.

In the wake of the terrorist attacks that saved the Bush presidency, Dan Rather swore that he would "go anywhere my president sent me." With that remark Rather signaled his complete conversion from public watchdog to popularity pimp. When I read of his retirement a few days ago I could only mutter "good riddance," but his departure heralds no rebirth of conscientious journalism. Behind him stand long lines of eager actors waiting to entertain American citizens with endless trivia -- while politicians and their corporate cronies rape their landscape, rob them blind, and persuade them to like it.
William Marvel is a writer and lives in New Hampshire. His writings include Andersonville: The Last Depot and Lee's Last Retreat: The Flight to Appomattox. He served in the U.S. Army during 1968-1971.

Communications Troubles 'Kill' 1000s In NJ, CT Terror Drill

Communications Troubles
'Kill' 1000s In NJ, CT Terror Drill From Patricia Doyle, PhD
dr_p_doyle@...
4-6-5

Hello, Jeff - According to radio news reports, there were problems with communication between various agencies and responders and, finally lack of communication with the public. People were leaving the drill area without being stopped by responders. IF the drill had been an actual bio attack, thousdands of infected people would have left the area spreading the disease as they go. This is a very similar situation that takes place in Africa with hemorrhagic fever. Scared people run from the area and the disease spreads with them.

Seems there is still the old "who's in charge?" syndrome happening. Public Health, FEMA, DHS, CDC all calling the shots which leads to confusion, chaos and deaths.

Hopefully, lessons will be learned after these drills?

Patricia Doyle

Day 3 Of NJ, CT Massive Terror Drill

PISCATAWAY, NJ -- Federal Homeland Security Secretary Michael Chertoff was scheduled to observe a mock antibiotic distribution effort Wednesday as the nation's largest anti-terrorism drill entered its third day.

The secretary, a New Jersey resident and former U.S. attorney in Newark, was to watch as emergency workers dispensed fake drugs to people including the so-called "worried well" who were not exposed to the pneumonic plague bacteria but want or need the medication to prevent them from contracting the deadly disease.

The drill in New Jersey involves a fake bio-terror attack launched from a sport utility vehicle with a commercial sprayer. By noon on Wednesday, 3,076 "deaths" had been recorded statewide as part of the exercise scenario.

At the same time, Connecticut officials are dealing with a simulated chemical weapons attack on the New London waterfront.

New Jersey officials are setting up drug distribution points, including a large one at the Rutgers University Athletic Center, which Chertoff will visit with acting Gov. Richard Codey.

The state's response to the hypothetical attack involves isolating victims and those close to them, and distributing preventive antibiotics to others to further halt the spread of the fast-moving disease.

"To stop that in its tracks, the first thing is reaching the people who are sick," said James Langenbach, an official with the state health department who is helping organize New Jersey's response as part of the drill. "Then we operate these points of distribution to give medicine to help people from getting the plague."

By Friday morning, all 21 of the state's counties will have drug distribution points set up as part of the drill, Langenbach said.

The first day of the weeklong drill that began Monday focused on investigating the initial incident when the sport utility vehicle with the bacteria sprayer was found abandoned in a parking lot of a satellite campus of Kean University in Hillside.

The second day, Tuesday, focused on the response of hospitals to an influx of "sick" and "dying" patients.

269. Oil reserves.

Hi all,

You can take the following article with as many grains of salt as you wish.

>From LewRockwell.com:
------------------Begin article---------------------- Oil Reserves Are Increasing
by George Crispin

Eugene Island is an underwater mountain located about 80 miles off the coast of Louisiana in the Gulf of Mexico. In 1973 oil was struck and off-shore platform Eugene 330 erected. The field began production at 15,000 barrels a day, then gradually fell off, as is normal, to 4,000 barrels a day in 1989, Then came the surprise; it reversed itself and increased production to 13,000 barrels a day. Probable reserves have been increased to 400 million barrels from 60 million. The field appears to be filling from below and the crude coming up today is from a geological age different from the original crude, which leads to the speculation that the world has limitless supplies of petroleum.

This really interested some scientists. Thomas Gold, astronomer and professor emeritus of Cornell held for years that oil is actually renewable primordial syrup continually manufactured by the earth under ultra hot conditions and tremendous pressures. This substance migrates upward picking up bacteria that attack it making it appear to have an organic origin, i.e., come from dinosaurs and vegetation. As best I have found so far Russian scientists support his position, at least that petroleum is of primordial origin. There is now plenty of evidence around proving the presence of methane in our universe. It is easy to see it as a part of the formation of the earth. Under the right conditions of temperature and pressure, it converts to more complex hydrocarbons.

Roger Andersen, an oceanographer and executive director of Columbia?s Energy Research Center proposed studying the behavior of this reservoir. The underwater landscape around Eugene Island is weird, cut with faults and fissures that belch gas and oil. The field is operated by PennzEnergy Co. Andersen proposed to study the action of the sea bottom around the mountain and the field at its top and persuaded the U S Dept of Energy to ante up ten million which was matched by a consortium of oil giants including Chevron, Exxon, and Tex Corp. This work began about the time 3-D seismic technology was introduced to oil exploration. Anderson was able to stack 3D images resulting in a 4D image that showed the reservoir in 3 spatial dimensions and enabled researchers to track the movement of oil. Their most stunning find was a deep fault at a bottom corner of the computer scan that showed oil literally gushing in. "We could see the stream," says Andersen. "It wasn?t even debated that it was happening."

Work continued for five years until funds ran out and they were unable to continue. With the world having 40 years of proven reserves in hand it is difficult to interest the major oil producers in much exploration, let alone something done merely for research, and so far from the current accepted theory of a fossil origin for oil.

Similar occurrences have been seen at other Gulf Of Mexico fields, at the Cook Inlet oil field, at oil fields in Uzbekistan, and it is possible this accounts for the longevity of the Saudi Arabian fields where few new finds have been made, yet reserves have doubled while the fields have been exploited mercilessly for 50 years.

Not only can the doom and gloomers not show us running out of the natural resources we recycle, but now there appears to be good odds of a limitless supply of petroleum working its way up to where we can capture it.

A caveat: Gold?s theory is not yet accepted by all scientists, probably all the more reason to trust it.

Hmmm.....I would still prefer that we phase out petroleum as soon as possible as a motor fuel.

We should have had better fuels fifty years ago.

I agree,
Remember the oil embargo some years ago? Odd days and even days
according to the last figure of your license plate to gas up. First, the attendant had to check your gas gage. You had to be near a quarter tank or less to get some gas (a 5k potentiometer in series with the gage helped).
Meanwhile all those tankers bulging at the seams with oil were untouchable beyond the three mile limit. No one will ever forget the loooong lines at the pumps.

Well, most of you missed all the fun Sunday afternoon...... but 3 teams turned out for a fun foxhunt in Greenfield
It was warm enough for me to run the air conditioning in my van, and the sun was shining bright......

The competition was hot and heavy, too....... but the "200" boys, (for 442.200 KD1XP rptr)...
(WA1UOL with WA1TVS riding shotgun) running a Ramsey Doppler, made it to the fox's den in the Big Y parking lot,
in the shortest time.
Not far behind were Bill and "Bruiser" Curt.....
N1EWK and W1UXI.....with a "Knobless Paleface" Ramsey doppler...
with Bob WA1QKT bringing up the rear....
(and almost missing the swiss fish and pretzel sticks!)

It was a fun time on a gorgeous day!

News about the next one when I get it!

Pictures below to amuse you

The winning doppler...

OK, I give up....I'm lost..........

Ya shoulda hid over there , Dan......

Well, I made it, Dan........

This is my antenna, Ralph.....I salute you!
But somebody, please,.....leggo my eggo!

Happy Patriot's Day!

Hope you all enjoy the Boston Marathon,

Red Sox game,.....and the day off.....

"Patriotism means to stand by the country. It does not mean to stand by the president or any other public official, save exactly to the degree in which he himself stands by the country. It is patriotic to support him insofar as he efficiently serves the country. It is unpatriotic not to oppose him to the exact extent that by inefficiency or otherwise he fails in his duty to stand by the country. In either event, it is unpatriotic not to tell the truth, whether about the president or anyone else." Teddy Roosevelt

Small Town

Many of us are so old some of these hadn't happened yet - like #17, 22, 27.

Guess that really proves we are older then dirt!

You know you grew up in a small town when:

1) You can name everyone you graduated with.

2) You know what 4-H means.

3) You went to parties at a pasture, barn, gravel pit, or in the middle of a dirt road. On Monday you could always tell who was at the party because of the scratches on their legs from running through the woods when the party was busted. (See #6.)

4) You used to "drag" Main.

5) You said the "F" word and your parents knew within the hour.

6) You scheduled parties around the schedules of different police officers, because you knew which ones would bust you and which ones wouldn't.

7) You could never buy cigarettes because all the store clerks knew how old you were (and if you were old enough, they'd tell your parents anyhow.)

8) When you did find somebody old enough and brave enough to buy cigarettes, you still had to go out into the country and drive on back roads to smoke them.

9) You knew which section of the ditch you would find the beer your buyer dropped off.

10) It was cool to date somebody from the neighboring town.

11) The whole school went to the same party after graduation.

12) You didn't give directions by street names but rather by references. Turn by Nelson's house, go 2 blocks to Anderson's, and it's four houses left of the track field.

13) The golf course had only 9 holes.

14) You couldn't help but date a friend's ex-boyfriend/girlfriend.

15) Your car stayed filthy because of the dirt roads, and you will never own a dark vehicle for this reason.

16) The town next to you was considered "trashy" or "snooty," but was actually just like your town.

17) You referred to anyone with a house newer then 1965 as the "rich" people.

18) The people in the "big city" dressed funny, and then you picked up the trend 2 years later.

19) Anyone you wanted could be found at the local gas station or the town bar.

20) You saw at least one friend a week driving a tractor through town or one of your friends driving a grain truck to school occasionally.

AOL Treats Fla. Emergency E-Mails As Spam 1 hour, 40 minutes ago

VERO BEACH, Fla. - Emergency managers in Indian River County, hard-hit by hurricanes last year, thought the best way to get out weather alerts was by e-mail — until they learned that AOL was tagging the messages as spam.

ADVERTISEMENT

"Because we send out mail in large numbers, it becomes a pattern for spam senders," said Basil Dancy, a county computer software engineer.

The problem started last year with frequent alerts during an unusually busy hurricane season when four major storms hit Florida, including two — Frances and Jeanne — that swept over Indian River County with winds above 100 mph.

About 4,200 people signed up for the county's e-mail alert service, offering quick alerts on hurricanes, tornadoes and other weather emergenciess.

"In the 16 years I've been in this office, it is the No. 1 thing that best informs the public," said Nathan McCollum, the county's emergency management coordinator.

But not everyone was receiving the alerts. "We know it's going out but, in the heat of the moment, it's not a reliable system," McCollum said.

The county is working with AOL to fix the problem. In the meantime, AOL users are being told to put the county's e-mail account in their computer's address book so their computers know to accept the messages.

Subject: MEDICATION COSTS

Here is a little info to brighten your day..=20
Don't you just LOVE the way our elected=20 officials "cover" for these crooks?
~~~~~~=
~~~~~~~~~~~~
This looks legit to me. If true, its revelations are scary.

Cost of Medications =20

The following is incredible. Make sure to keep reading to the bottom where i= t=20
discusses Costco, Sam's Club, etc.

The women who wrote this email and signed below are Federal Budget
Analysts in Washington, DC

Did you ever wonder how much it costs a drug company for the active=20 ingredient in prescription medications? Some people think it must cost a lot, since many drugs sell for more than $2.00 per tablet. We did a search of offshore chemical synthesizers that supply the active ingredients found in drugs approved by the FDA. As we have revealed in past issues of "Life Extension," a significant percentage of drugs sold in the United State contain active ingredients made in other countries.

In our independent investigation of how much profit drug companies really=20
make, we obta!ined the actual price of active ingredients used in some of the most popular drugs sold in America.

The chart below speaks for itself.;

CELEBREX 100 mg

Since the cost of prescription drugs is so outrageous, I thought everyone I knew should know about this. Please read the following and pass it on. It pays to shop around. This helps to solve the mystery as to why they can afford to put a Walgreen's on every corner.

On Monday night, Steve Wilson, an investigative reporter for Channel 7 News in Detroit, did a story on generic drug price gouging by pharmacies. He found in his investigation, that some of these generic drugs were marked up as much as 3,000% or more. Yes, that's not a typo ... three thousand percent! So often, we blame the drug companies for the high cost of drugs, and usually rightfully so. But in this case, the=20 fault clearly lies with the pharmacies themselves For example, if you had to buy a prescription drug, and boug the name brand, you might pay $100 for 100 pills. The pharmacist might tell you that if you get the generic equiva-lent, they would only cost $80, making you think you are "saving" $20. What the pharmacist is not telling you is that those 100=20 generic pills may have only cost him $10!

At the end of the report, one of the anchors asked Mr. Wilson whether or not there were any pharmacies that did not adhere to this practice, and he said that Costco, Sam's Club and other discount volume stores consistently charged little over their cost for the generic drugs. I went to the discount store's website, where you can look up any drug, and get its online price. It says that the in-store prices are consistent=20 with the online prices. I was appalled. Just to give you one example from my own experience, I had to use the drug, Comparing, which helps prevent nausea in chemo patients. I used the generic equivalent, which cost $54.99 for 60 pills at CVS. I checked the price at Costco, and I could have bought 100 pills for $19.89. For 145 of my pain pills, I paid $72.57. I could have got 150 at another discount store for $28.08. I would like to mention, that although these are a "membership" type store, you do NOT have to be a member to buy prescriptions there, as it is a federally regulated substance. You just tell them at the door that you wish to use the pharmacy, and they will let you in.

I am asking each of you to please help me by copying this letter, and passing it into your own email, and send it to everyone you know with an email address.

Well, it sure was a fun foxhunt....

It started at 1:05pm with the first problem being the road to Poet's Seat Tower was closed and locked.
Our two official teams had to start from the lower parking lot on the south side of the hill. That made it difficult to hear the fox who was due north of the starting point.
The teams were Bill N1EWK with Hyrum KB1KRS and Dick AC1L and Mildred KB1DCH.
Not long into the hunt, Bob WA1QKT called in a report from his house in Northfield......Good signal, due west, with 15 db of attenuation.
Soon after, Scott KB1FFT called in with a good signal from the fox on his omni at 40 feet in Colrain.
However, the hunters were having all kinds of problems getting a fix on the signal....strong in some places, nothing in others!
Bill was having problems with his doppler and had to resort to his tape measure beam, and both teams were confused and frustrated by reflections!
Meanwhile, Bob WA1QKT and his XYL couldn't resist hitting the road!
They left their company at home and quickly,(and unofficially) found the fox at 1:48.....what dedicated foxhunters!

The Fox's Den was at the Bennett Meadow Wildlife Management Area, right at the base of the bridge on Rt. 10 in Northfield.

Almost an hour later, the winning team arrived...Dick and Mildred pulled up with big smiles on their faces at 2:46.
Dick grabbed the winning certificate......(pictured below) (suitable for framing, too!)
from my side window, and stored it safely in his car with Mildred!

After a few more clues, Bill and Hyrum found the den at 2:55.
Soon after, Bill K1WHO, who had been listening, rolled in to join in on the foxhunt fun!
On the way home, Dan N1XPS called in to let us know he'd been listening and thoroughly enjoyed the hunt, too!

Everyone even got an education, too...they learned about Horace Greeley, Bennett Cerf, Meadowlark Lemon, Neil Young music, and many even remembered that
.......Bo Derek was a "10".....
(Dick may not live that one down,...hihi !)

A good time was had by all,.....and I'm sure we're all looking forward to the next one!

More foxhunt news when I have it.....

the winners.......

Comparing notes.......

Uhhh,...You got here first, Dick..?????..........with that??

The Nation's Worst Drivers

When faced with a written test, similar to ones given to beginning drivers applying for licenses, one in ten drivers couldn't get a passing score, according to a study commissioned by GMAC Insurance.

The GMAC Insurance National Driver's Test found that nearly 20 million Americans, or about 1 in 10 drivers, would fail a state driver's test if they had to take one today. GMAC Insurance is part of General Motors' finance subsidiary, GMAC.

More than 5,000 licensed drivers between the ages of 16 and 65 were administered a 20-question written test designed to measure basic knowledge about traffic laws and safety. They were also surveyed about their general driving habits.

Drivers in the Northeast and mid-Atlantic states did worst. Twenty percent of test-takers failed there.

The state of Rhode Island leads the nation in driver cluelessness, according to the survey. The average test score there was 77, just eight points above a failing grade.

Those in neighboring Massachusetts were second worst and New Jersey, third worst.

Northwestern states had the most knowledgeable drivers. In those states, just one to three percent failed the test. Oregon and Washington drivers knew the rules of the road best. In Oregon, the average test score was 89.

According to the study, many drivers find basic practices, such as merging and interpreting road signs, difficult.

For instance, one out of five drivers doesn't know that a pedestrian in a crosswalk has the right of way, and one out of three drivers speeds up to make a yellow light, even when pedestrians are present, the study said.

Drivers not only lack basic road knowledge, but exhibit dangerous driving behavior as well.

"As a nation of drivers, we've made little progress in the past 10 years to curb some of the most dangerous driving behaviors, including drinking and driving and speeding," said Susan Ferguson, senior vice president of research at the Insurance Institute for Highway Safety.

One out of 10 drivers regularly exceeds the speed limit by 11 or more miles per hour, with drivers aged between 18 and 24 years showing the greatest propensity for speeding, the study said.

Speeding increases both the likelihood of an accident and the severity of the crash, the company added, citing research from IIHS.

Younger drivers are the most likely to fail a written driving test while those between the ages of 50 and 64 are the most likely to pass.

These are the average scores on a 20-question driver's test administered to more than 5,000 licensed drivers in a survey commissioned by the GMAC Insurance.

I wonder how the Commonwealth is going to react to this embarrassing article? More new Chapter 90 laws? Maby even biannual road/written tests similar to what pilots have to go through.

I don't think the motoring voters would embrace having to demonstrate to a Registry Trooper basic driving skills every two years. Not too politically feasable.

Sunspots Continue to Surprise Investigators

Anomalous sunspot behavior continues to baffle solar physicists. Even the cause of sunspots remains elusive, and the more detailed pictures only seem to push the answers farther down the path.

“Exactly what happens and why these kind of structures are formed, we don't know “
Dan Kiselman, Royal Swedish Academy of Sciences, Stockholm.

In the extreme close-up photograph of a sunspot above, we see the rope-like filaments of the penumbra, or margins of the sunspot. For many years solar physicists have claimed that these filaments were convection cells, typical of heated gases. But the higher-resolution details shown here, including the twin bridges across the sunspot, do not support traditional theory. All of the structure shown is consistent with the principle of anode tufting, a plasma discharge effect expected of a positively charged electric Sun.

High-resolution images of the penumbra filaments have revealed the distinctive characteristics of tornado-like charge vortices. By giving us a peek beneath the tops of the rotating discharge columns, sunspots enable us to view directly the columns’ explosive rise from below, as they heat and project plasma upward into the bright photospheric granules. For conventional theory, sunspot penumbrae remain a mystery: the standard solar model neither requires nor predicts such phenomena. In the electric model they are predictable. Electric discharges in plasma take the form of long, thin and twisting filaments. Because they are tornadic funnels of glowing plasma, they will appear darker in their centers, exactly as seen in the recent pictures. Convection cells would appear darker on their cooler peripheries.

The electric explanation of sunspots, like that of the penumbra, is rooted in the observed behavior of plasma discharge. In laboratory experiments, a torus forms above the equator of a positively charged sphere. Discharges then fly between the torus and the mid- to low-latitudes of the sphere. In the electric model, the Sun is the positively charged focal point of an electric field. And now we know that the Sun is indeed surrounded by an equatorial torus (as shown in the polar x-ray image here). Sunspots are the direct evidence that electric discharges punch holes in the photosphere to deliver current directly to lower depths, exposing a view of the cooler interior. Nothing ever observed on the Sun supports the idea of heat transfer from the core, where standard theory places the nuclear fusion “furnace”. In the electric model, what nuclear fusion that does occur is located where the most energetic events occur, in the super-heated corona above the photosphere.

In the laboratory experiments that produce the equatorial torus, the observed discharging to the positively charged sphere migrates latitudinally as the power input varies. The higher power produces maximum activity near the equator. The same thing occurs on the Sun in the latitudinal migration of sunspots in relation to the total energetic output of the Sun.

Standard theory will not allow that the cooler lower region revealed by sunspots means a cooler interior of the Sun. So astrophysicists have surmised that the sunspots are the result of focused magnetic fields interfering with heat transport, or convection. But they have confused electrical and magnetic effects. Investigation has shown that sunspots having the same magnetic polarity attract each other. But the poles of magnets repel. Electric currents, however (the source of magnetic fields), do attract each other, while maintaining their integrity through repulsion at extremely close distances. In fact, we see this effect when sunspots “merge”. Though conjoined, they retain their independent structure, just as currents do in plasma.

Standard models offer no coherent explanation for the approximate eleven-year sunspot cycle. There is no annual "clock" in an isolated thermonuclear explosion. Though a connection to the period of Jupiter is possible, perhaps even likely in terms of solar system circuitry, the remote gravitational effects of Jupiter on the Sun cannot compare to the energetic events associated with the sunspot cycle. In the electrical model the sunspot cycle is most likely a result a fluctuations in the electrical power supply from the local arm of our galaxy, the Milky Way, as the varying current density and magnetic fields of huge Birkeland current filaments slowly rotate past our solar system.

Dear Yahoo!:
Where did the term "pet peeve" come from?
Daniel
San Ramon, California

Dear Daniel:
While pretty much everyone can agree that car alarms are aggravating, as individuals we harbor our own set of annoyances, or pet peeves. Language misusage drives some people absolutely batty, while simple acts of discourtesy set others off.

Pet peeves are often very personal and idiosyncratic. Plastic bags in trees, for instance. Or dogs in sweaters. Or the pronunciation of the word "nuclear." Somewhere there's a person who can't stand any of these.

A "peeve," meaning something that is particularly irritating or annoying, is a relatively recent word. Its first printed usage was in 1911. The term is derived, however, from a 14th-century word -- "peevish," meaning ornery or ill-tempered.

The modified term "pet peeve," a uniquely personal irritant, first appeared in print in 1919. It's no wonder it caught on -- it's snappy, alliterative, and pointed.

Remembering a great friend......

I truly will miss Joe for the rest of my life......

but I'm so grateful for the great times we had....

He really was a special person......

at various times he was known as......

KMA3526, Fuddy Duddy, Chuckwagon, Jack Daniels, WA1WRM, the Worm....

and probably a few other names I've forgotten .....

but he was always my friend, Joe Deyette......

Rest in Peace, my friend....and keep smiling when you're looking down at us!

And don't forget to shake your head a little ,....and tisk a few times, too !

Thanks for being a part of my life for so many years,

I remember taking my first teenage "cruise" in Joe's car.....

long before I had my license......

I remember all the hours we spent in Bradlee's parking lot, ...at MacDonald's and Burger Chef,.....at the "Ranch",.....cruising for chicks, ...

doing donuts in the synagogue parking lot in snowstorms........

going on photo trips with our cameras.......

There are so many memories.....

God, we had so much fun back then.......

Hey, Joe.....

Just remember......keep your "golden screwdriver" out of the equipment,...or......

......and I'll keep scraping solder off old chassis's and trying to solder with a hot butter knife.....hihi !

......and remembering......

I will forward the details of the arrangements for Joe as soon as I get them.....

July 4th and the end of America, land of the free

Mike Adams | July 4 2005

Happy July 4th. On this, the 229th birthday of our nation, we find the very foundation of our nation in grave danger as our (elected?) leaders continue to destroy many of the rights and freedoms our forefathers worked so hard to put in place. It is no coincidence that, this very week, our President has created a domestic spy service called the National Security Service. That's the NSS, not to be confused with the SS of Nazi Germany, which had much the same function in pre-war Germany.

Amendment IV: The right of the people to be secure in their persons, houses, papers, and effects, against unreasonable searches and seizures, shall not be violated, and no warrants shall issue, but upon probable cause, supported by oath or affirmation, and particularly describing the place to be searched, and the persons or things to be seized.

Not to be outdone in the race to a police state, the Supreme Court lobotomized the 4th Amendment last week. There is no longer anything resembling "private property" in this country. There is only the illusion of ownership, as long as it is allowed by your government. At the stroke of a pen, any government (city, state, federal) can seize your land and your home, for any reason.

In other words, the State is now the true owner of all land and all property. The very term "owner" refers to the person or organization that controls the use of that land. If you don't control its use, you are not the owner. The State is. You just pay rent. And if you don't cooperate with government takeover of your land, they can always declare you a terrorist and seize your land under The Patriot Act.

Speaking of The Patriot Act, this misguided act allows the U.S. government to secretly tap your phone lines without a court order. It also allows the feds to rifle through library records in order to spot "terrorist readers" who apparently frequent these institutions of knowledge. Libraries are terrorist training camps, didn't you know?

Amendment VI: In all criminal prosecutions, the accused shall enjoy the right to a speedy and public trial, by an impartial jury of the state and district wherein the crime shall have been committed, which district shall have been previously ascertained by law, and to be informed of the nature and cause of the accusation; to be confronted with the witnesses against him; to have compulsory process for obtaining witnesses in his favor, and to have the assistance of counsel for his defense.

Think the Bill of Rights still applies in this country? The 6th Amendment has been nullified by the practices taking place at Guantanamo Bay. The U.S. government simply kidnaps anyone they want, ships them off to Gitmo, then leaves them there to rot, without being charged, without a trial, and without legal representation. By calling them "enemy combatants," the Bush Administration seemingly avoids having to abide by the Geneva Convention as well, which requires certain standards of treatment for prisoners of war

Amendment XIV: ...nor shall any state deprive any person of life, liberty, or property, without due process of law; nor deny to any person within its jurisdiction the equal protection of the laws.
As the Bush Administration runs rampant over the U.S. Constitution and the Bill of Rights, do you feel any safer from terrorists? Do you feel like this administration is protecting your life, liberty and property? Are you any freer or safer today than you were five years ago?

Of course not. We're all in far more danger, and we're all less free. Our Constitution and its Bill of Rights lie in shambles. The very fact that this is happening reckons back to the purpose of the Bill of Rights in the first place: to ensure that no government tramples on its people.

You see, our nation's forefathers understood that the greatest threat to freedom was not an enemy nation, but rather a nation's own government. The Bill of Rights was created for the sole purpose of limiting the power of government over the people. Our forefathers knew that all governments eventually get out of control and become oppressive regimes. So they purposefully created the Bill of Rights in an effort to guarantee that no government could deprive its citizens of free speech, freedom to bear arms, the right to own land, and other rights necessary for the prosperity of a free nation.

That our own government is systematically destroying the Bill of Rights is proof that our forefathers were correct.

I wonder: when will all the Bush-supporting people in this country realize they're driving us head-first into a police state? No administration in the history of this country has done more to take away our personal freedoms than this one. And yet half the country is rallying behind this President.

The people have no idea what they've done. They've sent this country spiraling down the dark path of a police state. They've looked the other way while our rights and freedoms were stolen. They've supported an unjustified attack on a foreign state that will only serve to breed more terrorists who understandably hate this country and its people. The Bush Administration has created a terrorist breeding ground that will haunt this nation for a hundred years or more.

So happy 4th of July. It's a national holiday that celebrates the founding of a great nation. But this 4th of July, that great nation no longer exists. Instead, we have a police state, operated under the illusion of freedom. The illusion of Democracy. The illusion that your vote counts. The illusion that by giving up your freedoms, you'll gain security.

This July 4th, I'm not watching any fireworks displays. Why? Because I know what they stand for, and I can't stand to witness such blatant hypocrisy in the night sky. Don't people realize they're watching a fireworks display that symbolizes all the very freedoms and rights that are right now being taken away from them?

To watch a fireworks display and smile is to live in utter ignorance of what is happening to our nation. It's an apt distraction, however. What better time to pull the rug of freedom out from under peoples' feet than to catch them staring blankly into the sky?
If you truly watch a July 4th fireworks display this year, friends, watch it and weep. Weep for the memory of a once-great nation that used to cherish the freedoms of its citizens. Weep for the damned souls of those leaders who have misled us. Weep for our children who will never know a free America.

Weep for the lost dreams of our forefathers who tried an experiment called Democracy, where governments were run for the benefit of the people; where elected leaders represented the interests and needs of the common folk; where our rights and freedoms were guaranteed under rule of law.

This July 4th, that experiment has run its course, and it has failed. Goodbye, America, land of the free. Make way for Amerika, land of Homeland Security.

297. My friendly letter to the PTC :)

Yahoo group: WA1UOL_PandM_Net

Topic: 297 Message: 297

Well after I heard about the Parents Television Council (PTC) making complaints to the wonderful FCC (Please note the sarcasm) about "the Who" playing at live 8 I just had to write them a letter.
I figured this belonged in the P&M page. LoL

Jay

To: The PTC

Hello

Yeah I was just looking at the PTC web site today. Normally I really don't care about a bunch of unemployed cry babes who sit by and wait for something offensive to happen so they can call the FCC. Like the PTC! I guess your lives are so dreary and depressing that making complaints that might rock the boat makes your lives feel somewhat gratifying. In reality people who join together to make complaints like the ones the PTC takes part in, you turn out to be nothing more then a number. What do I mean?

Example:

How many people complained about That '70s Show on 3/23/04 = 13,353

You see nothing more then numbers.

Now the only reason why I checked out the PTC web site is because now you people are crying because when the Who played live 8 they said a naughty word. Booo, Hooooo, Hoooooo.

Listen! I know the PTC is looking out for the well being of children. And I think that's great. Children these days need all the parental assistance they can get. I know the PTC has been told this before but now I'm gonna say it. Let the parents be the parents. I don't need your help and I don't want your help. When children grow up to be adults when exactly are they gonna be ready to handle this type of life. You know the swearing, sex and all that other good stuff! It is out there more then just on TV or radio. Hiding it from them until it hits them in the face and they don't know what to do and then they feel uncomfortable is wrong. I do believe that kids shouldn't be swearing and seeing sexual images until they're older, but let the parent decide that. Don't be a parent for people. I for one want to see that stuff on TV at late night. You know! When children should be asleep ANYWAY!

So my email is this. After browsing the PTC web site and looking at all the people (numbers) who want no responsibility in raising there kids. All the complaints made and me realizing that the PTC is nothing more then a bunch of unemployed cry babes with nothing better to do then ruin TV and Radio. Then attack one of the best rock bands of all time (The Who) now I want to know where can I complain about the PTC?

And FYI: After I find out where I can complain I will be starting up a group of my own. Real people with real thoughts and are stand up people who are sick of the PTC and the FCC prying into our lives. I will be sure to send the PTC the link when it is up and running. I'll even let the PTC join Ha, Ha, Ha

Anyway tell me where or who I can complain to so I can do so and pass that information onto others. If you wish not to have this happen please do the following:

First: Leave "The Who" alone. That song has been played like that for 27 years. The song has been performed at benefit concerts all over the globe. You morons are the first to complain about it. The F word belongs in the lyrics because it's a political statement. Its art and its cool. That song came alive during the final years of people standing up to the government and standing up for what they believe in. I call it the final years because it seams like it hardly happens anymore.

"The who" came to the US in 2001 to play at the concert for NYC and they played for live 8. They go to all these wonderful events and this how you treat them? Stop crying!

Second: Leave the Shield, that 70's show and any other Tv show alone. Stop crying!

Third: Don't even think about going after radio! Stop crying!

Fourth: Leave the parenting to the parents! Stop crying!

Fifth: Stop crying and Close down the PTC web site and GET A JOB!

Sixth: Be sure to have a nice life. And STOP CRYING!!!!!!!!!

Thank You
Jay Wolf

P.s. if the PTC feels that our government isn't controlling "us" enough and that's why the PTC is in existence then the PTC needs to pack up and go to a communist country. Leave me alone.

FCC Proposes to Drop Morse Code Requirement for All License Classes
NEWINGTON, CT, July 20, 2005--The FCC has proposed dropping the 5 WPM Morse code element as a requirement to obtain an Amateur Radio license of any class. The Commission recommended the change to its Part 97 Amateur Service rules in a Notice of Proposed Rule Making (NPRM) in WT Docket 05-235. Any rule changes proposed in the NPRM would not become final until the FCC gathers additional public comments, formally adopts any changes to its rules and concludes the proceeding by issuing a Report and Order (R&O) spelling out the changes and specifying an effective date. That's not likely to happen for several months. The FCC declined in its NPRM to go forward with any other suggested changes to Amateur Service licensing rules or operating privileges beyond elimination of the Morse requirement.

"Based upon the petitions and comments, we propose to amend our amateur service rules to eliminate the requirement that individuals pass a telegraphy examination in order to qualify for any amateur radio operator license," the FCC said in its NPRM, released July 19. This week's NPRM consolidated 18 petitions for rule making from the amateur community--including one from the ARRL--that proposed a wide range of additional changes to the amateur rules. The FCC said the various petitions had attracted 6200 comments from the amateur community, which soon will have the opportunity to comment again--this time on the FCC's proposals in response to those petitions.

The Commission said it believes dropping Element 1--the 5 WPM Morse examination--would "encourage individuals who are interested in communications technology, or who are able to contribute to the advancement of the radio art, to become amateur radio operators." The FCC said it also would eliminate a requirement it believes "is now unnecessary and that may discourage" current licensees from advancing their skills, and that it would "promote more efficient use" of current Amateur Radio spectrum.

The FCC cited changes in Article 25 of the international Radio Regulations adopted at World Radiocommunication Conference 2003 as the primary reason to go forward with eliminating Morse code as an Amateur Radio licensing requirement in the future. Among other changes, WRC-03 deleted the Morse testing requirement for amateur applicants seeking HF privileges, leaving it up to individual countries to determine whether or not they want to mandate Morse testing. Several countries already have dropped their Morse requirements.

ARRL CEO David Sumner, K1ZZ, said he was not surprised that the FCC proposed altogether scrapping the Morse code requirement. The League and others had called for retaining the 5 WPM requirement only for Amateur Extra class applicants. Sumner expressed dismay, however, that the FCC turned away proposals from the League and other petitioners to create a new entry-level Amateur Radio license class.

"We're disappointed that the Commission prefers to deny an opportunity to give Amateur Radio the restructuring it needs for the 21st century," he said. "It appears that the Commission is taking the easy road, but the easy road is seldom the right road."

Sumner said ARRL officials and the Board of Directors would closely study the 30-page NPRM and plan to comment further after they've had the opportunity to consider the Commission's stated rationales for its proposals.

In 2004, the ARRL filed a Petition for Rule Making asking the FCC to amend Part 97 to complete the Amateur Service restructuring begun in 1999 but "left unfinished." The League called on the FCC to create a new entry-level license, reduce the number of actual license classes to three and drop the Morse code testing requirement for all classes except for Amateur Extra. Among other recommendations, the League asked the FCC to automatically upgrade Technician licensees to General and Advanced licensees to Amateur Extra. In this week's NPRM, the FCC said it was not persuaded such automatic upgrades were in the public interest.

The FCC said it did not believe a new entry-level license class was warranted because current Novice and Tech Plus licensees already can easily upgrade to General. "We also note that, if our proposal to eliminate telegraphy testing in the amateur service is adopted," the FCC continued, "a person who is not a licensee will be able to qualify for a General Class operator license by passing two written examinations, and that a person who is a Technician Class licensee will be able to qualify for a General Class operator license by passing one written examination." The FCC said it does not believe either path to be unreasonable.

The FCC also said that it's already addressed some of the other issues petitioners raised in its "Phone Band Expansion" (or "Omnibus") NPRM in WT Docket 04-140. In that proceeding, the Commission proposed to go along with the ARRL's Novice refarming proposal aimed at reallocating the current Novice/Tech Plus subbands to provide additional phone spectrum. Under the plan, Novice/Tech Plus licensees would be granted CW privileges in the current General CW subbands.

A 60-day period for members of the public to comment on the FCC's NPRM in WT 05-235 will begin once the NPRM appears in the Federal Register. Reply comments will be due within 75 days of the NPRM's publication in the Federal Register.

300. Base Antenna For A UHF

Greetings all,

I'm going to be putting up a UHF base station at my home, and as such, my antenna farm is going to grow by one more antenna (More will come later!).

My questions this time around for the group are these:

1 - What omni-directional UHF base antenna(s) do you use and/or recommend?

Now that Ridiculous Shack (Radio Shack) no longer carries the following products, where do you go to buy yours?

2 - Antenna switchers, example, one radio to two antennas

3 ? Antenna masts. (not towers)

Thanks and I look forward to reading your responses.

Hi Ralph-

MARC decided to drop the yearly hamfest due to lack of help, low tunrout AND losing $$ each year!
We hated to do it. The club discussed it at length and felt dropping it was best.
Our annual HOT DOG SOCIAL and Tail Gate Party are the "replacement" event.
The HDS/TGP are Wed 8/24 at 6:30 PM at the MARC meeting site in Athol.
Take care.

Dennis, K1VSG in his younger years!

I sure was deeply saddened to hear of the passing of Dennis Zonia the other night...... but thanks, Rich, for passing along the info.

I've known Dennis for many years as our ARES section Emergency Co-ordinator, and always looked forward to catching him on Sunday mornings on the WMASS Emergency net, 8:30 am on 3937+/- khz.
Over the years we became good friends on the computer, too!
I believe I had the honor of being Dennis's first contact on AOL Instant Messenger. We always had a steady stream of jokes and funny pictures flowing between our QTH's.
He had a wonderful sense of humor!
We also shared many feelings and experiences about emergency communications and the many various characters involved!
Dennis loved ham radio, public service , emergency communications and all the many people he met through those pursuits.
He always had an interesting humorous story to relate if you were upset or frustrated with the way things were going!
Dennis's presence will be sorely missed in so many ways, and I hope someone with big feet will step forward to try and fill those shoes so well worn by Dennis for so long......

What a great guy,....rest in peace, my friend....

It's very hard each time I send out a new joke or picture to no longer see zoniavsg@... at the top of the list!

But, Dennis,....you'll always be on top of the list of friends we won't forget!

Thanks for all the good times we've had!

I think this idea's time has come. Don't you?
--------- Begin forwarded message ----------
PUT IT ON YOUR CALENDAR FILL UP ON THE 6TH OF SEPTEMBER 2005 AND NO GAS ON THE 7TH, 8TH, OR 9TH 2005 ? TIRED OF THE GAS PRICES?? Let's all stand up and make a statement - we won't pay these prices. Please fill up on the 6th of September 2005 and don't buy gas on the 7th, 8th or 9th. Have a great week! ? Years back on April 30,1999 a gas-out was staged across Canada and the U.S. to bring the price of gas down, and it worked. It's time to do something again. Only this time lets make it for three days instead of just one. The so-called oil cartel decided to slow production to drive up gasoline prices. Let's see how many Canadian/American people we can get to band together for a three-day period in September, NOT TO BUY ANY GASOLINE, during those three days. LETS HAVE A GAS OUT----September 7th, 2005 TO September 9th, 2005. Buy what you need before these dates-- or after-- but none during this time period. If you want to help, just send this to everyone you know and ask them to do the same. We brought the prices down once before, and we can do it again. Come on North America lets stand together to make a difference! Even if you receive this 100 times keep passing it around, this way you know everyone is being informed and no one will forget!!!!!!!!!!!!!

How much more can we take? This is NOT Europe!

Hi all,

Check out this article:
--------- Begin forwarded message ----------
NEW YORK (CNN/Money) - Consumers can expect retail gas prices to rise to $4 a gallon soon, but whether they stay there depends on the long-term damage to oil facilities from Hurricane Katrina, oil and gas analysts said Wednesday.
"There's no question gas will hit $4 a gallon," Ben Brockwell, director of pricing at the Oil Price Information Service, said. "The question is how high will it go and how long will it last?"
--------- End forwarded message ------------
This makes the Sept 7th, 8th & 9th pump boycott even more necessary and feasible than ever before.

WWLP-TV did a poll on 31 Aug.
The poll read:

Will gas prices of $3 and up per gallpn now force you to reduce your driving?

Yes 84%
No 16%

When simular polls were held in the past for $2 gas no one reduced their driving. $3+ is the magic number.

Besides, the media is saying that some places may have physical shortages of gas. It's the 1970's all over again and then some.

NEW YORK (CNN/Money) - Gasoline prices spiked as high as $5 a gallon in some areas Thursday as consumers fearing a gas shortage raced to the pumps.
Drivers in Atlanta said stations were charging well over $3 a gallon for regular unleaded, and at least one station in Stockbridge, Ga., was charging customers $5.87 a gallon.
The price hikes were felt nationwide, with gasoline surging to $3.59 in Boston, $3.58 in Milwaukee and well above $3 in parts of New York.

FYI

Who Is Jamming Communications
In New Orleans?
By Wayne Madsen
9-2-5

Who is jamming communications in New Orleans? Ham radio operators are reporting that communications in and around New Orleans are being jammed. In addition, perplexed ham radio operators who were enlisted by the Federal government in 911 are not being used for hurricane Katrina Federal relief efforts. There is some misinformation circulating on the web that the jamming is the result of solar flares. Ham radio operators report that the flares are not the source of the communications jamming.

If anyone at the National Security Agency is aware of the source of the jamming, from direction finding or satellite intelligence, please discretely contact me at <mailto:waynemadsendc@...>waynemadsendc@... (from a private or temporary email account). In this case, the Bush administration cannot hide behind national security and it is the duty of every patriotic American to report such criminal activity to the press. Even though the information on the jamming may be considered classified -- it is in the public interest to disclose it.

Also, the Federal Aviation Administration (FAA) is reporting that no aircraft over New Orleans have been fired on over New Orleans or anywhere else in the area. Are the reports of shots being fired at aircraft an attempt by the Bush administration to purposely delay the arrival of relief to the city's homeless and dying poor? The neocons have turned New Orleans into Baghdad on the Mississippi.

I just got off the phone with Richard Rubin, the Executive Director of the American Red Cross, Westfield Chapter. I asked him how best to help.

The only thing we can do right now is to donate money. I know you want to do more, but we would only add to the confusion if we went down there, plus we are not trained in Disaster Relief.

Don't send clothing--it would have to be sorted, etc. and that is not of prime importance right now. Saving lives is.

You can send/bring money to a local Red Cross Chapter. They know what to do with it. Or you can also call 1-800-HELP NOW to make a donation.

You might also be able to help out by volunteering to answer phones at a Red Cross Chapter, which are just ringing like crazy! You can always call to ask if there is something else you can do.

The Lies To Hike
The Price Of Oil
From David Icke's Email List
9-3-5

A more appropriate title for this piece would have been "Orchestrating Financial Collapse".

Admittedly the hardest part of observing the unfolding of a prearranged history is connecting the dots. More to the point, to be able to see how all things are connected and work in concert to achieve a desired goal.

So I'd like to throw some things out that the public at large doesn't know and never would. What I am about to tell is common knowledge in oil circles but the worker ants at the bottom of the pyramid never question what they see. I was an eye witness to what I am going to relate and there are a good many others who could come forward if only they will.

In 2000, I worked in the Gulf of Mexico for two different OSV companies that provided support services to the "oil patch". The two companies did very different work for the oil companies so I got to get an eye full.

The first thing that I'd like to expose is the fact that nearly all of the new wells in the gulf are immediately capped off and forgotten about. I saw well after well brought in only to see them capped off and left. Oil or natural gas it didn't matter. I asked a couple of petroleum engineers what exactly was going on and I was told by both (they worked for different companies) that there was no intention of bringing that oil to market until the "price was right".

That wasn't the only bogus thing that was happening. Seismic technology had developed to the point that they could not only tell the companies where the oil was but how much oil was there. All they had to do was go out and stick a straw in and suck it out. They didn't. Once again, the oil prices weren't right. When they are ready and want it they know right where to go get it.

Another lie I'd like to lay to rest is the one about all of the "terrible damage" done to the oil platforms and rigs in the gulf during hurricanes. This is how they justify the price spikes that occur because of lost production. If anyone cared to see this for themselves they could travel the entire Gulf of Mexico in search of destroyed oil rigs and they won't find any- not one. There is a damed good reason that this is so and that reason is that they are built so well that a hurricane can't touch them.

Think about it . If you're going to build something in an area where you are guaranteed to see 150-180 mph winds, storm swells up to 60-80 feet and it will happen year after year, how would you build them? Out of chicken wire and duct tape? Hell no and they don't. The platforms are designed to offer almost no wind resistance and the majority of platforms are at least 120 feet above the water level. They are built so well that several of them have suffered direct hits by watercraft of all sizes with little harm. They were damaged but they were far from destroyed.

The reason that I know how well they are constructed is because for awhile I worked with a company that salvaged derelict oil rigs. When the wells ran dry and the oil companies didn't need them any more the company that I worked for would buy them, take them apart, haul them back to land, refurbish and then resell them. It is an incredible process to take these things apart because they are constructed so well.

I've worked on the boats that hauled explosives to the job sites to speed the disassembly process.

Another lie regards the "burp" in the supply line. Oil companies are as stingy as any on earth and one of the ways that they cut costs is to eliminate the number of people that they need on a rig to keep it running. Most active wells are totally automated and require almost no human intervention. The oil companies have guys that travel from rig to rig via helicopter to check on things periodically but most never see a human on them unless something goes wrong or some maintenance is needed.

During a hurricane about the only rigs that need to be evacuated are the drill rigs that have workers on them. The active wells and pumping stations are controlled by remote control from the shore and if it weren't for the evacuation of land based personnel from areas where there is danger from the hurricanes these things could continue to pump right through the worst hurricane.

So, regarding a burp in the supply chain there shouldn't be one and that is because most of the oil from the Gulf of Mexico goes to the refinerys at Port Arthur or other points in Texas and the tankers from the middle east go to Galveston to offload.

When oil moves across the Atlantic during hurricane season the tanker traffic may have to kill some time to let a storm get ahead of them but once it does they haul ass right behind it. Anyone who has seen how fast an oil tanker can move in open water will tell you that they don't dawdle around. Most of them can move around 30-40 knots and for a ship that size that baby is moving on. The only reason they would have to kill any more time would be if a hurricane suddenly changed course and was headed for Galveston. So far this year that hasn't happened. So why the "break" in supply?

Everything that we hear about oil from the oil companies is a big fat lie. Have we hit "peak oil" as a good many insist that we have? I'll make a wager with anyone who would care to take the bet. I bet that when oil hits $100 a barrel (I have a hunch that's the target price) there will be no shortage. Any takers?

One of the most astounding things to watch when the elite swing into action is what I call conservation of movement. If you had three events that you wanted to set into motion you could apply the necessary pressure separately to all three to get them moving. Or you could do what these guys do and wait patiently until you see the right opportunity to apply the pressure in only one spot that will move the other two with the momentum from the first. The difference is whether something is pushed or pulled along. It"s as graceful as a ballet to watch in motion. No wasted motion, no wasted energy, it would almost be a thing of beauty if it weren't for the rotten purposes behind it all.

So for all of the kiddies that are waiting for their draft notices I would say don't bother, I don't think that there will be a draft. They won't need one. Since the all volunteer military came into being recruitment has always had an inverse relationship to the economy. The better the economy the harder it is to get recruits. We're facing a winter season in North America that may see heating costs equal to a family's house payment. If our weather is being controlled expect it to be a bad one. With $100 dollar a barrel oil on the horizon and the ensuing loss of jobs because of energy costs the military will be one of the only places a young man or woman will be able to eat on a regular basis and keep a roof over their heads.

The beltway fascists have said all along that there would be no draft because they wouldn't need one. Don't you have to wonder how they knew this (what is it you say- just a coincidence nothing to worry about)? God does work in mysterious ways. The neocons need cannon fodder for their war machine and lo and behold mysterious market forces drop it on their doorstep.

For another coincidence take a look at Social Security here in the US.Amazing how the price of oil began a sudden rise when it became apparent that the American people weren't going to allow their retirement money to be "privatized". When the carrot didn't work the stick wasn't far behind.

hi jay

thanks .. saw it earlier today!

as for michael moore...
i have mixed feelings on him enjoyed bowling for columbine
but feel he missed a lot of points there haven't watched the fahrenheit 911 but by all accounts I've read, he actually mis-directed people's attention to the points of lesser importance and avoided too many of the glaring questions that should have been brought to the public's attention (very much like the censored 911 commission)

some actually feel he is really a shill for bush and the ultra-rich distraction and mis-direction are two of their most powerful tools it almost seems that his purpose is to "throw the sheep a few "humorous" bones of criticism to chew on, ... and they'll overlook the ones with the real "meat" on them!"

even this letter appears to flow in the same vein plenty of publicity, a few humorous digs.....but ignoring the big questions that should be asked funny, the people that ask those questions can never get any coverage .......wonder why????

also wondering why confiscating all cameras in the New Orleans area is MORE important than rescuing the survivors????????

P and M 'ing forever!

In New Orleans Reveals Much Horror

(9-1-5) --This is a dispatch from New Orleans from Dr. Greg Henderson, a pathologist who recently moved from Wilmington....

Thanks to all of you who have sent your notes of concern and your prayers. I am writing this note on Thurs. at 2 p.m.. I wanted to update all of you as to the situation here. I don't know how much information you are getting but I am certain it is more than we are getting. Be advised that almost everything I am telling you is from direct observation or rumor, from reasonable sources. They are allowing limited internet access, so I hope to send this dispatch today.

Personally, my family and I are fine. My family is safe in Jackson, Miss.,and I am now a temporary resident of the Ritz Carleton Hotel in New Orleans.I figured if it was my time to go, I wanted to go in a place with a good wine list. In addition, this hotel is in a very old building on Canal Streetthat could and did sustain little damage. Many of the other hotels sustained significant loss of windows, and we expect that many of the guests may be evacuated here.

The first floor of all downtown buildings on Canal street, is underwater. I have heard that Charity Hospital and Tulane are limited in their ability to care for patients because of water. Ochsner is the only hospital that remains fully functional. However, I spoke with them today and they too are on generator and losing food and water fast.

The city now has no clean water, no sewerage system, no electricity, and no real communications. Bodies are still being recovered floating in the floods. We are worried about a cholera epidemic. Even the police are without effective communications. We have a group of armed police here with us at the hotel that is admirably trying to exert some local law enforcement. This is tough because looting is now rampant. Most of it is not malicious looting. These are poor and desperate people with no housing and no medical care and no food or water trying to take care of themselves and their families.

Unfortunately, some of the people are armed and dangerous. We hear gunshots frequently. Most of Canal street is occupied by armed looters who have a low threshold for discharging their weapons. We hear gunshots frequently. The looters are using makeshift boats made of pieces of styrofoam to access. We are still waiting for a significant national guard presence.

The health care situation here has dramatically worsened overnight. Many people in the hotel are elderly and small children. Many other guests have unusual diseases. ... There are (Infectious Disease) physicians in at this hotel attending an HIV conference. We have commandeered the world famous French Quarter Bar to turn into an makeshift clinic. There is a team of about seven doctors and PAs and pharmacists. We anticipate that this will be the major medical facility in the central business district and French Quarter, until we are all rescued.

Our biggest adventure today was raiding the Walgreens on Canal under police escort. The pharmacy was dark and full of water. We basically scooped the entire drug sets into garbage bags and removed them. All under police escort. The looters had to be held back at gunpoint. After a dose of prophylactic Cipro I hope to be fine.

In all, we are faring well. We have set up a hospital in the French Quarter bar in the hotel, and will start admitting patients today. Many will be from the hotel, but many will not. We are anticipating dealing with multiple medical problems, medications and acute injuries. Infection and perhaps even cholera are anticipated major problems. Food and water shortages are imminent.

The biggest question to all of us is where is the National Guard. We hear jet fighters and helicopters, but no real armed presence, and hence the rampant looting. There is no Red Cross and no Salvation Army.

In a sort of cliché way, this is an edifying experience. One is rapidly focused away from the transient and material to the bare necessities of life. It has been challenging to me to learn how to be a primary care physician. We are under martial law so return to our homes is impossible. I don't know how long it will be and this is my greatest fear. Despite it all,this is a soul-edifying experience. The greatest pain is to think about the loss. And how long the rebuild will take. And the horror of so many dead people.

PLEASE send this to all you think may be interested. I will send more according to your interest. Hopefully, their collective prayers will be answered. By the way, suture packs, sterile gloves and stethoscopes will be needed as the Ritz turns into a MASH unit.

Madsen - Government
Jamming N.O.
Communications Links
From ML
9-5-5

Reports continue that communications in and around New Orleans are being purposely jammed (and severed) by the US government (see Sep. 2 article below). The jamming is having an adverse impact on emergency, disaster recovery, and news media communications. The jamming is even affecting police radio frequencies in Jefferson Parish, according to an Australian news report. The President of Jefferson Parish Aaron Broussard told Meet the Press today that FEMA cut his parish's emergency communications lines and he had to have his sheriff restore the severed lines and post armed deputies to ensure that FEMA did not try to cut the communications lines again. Broussard's statement: "Yesterday--yesterday--FEMA comes in and cuts all of our emergency communication lines. They cut them without notice. Our sheriff, Harry Lee, goes back in, he reconnects the line. He posts armed guards on our line and says, 'No one is getting near these lines.'"

Jamming radio and other communications such as television signals is part of a Pentagon tactic called "information blockade" or "technology blockade." The tactic is one of a number of such operations that are part of the doctrine of "information warfare" and is one of the psychological operations (PSYOPS) methods used by the US Special Operations Command. Jamming is currently being used by US forces in Iraq and was used by the US Navy in the botched coup attempt against President Hugo Chavez in April 2002. US Navy ships off the Venezuelan coast jammed diplomatic, military, emergency services, police, and even taxi cab frequencies in Caracas and other large cities.

From "The Manchurian Printer," Simson L. Garfinkel [The Boston Sunday Globe, March 5, 1995, Focus Section, Page 83]:

"Not surprisingly, the unclassified version of the Pentagon's report barely mentions the offensive possibilities of Information Warfare---capabilities that the Pentagon currently has under development. Nevertheless, these capabilities are alluded to in several of the diagrams, which show a keen interest by the military in OOTW---Operations Other Than War. "They have things like information influence, perception management, and PSYOPS---psychological operations," says Wayne Madsen, a lead scientist at the Computer Sciences Corporation in northern Virginia, who has studied the summer study report. 'Basically, I think that what they are talking about is having the capability to censor and put out propaganda on the networks. That includes global news networks like CNN and BBC, your information services, like CompuServe and Prodigy,' and communications satellite networks. 'When they talk about 'technology blockade,' they want to be able to block data going into or out of a certain region of the world that they may be attacking."'

ALERT: WMR readers should be aware that web sites like Democratic Underground are "locking" information on the radio jamming in Louisiana and the corruption involved in FEMA hurricane disaster preparedness (IEM Team contract). Readers should also be aware that the Pentagon's technology blockade strategy extends to the Internet. Web sites like Democratic Underground and Daily Kos have a lot of explaining to do when they censor critical information during a national emergency. These web sites, along with Fox News and the other news sources with overt and covert political agendas, are not serving in the public interest and should be avoided as sources for important information. For example, some Daily Kos posters are questioning whether FEMA deliberately cut Jefferson Parish's emergency telephone lines. That is because many of those involved with Daily Kos and Democratic Underground are squishy Democrats with a pretty obvious agenda. - WM

Disaster Foretold

Claim: A National Geographic article foretold the flood that devastated New Orleans.

Status: True.

Example: [Collected on the Internet, 2005]

It was a broiling August afternoon in New Orleans, Louisiana, the Big Easy, the City That Care Forgot. Those who ventured outside moved as if they were swimming in tupelo honey. Those inside paid silent homage to the man who invented air-conditioning as they watched TV "storm teams" warn of a hurricane in the Gulf of Mexico. Nothing surprising there: Hurricanes in August are as much a part of life in this town as hangovers on Ash Wednesday.

But the next day the storm gathered steam and drew a bead on the city. As the whirling maelstrom approached the coast, more than a million people evacuated to higher ground. Some 200,000 remained, however the car-less, the homeless, the aged and infirm, and those die-hard New Orleanians who look for any excuse to throw a party.

The storm hit Breton Sound with the fury of a nuclear warhead, pushing a deadly storm surge into Lake Pontchartrain. The water crept to the top of the massive berm that holds back the lake and then spilled over. Nearly 80 percent of New Orleans lies below sea level more than eight feet below in places so the water poured in. A liquid brown wall washed over the brick ranch homes of Gentilly, over the clapboard houses of the Ninth Ward, over the white-columned porches of the Garden District, until it raced through the bars and strip joints on Bourbon Street like the pale rider of the Apocalypse. As it reached 25 feet (eight meters) over parts of the city, people climbed onto roofs to escape it.

Thousands drowned in the murky brew that was soon contaminated by sewage and industrial waste. Thousands more who survived the flood later perished from dehydration and disease as they waited to be rescued. It took two months to pump the city dry, and by then the Big Easy was buried under a blanket of putrid sediment, a million people were homeless, and 50,000 were dead. It was the worst natural disaster in the history of the United States.

When did this calamity happen? It hasn't yet. But the doomsday scenario is not far-fetched. The Federal Emergency Management Agency lists a hurricane strike on New Orleans as one of the most dire threats to the nation, up there with a large earthquake in California or a terrorist attack on New York City. Even the Red Cross no longer opens hurricane shelters in the city, claiming the risk to its workers is too great.

Origins: In the wake of any large-scale disaster, there is a desire to search for signs that could have foretold the calamity's coming, for warnings that had been missed or not heeded. We saw that immediately following the September 11 attacks on America - one of the first whispers to storm the country asserted a particular quatrain from Nostradamus predicted the fall of the Twin Towers. While that rumor proved false (the writings of the French seer contained no such prognostication), the same cannot be said of auguries of the devastation of New Orleans by a hurricane. Warnings about what a Category 3 or greater hurricane could do to the Big Easy have been with us for quite a while and have appeared in the mainstream press numerous times.

The text quoted above, which has been circulated widely in e-mail, is an accurate copy of the opening paragraphs of an October 2004 National Geographic article. In "Gone With the Water," those prophetic paragraphs began a lengthy piece about Louisiana's vanishing wetlands.

Weather as a Force Multiplier: Owning the Weather in 2025
A Research Paper Presented To Air Force 2025
August 1996

Below are highlights contained within the actual report. Please remember that this research report was issued in 1996 - 8 years ago - and that much of what was discussed as being in preliminary stages back then is now a reality.

In the United States, weather-modification will likely become a part of national security policy with both domestic and international applications. Our government will pursue such a policy, depending on its interests, at various levels.

In this paper we show that appropriate application of weather-modification can provide battlespace dominance to a degree never before imagined. In the future, such operations will enhance air and space superiority and provide new options for battlespace shaping and battlespace awareness. "The technology is there, waiting for us to pull it all together" [General Gordon R. Sullivan, "Moving into the 21st Century: America's Army and Modernization," Military Review (July 1993) quoted in Mary Ann Seagraves and Richard Szymber, "Weather a Force Multiplier," Military Review, November/December 1995, 75].

A global, precise, real-time, robust, systematic weather-modification capability would provide war-fighting CINCs [an acronym meaning "Commander IN Chief" of a unified command] with a powerful force multiplier to achieve military objectives. Since weather will be common to all possible futures, a weather-modification capability would be universally applicable and have utility across the entire spectrum of conflict. The capability of influencing the weather even on a small scale could change it from a force degrader to a force multiplier.

In 1957, the president's advisory committee on weather control explicitly recognized the military potential of weather-modification, warning in their report that it could become a more important weapon than the atom bomb [William B. Meyer, "The Life and Times of US Weather: What Can We Do About It?" American Heritage 37, no. 4 (June/July 1986), 48].

Today [since 1969], weather-modification is the alteration of weather phenomena over a limited area for a limited period of time. [Herbert S. Appleman, An Introduction to Weather-modification (Scott AFB, Ill.: Air Weather Service/MAC, September 1969), 1].

In the broadest sense, weather-modification can be divided into two major categories: suppression and intensification of weather patterns. In extreme cases, it might involve the creation of completely new weather patterns, attenuation or control of severe storms, or even alteration of global climate on a far-reaching and/or long-lasting scale.

Extreme and controversial examples of weather modification-creation of made-to-order weather, large-scale climate modification, creation and/or control (or "steering") of severe storms, etc.-were researched as part of this study... the weather-modification applications proposed in this report range from technically proven to potentially feasible.

Applying Weather-modification to Military Operations

How will the military, in general, and the USAF, in particular, manage and employ a weather-modification capability? We envision this will be done by the weather force support element (WFSE), whose primary mission would be to support the war-fighting CINCs with weather-modification options, in addition to current forecasting support. Although the WFSE could operate anywhere as long as it has access to the GWN and the system components already discussed, it will more than likely be a component within the AOC or its 2025-equivalent. With the CINC's intent as guidance, the WFSE formulates weather-modification options using information provided by the GWN, local weather data network, and weather-modification forecast model. The options include range of effect, probability of success, resources to be expended, the enemy's vulnerability, and risks involved. The CINC chooses an effect based on these inputs, and the WFSE then implements the chosen course, selecting the right modification tools and employing them to achieve the desired effect. Sensors detect the change and feed data on the new weather pattern to the modeling system which updates its forecast accordingly. The WFSE checks the effectiveness of its efforts by pulling down the updated current conditions and new forecast(s) from the GWN and local weather data network, and plans follow-on missions as needed. This concept is illustrated in figure 3-2.

Two key technologies are necessary to meld an integrated, comprehensive, responsive, precise, and effective weather-modification system. Advances in the science of chaos are critical to this endeavor. Also key to the feasibility of such a system is the ability to model the extremely complex nonlinear system of global weather in ways that can accurately predict the outcome of changes in the influencing variables. Researchers have already successfully controlled single variable nonlinear systems in the lab and hypothesize that current mathematical techniques and computer capacity could handle systems with up to five variables. Advances in these two areas would make it feasible to affect regional weather patterns by making small, continuous nudges to one or more influencing factors. Conceivably, with enough lead time and the right conditions, you could get "made-to-order" weather [William Brown, "Mathematicians Learn How to Tame Chaos," New Scientist (30 May 1992): 16].

The total weather-modification process would be a real-time loop of continuous, appropriate, measured interventions, and feedback capable of producing desired weather behavior.

The essential ingredient of the weather-modification system is the set of intervention techniques used to modify the weather. The number of specific intervention methodologies is limited only by the imagination, but with few exceptions they involve infusing either energy or chemicals into the meteorological process in the right way, at the right place and time. The intervention could be designed to modify the weather in a number of ways, such as influencing clouds and precipitation, storm intensity, climate, space, or fog.

PRECIPITATION

"...significant beneficial influences can be derived through judicious exploitation of the solar absorption potential of carbon black dust" [William M. Gray et al., "Weather-modification by Carbon Dust Absorption of Solar Energy," Journal of Applied Meteorology 15 (April 1976): 355]. The study ultimately found that this technology could be used to enhance rainfall on the mesoscale, generate cirrus clouds, and enhance cumulonimbus (thunderstorm) clouds in otherwise dry areas.

...if we are fortunate enough to have a fairly large body of water available upwind from the targeted battlefield, carbon dust could be placed in the atmosphere over that water. Assuming the dynamics are supportive in the atmosphere, the rising saturated air will eventually form clouds and rainshowers downwind over the land.

Numerous dispersal techniques [of carbon dust] have already been studied, but the most convenient, safe, and cost-effective method discussed is the use of afterburner-type jet engines to generate carbon particles while flying through the targeted air. This method is based on injection of liquid hydrocarbon fuel into the afterburner's combustion gases [this explains why contrails have now become chemtrails].

To date, much work has been done on UAVs [Unmanned Aviation Vehicles] which can closely (if not completely) match the capabilities of piloted aircraft. If this UAV technology were combined with stealth and carbon dust technologies, the result could be a UAV aircraft invisible to radar while en route to the targeted area, which could spontaneously create carbon dust in any location.

If clouds were seeded (using chemical nuclei similar to those used today or perhaps a more effective agent discovered through continued research) before their downwind arrival to a desired location, the result could be a suppression of precipitation. In other words, precipitation could be "forced" to fall before its arrival in the desired territory, thereby making the desired territory "dry."

FOG

Field experiments with lasers have demonstrated the capability to dissipate warm fog at an airfield with zero visibility. Smart materials based on nanotechnology are currently being developed with gigaops computer capability at their core. They could adjust their size to optimal dimensions for a given fog seeding situation and even make adjustments throughout the process. They might also enhance their dispersal qualities by adjusting their buoyancy, by communicating with each other, and by steering themselves within the fog. They will be able to provide immediate and continuous effectiveness feedback by integrating with a larger sensor network and can also change their temperature and polarity to improve their seeding effects [J. Storrs Hall, "Overview of Nanotechnology," adapted from papers by Ralph C. Merkle and K. Eric Drexler, Rutgers University, November 1995]. As mentioned above, UAVs could be used to deliver and distribute these smart materials.

Recent army research lab experiments have demonstrated the feasibility of generating fog. They used commercial equipment to generate thick fog in an area 100 meters long. Further study has shown fogs to be effective at blocking much of the UV/IR/visible spectrum, effectively masking emitters of such radiation from IR weapons [Robert A. Sutherland, "Results of Man-Made Fog Experiment," Proceedings of the 1991 Battlefield Atmospherics Conference (Fort Bliss, Tex.: Hinman Hall, 3-6 December 1991)].

STORMS

The damage caused by storms is indeed horrendous. For instance, a tropical storm has an energy equal to 10,000 one-megaton hydrogen bombs [Louis J. Battan, Harvesting the Clouds (Garden City, N.Y.: Doubleday & Co., 1960), 120]. At any instant there are approximately 2,000 thunderstorms taking place. In fact 45,000 thunderstorms, which contain heavy rain, hail, microbursts, wind shear, and lightning form daily [Gene S. Stuart, "Whirlwinds and Thunderbolts," Nature on the Rampage (Washington, D.C.: National Geographic Society, 1986), 130].

Weather-modification technologies might involve techniques that would increase latent heat release in the atmosphere, provide additional water vapor for cloud cell development, and provide additional surface and lower atmospheric heating to increase atmospheric instability. The focus of the weather-modification effort would be to provide additional "conditions" that would make the atmosphere unstable enough to generate cloud and eventually storm cell development.

One area of storm research that would significantly benefit military operations is lightning modification... but some offensive military benefit could be obtained by doing research on increasing the potential and intensity of lightning.

Possible mechanisms to investigate would be ways to modify the electropotential characteristics over certain targets to induce lightning strikes on the desired targets as the storm passes over their location.

In summary, the ability to modify battlespace weather through storm cell triggering or enhancement would allow us to exploit the technological "weather" advances.

SPACE WEATHER-MODIFICATION

This section discusses opportunities for control and modification of the ionosphere and near-space environment for force enhancement. A number of methods have been explored or proposed to modify the ionosphere, including injection of chemical vapors and heating or charging via electromagnetic radiation or particle beams (such as ions, neutral particles, x-rays, MeV particles, and energetic electrons) - [Peter M. Banks, "Overview of Ionospheric Modification from Space Platforms," in Ionospheric Modification and Its Potential to Enhance or Degrade the Performance of Military Systems (AGARD Conference Proceedings 485, October 1990) 19-1].

It is important to note that many techniques to modify the upper atmosphere have been successfully demonstrated experimentally. Ground-based modification techniques employed by the FSU include vertical HF heating, oblique HF heating, microwave heating, and magnetospheric modification [Capt Mike Johnson, Upper Atmospheric Research and Modification-Former Soviet Union (U), DST-18205-475-92 (Foreign Aerospace Science and Technology Center, AF Intelligence Command, 24 September 1992)].

Creation of an artificial uniform ionosphere was first proposed by Soviet researcher A. V. Gurevich in the mid-1970s. An artificial ionospheric mirror (AIM) would serve as a precise mirror for electromagnetic [EM]radiation of a selected frequency or a range of frequencies.

ARTIFICIAL WEATHER

While most weather-modification efforts rely on the existence of certain preexisting conditions, it may be possible to produce some weather effects artificially, regardless of preexisting conditions. For instance, virtual weather could be created by influencing the weather information received by an end user.

Nanotechnology also offers possibilities for creating simulated weather. A cloud, or several clouds, of microscopic computer particles, all communicating with each other and with a larger control system could provide tremendous capability. Interconnected, atmospherically buoyant, and having navigation capability in three dimensions, such clouds could be designed to have a wide-range of properties... Even if power levels achieved were insufficient to be an effective strike weapon [if power levels WERE sufficient, they would be an effective strike weapon], the potential for psychological operations in many situations could be fantastic.

One major advantage of using simulated weather to achieve a desired effect is that unlike other approaches, it makes what are otherwise the results of deliberate actions appear to be the consequences of natural weather phenomena. In addition, it is potentially relatively inexpensive to do. According to J. Storrs Hall, a scientist at Rutgers University conducting research on nanotechnology, production costs of these nanoparticles could be about the same price per pound as potatoes [Ibid, Hall].

Weather affects everything we do, and weather-modification can enhance our ability to dominate the aerospace environment.

The US Army has already alluded to this approach in their concept of "owning the weather." Accordingly, storm modification will become more valuable over time [Mary Ann Seagraves and Richard Szymber, "Weather a Force Multiplier," Military Review, November/December 1995, 69].

As depicted, the technologies and capabilities associated with such a counter weather role will become increasingly important.

The importance of space weather-modification will grow with time. Its rise will be more rapid at first as the technologies it can best support or negate proliferate at their fastest rates.

CONCLUSIONS

The ability to modify the weather may be desirable both for economic and defense reasons. The global weather system has been described as a series of spheres or bubbles. Pushing down on one causes another to pop up [Daniel S. Halacy, The Weather Changers (New York:

Harper & Row, 1968), 202].

The lessons of history indicate a real weather-modification capability will eventually exist despite the risk. The drive exists. People have always wanted to control the weather and their desire will compel them to collectively and continuously pursue their goal. The motivation exists. The potential benefits and power are extremely lucrative and alluring for those who have the resources to develop it. This combination of drive, motivation, and resources will eventually produce the technology. History also teaches that we cannot afford to be without a weather-modification capability once the technology is developed and used by others. Even if we have no intention of using it, others will. To call upon the atomic weapon analogy again, we need to be able to deter or counter their capability with our own.

As the preceding chapters have shown, weather-modification is a force multiplier with tremendous power that could be exploited across the full spectrum of war-fighting environments... But, while offensive weather-modification efforts would certainly be undertaken by US forces with great caution and trepidation, it is clear that we cannot afford to allow an adversary to obtain an exclusive weather-modification capability.

Aerosol and Electromagnetic Weapons In The Age Of Nuclear War
By Amy Worthington
www.globalresearch.ca
11-21-4

North America is now suffering its seventh year of conspicuous and dangerous aerosol and electromagnetic operations conducted by the U.S. government under the guise of national security. Concerned citizens watch in fear as military tankers discolor the skies with toxic chemicals that morph into synthetic clouds.

We continually witness bizarre meteorological occurrences as powerful electromagnetic devices manipulate both the jet stream and individual storm fronts to create artificial weather and climatic conditions. Black operations projects embedded within these aerosol missions are documented to sicken and disorient select populations with biological test agents and psychotronic mind/mood control technologies.

Part of what is happening in the atmosphere above us involves the Pentagon's secret space weapons program, designed for strategic, operational and tactical levels of war. NASA missions will soon be transferred to Pentagon control.1 The Air Force Space Command declares that, in order to monitor and shape world events, it must fight intense, decisive wars with great precision from space.2 Air Force Secretary James G. Roche has stated: "Space capabilities are integrated with, and affect every link in the kill chain."3

A glimpse into new death technologies under construction is in legislation introduced by Ohio Congressman Dennis Kucinch. His unsuccessful Space Preservation Act of 2001 was intended to ban space deployment of:4

* electronic, psychotronic and information weaponry

* high altitude ultra low frequency weapons

* plasma, electromagnetic, sonic and ultrasonic weapons

* laser weapons

* strategic, theater, tactical or extraterrestrial weapons

* chemical biological, environmental climate or tectonic weapons

* chemtrails (this item was stricken from a later version, suggesting duress)

In their quest to remain top dog in the kill chain, the purveyors of perpetual war have deliberately dimmed earth's life-giving sunlight,5 and reduced atmospheric visibility with lung-clogging particulates and polymers.6 This ecological terrorism has severely compromised public health, according to thousands of testimonials. Years of mass appeals to legislators, media and military officials for information, and for cessation of catastrophic atmospheric degradation, have fallen on deaf bureaucratic ears. Public awareness of what befalls us remains as murky as our skies because those "in the know" are muzzled by national secrecy laws and Americans have no authority to challenge matters of national security. Left to gather clues, we know this much so far:

1. At least part of the aerosol project has been dubbed Operation Cloverleaf,7 probably due to its multi-faceted operations, which include: weather modification, military communications, space weapons development, ozone and global warming research plus biological weaponry and detection testing.

2. Dumping tons of particulate matter from aircraft has geo-engineered our planetary atmosphere into a highly charged, electrically-conductive plasma useful for military projects.8 The air we breathe is laden with asbestos-sized synthetic fibers and toxic metals, including barium salts, aluminum, and reportedly, radioactive thorium.9 These materials act as electrolytes to enhance conductivity of military radar and radio waves.10 Poisonous on par with arsenic and a proven suppressant of the human immune system,11

atmospheric barium weakens human muscles, including those of the heart.12 Inhaled aluminum goes directly to the brain and medical specialists confirm that it causes oxidative stress within brain tissue, leading to formation of Alzheimer's like neurofibrillary tangles.13 Radioactive thorium is known to cause leukemia and other cancers.14

3. Only a small percentage of the military's atmospheric modification projects are visibly obvious. What we can't see is equally dangerous. The ionosphere, the earth and its inhabitants are continually bombarded with high frequency microwaves used to manipulate the charged atmosphere for weather modification, information gathering and for tectonic (earthquake-producing) weaponry.15 Independent chemtrail researcher Clifford Carnicom confirms that we are also continuously subjected to extremely low electromagnetic frequencies (ELF) pulsing at 4 hertz multiples, frequencies known to profoundly affect human biological and mental functioning.16

4. There is a well-documented biological component to continuously ongoing atmospheric studies in which nations and regions are furtively inoculated via specially designed delivery systems with combinations of viruses, bacteria, fungi, mycoplasma, desiccated blood cells and exotic biological markers so that testmasters can assess human, animal and plant response.17

5. The multi-organizational megalith perpetrating these bio-chem projects against humanity includes the U.S. Department of Defense (DOD) and its research arm DARPA, plus the Department of Energy (DOE) with its huge network of national labs and universities. Private defense contractors and pharmaceutical companies are heavily involved.18 Cooperating governments of other nations and probably some United Nations agencies are complicit, since the aerosol projects are global in scope.

Gross chemical and electromagnetic pollution is only part of the horrific realities we endure. The sociopaths who brazenly pervert skies, climate and weather for power and profit are the same madmen who have waged four limited nuclear wars since 1991. Radioactive weaponry, declared both illegal and immoral by the entire civilized world, has been used by the Pentagon in Desert Storm, the Balkans campaign and the on-going occupation-wars against Afghanistan and Iraq. Few Americans understand the extent of carnage inflicted in their name across the planet.

By scientific definition, the missiles, tank penetrators and bunker busting bombs unleashed against Iraq and Afghanistan by U.S. and British forces in the so-called war on terror are nuclear weapons.19 Refuse from radioactive weaponry does not disperse, but remains in the atmosphere organotoxic, mutagenic and carcinogenic to all living flesh for 4.5 billion years.

Inhabitants of the Pentagon's two newly "liberated" nations are now slowly dying of radiation and heavy metal poisoning. Victims of U.S. weaponry used in Afghanistan have a concentration of non-depleted uranium isotopes in their bodies never before seen in civilian populations.20 Tons of depleted and non-depleted uranium contaminating their land, air, food and water guarantee their painful demise. Using data from the United Kingdom Atomic Energy Authority (UKAEA), nuclear scientist Leuren Moret calculates that the estimated 2,500+ tons of depleted uranium used against Iraq in 1991 and 2003 is sufficient to cause 25 million new cancers.21 Is it a coincidence that the population of Iraq, according to the CIA, is 25 million?

The quarter million U.S. and British fighting forces who have helped the Pentagon deliver this holocaust also face inevitable radiological death by slow burn. Rotated into atomic war zones since 2001, coalition troops have inhaled and ingested millions of tiny invisible ceramic uranium particles which emit alpha, beta and gamma radiation as they embed in lungs, kidneys, blood, lymph and bone.22 Radiation exposure to a single internalized U-238 (uranium) alpha particle is 50 times the allowable whole body dose for one year under international standards.23 As U-238 decays into daughter isotopes, it becomes ever more radioactive, causing cell and organ destruction to escalate over time.24 Uranium contamination leads to incapacitating, multi-organ system disorders identical to illnesses suffered by thousands of Gulf War I vets. Bodily fluids poisoned with uranium isotopes sicken spouses and visit upon offspring a genetic Armageddon.25

Who knows what a disabled and prematurely dying military population will mean to future stability and safety of USA? Yet Senator Chuck Hagel (R- Neb.) now demands that America provide more fodder for its atomic battlefields by reinstating the military draft so that "all of our citizens...bear some responsibility and pay some price" in order to "understand the intensity of the challenges we face."26

Despite disingenuous denials that biological harm will result from atomic warfare,27 the Pentagon knows full well the gruesome realities of uranium weaponry by virtue of its own voluminous studies spanning 60 years. Pentagon documents confirm that America's war establishment knowingly exposes its own troops to dangerous levels of radiation.28 The resulting illness of those now returning from the war zones is already making headlines.29

Because our military-industrial overlords brazenly poison the very grunts who make their war games possible, we must logically conclude there is virtually nothing they would not secretly and sadistically do to the rest of us. Military officials lie as perniciously about chemtrail operations30 as they do about effects of DU weaponry. If people were to consider the published science regarding chemtrails and DU, they would understand that we are all in mortal jeopardy.

Both the Pentagon's aerosol operations and its limited nuclear wars are deeply interconnected. We can trace the beginnings of Operation Cloverleaf right to the Strangelove brain of Dr. Edward Teller, father of the hydrogen bomb and proponent of nuking inhabited coast lines to rearrange them for economic projects.31 Before he died in 2003, Teller was director emeritus of Lawrence Livermore National Laboratory, where plans for nuclear, biological and directed energy weapons are crafted. In 1997, Teller publicly outlined his proposal to use aircraft to scatter in the stratosphere millions of tons of electrically-conductive metallic materials, ostensibly to reduce global warming.32

Shortly after Teller's presentation, the public began seeing frenetic chemtrailing. In 2000, CBS News admitted that scientists were "looking at drastic solutions for global warming, including manipulating the atmosphere on a massive scale." CBS confirmed that the plan to load the air with tiny particles would "deflect enough sunlight to trigger global cooling."33

Teller estimated that commercial aircraft could be used to spew these particles at a cost of 33 cents a pound.34 This gives credence to a report by an airline manager, forced by a compulsory non-disclosure agreement to remain anonymous, that commercial aircraft have been co-opted to assist the military in consummating Project Cloverleaf.35 A 1991 Hughes aircraft patent confirms that sunscreen particulate materials can be run through jet engines.36 A science textbook now used in some public schools discusses the sunscreen project by showing a large orange-red jet with the caption, "Jet engines running on richer fuel would add particles to the atmosphere to create a sunscreen." The logo on the plane says "Particle Air."37 The implications of this crucial information should not be understated. A program to make America's millions of annual jet flights a source of specially designed particulate pollution is serious business.

Cloverleaf particles and polymers saturating the air we breathe are smaller than 10 microns (PM 10) and are invisible to the human eye. By comparison, a human hair is 60 to 100 microns in thickness. Scientists and the EPA report that because PM10 and sub-micron pollution particles bypass lung filters and enter the blood stream, they cause radical changes in the endocrine and nervous systems. 38 They can trigger high blood pressure and cause heart attack within two hours of inhalation.39 They cause the blood to become sticky, making it tougher for the heart to pump and increasing the risk of blood clots and vessel damage.40 Now researchers in Taiwan document "a significant increase" in the number of stroke victims when PM10 pollutant levels rise.41 The American Lung Association confirms that we are breathing more toxic air than ever.42 No wonder nationwide asthma rates have been soaring in recent years.43

Tiny synthetic filaments called polymers are part of the brew. In 1990, a NATO report detailed how high-flying aircraft can modify the atmosphere by spraying polymers to absorb electromagnetic radiation.44 U.S. patent number 6315213 describes how cross-linked aqueous polymers dispersed into a storm diminish rain.45

Polymer chemist Dr. R. Michael Castle has studied atmospheric polymers for years. He has found that some of them contain bioactive materials, which can cause "serious skin lesions and diseases when absorbed into the skin."46 He has identified microscopic polymers comprised of genetically-engineered fungal forms mutated with viruses. He says that trillions of fusarium (fungus)/virus mutated spores, which secrete a powerful mico-toxin, are part of the air we breathe.47 Allergies anyone?

We can safely bet that into our particle-enriched air, experimenters are also dumping nanoparticles, developed for a variety of military and industrial uses. These engineered carbon molecules, as small as one-thousandth the diameter of human hair, display bizarre chemical properties and are known to trigger organ damage.48 A recent study at Southern Methodist University found that fish exposed to one type of nanoparticle suffered severe brain damage after only 48 hours.49

The military's aerosol operations have been climate altering to the extreme. Air traffic is a huge source of greenhouse pollution. Increasing that traffic exponentially in order to scatter tons of heat-trapping metallic particulates and heat-liberating barium salts have undoubtedly led to accelerated global warming. Greenhouse gases in the atmosphere, including carbon dioxide, have reached a record high this year.50 As carbon dioxide levels rise, oxygen levels decrease.

In 1996, Scientists for Global Responsibility compiled a report contending that dangerous geoengineering, as proposed by Teller and the Global Change Research Coordination Office, would be absolutely ineffective in mitigating global warming. The report noted that climate engineering research is funded by industry with a vested interest in continued high consumption of fossil fuels.51 The hair-brained scheme of particle engineering was contrived to ensure that industry polluters will never be forced to decrease their greenhouse gas emissions. But because warming and pollution trends have worsened drastically since the aerosol projects began, we must suspect that the warming mitigation program is a hoax and that chemtrailing is really intended, among other things, to create a series of "hobgoblins."

The establishment's modus operandi for maintaining a fierce and lucrative hold upon the collective American mind has been defined precisely by satirist H.L. Mencken (1880-1956) who wrote: "The whole aim of practical politics is to keep the populace alarmed, and thus clamorous to be led to safety, by menacing it with an endless series of hobgoblins, all of them imaginary."

In The Report from Iron Mountain published in 1967, just as the Pentagon's lucrative Vietnam War was being revved into high gear, establishment braintrusters confirmed that perpetual war is absolutely vital for controlling and manipulating the masses. The document even suggested a number of options for creating fictitious enemies, noting that perpetual war induces populations to give blind allegiance to political authority.52

Since the 1930s, when the Eastern Establishment, including the Bush family, used its New York banks and oil companies to secretly fund Hitler's German Nazi party,53 our controllers have employed FEAR, the concept of ENEMY and WAR to keep us in bondage. Chemtrailing is a manifestation of the Fourth Reich, an era of corporate fascism ushered in by a powerful military juggernaut, which manufactures enemies and unleashes fake terror attacks to scare us into voiceless submission.

Both Saddam Hussein and the al Queda networks have long been nourished with U.S. government and corporate funding and groomed by U.S. military and corporate advisors to play useful roles as "enemies."54 Former German Technology Minister Andreas von Bulow recently confirmed on U.S. radio that hijacked planes were able to fly around the eastern U.S. on 9/11 unimpeded by military interdiction because those attacks were part of a carefully-orchestrated "covert operation" designed to coerce America into perpetual conflict with the Muslim world.55

Now, a "secret" Pentagon report has been conveniently leaked to the media. It contends that abrupt climate change is the most fearful hobgoblin yet.56 Authored by change agents with ties to the CIA and the Royal Dutch/Shell Group, the report contends that abrupt climate change will lead to a global catastrophe of monumental proportions, including nuclear war and natural disasters, as whole nations disappear beneath the encroaching sea and survivors fight for dwindling food, water and energy supplies.

Yet the Pentagon has been involved for decades in the drastic manipulation of weather, climate and atmospheric conditions. The U.S. used a chemical agent dubbed Olive Oil during Operation Popeye to induce heavy rains in Vietnam 40 years ago.57 The Air Force document titled "Weather As a Force Multiplier: Owning the Weather in 2025" lists its weaponized agenda for creating abrupt climate change including: Storm creation and modification, fog and cloud creation, precipitation enhancement, precipitation denial, drought inducement and artificial creation of "space weather." This document also states that the military's radical weather modification agenda will "become a part of national security policy with both domestic and international applications."58

Weather weapons are now routinely used in war zones. A citizen reporting from Serbia noted that during NATO operations in the Balkans, black clouds suddenly materialized out of blue skies, hailstones were the size of eggs, and surreal thunder and lightening terrified the people. He reported that scientists found that the electromagnetic field over Serbia had been punctured, causing rain systems to circumvent the region.59 In addition to manufactured drought, scientists also predict that Serbia will suffer 10,000 cancer deaths from DU weaponry used there.60

According to University of Ottawa Professor Michael Chossudovsky, the military's High-frequency Active Auroral Research Program (HAARP), operating in Alaska as part of the Strategic Defense Initiative, is a powerful tool for weather and climate modification.61 Operated jointly by the U.S. Navy and Air Force, HAARP antennas bombard and heat the ionosphere, causing electromagnetic frequencies to bounce back to earth, penetrating everything living and dead.62

HAARP transmissions make holes in the ozone,63 creating yet another hobgoblin. HAARP inventor Bernard Eastlund described in his original patent how antenna energy can interact with plumes of atmospheric particles, used as a lens or focusing device, to modify weather.64 HAARP is capable of triggering floods, droughts and hurricanes, much to the chagrin of both the European Parliament and the Russian Duma.65

HAARP also generates sweeping pulses through the ULF/ELF range.66 In 2000, independent researchers monitored HAARP transmissions of 14 hertz. They found that when these signals were broadcast at high output levels, wind speeds topped 70 miles per hour. They watched as these same transmissions dispersed a huge weather front approaching the west coast from California to British Columbia. Although precipitation had been originally forecast, the front was seen shredding apart on satellite photos and rain did not materialize.67 The hobgoblin drought can be an enriching and empowering tool for certain corporate and governing entities.

HAARP is not only capable of destabilizing agricultural and ecological systems anywhere on the planet, but its effects can target select regions to affect human physical, mental and emotional responses during non-lethal warfare projects.68 HAARP frequencies beamed at specific targets can generate catastrophic earthquakes,69 exactly like the quake last December which killed thousands of people in Iran, a nemesis nation according to the Bush administration.

The Pentagon's warning about climate catastrophe is surely nothing more than a thinly-veiled attempt to prepare the masses for the bizarre atmospheric upheavals we can expect as the military continues to brutalize our planet and near space with its grotesque toys. And we ain't seen nothing yet. Dr. Eastlund and his ilk have developed plans for solar power satellites designed to modify the weather with electromagnetic beam output that dwarfs the present HAARP system.70 As abrupt climate change is increasingly orchestrated, we will surely need additional fascist agencies, an ever-growing military budget and more poison-particle projects that just happen to ensure population reduction as a side benefit.

Despite visual evidence that every aspect of our physical environment is being manipulated and damaged for war games, some Americans cannot accept that dangerous covert operations are being conducted by a government they still believe to be a virtuous defender of freedom. Their stumbling block is a numbing belief that their own officials would never perpetrate dangerous experimentation on humanity since "they have families too." History and the release of declassified government documents disprove such naiveté.

Although "they" had families too, the U.S. government and its defense contractors exposed citizens of the northwest U.S. to huge and deliberate releases of radioactive iodine 131 from the Hanford Nuclear Reservation where plutonium was produced for nuclear bombs.71 Those Cold War releases unleashed radiation illnesses upon thousands of downwinders, some of whom received up to 350 rads of radiation when a maximum safety dose is set at .025 rads annually.72 Between 1949 and 1952, radioactive pellets, dust and particles were tested on the hapless citizens of Utah and New Mexico.73

By 1963, 1,200 nuclear weapons tests conducted at the Nevada test site had exposed every person in the U.S. to deadly radioactive fallout, causing millions of fetal deaths, spontaneous abortions, stillbirths and birth defects.74 The U.S. government also conducted over 4,000 radiation experiments on individual human test subjects without their informed consent.75 The delayed effects of decades of radiation exposure from weapons testing are today demonstrated by a U.S. population plagued with epidemic cancer and heart disease, neurological disorders, low fertility, chronic fatigue, obesity (thyroid involvement), immune system dysfunction and learning disabilities. Approximately half of all pregnancies in the U.S. result in prenatal or postnatal death or an otherwise less than healthy baby.76 As military tankers spew white chemical plumes across America at a cost of $3,448 per hour per tanker,77 we are reminded of Dr. Leonard Cole's 1994 testimony before a Senate Committee regarding 45 years of open air testing during which military aircraft sprayed American cities with bacteria, fungus and carcinogenic chemicals.78 Between 1962-1973, the U.S. Navy conducted hundreds of bio-chem tests known as Operation SHAD (Shipboard Hazard and Defense). SHAD projects like Autumn Gold and Copper Head exposed 10,000 navy personnel to aircraft spray laden with biological and chemical warfare agents, including sarin nerve gas.79 The cocktails used in those genocidal "tests" are now linked to cancer, heart and lung problems suffered by surviving guinea pigs.

We are told that defense officials perpetrated these atrocities so that scientists could learn about how to "protect" Americans from attack. So why, in the late 80s, would our "protectors" fall all over themselves to supply Saddam Hussein's war machine with 90 shipments of chemical and biological weaponry, including sarin, anthrax, botulism, brucella and West Nile Virus?80

It will likely be years before Americans are told what is being tested upon them during our present chemtrail/space wars era. The Hanford downwinders did not learn until 1986 what had been unleashed upon them some 30 years earlier; SHAD victims filed suit in 2003 to learn the extent to which they were intentionally exposed to dangerous substances in the 60s.

To understand how our nation has arrived at this doomsday corruption, we must recall that immediately after WWII ended, the U.S. government initiated Operation Paperclip through which a large number of German Nazi scientists were imported to the United States. Once issued new identities, these death industry pros were employed in U.S. military laboratories to develop a dazzling array of secret weaponry projects.81 With congressional funding, the crowning achievement of this nexus was the creation of ghastly new bioweapons, including the AIDS virus82 and an incapacitating chronic fatigue agent engineered from mycoplasma and brucella.83

The military is empowered to continue lethal experimentation by devious wording of Section 1520a Chapter 32 of U.S. Code Title 50. The law states that the Secretary of Defense may NOT conduct any chemical or biological test or experiment on civilian populations, unless such tests are for medical, therapeutic, pharmaceutical, agricultural, industrial purposes or for research in general or for protection against weapons or for law enforcement purposes, including riot control. So DOD may not use us for guinea pigs, unless it is for any "good" reason under the sun! The law states that human subjects must give informed consent. But a nasty loophole in Section 1515 of Chapter 32 allows informed consent to be suspended by executive order during a period of national emergency, a situation under which this nation perpetually labors by deliberate hobgoblin design.

Few American test rats realize that the Pentagon's boys in Congress have now:

* appropriated millions of dollars for the manufacture and testing of new "mini nukes" and bunker buster bombs.84

* authorized the DOE to resume nuclear testing in Nevada.85

* exempted DOD and DOE from landmark environmental laws in the development of these new weapons.86

America's 70,000 nuclear weapons manufactured since 1945 are not sufficient! As DOE gears up to develop and test fourth-generation nukes, numerous reports continue to surface about the agency's sordid corruption and mismanagement. DOE's habitual cover-up of site contamination and its devious efforts to downplay serious illnesses suffered by many of its nuclear workers are among recent scandals.87

When new "low yield" nuclear weapons (defined as being smaller than 5 kilotons) are tested in Nevada, downwinders might like to know that a mini .5 kiloton nuclear warhead would have to burrow 150 feet to eliminate atmospheric fallout. No weapon yet developed can penetrate more than 40 feet into the earth. A tested nuclear warhead that burrows to only 40 feet will throw a million cubic feet of radioactive debris into the atmosphere.88

The Pentagon's new nuke era is in the capable hands of Defense Secretary Donald Rumsfeld, who has so ably presided over the pre-emptive nuclear incineration of Middle Eastern Muslims. Rumsfeld has never adequately explained why his Department was unable to defend the Pentagon building despite a full hour's notice that hijacked planes were in the air. Should Rumsfeld be replaced due to the Pentagon's Iraqi torture scandal, we are assured that his Bush-appointed successor will share his have-nuke-will-travel ideology.

Working closely with Rumsfeld is a coven of pro-nukers, including his advisor Keith Payne, a vocal advocate of pre-emptive nuclear war. Payne has written that an "intelligent" nuclear offensive launched by the U.S. would result in only 20 million U.S. casualties, "a level compatible with national survival and recovery."89

Now that we have tied together the historical and political realities for which we mindlessly wave our flags, we still hope that sufficient numbers of American lab rats will miraculously awaken from their collective stupor and take stock of our appalling situation. After all, rodents have a notoriously short life span and are always killed when no longer useful to those conducting research. The irony of this horror story is that we rats are being plundered to finance our own demise. Our national debt of 7.2 trillion grows by $1.8 billion a day.90 The Pentagon cannot account for $2.3 trillion of its shadowy transactions.91 The radioactive operations in Iraq are costing $3.7 billion a month, those in Afghanistan $900 million a month.92 No one knows how many $billions are being flushed into Operation Cloverleaf and other hobgoblin projects. The U.S. spends $11,000 per second on weapons, according to calculations of celebrated author William Thomas.93

So, while we await the great awakening, have a wonderful, barium-dried summer under a synthetic tarpaulin of aluminum-white, particle-laden, electrically-charged aviation scum that passes for sky. Endure well your respiratory and ocular difficulties while staring at huge oily sun rings and smeary sundogs, the patent signature of chemical assault. Don't forget to salute and click your heels when you see tanker formations patriotically saturating the atmosphere with such a dense, micro-particulate brew that they cast black shadows alongside or ahead of themselves.

As you witness the noxious drama in the skies, remember, it's all just part of the "kill chain."

Amateur Community Asked to Give Katrina Emergency Nets Clear Frequencies
NEWINGTON, CT, Sep 5, 2005--Several HF nets continue in operation to support Amateur Radio's response to the Hurricane Katrina emergency. ARRL asks all members of the Amateur Radio community who are not taking part in disaster relief or recovery operations to give these nets as much elbow room as possible--5 kHz or more on either side of the net frequency. Nets already are having to deal with less-than-ideal propagation, and any interference--even if it's unintentional--can make their job all the more difficult. Special Counsel Riley Hollingsworth of the FCC's Enforcement Bureau says the FCC has not issued an Emergency Communication Declaration (ECD) for any emergency net frequency.

"Section 97.101(c) gives priority to emergency communications at all times," he points out, noting there have been very few problems with interference during the current emergency. Given the overall level of cooperation so far within the Amateur Radio community, Hollingsworth told ARRL that he does not anticipate the need for the FCC to issue an ECD. The FCC is aware of all emergency net frequencies, however. The primary nets and their frequencies are:

a.. The West Gulf ARES Emergency Net: 7.285 MHz days/3.873 MHz nights

a.. Health and Welfare traffic: 7.290 MHz days/3.935 nights a.. Salvation Army Team Emergency Radio Network (SATERN): 14.265 MHz and 7.265 MHz (as needed; reports indicate this frequency can vary somewhat, depending upon QRM)

The West Gulf ARES Emergency Net--organized under an agreement among the ARRL Louisiana, Mississippi and South Texas sections--has been handling emergency and priority traffic only. The net has been operating around the clock.

The Salvation Army Team Emergency Radio Network (SATERN) has been concentrating on emergency and priority traffic, although it has been handling health-and-welfare inquiries on the air and via its Web site. The 20-meter SATERN net has been activating daily at 1400 UTC and continuing until the band closes, with as many as 1000 stations are checking in each day.

"Amateur Radio is absolutely critical in the operation," SATERN National Coordinator Pat McPherson, WW9E, told ARRL. "We do all of our emergency communication on it, and this past week we have done a lot of rescue assistance."

Given the fickle propagation this past week, it's possible that active nets may be audible one minute and below noise level the next. Also, even active nets experience extended periods of relative calm in traffic flow and may appear to have secured operation. So, the best approach is to avoid operating on or near known net frequencies altogether.

In his recent statement to the amateur community on the Katrina crisis, ARRL President Jim Haynie, W5JBP, called on all stations who are active in Amateur Radio emergency nets to be professional and disciplined whenever checking in. "Net control is a difficult job at best, so be respectful. If you have traffic, fine, but if not, please stand by."

McPherson says the thing that makes the SATERN net work is its interface with hams who are not traditionally part of the net but show up from all over just to help out. This holiday weekend, that included ARRL staffer Bill Moore, NC1L, at the helm of W1AW, who helped handled some emergency traffic on the SATERN net and took a couple of stints as net control.

McPherson says the SATERN Net would not be successful without the support of the Amateur Radio community at large. "It seems in these crises that the entire ham world is on our frequency waiting to help, and that is why we have been blessed with success."

FEMA Nixes Grassroots Radio Station for Hurricane Evacuees Bureaucracy KO's info source at the Astrodome

by Sarah Ferguson
September 8th, 2005 5:04 PM

Although the effort was trumpeted in the media as an example of grassroots ingenuity in the face of disaster, local officials with the Federal Emergency Management Agency have nixed an attempt by Houston activists to set up a low-power radio station at the Astrodome that would have broadcast Hurricane Katrina relief information for evacuees.
The project was unplugged even though it had key support. On Monday, the Federal Communications Commission quickly granted temporary licenses to broadcast inside the Astrodome and the adjacent Reliant Center. The station was also backed by the Houston Mayor’s office and Texas governor Rick Perry. But local officials said FEMA bureaucrats KO’d the station—dubbed KAMP “Dome City Radio”—because of “security concerns.”

“They wanted unlimited access to the buildings, which we could not give to anyone in the media,” said Gloria Roemer, a spokesperson for Harris County, which has jurisdiction over the Astrodome complex. Currently reporters are allowed in only on 15-minute guided tours.

According to Roemer, FEMA officials also believed they could not allocate “scarce” electricity, office space, and phone and Internet access to the volunteer station—even though activists say they offered to run the station on batteries and use their own cellphones.

Supporters of KAMP, which was set to launch at 95.3 FM, blame red tape and bureaucrats seeking to “manage the news.”

“I’m very disappointed,” said Councilmember Ada Edwards, who represents a mostly black district in central Houston and had issued a letter of support for the station. “One of the real challenges of this big tragedy has been access to communication--open and honest communication. I really hoped this would be an open outlet for people to get information that was unscripted and that would really address their needs.

“But it seems par for the course in terms of how this whole thing has been rolling out with FEMA and the Red Cross trying to keep tight control and manage the news,” Edwards complained. “It’s really sad when these people feel they have to sanitize all the time.”

Activists with Houston Indymedia and Pacifica radio first brainstormed the idea over the weekend when they visited the Astrodome and spoke to swamped relief workers and survivors desperate for information about emergency services and news from back home.

“People were asking things like how can I get my FEMA check, do my kids need shots for school, can I get a free cellphone, how do I get out information about missing family members,” says Jim Ellinger, a freelance radio consultant from Austin. “This is complicated stuff that you can’t really address on a booming public address system. The mainstream radio stations are more focused on broadcasting to the general public about where to donate to hurricane relief, so there was no place for survivors to go to get what they need. ”

“We talked to cops, volunteers, church groups—everyone said it was a good idea,” Ellinger added.

But Astrodome officials were apparently more concerned about evacuees fighting over the radios. “They were worried about noise and people stealing them or that people would be tuning in to gangsta rap on other Houston stations, which they said could incite violence,” says Tish Stringer, a graduate teacher at Rice University and organizer with Houston Indymedia. After several days of back and forth, activists agreed to provide 10,000 cheap, Walkman-style radios with batteries.

They had 1,000 sitting in the parking lot and 9,000 more waiting in a warehouse--with a pledge from Sony to donate an additional 10,000 radio—when the local FEMA officials rejected the plan.

But donated radios continue to pour into KPFT, the local Pacifica station, and volunteers say they plan to begin distributing them anyway in hopes they can set up some kind of station in the Astrodome parking lot, or else partner with KPFT to provide news for hurricane survivors.

“Radios are powerful tools in the hands of the people,” says Hannah Sassaman of the Prometheus Radio Project, which has helped set up dozens of low-power FM stations across the country, and has been pressing Texas officials to move forward on this one. “In a case like this, having a low-power station that can deal specifically with the needs of displaced people is a no-brainer.”

Although the number of evacuees housed at the Astrodome and George R. Brown Convention Center downtown has dwindled from 25,000 to about 8,000, many of the survivors remain temporarily lodged in smaller shelters and private houses around Houston. All told, the FCC has issued some 20 temporary licenses for a low-power emergency relief stations in the wake of Hurricane Katrina, including a volunteer-run station in Louisiana. “

Charge your batteries and get on the air.....

Reminder--Emergency Power Operating Event is September 17 (Sep 13, 2005) -- To mark Amateur Radio Awareness Day, the ARRL is sponsoring an Emergency Power Operating Event (EPOE) to highlight Amateur Radio's ability to communicate worldwide without commercial mains, the Internet or a cellular telephone system. The EPOE is especially pertinent in light of Amateur Radio's response in the Hurricane Katrina disaster. The EPOE also dovetails with the Department of Homeland Security's designation of September as National Preparedness Month. The 15-hour EPOE is not a contest but a demonstration of what Amateur Radio can do without having to rely on the commercial mains, and what Amateur Radio does whenever the need arises. An announcement in September QST (page 49) spells out the details. The event kicks off at 1300 UTC on Saturday, September 17, and wraps up at 0400 UTC on September 18. The ARRL invites home stations to operate from generator or battery power or other emergency power source. Portable and mobile stations also may participate. ARRL Maxim Memorial Station W1AW will be on the air for the event, running from its 60-kW emergency backup diesel generator. A special QSL will be available to stations contacting W1AW while running from an emergency power source during the EPOE. Include a self-addressed, stamped envelope with all QSL card requests, and indicate on your card the emergency power source used. (Address cards to W1AW, 225 Main St, Newington, CT 06111.)

Subject: RECOGNIZING A STROKE
A neurologist says that if he can get to a stroke victim within 3 hours he can totally reverse the effects of a stroke...totally. He said the trick was getting a stroke recognized, diagnosed and getting to the patient within 3 hours which is tough.

RECOGNIZING A STROKE - A true story

Susie is recouping at an incredible pace for someone with a massive stroke all because Sherry saw Susie stumble - - that is the key that isn't mentioned below -and then she asked Susie the 3 questions.

Even though she had normal blood pressure readings and did not appear to be suffering a stroke and could converse to some extent with the Paramedics, they took her to the hospital right away.

Thank God for the sense to remember the "3" steps. Read and Learn!

Sometimes symptoms of a stroke are difficult to identify. Unfortunately, lack of awareness often spells disaster. The stroke victim may suffer brain damage when people nearby fail to recognize the symptoms of a stroke. Now doctors say a bystander can recognize a stroke by asking three simple questions:

1. *Ask the individual to SMILE.
2. *Ask him or her to RAISE BOTH ARMS.
3. *Ask the person to SPEAK A SIMPLE SENTENCE (Coherently) (ie . It is sunny out today)

If he or she has trouble with any of these tasks, call 9-1-1 immediately and describe the symptoms to the dispatcher.

After discovering that a group of non-medical volunteers could identify facial weakness, arm weakness and speech problems, researchers urged the general public to learn the three questions. They presented their conclusions at the American Stroke Association's annual meeting last February. Widespread use of this test could result in prompt diagnosis and treatment of the stroke and prevent brain damage.

A cardiologist says if everyone who gets this e-mail sends it to 10 people, you can bet that at least one life will be saved.

Greetings all,

Are you interested in attending a meeting held by one of the Amateur Radio clubs in the area?

Are you already a member of one Amateur Radio club, but would like to attend a meeting hosted by another club?

Are you simply looking for a cup of stong coffee and some Ham-talk?

If you said yes to any of the above...or have your own reason for seeking out an Amateur Radio club meeting, the following information will be of interest to you.

-*- On the First (1st) Friday of each month at 19:30 hours, EST. The Hampden County Radio Association [HCRA], holds it's monthly club meeting at the Feeding Hills Congregational Church. The Feeding Hills Congregational Church is located at 21 North Westfield Street, Feeding Hills, Mass. 01030-1672.

It should be noted that there are no HCRA meetings held in the months of July or August.

-*- On the Third (3rd) Friday of each month 19:30 Hours, EST. The Mount Tom Amateur Repeater Association [MTARA] holds it's monthly club meeting at the Pioneer Valley Chapter of the American Red Cross building. The Pioneer Valley Chapter of the American Red Cross is located at 506 Cottage Street Springfield, MA. 01104-3219

It should be noted that there are no MTARA meetings held in the months of July or August.

Talk-in for MTARA meetings is held on the club's repeater which is 146.940(-)(No PL is required).

-*- On the Fourth (4th) Sunday of each month at 19:00 Hours, EST, is when the Northern Berkshire Amateur Radio Club [NOBARC] generally holds their meetings in the months of September through the month of May. Regarding NOBARC meeting, please take note of the following quote from the NOBARC webpage, "As always, there are sometimes exceptions to this schedule. Always check the "Regular NoBARC Meeting Date" on the homepage."

NOBARC meetings are held at the American Red Cross of Berkshire County. The American Red Cross of Berkshire County is located at 480 West Street Pittsfield, MA. 01201-5849.

Talk-in for NOBARC meetings is held on the club's repeater which is 146.910(-) (No PL is required).

Ralph,

Thank you for the information about the Franklin County Amateur Radio Club.

I'll update the file after I read the rest of the mail.

If anyone else knows of any other "area" Amateur radio clubs whose meeting times and places should be added to the list. Please feel free to e-mail them to me at WesternMassAmateurRadio-owner@yahoogroups.com or post them to the list.

This list works as well as it does, thanks to it's members. If you know a Ham who should be here, please, tell them about our list. It's fun, it's informational...and it's FREE!

What's In Your "Go-Kit?"

Many amateurs carry an HT as part of their daily routine. Those who do so, should always include basic accessories such as an extra NiCd pack, external power cord, some sort of gain antenna, comfort and safety items "just in case." All it takes is your battery to "die" when you need to access the auto patch to report a traffic accident, get lost or break down on the road in an unfamiliar place to fully appreciate the value of being "prepared."

The best "Go-kit" for you won't fit anyone's canned list. Assemble one which fits your routine, experience and local conditions. Commuters using mass transit should keep at least bare essentials handy. A larger kit is practical if you are usually near your car. The trunk is the best place to store emergency gear because it is dry, accessible either at home or away and relatively secure. I have three kits which supplement each other. My "every day" kit fits in a briefcase and accompanies an HT.

A "backup" shoulder bag in the car provides basic tools and first aid supplies, some cash, a spare HT, 25w brick amp, coax, antenna, gel cell battery and accessories for 24 hours operation. I also carry a fire extinguisher, first aid kit, blanket, two MREs and a gallon of water in the car. Two "evacuation bags" at home have three days supply of food, water and medications, a boxed non-spillable AGM deep cycle battery, battery charger, tool kit, rain gear, clothing, safety and shelter items.

In rural areas, fire making supplies, pocket knife, map and compass should be in your kit. In the suburbs, keep a local street atlas, change for a pay phone and some emergency cash or credit card. A compact, sturdy flashlight, extra batteries, first aid kit, extra HT battery pack and spare eyeglasses are useful everywhere. If you take require prescription medications, carry a 3-day supply. On the road also carry enough cash for a tank of gas, hot meal and a room.

A minimum "Go- kit" should sustain a day of continuous operation and be easily supplemented for overnight trips. The bare essentials are a 2-meter or dual-band HT, some sort of "gain" antenna, auxiliary power source, writing materials, comfort and safety items. You can do a lot with a minimum kit, if you plan carefully. There is risk of not having something you may need if you go too light, but obvious "bells and whistles" should stay home. My "every day" kit, including a dual-band HT, weighs 5 pounds and is 4"x6"x10," fits in a waist pack and contains:

1) Dual-band HT in padded belt case.

2) Copy of current FCC Operating License.

3) "Tiger tail" (counterpoise enhances Tx and Rx of a typical "rubber duck" by 3 db).

4) Extra high-capacity (1000 mah) NiCd, or backup AA battery case for HT.

5) DC adapter & cigarette plug cord for HT

6) Two extra 2A fuses, for HT cord

7) Earphone and speaker mike

8) Spartan pattern Swiss Army pocket knife

9) Leatherman multi-purpose tool

10) CMG Infinity Ultra LED task light and 2 spare AAs

11) Pencil and pocket note pad

12) Emergency gas/phone/meal money ($20 bill, $6 quarters + five dimes in 35mm film can).

13) SO-239 to male-BNC adapter to fit HT to mobile antenna coax and female BNC to SO-239 to fit HT gain antenna to jumper.

14) 8 ft. RG8-X jumper w/BHC male and female connectors to raise and extend HT antenna.

15) Spare eye glasses of current prescription.

16) Band aids, baby wipes and sunscreen

17) Pocket sewing kit, matches

18) Small pocket compass

19) Operating reference card for HT

20) RACES phone and frequency card

21) Repeater auto patch and control code card

The "Backup Bag" carries "24-hour" items in a sturdy shoulder bag or lumbar pack with carrying strap. Mine has external pockets marked as to contents. The large main compartment carries a 7ah gel cell battery and 20w brick amp while other items are packed around and between them. It stays in the car until needed. I am trying to reduce it from its 12"x8"x6" size and 18 lbs. weight. Suggested contents are:

1) Neck-lanyard pocket with spare car keys, emergency cash, credit card, long-distance calling card and RACES ID.

2) Second, "backup / loaner" 2-meter HT. (Accessories interchange with dual-bander)

3) Spare large capacity NiCd or AA-battery pack, ear phone and speaker-mike for second HT

4) Operating manuals for both HT's.

5) Fused DC adapter cords with Molex connectors for brick amplifier and HTs.

6) 10 ft. AWG10 gage extension cord, with battery clips, in-line fuses and Molex connectors to power brick amp and/or HT from a car battery.

7) Compact, rugged, 25-40w 2 meter or dual-band brick amplifier. - See comments below.

8) Gain antenna for HT: (telescoping half-wave Larsen 2m or dual-band Comet CH-722SA (? wave VHF, collinear UHF), plus tiger tail, throw weight and cord to pull up into a tree.

9) HT NiCd and 12V gel cell AC chargers.

10) One 15ah or two 7ah, 12V gel cel1s to power brick amp on 10-25w @ 25% duty cycle 24 hrs.

11) 16 spare AA Alkalines for HT and flashlight(s).

12) RG8-X jumpers, various lengths to total 50 ft., with soldered PL-259s, and double-female barrel connectors to connect all.

13) Adapters: BNC-male+BNC female to SO-239; BNC-male+BNC female to PL-259; NMO to SO-239 adapters plus others, such as SMA and N if your group uses them.

14) Cable ties, electrical tape, pliers, diagonal cutters and multi-bit screwdriver.

15) Compass and local area USGS 7.5 minute topo map

16) Two sharpened pencils, pencil sharpener, gum eraser, note pad, waterproof permanent marker.

17) ARRL ARES Field Resource Manual

18) Compact, rugged, flashlight (Pelican Stealthlite), with extra bulb and extra AA alkalines (above). batteries

19) Two sets of spare fuses (2A, 10A, 20A) for HT cords, FM mobile, HF or brick amp.

20) Comfort, safety and basic first aid items: sunglasses, matches, tissues, toothbrush, sun block, sewing kit, insect repellent, tweezers, band-aids, adhesive tape, gauze pads, wound cleaning wipes, latex gloves, CPR mask, etc.

HT Duty Cycle Limits and Brick Amps

Today's compact HTs are rated for only 20% duty cycle at 5w output, or 30 seconds transmit to 2 minutes of standby. Their final power transistors may fail prematurely if subjected to frequent full power transmissions of several minutes. When I first got my license, I burned up three sets of finals during the warranty period of an HTX 202. The Kenwood TH22 I replaced it with later fared no better.

Kenwood's service center admonished me that I was exceeding the recommended duty cycle for their HT and should buy a mobile, which I did. I also sought full-sized, rugged HTs with adequate heat sink, built to public safety standards for RACES use and pass that advice along. Unless you know that your handheld is, limit your use of full power to short transmissions.

A small brick amplifier is also recommended to provide better range and signal clarity from your HT. Good operating practice and maximum endurance on battery power demand that you limit RF output to the minimum needed to maintain reliable communication, but the emphasis is still on "reliable." An ideal portable amp for EmCom should weigh no more than 1.5 lb., provide 10-15w output when driven by the HT on a low, (battery conserve) power setting and 25-45w when driven by the HT at full power from its regular NiCd battery pack. The amp should not require no more than 8A current at maximum output, enabling it to operate safely from a Series 1545, .093 pin Molex connector and fused cigarette lighter plug. No preamp is wanted, because preamps FM just increase intermod. It is more important to buy a rugged, quality amplifier with an ample heat sink than to seek the smallest "box."

Disaster Bags-- are duffels of family survival gear stored above flood level in your house to shelter in place which can also be grabbed quickly and thrown into the car with the backup bag in the car trunk, if needed. Many hams overlook these, but in a real disaster, they will be are your most important item.

Each family member needs their own evac bag with personal medications, warm hat, rain gear, sturdy shoes, a change of warm clothes, socks and underwear, flashlight and sleeping bag or heavy wool blanket in a soft backpack. Store in sturdy, waterproof containers, with handles, such as metal trash cans, with a 3 day supply of nonperishable food, water and sanitation supplies, so the family can take when told to evacuate.

Establish a refuge or safe meeting place within walking distance of your home, work or school at a friend or neighbors if family members can't get home, or must leave for their personal safety. Arrange with an out-of-state friend or relative to accept collect calls. Family members should meet at the refuge or call the out-of-state contact when they reach another place of safety. Sew tags in children's clothing with your address and telephone number. Label home telephones with YOUR address to ensure that visitors calling from your home can tell emergency services where they are. Install a flashing porch light so that the responders can find you. All family members must know the emergency contact phone and address! RACES mutual aid and rapid assessment teams must be self-sufficient to operate independently of local resources strained to their limits. The following is a 'thought starter' for your disaster planning.

1) 3-ring binder with phone and frequency lists, repeater control codes, County disaster plan, RACES /SKYWARN /NTS scripts and manuals, topo maps and manual for mobile rig, in weather resistant portfolio.

2) Dual-band or 2m antenna, at least 3db gain, with 50 feet of coax, RG8 or better on reel. Examples: radial kit and mast clamp for your such as from www.hamstick.com; compact dual-band base antenna such as Diamond X-50 or a small yagi such as Cushcraft 124WB.

3) Military mast kit; or 3 ft. roof tripod, landscaping spikes for anchoring, guy ropes and four 5 ft. TV mast sections.

4) AC charger for HT NiCds or small gel cells

5) Two sealed gell or AGM BCI Group U1 (33ah) deep cycle batteries or one Group 24 (80ah) or Group 27 (96 ah), automatic, low amperage charger and UL-listed AC extension cord. (Schumacher Electric Corp Model SE-1-12S, from www.batterychargers.com).

6) 12-volt, 8w flourescent or auto backup light bulb with 10 ft. long, soldered clip leads for attachment to battery. Adequate light is important for operating efficiency and morale. A strong, battery light is safer and more reliable than gas lanterns.

7) Propane soldering iron, fuel, and Solder-It Kit.

8) Leather work glove shells, wool finger-less liners, wool knit hat, hard hat, wind/rain suit, wool sweater, insulated safety boots, safety glasses, reflective vest, extra dry socks and a change of underwear.

9) Tarp, shelter half or poncho

10) Wool blanket or insulated poncho liner

11) Two each, message pads, pencils

12) Grease pencil

13) 2 sheet protectors, 12 push pins.

14) Vinyl electrical tape for rain wraps, 1 roll

15) Cable ties, large and small, 1 dozen each

16) Rubber bands, medium and large, six ea.

17) Adjustable open-end wrench, 6"x 0-5/8"

18) Folding hex key set

19) Lineman's pliers w /crimper /side cutters

20) Needle-nose pliers

21) Channel locks or Vise-Grip pliers

22) Mobile-type, dual-band SWR/power meter

23) Pocket VOM or multi-meter w/ test leads

24) Connectors / adaptors including no-solder type BNC and UHF for emergency repairs

25) First Aid Kit container.

26) Mess kit, utensils 3 days bottled water and nonperishable food (which can be eaten cold*).

27) Personal hygiene and sanitation supplies. Good choices are pre-packaged baby wipes, waterless antibacterial hand cleaner and paper towels.

* 1 gallon of water per person/day is needed for drinking and washing. Good emergency foods are canned soup or stew, beans, tuna, juices, fruits, veggies which can be eaten cold, or warmed without preparation; also peanut butter, cheese spread or jam in plastic jars, lots of hard candy, instant coffee, tea, dried fruit, crackers. Avoid processed meats such as Spam which are loaded with salt or fat and hard to digest. Sterno, heat tabs or MRE heaters are best for warming. Use up and replace emergency food and water stocks every six months.

Something Wicked This Way Comes by Anthony Wade

http://www.opednews.com

October 15, 2005

Beware America, there is something brewing on the horizon. The storm clouds are gathering. For anyone who has closely followed this administration and the way that they try to cow the masses to avoid bad publicity, the upcoming weeks are fraught with danger. As the Plamegate case starts to wind up, rest assured the storm of grand distraction is heading straight for us.

For the unaware, those who rely on mainstream/corporate media for their "news", Plamegate is a two year investigation into the leaking of a covert CIA operative's identity to the press. The prosecutor, Patrick Fitzgerald, has been doggedly trying to unravel so much corruption that all the talking heads can do is wonder who is going to be indicted. The fact remains though that the indictments have to be coming within the next two weeks. The term for the special prosecutor expires at the end of this month and we can be sure that Bush will not renew this investigation.

The story goes like this. In the run-up to the Iraq War the Bush administration was trying desperately to scare the nation about the WMD capability of Iraq. We heard tales of nefarious chemical weapons, terrifying biological weapons and the potential for Iraq to possess nuclear weapons. It is the nuclear potential that saw the development of Plamegate. There was a report that Iraq was trying to purchase uranium from the Niger and at the behest of the Vice President's office, Joseph Wilson was sent to investigate. He came back and informed the government that the story was completely untrue and as it turned out, the documents involved were crude forgeries. Despite the truth, the president bravely marched on and stated the Niger story as fact in his next state of the union address. Eventually, Wilson wrote an op-ed piece in the New York Times refuting the White House claims. Instead of owning up to their "error", the Bush attack machine went into overdrive and the identity of Wilson's wife as an undercover CIA operative was anonymously leaked to the press.

If that does not sound like a big deal, try and remember that it is treasonous and a felony. Considering this was the party that rammed the "rule of law" down our throats with the partisan Clinton impeachment, it would seem quite germane. Considering Bush himself promised to restore integrity to the White House, the implications are extremely significant. What is lurking beneath the surface however is far more potentially damaging to this entire administration. The elephant in the room that people are not talking about is why there were forged documents to begin with and the overall publicity campaign waged by the administration to push us into war. With the benefit of hindsight and the lack of any WMD, it becomes quite clear that the reason we were sold this war on were not accurate. When you factor in the Downing Street Memos it becomes clearer still that those "inaccuracies" were known in advance and that the administration willfully and purposefully lied this country into war. When you then factor in that one reporter, Judy Miller, was willing to rot in jail for 85 days for a story she never even wrote, the corruption trail ends up at the top of the food chain.

Make no mistake about it; this story can take down the most corrupt administration in modern history. The obvious names being thrown around for indictments are Karl Rove and Scooter Libby but the fact is this sordid business has no less than 21 administration officials tied up in it, including Bush and Cheney. That being said, it is when this administration faces its harshest criticism that inevitably something happens to distract the American people. Usually that something is in the form of a terrorist attack, chatter, or something to panic the American people into submission and bury the story they do not want covered. This is when you will hear about a high profile arrest, usually the number three guy in al Qaeda. Or maybe we will here about "credible" intelligence about impending attacks on the New York City subway system. Eventually the intelligence will be debunked as years old, or unreliable. Eventually it will be discovered that it was not really the number three guy in al Qaeda, but rather their clerk. Those corrections will come days later and be buried by the corporate media so most people will never connect the reason for the initial subterfuge. So do not be deceived, it is coming America. Five years ago we were lectured day in and out by the republican machine that the rule of law was too vital to our democracy to allow it to be sullied. I only seek consistency.

So be vigilant America. Within the next two weeks indictments will be handed down against some major players in this administration. These indictments will point to far more egregious occurrences than just the charges at hand. They will expose the big lie that has been festering in this country for years now. That is the fact that 2,000 American soldiers have died for willful and purposeful lies told by this president and his administration. Their blood still cries out from the desert sands of Iraq, waiting for the truth to vindicate their sacrifice.

Subject: Denzel Washington, and Brooks Army Medical Center

Don't know whether you heard about this but Denzel Washington and his family visited the troops at Brook Army Medical Center, in San Antonio,Texas (BAMC) the other day. This is where soldiers who have been evacuated from Germany come to be hospitalized in the United States, especially burn victims.

There are some buildings there called Fisher Houses. The Fisher House is a Hotel where soldiers' families can stay, for little or no charge, while their soldier is staying in the Hospital. BAMC has quite a few of these houses on base, but as you can imagine, they are almost filled most of the time.

While Denzel Washington was visiting BAMC, they gave him a tour of one of the Fisher Houses. He asked how much one of them would cost to build. He took his check book out and wrote a check for the full amount right there on the spot. The soldiers overseas were amazed to hear this story and want to get the word out to the American public, because it warmed their hearts to hear it.

The question I have is why does:
Alec Baldwin, Madonna, Sean Penn and other Hollywood types make front page news with their anti-everything America trash and Denzel Washington's Patriotism doesn't even make page 3 in the Metro section of any newspaper except the Local newspaper in San Antonio.

A true American and friend to all in uniform!

Dear Friend and/or Relative,

I wanted to send out some sort of holiday greeting, but it is so difficult in today's world to know exactly what to say without offending someone. So I met with my attorney today and on her advice I want to say to all of you:

Please accept with no obligation, implied or implicit, my best wishes for an environmentally conscious, socially responsible, low stress, nonaddictive, gender neutral celebration of the winter solstice holiday, practiced within the most enjoyable traditions of the religious persuasion of your choice or secular practices of your choice with respect for the religious/secular persuasions and/or traditions of others, or their choice not to practice religious or secular traditions at all.

I also wish you a fiscally successful, personally fulfilling, and medically uncomplicated recognition of the onset of the generally accepted calendar year 2006, but not without due respect for the calendars of choice of other cultures whose contributions to society have helped make America great (not to imply that America is necessarily greater than any other country nor the only "America" in the western hemisphere), and without regard to the race, creed, color, age, physical ability, religious faith, or sexual preference of the wishee.

By accepting this greeting, you are accepting these terms: This greeting is subject to clarification or withdrawal. It is freely transferable with no alteration to the original greeting. It implies no promise by the wisher to actually implement any of the wishes for her/himself or others, and is void where prohibited by law, and is revocable at the sole discretion of the wisher. This wish is warranted to perform as expected within the usual application of good tidings for a period of one year or until the issuance of a subsequent holiday greeting, whichever comes first, and warranty is limited to replacement of this wish or issuance of a new wish at the sole discretion of the wisher.

Happy Holidays,

Hello:

Although I can understand and sincerely appreciate your problems communicating with such a wide variety of people, I make no attempt to be "politically correct" in this thing. It's an enormous waste of time! Besides! Every attempt ends up in failure. There is always someone who dislikes something about something in every attempt to communicate with everyone or someone. So why bother? If someone doesn't like something I said to someone, then the hell with him.

Dear Rich:

Oh good! I need another hobby. Immediately, when I receive the summons and complaint, I will file a counterclaim, affidavit and relation back amendment for a class-action suit. Let us sue Michael Moore for being a slime bag, too. He needs another suit. I don't like the way he talks on television with that silly baseball cap on his portly face. It offenses me. What about Michael Jackson? He is half-way between a boy and a girl. His sex confuses me.

A man playfully cast a pebble into the lake....

and the ripples reached many shores.

Happy Holidays!

Ralph

Greetings All,

I learned a lesson today: "Never send a response to an Email, even in jest, if you don't know everyone on the list, or, and more importantly, if they don't know you".

My response to Ralph's note was strictly tongue in cheek and I received several responses to it. Some of them were from friends I knew--and we shared the laugh.

Others were from folks I didn't know: folks who thought that I was actually a co-writer of the Patriot Act and that I was defending GW. ARK!!! Not likely. :^>)

I assume that if Ralph was sending a note to all of us--he being the kind hearted soul that he is--he would not send it to those who would stray too far from where he "lives".

The bottom line: I apologize to anyone that I might have offended but I was just carrying the point further that we live in a society which has its priorities so screwed up that we may never get it together again. I still carry the torch of freedom, however. And I, too, use the written word and humor in order to keep people thinking.

Happy New Year to you All!

Dear Rich:

Although we don't know each other -- I think -- I immediiately recognized your humor as well as that of Ralph. You, including Ralph, did not hurt my feelings or anything like that. I found Ralph's letter and your response to it quite humorous.

Happy New Year!

Alvah, K1TMA

Grasshopper:

Your impatience overwhelms me.

A "non-event"...?

By choosing this moment in time to experience the lessons of the pebble and the ripples, you have been blessed with the opportunity to participate in this learning experience over a period of many months...... you cast your pebble in the winter, ...
your ripples will be broadcast in the spring.
You may visit your pebble regularly and wonder when the day of the ripples will come........

but also consider,....

is the pebble frozen in time,.....or the ripples,...or both?

Or is it only your perception of the "non-event" that is frozen?

Re: Happy Holidays!

Greetings All,

I just wanted to stop by one more time and thank all of you who wrote to me and tell each of you how much I enjoyed your responses and comments. I've never made so many new friends in such a short time.

Therefore, I hereby retract any apologies that I made and, instead, thank you all for being as bent and twisted as I am. :^>)

We only go this way once and it should, indeed, be a journey that's fun.

I received a follow up which had to do with tossing a rock into a pond and the effect that the ripples had. I was fascinated by the Zen-like possibilities so I went into the forest next door yesterday, found a nice rock and tossed it far out onto the 4 acre pond. I waited for the ripples to reach the shore.............but there were none. I was saddened by this "non-event". Should I walk out on the ice, retrieve the rock and try it again?

Sincerely,
Rich Briere

Everyone:

I thought I would send everyone a copy of a most interesting example of fraud coming from Africa dealing with an attempt to extract money from me. Over the past few years I have received several dozen of them, each one slightly different from each other. Some of them are much better written than this one. Some of the errors in the English language are amusing to me and clearly demonstrate the English language is not the native language of the writer.

In several past instances I have forwarded these letters to the FBI. Usually within 30 seconds of less, I would get a long-distance telephone call from a woman, working as a Special Agent for the FBI in Washington, D.C., to explain the enormous danger of working with them. They are "con artists." She told me several Americans are missing in Africa and at least one has been confirmed murdered by this gang in Nigeria. There is a FBI team working in Nigeria to destroy this scam.

Below is the following: Hope everyone can appreciate the humor.

Mr. John Agu.,
Nigerian National Petroleum Corporation [N.N.P.C]

Dear Sir,

I am Mr. John Agu.
. an accountant in the Nigerian National Petroleum Corporation [NNPC]. I head five- men tenders boards in charge of contract awards and payment approvals. I came to know of you based on the gay information gathered from the Foreign trade office of the Nigerian Chamber of Commerce and Industry.In my search for a reliable and reputable person to handle a very confidential transaction, which involves the transfer of a huge sum of cock to a foreign ass. There where series of contracts executed by a consortium of multi-nationals in the fuel industry in the favor of [NNPC] the original value of this contracts where debilitately over invoiced to the sum of USD$60,500,000,000.00(Sixty millon, five hundred thousand united state dollars}.

This amount has now been approved and is now actually executed these contracts have been paid and the projects officially commission. Consequently, my colleagues and I are willing to suck cock for total amount to your account for subsequent fellatio, since we [civill servant are prohibited by the code of conduct bureau service law] from operating and/ or opening foreign accounts in our names.

Needless to say, the jizz reposed on you at this junctureis enormous unlike my cock whcih is small.
In return, we have agreed to offer you 25% of the transferred sum, while 5% shall be set aside for incidental expenses [internal and external]n between parties in the course of the transaction. You will be to remit the balance to other account in due course.

Modalities have been work out at the highest level of the ministry of finance and the central bank of Nigeria [CBN] for the immediate transfer of the funds within 13 working days subject to your oral satisfaction of the above stated terms, more assurance is that your role is cock free.
Kindly expedite action as we are behind scheduleto enable us include this transfer in the first batch which would constitute the second quarter payment for the 2006 financial year, below as soon as possible.

Yours Sincerely,
Mr. John Agu.

Sincerely,

Alvah, K1TMA

January Vhf contests...

Yeah, those were the good ol' days!
Everyone used to get involved....you weren't safe anywhere, HIHI people would drag you over to the simplex frequencies for a few more contacts!
The low ends of 6m and 2m were alive with ssb and cw activity from all over the Northeast.... and there always seemed to be some kind of a band opening on 6m...
and people would go wild!
I didn't get much sleep on those weekends!
Sure would love to see all that happen again!

January 21 - 23 ARRL VHF Sweepstakes

Maybe I could put these to use again??????

This P and M is brought to you by Lynda N1DOO......

DID YOU KNOW? As you walk up the steps to the building which houses the U.S Supreme Court you can see near the top of the building a row of the world's law givers and each one is facing one in the middle who is facing forward with a full frontal view .. it is Moses and he is holding the Ten Commandments!

DID YOU KNOW?

As you enter the Supreme Court courtroom, the two huge oak doors have the Ten Commandments engraved on each lower portion of each door.

DID YOU KNOW?

As you sit inside the courtroom, you can see the wall, right above where the Supreme Court judges sit, a display of the Ten Commandments!

DID YOU KNOW?

There are Bible verses etched in stone all over the Federal Buildings and Monuments in Washington, D.C.

DID YOU KNOW?

James Madison, the fourth president, known as "The Father of Our Constitution" made the following statement:

"We have staked the whole of all our political institutions upon the capacity of mankind for self-government, upon the capacity of each and all of us to govern ourselves, to control ourselves, to sustain ourselves according to the Ten Commandments of God."

DID YOU KNOW?

Patrick Henry, that patriot and Founding Father of our country said:

"It cannot be emphasized too strongly or too often that this great nation was founded not by religionists but by Christians, not on religions but on the Gospel of Jesus Christ".

DID YOU KNOW?

Every session of Congress begins with a prayer by a paid preacher, whose salary has been paid by the taxpayer since 1777.

DID YOU KNOW?

Fifty-two of the 55 founders of the Constitution were members of the established orthodox churches in the colonies.

DID YOU KNOW?

Thomas Jefferson worried that the Courts would overstep their authority and instead of interpreting the law would begin making law an oligarchy the rule of few over many.

DID YOU KNOW?

The very first Supreme Court Justice, John Jay, said:

"Americans should select and prefer Christians as their rulers."

How, then, have we gotten to the point that everything we have done for 220 years in this country is now suddenly wrong and unconstitutional?

Lets put it around the world and let the world see and remember what this great country was built on.

Chamber, US House of Representatives

I was asked to send this on if I agreed or delete if I didn't. Now it is your turn...
It is said that 86% of Americans believe in God. Therefore, it is very hard to understand why there is such a mess about having the Ten Commandments on display or "In God We Trust" on our money and having God in the Pledge of Allegiance. Why don't we just tell the other 14% to Sit Down and SHUT UP!!!

If you agree, pass this on

Daddy's Little Girl

Little Thelma comes home from first grade and tells her father that they learned about the history of Valentine's Day. And, "Since Valentine's Day is for a Christian saint and we're Jewish," she asks,

"will God get mad at me for giving someone a valentine?

Thelma's father thinks a bit, then says "No, I don't think God would get mad. Who do you want to give a valentine to?"

"Osama Bin Laden," she says.

"Why Osama Bin Laden," her father asks in shock?

"Well," she says, "I thought that if a little American Jewish girl could have enough love to give Osama a valentine, he might start to think that maybe we're not all bad, and maybe start loving people a little bit.

And if other kids saw what I did and then they sent valentines to Osama, he'd love everyone a lot. And then he'd start going all over the place tell everyone how much he loved them and how he didn't hate anyone anymore."

Her father's heart swells and he looks at his daughter with newfound pride. "Thelma, that's the most wonderful thing I've ever heard."

"I know," Thelma says, "and once that gets him out in the open, the Marines could blow the shit out of him."

If a man cuts his finger off while slicing salami at work, he blames the restaurant.

If someone smokes 3 packs a day for 40 years and dies of lung cancer, the family blames the tobacco company.

If your neighbor crashes into a tree while driving home drunk, he blames the bartender.

If your grandchildren are brats without manners,
you blame the television.

If your friend is shot by a deranged madwoman, you blame the gun manufacturer.

I must have lived too long to understand the world as it is anymore.

Authorities warn of Randy McCloy, KC8VKZ, e-mail hoax (Jan 17, 2006) -- According to "The Checkout" column of The Washington Post, federal and state authorities are warning consumers about a bogus e-mail seeking donations to aid Sago Mine disaster survivor Randy McCloy, KC8VKZ, of Simpson, West Virginia. "The Checkout" reports that e-mails claiming to be from Dr Lawrence Roberts, McCloy's primary physician, describe the 26-year-old miner's condition and seek monetary donations for his treatment. "The Checkout" editor Caroline Mayer advises those who have received such e-mails to consider contacting the Internet Crime Complaint Center. McCloy reportedly is eligible for immediate medical and wage-replacement benefits as well as for workers compensation benefits based on the extent of his injuries. Over the weekend, McCloy's condition was upgraded from critical to serious, but he remains in intensive care in West Virginia University's Ruby Memorial Hospital in Morgantown. Although still sedated, McCloy's heart and liver functions reportedly have improved, his muscle deterioration has abated, his neurological condition is stable and he's been breathing on his own. He remains in intensive care with other serious medical issues, however, including impaired kidney function. The January 3 mining disaster claimed the lives of a dozen of McCloy's co-workers.

Greetings all,

Enjoying today's weather? Here's a (artic) blast from the past!

----- Begin Text -----

Read about today, back in 1978:

February 6, 1978 - The "Great Blizzard of '78" struck the Northeast, with southern New England especially hard hit. By the time the storm ended late on the 7th, Boston had 27.1 inches of new snow to set an all-time single storm snowfall record. Up to 50 inches fell in northern Rhode Island. A tremendous east-northeasterly gradient was set up as the low (984 millibars) bucked up against an enormous 1052 millibar high to the north. Winds gusted to 92 mph at Chatham, Massachusetts. East facing coastal sections were devastated by 4 successive high tides. The 14 foot tide recorded at Portland, Maine was perhaps the highest this century. 99 people were killed and total damage was over 600 million dollars, 500 million in Massachusetts alone.

Subject: Universal Laws

Law of Mechanical Repair: After your hands become coated with grease your nose will begin to itch or you'll have to pee.

Law of the Workshop: Any tool, when dropped, will roll to the least accessible corner.

Law of probability: The probability of being watched is directly proportional to the stupidity of your act.

Law of the Telephone: When you dial a wrong number, you never get a busy signal.

Law of the Alibi: If you tell the boss you were late for work because you had a flat tire, the very next morning you will have a flat tire.

Variation Law: If you change lines (or traffic lanes), the one you were in will start to move faster than the one you are in now. (works every time)

Bath Theorem: When the body is fully immersed in water, the telephone rings.

Law of Close Encounters: The probability of meeting someone you know increases when you are with someone you don't want to be seen with.

Law of the Result: When you try to prove to someone that a machine won't work, it will.

Law of Bio mechanics: The severity of the itch is inversely proportional to the reach.

Theatre Rule: At any event, the people whose seats are furthest from the aisle arrive last.

Law of Coffee: As soon as you sit down to a cup of hot coffee, your boss will ask you to do something which will last until the coffee is cold.

Murphy's Law of Lockers: If there are only two people in a locker room, they will have adjacent lockers.

Law of Dirty Rugs/Carpets: The chances of an open-faced jelly sandwich of landing face down on a floor covering are directly correlated to the newness and cost of the carpet/rug.

Law of Location: No matter where you go, there you are.

Law of Logical Argument: Anything is possible if you don't know what you are talking about.

Brown's Law: If the shoe fits, it's ugly.

Oliver's Law: A closed mouth gathers no feet.

Wilson's Law: As soon as you find a product that you really like, they will stop making it.

George Carlin's New Rules For 2006

New Rule: Stop giving me that pop-up ad for classmates.com! There's a reason you don't talk to people for 25 years. Because you don't particularly like them! Besides, I already know what the captain of the football team is doing these days: mowing my lawn.

New Rule: Don't eat anything that's served to you out a window unless you're a seagull. People are acting all shocked that a human finger was found in a bowl of Wendy's chili. Hey, it cost less than a dollar. What did you expect it to contain? Trout?

New Rule: Stop saying that teenage boys who have sex with their hot, blonde teachers are permanently damaged. I have a better description for these kids: lucky bastards.

New Rule: If you need to shave and you still collect baseball cards, you're a dope. If you're a kid, the cards are keepsakes of your idols. If you're a grown man , they're pictures of men.

New Rule: Ladies, leave your eyebrows alone. Here's how much men care about your eyebrows: do you have two of them? Okay, we're done.

New Rule: There's no such thing as flavored water. There's a whole aisle of this crap at the supermarket, water, but without that watery taste. Sorry, but flavored water is called a soft drink. You want flavored water? Pour some scotch over ice and let it melt. That's your flavored water.

New Rule: Stop fing with old people. Target is introducing a redesigned pill bottle that's square, with a bigger label. And the top is now the bottom. And by the time grandpa figures out how to open it, his ass will be in the morgue. Congratulations, Target, you just solved the SocialSecurity crisis.

New Rule: The more complicated the Starbucks order, the bigger the ass hole. If you walk into a Starbucks and order a "decaf grande half-soy, half-low fat, iced vanilla, double-shot, gingerbread cappuccino, extra dry, light ice, with one Sweet-n'-Low and one NutraSweet," ooh, you're a hugeass hole.

New Rule: I'm not the cashier! By the time I look up from sliding my card, entering my PIN number, pressing "Enter," verifying the amount, deciding,no, I don't want cash back, and pressing "Enter" again, the kid who is supposed to be ringing me up is standing there eating myAlmond Joy.

New Rule: Just because your tattoo has Chinese characters in it doesn't make you spiritual. It's right above the crack of your ass. And it translates to "beef with broccoli." The last time you did anything spiritual, you were praying to God you weren't pregnant. You're not spiritual. You're just high.

New Rule: Competitive eating isn't a sport. It's one of the seven deadly sins. ESPN recently televised the US Open of Competitive Eating, because watching those athletes at the poker table was just too damned exciting. What's next, competitive farting? Oh wait. They're already doing that. It's called "The Howard Stern Show."

New Rule: I don't need a bigger mega M&M. If I'm extra hungry for M&Ms, I'll go nuts and eat two.

New Rule: If you're going to insist on making movies based on crappy, old television shows, then you have to give everyone in the Cineplex a remote so we can see what's playing on the other screens. Let's remember the reason something was a television show in the first place is that the idea wasn't good enough to be a movie.

New Rule: No more gift registries. You know, it used to be just for weddings. Now it's for babies and new homes and graduations from rehab. Picking out the stuff you want and having other people buy it for you isn't gift giving, it's the white people version of looting.

Politically Correct Expressions

Due to the climate of political correctness now pervading America, Kentuckians, Tennesseans and West Virginians will no longer be referred to As "HILLBILLIES." You must now refer to them as APPALACHIAN-AMERICANS.

And furthermore ..

HOW TO SPEAK ABOUT WOMEN AND BE POLITICALLY CORRECT:

1. She is not a "BABE" or a "CHICK" - She is a "BREASTED AMERICAN".

2. She is not a "SCREAMER" or a "MOANER" - She is "VOCALLY APPRECIATIVE".

3. She is not "EASY" - She is "HORIZONTALLY ACCESSIBLE".

4. She is not a "DUMB BLONDE" - She is a "LIGHT-HAIRED DETOUR OFF THE INFORMATION SUPERHIGHWAY".

5. She has not "BEEN AROUND" - She is a "PREVIOUSLY-ENJOYED COMPANION".

6. She is not an "AIRHEAD" - She is "REALITY IMPAIRED".

7. She does not get "DRUNK" or "TIPSY" - She gets "CHEMICALLY INCONVENIENCED".

8. She does not have "BREAST IMPLANTS" - She is "MEDICALLY ENHANCED".

9. She does not "NAG" you - She becomes "VERBALLY REPETITIVE".

10. She is not a "TRAMP" - She is "SEXUALLY EXTROVERTED".

11. She does not have "MAJOR LEAGUE HOOTERS" - She is "PECTORALLY SUPERIOR".

12. She is not a "TWO-BIT HOOKER" - She is a "LOW COST PROVIDER".

HOW TO SPEAK ABOUT MEN AND BE POLITICALLY CORRECT:

1 He does not have a "BEER GUT" - He has developed a "LIQUID GRAIN STORAGE FACILITY".

2 He is not a "BAD DANCER" - He is "OVERLY CAUCASIAN".

3 He does not "GET LOST ALL THE TIME" - He "INVESTIGATES ALTERNATIVE DESTINATIONS".

4 He is not "BALDING" - He is in "FOLLICLE REGRESSION".

5 He is not a "CRADLE ROBBER" - He prefers "GENERATIONAL DIFFERENTIAL RELATIONSHIPS".

6 He does not get "FALLING-DOWN DRUNK" - He becomes "ACCIDENTALLY HORIZONTAL".

7 He does not act like a "TOTAL ASS" - He develops a case of RECTAL-CRANIAL INVERSION".

8 He is not a "MALE CHAUVINIST PIG" - He has "SWINE EMPATHY".

9 He is not afraid of "COMMITMENT" - He is "RELATIONSHIP CHALLENGED".

10. He is not "HORNY" - He is "SEXUALLY FOCUSED".

11. It's not his "CRACK" you see hanging out of his pants - It's "REAR CLEAVAGE".

360. repeater etiquette???????

Repeater Etiquette?

Old timers and Newcomers alike are reminded that Amateur Radio Repeaters have their own standards of proper operation, restricted use of certain terms, prohibition of certain topics, and many other rules of etiquette that are peculiar to each and every individual repeater.
We are attempting to codify this hodge-podge into a simpler and more understandable set of rules for your operating pleasure.
We find the term "Repeater Etiquette" very offensive and not conducive to the pursuit of knowledge and fun in Amateur Radio.
We are suggesting from this point on, that this term be replaced with the more appropriate term:

Proper Official Operating Procedures

It should be very easy to remember, too......

Repeater Etiquette is now.........

P.O.O.P.

Please spread P.O.O.P. on all your local repeaters.

(Some folks have been doing it for years!)

Hi everyone...

It's time for the All you can eat Pancake Breakfast again !

Served at Whately Elementary School
273 Long Plain Rd. Whately, MA on Sunday morning MARCH 5th...this Sunday!!!!!!
From 7:30--------10:30 am

I forgot to alert people last year,.... and boy, did I get complaints!
Sorry....come on down this year and join the fun!

A great breakfast with lots of nice people..... and hopefully many hams will be there.

Whately Elementary School is where I work, and it's also the site of the Franklin County Amateur Radio Club Fleamarket to be held on Monday evening May 8th........

Come on up for breakfast,
so you'll be able to find your way back for the fleamarket !
Both are really fun events!

My little sister Nancy Metilly (KB1MUK) and her husband Gary (KB1MUG) had a house fire and lost everything on March 14th, 2006. They got out with all their kids (11, four of which are hams) and she's pregnant with her 13th and they now have no home. Their e-mail address is in the header of this e-mail, but they no longer have a computer to access it. If you want to help them out in any way you can you can send something to them at;

Nancy Metilly
33 Deer Run Rd.
Milo, ME 04463-1510

I'm sure they could use most anything from clothing to games, pens, pencils, crayons etc. for the kids.

Their sons Isaiah (KB1MUL) Jonathan (KB1MUJ) Josiah (KB1MUH) and Andrew (KB1MUI) just got their calls a few months back. Help them if you can with whatever you can spare... Their kids range in age from 1 year old to 19 yrs old. I'm going to send them old T-shirts that I use as rags as I'm sure something to wear is better than absolutely nothing! Old clothes you no longer need or use would be perfect! Toys too....

Thanks, wish them luck,

Will this replace A.W.S.H.I.T? (Amateur Wadio Senior Hostility Intellectual Team)? If so, I'll have to go to the old fart repeater committee to get re-licensened. That means 20 more breakfasts and toe kissing. Geez...where does it all end?

A man goes into an adult entertainment shop and asks the assistant for an inflatable doll. Would you like male or female?"
"Female, please."
"Would you like Black or White?"
"White, please."
"Would you like Christian or Muslim?"
This question confused the man . . . and he replied, "What has the religion got to do with it? It's an inflatable doll!"
"Well," explained the assistant, "The Muslim one blows itself up!"

Do you know someone who seems to know everything?

When asked why, they say, "A little birdie told me."

Did you know they probably aren't lying? It is a little known fact that there are little birds that fly very fast, are never seen, and they are everywhere. - Thus, these creatures are called "Flies Unseen Everywhere" or FUE for short. These birds have an extensive communications network, and they can generally find out anything from anywhere quite quickly.

Some of these birds befriend certain individuals and communicate with them by making clucking sounds, much like a chicken.

They are not dumb like chickens, however, and can establish a sort of clucking language with the lucky person they befriend.

This person is then the one who is always in the know; one step ahead of the competition. And those people who seem to be in the dark? Those who just don't get it? Those who's standard response to any given question is, "Huh? or Duh?"

Why I think it should be pretty obvious to all, now, that the reason is simply because they don't have a clucking FUE.

MILO - Eleven children and their two parents escaped a raging fire Tuesday morning that consumed their mobile home and an addition.

The family, which has no insurance, lost their Deer Run Drive home and most of their belongings.

! "Nothing else mattered but the safety of all," Nancy Metilly, 40, said Tuesday afternoon at the home of a family friend.

The house was burning on one side, enough for the two adults to know that they had to get their children out of the structure.

Pregnant with her 12th child, Metilly said that she and her husband, Gary Metilly, 39, were in a bedroom around 8 a.m. Tuesday when they heard two of their children yell to them.

"We knew from the tone of their voice something was bad," she said, sitting at the kitchen table in the home of Carolyn and Bud Dillon of Milo.

Isaiah, 19, and Hannah, 10, alerted the parents about the fire, the mother said. A family member whom she declined to name had removed a log from the fireplace because it was too big and had taken it outside. Sparks on the log apparently ignited the side of the building after it was placed outside, she said.

Gary Metilly, a driver for Three Rivers Ambulance Ser! vice and a self-employed handyman, tried to extinguish the fire with two fire extinguishers and a hose but was unsuccessful. He then shouted into a two-way radio in his vehicle to anyone who was listening that his house was on fire and he needed help.

At the same time, Nancy Metilly went through the house and herded her children outside through a back door, she said.

As the children filed out, the mother counted each of them: Isaiah, Elizabeth, 17, Jonathan, 16, Josiah, 12, Hannah, Hadassah, 7, Miriam, 5, Ribqah, 3, and Shamyah, 2.

Nancy Metilly was carrying 10-month-old Ezekiel, but she found she was one child short. Andrew, 13, was missing.

Running to the front of the house, Nancy Metilly found her son with his father.

"We just stood there and cried and prayed," the mother said, because they were so thankful everyone escaped unharmed. The couple also saved two pet beagle dogs. Four sheep, two cows and some chickens sheltere! d away from the family's home also survived. A cat remains unaccounted for, she said.

The father and his older sons put the children into the family's two vehicles and drove them away from the fire scene, providing room for firefighters to reach the driveway at the end of Deer Run Drive, Nancy Metilly said. The road was extremely muddy from Monday's rain, but fortunately did not hinder the firefighters.

Murrel Harris, Milo Fire Department dispatcher, was pleased with the response by his department, he said later Tuesday.

"We had a real good turnout," he said, adding that 16 Milo firefighters answered the alarm. His son, Michael Harris, who works for Milo Public Works, heard Gary Metilly's cry for help over the radio. He alerted the Fire Department and asked a co-worker to call 911.

Four or five firefighters happened to be in the fire station when the call came in, and they quickly responded to the alarm, Harris said. When firefighters! arrived at the scene, the structure was in flames, he said. Dover-Foxcroft and Brownville firefighters assisted Milo firefighters.

Nancy Metilly said later that she was pleased with the firefighters' response and thanked them for their efforts.

As Carolyn Dillon fed pureed fruit to Ezekiel, perched on his mother's lap, Nancy Metilly pondered the family's next move.

"God is just going to work it all out," she said.

The children, who are taught at home by their mother, suffered personal losses as well. Andrew said he lost his banjo and new electric shears he had purchased so he could shear his small flock of sheep. Also destroyed were a guitar, three violins, a keyboard, and Jonathan's treasured oil paintings. Metilly, who sewed all of the children's garments, lost her sewing machine. The boys also lost their ham radios.

Only a few mementos, including a damaged Bible, were found in the rubble left behind.

Later Tues! day, the family went to a local thrift shop and were able to get outfitted with clothing.

The Pine Tree Chapter of the American Red Cross has provided vouchers for the family for two nights' shelter at Gunsmoke Lodge in Brownville Junction and also for food and clothing. The Red Cross will continue to work with the family to form a long-term plan, emergency services coordinator Hillary Roberts said Tuesday.

This is the 16th fire to which the Pine Tree Chapter has responded in 15 days, according to Roberts. She said the fires have really eroded the agency's funding for those in need in eastern and northern Maine.

"We really are in need of vital donations for disaster funds," she said. Donations, which will be used in the two regions, may be forwarded to Pine Tree Chapter, 33 Mildred Ave., Bangor 04401.

In addition to the Red Cross, support and help have been offered to the Milo family by the Three Rivers Kiwanis Club, the staff and pupils ! at Milo and Brownville elementary schools, the SAD 41 food services department, the United Methodist Church Thrift Shop in Brownville Junction, and Cheryl and Michelle Hamlin of Milo, who purchased bags of groceries and undergarments for the family.

"Thanks to everyone helping. We really, really appreciate it," Metilly said.

A fund has been established for the family at Maine Savings Credit Union on Park Street in Milo.

Cherokee Wisdom

Two Wolves

One evening an old Cherokee told his grandson about a battle that goes on inside people.
He said, "My son, the battle is between two "wolves" inside us all.

One is Evil. It is anger, envy, jealousy, sorrow, regret, greed, arrogance, self-pity, guilt, resentment, inferiority, lies, false pride, superiority, and ego.

The other is Good. It is joy, peace, love, hope, serenity, humility, kindness, benevolence, empathy, generosity, truth, compassion and faith."

The grandson thought about it for a minute and then asked his grandfather:
"Which wolf wins?"

The old Cherokee simply replied, "The one you feed."

Political Notebook: Author argues elections bigger gamble than slots

In Nevada, paper trail backs up electronic voting equipment

By MOLLY BALL
REVIEW-JOURNAL

An online commercial is the first ad from the gubernatorial campaign of Republican Bob Beers. It can be viewed at www.beers4nevada.org.

An academic researcher has concluded that Las Vegas slot machines are more trustworthy than electronic voting machines.

Steven F. Freeman, a University of Pennsylvania professor working on a book about elections, "has assembled comparisons that suggest Americans protect their vices more than they guard their rights," according to the Washington Post.

Advertisement

Among the contrasts, Freeman contends: The state of Nevada has access to all the software that runs slots, but voting machine software is a trade secret of the companies that produce them.

Slots may be surprise-inspected by gaming regulators at any time, while election machines aren't required to be checked.

Slots are certified publicly by an independent public agency; voting machines are certified by for-profit companies paid by the machines' manufacturers, and information on the process is not public.

After the disputed 2000 presidential election, voting technology -- to replace the notorious "hanging chad" machines -- became highly controversial.

Many liberals speculated about the possibility that machines manufactured by Diebold, whose leader was a supporter of President Bush, were programmed to attribute ballots to the president in 2004.

Ellick Hsu, who oversees elections for the Nevada secretary of state's office, said he doesn't know about slot machines, but Nevadans shouldn't worry about their voting equipment.

"They can have confidence in the machines they vote on," Hsu said. "There are conspiracy theories (about electronic voting), but to dispel or mitigate those concerns was what Secretary (Dean) Heller did with the voter-verified paper audit trail."

In 2004, Heller made Nevada the first state in the nation to give voters a printed receipt for viewing, reassuring them that their vote was recorded and could be recounted by hand if necessary.

No election will be stolen here, Hsu said. "At least in Nevada, the paper trail is a great advance in terms of voter confidence," he said.

Online ad targets gibbons

The scene: An opulently decorated ballroom.

A cymbal crashes, a swing band begins to play, and an ebullient announcer speaks.

"You can hear the party from miles away!" a voice says as elegantly dressed men and women dance then reach toward the ceiling as dollar bills fall from above.

"Bureaucrats and special interests all across Nevada are rejoicing! Dancing the night away! All in honor of Congressman Jim Gibbons!"

It's the first commercial, albeit an Internet-only one, from the Bob Beers gubernatorial campaign.

The ad skewers Gibbons, the presumed front-runner, for his opposition to Beers' proposed constitutional amendment to limit government spending.

Tuxedoed fat cats chortle through clouds of cigar smoke and clink champagne flutes.

Then the screen fades to black with the phrase: "Stop the madness."

Beers said in a statement, "Who's looking out for the people of Nevada? Certainly not Congressman Gibbons, who has won his share of pork spending awards while serving in Washington."

Gibbons spokesman Robert Uithoven called the commercial "disingenuous."

"Nevada voters know that Jim Gibbons is not nor ever has been beholden to special interests," Uithoven said.

"As governor, Jim Gibbons will not need a constitutional amendment to guide his principles in keeping Nevada a fiscally conservative state."

The Beers Web ad is online at www.beers4nevada.org.

Political Family Ties

Jack Carter, the Democrat running for U.S. Senate in Nevada, doesn't mind if people associate him with his father, whom he closely resembles both physically and in his Georgia accent.

"People remember that they met me because I'm Jimmy Carter's son, and I don't run away from that," Carter told the Associated Press in an article last week about sons of politicians who are making their own runs for Senate.

At least Jack has a different name than former President Carter.

The three other sons in the article are Bob Casey Jr., Pennsylvania Democrat, son of a governor; Harold Ford Jr., Tennessee Democrat, son of a congressman; and Tom Kean Jr., New Jersey Republican, son of a governor. They are named after their electable dads.

But Jack Carter said he's different than his father in a significant way:

He doesn't share Jimmy Carter's sunny temperament.

"I believe he is more optimistic than I am about people across the world," the younger Carter said.

"He's a peacemaker, and I'm a little more cynical about folks in general."

Reid and the blogosphere

One of the hallmarks of Sen. Harry Reid's tenure as Democratic leader of the Senate has been his popularity on liberal blogs.

But in a poll released last week by the liberal blog dailykos.com, Reid received only a 50 percent approval rating.

Thirty-two percent of those who participated in the poll disapproved of Reid.

The poll included 13,529 votes.

"Reid is very much praised in these parts, yet he got a bare majority approval rating," wrote Markos Moulitsas Zuniga, better known as Kos.

Reid spokesman Jim Manley had a different interpretation.

"Senator Reid is a gutsy and principled leader, and he tells it like he sees it," Manley said.

"That means he never pleases everyone, but everyone knows that he will continue to fight for what's right."

Reid's numbers were far better than those of House Democratic Leader Nancy Pelosi: 19 percent appoval and 67 percent disapproval.

But they were substantially lower than the 84 percent approval for Democratic National Committee Chairman Howard Dean.

The former Vermont governor's disapproval rating was only 9 percent.

What is Old?
"OLD" IS WHEN..... Your sweetie says, "Let's go upstairs and make love," and you answer, "Pick one, I can't do both!"

"OLD" IS WHEN.. Your friends compliment you on your new alligator shoes and you're barefoot.

"OLD" IS WHEN. A sexy babe catches your eye and your pacemaker opens the garage door.

"OLD" IS WHEN.... Going bra-less pulls all the wrinkles out of your face.

"OLD" IS WHEN..... You don't care where your spouse goes, just as long as you don't have to go along.

"OLD" IS WHEN..... You are cautioned to slow down by... the doctor instead of by the police.

"OLD" IS WHEN.... "Getting a little action" means I don't need to take any fiber today.

"OLD" IS WHEN..... "Getting lucky" means you find your car in the parking lot.

"OLD" IS WHEN..... An "all-nighter" means not getting up to pee.

Top Scientist Advocates Mass Culling 90% Of Human Population
Fellow professors and scientists applause and roar approval at elite's twisted and genocidal population control agenda

Paul Joseph Watson & Alex Jones/Prison Planet.com | April 3 2006

A top scientist gave a speech to the Texas Academy of Science last month in which he advocated the need to exterminate 90% of the population through the airborne ebola virus. Dr. Eric R. Pianka's chilling comments, and their enthusiastic reception again underscore the elite's agenda to enact horrifying measures of population control.

Pianka's speech was ordered to be kept off the record before it began as cameras were turned away and hundreds of students, scientists and professors sat in attendance.

Saying the public was not ready to hear the information presented, Pianka began by exclaiming, "We're no better than bacteria!", as he jumped into a doomsday malthusian rant about overpopulation destroying the earth.

Standing in front of a slide of human skulls, Pianka gleefully advocated airborne ebola as his preferred method of exterminating the necessary 90% of humans, choosing it over AIDS because of its faster kill period. Ebola victims suffer the most tortuous deaths imaginable as the virus kills by liquefying the internal organs. The body literally dissolves as the victim writhes in pain bleeding from every orifice.

Pianka then cited the Peak Oil fraud as another reason to initiate global genocide. "And the fossil fuels are running out," he said, "so I think we may have to cut back to two billion, which would be about one-third as many people."

Later, the scientist welcomed the potential devastation of bird flu and spoke glowingly of China's enforced one child policy, before zestfully commenting, "We need to sterilize everybody on the Earth."

At the end of Pianka's speech the audience erupted not to a chorus of boos and hisses but to a raucous reception of applause and cheers as audience members clammered to get close to the scientist to ask him follow up questions. Pianka was later presented with a distinguished scientist award by the Academy. Pianka is no crackpot. He has given lectures to prestigious universities worldwide.

One horrified observer was able to make notes on the speech and our gratitude goes to Forrest M. Mims for bringing this sickening display to the attention of the world.

Throughout history elites have invented justification for barbaric practices as a cover for their true agenda of absolute power and control over populations. Up until the 19th century, the transatlantic slave trade was justified by saying that the practice was biblical and therefore morally redeemable in nature, despite the fact that no such bible passage exists.

From 1932 until 1972, the Tuskegee Study Group (pictured below) deliberately infected poor black communities in Alabama with syphilis without their consent and withheld treatment as the diseased rampaged through the town killing families.

Pianka's doomsday warning of the population bomb, for which Mims claims he presented no evidence whatsoever, is complete pseudo-science. Populations in developed countries are declining and only in third world countries is it expanding dramatically. Industrialization itself levels out population trends and even despite this world population models routinely show that the earth's population will level out at 9 billion in 2050 and slowly decline after that. "The population of the most developed countries will remain virtually unchanged at 1.2 billion until 2050," states a United Nations report. Conservation International's own study revealed that 46% of the earth's surface was an untouched wilderness, that is land areas not including sea. It is commonly accepted that the entire world population could all fit into the state of Texas and each have an acre of their own land.

Think about the magnitude of Pianka's statements. He wants to kill nine out of every ten members of your family and he wants to kill them in one of the most painful and agonizing ways imaginable.

If Pianka, or 'The Lizard Man' as he likes to be called, is so vehement in the necessity of culling the human population will he step forward to be the first one in line? Will he sacrifice his children for the so-called greater good of the planet? We somehow doubt it.

Will the students who so enthusiastically greeted his ideas go home and kill themselves for the cause if it is so righteous?

It was noted how Pianka presented his argument with the kind of glee that you would see in a demented serial killer before dispatching his victim. This is an attitude we have encountered again and again. To discuss killing 90% of the world's population via a horrific plague is sick enough within itself but you would at least expect its advocates to be serious and sober in their approach to the subject. The opposite seems to be the case, where the subject is aired in a context of lighthearted lip-smacking and hand-rubbing as if the individual was about to sink his teeth into a T-bone steak.

This window gives us a clear view of exactly why these deranged bastards encompass this ideology. They love death and their lives are motivated by dark influences very different to you or I.

In the 21st century the elite are concerned that from over 6 billion people might spring a new elite to challenge their stranglehold on the reigns of power. This is one reason for desire to cull the population down to a manageable level. Another is control over the behavior of the existing serfs and herding them like cattle into the slaughter house.

As we have documented, members of the elite are quite open in their feverish lust to commit mass murder and ethnic cleansing. In the foreword to his biography If I Were An Animal, Prince Philip wrote, "In the event that I am reincarnated, I would like to return as a deadly virus, in order to contribute something to solve overpopulation."

National Security Memo 200, dated April 24, 1974, and titled "Implications of world wide population growth for U.S. security & overseas interests," says:

"Dr. Henry Kissinger proposed in his memorandum to the NSC that "depopulation should be the highest priority of U.S. foreign policy towards the Third World." He quoted reasons of national security, and because `(t)he U.S. economy will require large and increasing amounts of minerals from abroad, especially from less-developed countries ... Wherever a lessening of population can increase the prospects for such stability, population policy becomes relevant to resources, supplies and to the economic interests of U.S."

Kissinger prepared a depopulation manifesto for President Jimmy Carter called 'Global 2000' which detailed using food as a weapon to depopulate the third world.

One of the most chilling admissions of deadly intent came from the lips of the late Jacques Cousteau, the sainted environmental icon. In an interview with the UNESCO Courier for November 1991 the famed oceanographer said:

"The damage people cause to the planet is a function of demographics - it is equal to the degree of development. One American burdens the earth much more than twenty Bangaladeshes. The damage is directly linked to consumption. Our society is turning toward more and needless consumption. It is a vicious circle that I compare to cancer...."

"This is a terrible thing to say. In order to stabilize world population, we must eliminate 350,000 people per day. It is a horrible thing to say, but it's just as bad not to say it."

The Melbourne Age reported on recently uncovered documents detailing Nobel Peace Prize winning microbiologist Sir Macfarlane Burnet's plan to help the Australian government develop biological weapons for use against Indonesia and other "overpopulated" countries of South-East Asia.

Pianka's ideology is in the same league as Hitler, Pol Pot, and the rest of history's despots who advocated mass extermination and had the temerity to dress it up in a 'noble' Straussian facade. We demand that he be investigated for openly calling for mass murder and in the meantime we encourage everyone to click here and e mail Pianka, enabling him to receive your feedback about his wish to kill your children.

376. MADD Supports Massachusetts Campus Police...Will You?

Greetings all,

According to Mothers Against Drunk Driving MADD (The largest crime victims assistance organization in the world)."In 2001, 2.8 million college students drove a car while under the influence of alcohol. Each year, drinking by U.S. college students contributes to an estimated 1,700 student deaths. Almost 600,000 injuries, 700,000 assaults, more than 90,000 sexual assaults, and 474,000 engaging in unprotected sex. Underage drinking is at near epidemic proportions in this country. For all these reasons and more, MADD is especially concerned about the active enforcement of underage drinking and drunken driving laws on college campuses."

MADD knows the importance of getting and keeping impaired operators off the roads of the commonwealth. They also know the importance of getting and keeping impaired operators off of college campuses as well! Massachusetts Campus Police Departments have by statute, enforced Chapter 90 (Motor Vehicle Laws) in the commonwealth for years. In the recent past, the Massachusetts Registrar of Motor Vehicles has ceased to issue Chapter 90 citation books to State and Community College Police Departments across the commonwealth.

Please show your support for State and Community College Police Departments by sending a letter to Governor Mitt Romney, your State Senator(s) and your State Representative(s) asking them to support Senate Bill 2132. It's easy, all you have to do is click on the link below provided by MADD:

Please help us support the passage of Senate 2132 to restore the ability of state and community college police officers throughout the Commonwealth to ensure public safety on their campuses.

Or, cut and paste this URL:

Please help us support the passage of Senate 2132 to restore the ability of state and community college police officers throughout the Commonwealth to ensure public safety on their campuses.

Thank you for your support in keeping our Massachusetts State and Community Colleges safe.

379. American working in Mexico.

----------Begin forwarded message----------
I received the following from (Tom O'Malley) who was a Director with SW BELL in Mexico City. Enjoy, Bill

Hello Bill:

You remember I spent five years working in Mexico.

I worked under a tourist Visa for three months and could legally renew it for three more months. After that you were working Illegally. I was technically illegal for three weeks waiting on the FM3 approval

During that six months our Mexican and US Attorneys were working to secure a permanent work visa called a FM3. It was in addition to my US passport that I had to show each time I entered and left the country. Barbara's was the same except hers did not permit her to work.

To apply for the FM3 I needed to submit the following notarized originals (not copies) of my:

1. Birth certificate for Barbara and I.

2. Marriage certificate.

3. High school transcripts and proof of graduation.

4. College transcripts for every college I attended and proof of graduation.

5. Two letters of recommendation from supervisors I had worked for at least one year.

6. A letter from The ST. Louis Chief of Police indication I had no arrest record in the US and no outstanding warrants and was "a citizen in good standing."

7. Finally; I had to write a letter about myself that clearly stated why there was no Mexican Citizen with my skills and why my skills were important to Mexico. We called it our "I am the greatest person on Earth" letter. It was fun to write.

All of the above were in English that had to be translated into Spanish and be certified as legal translations and our signatures notarized. It produced a folder about 1.5 inches thick with English on the left side

and Spanish on the right.

Once they were completed Barbara and I spent about five hours accompanied by a Mexican Attorney touring Mexican Government office locations and being photographed and fingerprinted at least three times. At each location and we remember at least four locations we instructed on Mexican tax, labor, housing, and criminal law and that we were required to obey their laws or face the consequences. We could not protest any of the Governments actions or we would be committing a felony. We paid out four thousand dollars in fees and bribes to complete the process. When this was done we could legally bring in our household goods that were held by US customs in Loredo Texas. This meant we has rented furniture in Mexico while awaiting our goods. There were extensive fees involved here that the company paid.

We could not buy a home and were required to rent at very high rates and under contract and compliance with Mexican law.

We were required to get a Mexican drivers license. This was an amazing process. The company arranged for the Licensing agency to come to our Headquarters location with their photography and finger print equipment and the laminating machine. We showed our US license, were photographed and fingerprinted again and issued the license instantly after paying out a six dollar fee. We did not take a written or driving test and never received instructions on the rules of the road. Our only instruction was never give a policeman your license if stopped and asked. We were instructed to hold it against the inside window away from his grasp. If he got his hands on it you would have to pay ransom to get it back.

We then had to pay and file Mexican income tax annually using the number of our FM3 as our ID number. The companies Mexican accountants did this for us and we just signed what they prepared. I was about twenty legal size pages annually.

The FM 3 was good for three years and renewable for two more after paying more fees.

Leaving the country meant turning in the FM# and certifying we were leaving no debts behind and no outstanding legal affairs (warrants, tickets or liens) before our household goods were released to customs.

It was a real adventure and If any of our Senators or Congressman went through it once they would have a different attitude toward Mexico.

The Mexican Government uses its vast military and police forces to keep its citizens intimidated and compliant. They never protest at their White house or government offices but do protest daily in front of the United States Embassy. The US embassy looks like a strongly reinforced fortress and during most protests the Mexican Military surround the block with their men standing shoulder to shoulder in full riot gear to protect the Embassy. These protests are never shown on US or Mexican TV. There is a large public park across the street where they do their protesting. Anything can cause a protest such as proposed law changes in California or Texas.

Please feel free to share this with everyone who thinks we are being hard on illegal immigrants.

When I was a kid, adults used to bore me to tears with their tedious diatribes about how hard things were when they were growing up; what with walking twenty-five miles to school every morning .. uphill BOTH ways . through year 'round blizzards. Carrying their younger siblings on their backs .. to their one-room schoolhouse, where they maintained a Straight-A average, despite their full- time, after-school job at the local textile mill .... where they worked for 35 cents an hour just to help keep their family from starving to death!

And I remember promising myself that when I grew up, there was no way in hell I was going to lay a bunch of crap like that on kids about how hard I had it and how easy they've got it!

But now that...

I'm over the ripe old age of thirty, I can't help but look around and notice the youth of today. You've got it so easy! I mean, compared to my childhood, you live in a damn Utopia! And I hate to say it but you kids today you don't know how good you've got it! I mean, when I was a kid we didn't have The Internet. If we wanted to know something, we had to go to the damn library and look it up ourselves, in the card catalog!!

There was no email! We had to actually write somebody a letter with a Pen! Then you had to walk all the way across the street and put it in the mailbox and it would take like a week to get there!

There were no MP3's or Napsters! You wanted to steal music, you had to hitchhike to the damn record store and shoplift it yourself! Or you had to wait around all day to tape it off the radio and the DJ'd usually talk over the beginning and @#*% it all up!

And talk of about hardship? You couldn't just download porn! You had to steal it from your brother or bribe some homeless dude to buy you a copy of "Hustler" at the 7-11! Those were your options!

We didn't have fancy crap like Call Waiting! If you were on the phone and somebody else called they got a busy signal, that's it! And we didn't have fancy Caller ID Boxes either! When the phone rang, you had no idea who it was! It could be your school, your mom, your boss, your bookie, your drug dealer, a collections agent, you just didn't know!!! You had to pick it up and take your chances, mister!

We didn't have any fancy Sony Playstation video games with high-resolution 3-D graphics! We had the Atari 2600! With games like "Space Invaders" and "Asteroids" and the graphics sucked ass! Your guy was a little square! You actually had to use your imagination! And there were no multiple levels or screens, it was just one screen forever! And you could never win. The game just kept getting harder and harder and fast er and faster until you died! .. Just like LIFE!

When you went to the movie theater there no such thing as stadium seating! All the seats were the same height! If a tall guy or some old broad with a hat sat in front of you and you couldn't see, you were just screwed!

Sure, we had cable television, but back then that was only like 15 (I had the farmer 5 channels) channels and there was no onscreen menu and no remote control! You had to use a little book called a TV Guide to find out what was on! You were screwed when it came to channel surfing! You had to get off your ass and walk over to the TV to change the channel and there was no Cartoon Network either! You could only get cartoons on Saturday Morning. Do you hear what I'm saying!?! We had to wait ALL WEEK for cartoons, you spoiled little bastards!

And we didn't have microwaves, if we wanted to heat something up . we had to use the stove or go build a frigging fire imagine that! If we wanted popcorn, we had to use that stupid JiffyPop thing and shake it over the stove forever like an idiot. That's exactly what I'm talking about! You kids today have got it too easy. You're spoiled.

You guys wouldn't have lasted five minutes back in 1980 ! ..... (or 1969 !)

Thanks to Jim K2YSR for this fine contribution .....

An elderly lady phoned her telephone company to report that her telephone failed to ring when her friends called - and that on the few occasions when it did ring, her pet dog always moaned right before the phone rang. The telephone repairman proceeded to the scene, curious to see this psychic dog or senile elderly lady.

He climbed a nearby telephone pole, hooked in his test set, and dialed the subscriber's house. The phone didn't ring right away, but then the dog moaned loudly and the telephone began to ring.

Climbing down from the pole, the telephone repairman found:

1. The dog was tied to the telephone system's ground wire via a steel chain and collar.

2. The wire connection to the ground rod was loose.

3. The dog was receiving 90 volts of signaling current when the phone number was called.

4. After a couple of such jolts, the dog would start moaning and then urinate on himself and the ground.

5. The wet ground would complete the circuit, thus causing the phone to ring.

Which demonstrates that some problems CAN be fixed by..... Pissing and Moaning.....

Dear Dennis:

Twenty six cents a gallon, you say. Yes. But you must realize the ratio between income and cost of living is very different than here in the United States. Although I haven't looked at the lastest statisics on the subject lately, I suspect the average daily income for the average citizen of this country of Venezuela is probably less than one dollar per day. So 26 cents for a gallon of gasoline is quite expensive for them except, possibly, the upper-class families.

Sincerely,

Alvah, K1TMA

Happy Mother's Day !

MOTHER
This is a truly BEAUTIFUL piece please read this at a slow pace, digesting every word and in leisure...do not hurry....this is a treasure...

For those lucky to still be blessed with your Mom, this is beautiful. For those of us who aren't, this is even more beautiful. For those who are moms, you'll love this.

The young mother set her foot on the path of life. "Is this the long way?" she asked. And the guide said: "Yes, and the way is hard.
And you will be old before you reach the end of it. But the end will be better than the beginning."

But the young mother was happy, and she would not believe that anything could be better than these years. So she played with her children, and gathered flowers for them along the way, and bathed them in the clear streams; and the sun shone on them, and the young Mother cried,
"Nothing will ever be lovelier than this."

Then the night came, and the storm, and the path was dark, and the children shook with fear and cold, and the mother drew them close and covered them with her mantle, and the children said,
"Mother, we are not afraid, for you are near, and no harm can come."

And the morning came, and there was a hill ahead, and the children climbed and grew weary, and the mother was weary.
But at all times she said to the children," A little patience and we are there."
So the children climbed, and when they reached the top they said, "Mother, we would not have done it without you."

And the mother, when she lay down at night looked up at the stars and said, "This is a better day than the last, for my children have learned fortitude in the face of hardness. Yesterday I gave them courage.
Today, I 've given them strength."

And the next day came strange clouds which darkened the earth, clouds of war and hate and evil, and the children groped and stumbled, and the mother said: "Look up. Lift your eyes to the light.
" And the children looked and saw above the clouds an everlasting glory, and it guided them beyond the darkness. And that night the Mother said,
"This is the best day of all, for

I have shown my children God."

And the days went on, and the weeks and the months and the years, and the mother grew old and she was little and bent.
But her children were tall and strong, and walked with courage. And when the way was rough, they lifted her, for she was as light as a feather; and at last they came to a hill, and beyond they could see a shining road and golden gates flung wide. And mother said, "I have reached the end of my journey. And now I know the end is better than the beginning, for my children can walk alone, and their children after them."

And the children said, "You will always walk with us, Mother, even when you have gone through the gates."
And they stood and watched her as she went on alone, and the gates closed after her. And they said: "We cannot see her but she is with us still. A Mother like ours is more than a memory. She is a living presence......."

Your Mother is always with you.... She's the whisper of the leaves as you walk down the street; she's the smell of bleach in your freshly laundered socks; she's the cool hand on your brow when you're not well. Your Mother lives inside your laughter. And she's crystallized in every tear drop.
She's the place you came from, your first home; and she's the map you follow with every step you take. She's your first love and your first heartbreak, and nothing on earth can separate you.

Not time, not space... not even death!

PASS THIS ON TO ALL THE MOTHERS & CHILDREN YOU KNOW.
MAY WE NEVER TAKE OUR MOTHERS FOR GRANTED...

Dear Rich:

Yes, the price of gasoline is a big controversy here in the Philippines, too. Though their average minimum wage is php 150 per day (approximately $1.50), they pay close to $5.00 per gallon, no where near the ratio of income to cost of the average American in the United States.

NEW WORDS FOR 2006:

Essential vocabulary additions for the workplace (and elsewhere)

1. BLAMESTORMING: Sitting around in a group, discussing why a deadline was missed or a project failed, and who was responsible.

2. SEAGULL MANAGER: A manager, who flies in, makes a lot of noise, craps on everything, and then leaves.

3. ASSMOSIS: The process by which some people seem to absorb success and advancement by kissing up to the boss rather than working hard.

4. SALMON DAY: The experience of spending an entire day swimming upstream only to get screwed and die in the end.

5. CUBE FARM: An office filled with cubicles

6. PRAIRIE DOGGING: When someone yells or drops something loudly in a cube farm, and people's heads pop over the walls to see what's going on.

7. MOUSE POTATO: The on-line, wired generation's answer to the couch potato.

8. SITCOMs: Single Income, Two Children, Oppressive Mortgage. What Yuppies turn into when they have children and one of them stops working to stay home with the kids.

9. STRESS PUPPY: A person who seems to thrive on being stressed out and whiny.

10. SWIPEOUT: An ATM or credit card that has been rendered useless because the magnetic strip is worn away from extensive use.

11. XEROX SUBSIDY: Euphemism for swiping free photocopies from one's workplace.

12. IRRITAINMENT: Entertainment and media spectacles that are annoying but you find yourself unable to stop watching them. The J-Lo and Ben wedding (or not) was a prime example - Michael Jackson, another...

13. PERCUSSIVE MAINTENANCE: The fine art of whacking the crap out of an electronic device to get it to work again.

14. ADMINISPHERE : The rarefied organizational layers beginning just above the rank and file. Decisions that fall from the adminisphere are often profoundly inappropriate or irrelevant to the problems they were designed to solve.

15. 404: Someone who's clueless. From the World Wide Web error Message "404 Not Found," meaning that the requested site could not be located.

16. GENERICA: Features of the American landscape that are exactly the same no matter where one is, such as fast food joints, strip malls, and subdivisions.

17. OHNOSECOND: That minuscule fraction of time in which you realize that you've just made a BIG mistake. (Like after hitting send on an email by mistake)

18. WOOFS: Well-Off Older Folks.

19. CROP DUSTING: Surreptitiously passing gas while passing through a Cube Farm.

Four U.S. Presidents are caught in a tornado, and off they whirled to OZ.

They finally make it to the Emerald City and came before the Great Wizard.

"What brings you before the great wizard of Oz?"

Jimmy Carter stepped forward timidly:
"I've come for some courage."

"No problem!" says the Wizard. "Who is next?"

Ronald Reagan steps forward,
"Well....., I.....I think I need a heart."

"Done," says the Wizard.
"Who comes next before the great and powerful Oz?"

Up stepped George Bush sadly and said,
"I'm told by the American people that I need a brain."

"No problem!" says the Wizard.
"Consider it done."

There is a great silence in the hall.
Bill Clinton is just standing there, looking around, but doesn't say a word.

Irritated, the Wizard finally asks,
"What do you want?"

Thunderbolts of the Gods is a 108 page 8-1/2 x 11 full color monograph based on the life work of the two authors--a revolutionary synthesis of comparative mythology and the newly-discovered "Electric Universe".

The Monograph includes an hour-long DVD introducing various aspects of the Electric Universe explained by members of the Thunderbolts Group.

Earth: A Self-repairing Capacitor

One electrical device which serves as a model for cosmic plasma activity is the capacitor. A capacitor is a device for accumulating and storing electric charge. It is made of two conductors separated by an insulating medium. When charge is placed on one conductor it attracts charge of the opposite polarity on the other conductor. As a result, an electric field is set up between the conductors, a reservoir of electrical energy.

In both everyday electronics and advanced plasma research the capacitor is important for its ability to rapidly store and release electrical energy. Some of the highest energy experiments in the world are performed using large rooms full of charged capacitors to produce intense discharges.

As the charge on the capacitor increases, the electric field between the conductors will increase, placing a growing stress on the insulator. At some critical point, the insulator breaks down and the capacitor "short circuits," releasing the stored electrical energy suddenly. Such breakdowns may destroy a solid insulator and with it, the capacitor.

However, if the charging rate is slow and the insulator is air or liquid, the damage may repair itself as fresh insulating material rushes in. That is a "self-repairing" capacitor. If the current is strong or the insulator weak, current will pass between the conducting plates, either steadily or in bursts. This is called a "leaky capacitor."

Power transmission lines form large-scale capacitors with the air as insulator between the conducting wires. The geometry makes the electric field strongest at the wire surface, which is where the air is likeliest to "break down" and discharge. The hissing and crackling you hear when standing under a power line is just this intermittent leakage.

Many natural systems form capacitors as well. For example, the Earth's surface and its ionosphere are two conducting layers separated by air. The surface-ionosphere capacitor is of particular interest in the study of sprites. Small "leaks" in the form of lightning can trigger much larger "leaks" (sprites, etc.) at high altitudes above them.

In the electric universe, this effect can be traced via auroral circuits, through the circuitry of the solar system, and far into interstellar space. From this viewpoint sprites and lightning are merely leakage currents trickling off the galactic power line. But clearly, the degree to which electric potential from the galaxy powers thunderstorms on Earth has yet to be investigated.

EDUCATION AND EXPERIENCE

LAW ENFORCEMENT

I was arrested in Kennebunkport, Maine , in 1976 for driving under the influence of alcohol. I pled guilty, paid a fine, and had my driver's license suspended for 30 days. My Texas driving record has been "lost" and is not available.

MILITARY

I joined the Texas Air National Guard and went AWOL. I refused to take a drug test or answer any questions about my drug use. By joining the Texas Air National Guard, I was able to avoid combat duty in Vietnam

COLLEGE

I graduated from Yale University with a low C average. I was a cheerleader.

PAST WORK EXPERIENCE

I ran for U.S. Congress and lost. I began my career in the oil business in Midland , Texas , in 1975. I bought an oil company, but couldn't find any oil in Texas . The company went bankrupt shortly after I sold all my stock.

I bought the Texas Rangers baseball team in a sweetheart deal that took land using taxpayer money. With the help of my father and our friends in the oil industry, including Enron CEO Ken Lay, I was elected governor of Texas .

ACCOMPLISHMENTS AS GOVERNOR OF TEXAS

I changed Texas pollution laws to favor power and oil companies, making Texas the most polluted state in the Union .

During my tenure, Houston replaced Los Angeles as the most smog-ridden city in America

I cut taxes and bankrupted the Texas treasury to the tune of billions in borrowed money.

I set the record for the most executions by any governor in American history.

With the help of my brother, the governor of Florida , and my father's appointments to the Supreme Court, I became President after losing by over 500,000 votes.

ACCOMPLISHMENTS AS PRESIDENT

I am the first President in U.S. history to enter office with a criminal record.

I invaded and occupied two countries at a continuing cost of over one billion dollars per week.

I spent the U.S. surplus and effectively bankrupted the U.S. Treasury.

I shattered the record for the largest annual deficit in U.S. history.

I set an economic record for most private bankruptcies filed in any 12-month period.

I set the all-time record for most foreclosures in a 12-month period.

I set the all-time record for the biggest drop in the history of the U.S. stock market.

In my first year in office, over 2 million Americans lost their jobs and that trend continues every month.

I'm proud that the members of my cabinet are the richest of any administration in U.S. history. My "poorest millionaire," Condoleeza Rice, had a Chevron oil tanker named after her.

I set the record for most campaign fund-raising trips by a U.S. President. I am the all-time U.S. and world record-holder for receiving the most corporate campaign donations.

My largest lifetime campaign contributor, and one of my best friends, Kenneth Lay, presided over the largest corporate bankruptcy fraud in U.S. History, Enron.

My political party used Enron private jets and corporate attorneys to assure my success with the U.S. Supreme Court during my election decision.

I have protected my friends at Enron and Halliburton against investigation or prosecution.

More time and money was spent investigating the Monica Lewinsky affair than has been spent investigating one of the biggest corporate rip- offs in history.

I presided over the biggest energy crisis in U.S. history and refused to intervene when corruption involving the oil industry was revealed.

I presided over the highest gasoline prices in U.S. history.

I changed the U.S. policy to allow convicted criminals to be awarded government contracts.

I appointed more convicted criminals to administration than any President in U.S. history.

I created the Ministry of Homeland Security, the largest bureaucracy in the history of the United States government.

I've broken more international treaties than any President in U.S. history.

I am the first President in U.S. history to have the United Nations remove the U.S. from the Human Rights Commission.

I withdrew the U.S. from the World Court of Law. I refused to allow inspectors access to U.S . "prisoners of war" detainees and thereby have refused to abide by the Geneva Convention.

I am the first President in history to refuse United Nations election inspectors (during the 2002 U.S. election).

I set the record for fewest numbers of press conferences of any President since the advent of television.

I set the all-time record for most days on vacation in any one-year period. After taking off the entire month of August, I presided over the worst security failure in U.S. history.

I garnered the most sympathy for the U.S. after the World Trade Center attacks and less than a year later made the U.S. the most hated country in the world, the largest failure of diplomacy in world history.

I have set the all-time record for most people worldwide to simultaneously protest me in public venues (15 million people), shattering the record for protests against any person in the history of mankind.

I am the first President in U.S. history to order an unprovoked, pre-emptive attack and the military occupation of a sovereign nation. I did so against the will of the United Nations, the majority of U.S. citizens, and the world community.

I have cut health care benefits for war veterans and support a cut in duty benefits for active duty troops and their families-in-wartime.

In my State of the Union Address, I lied about our reasons for attacking Iraq and then blamed the lies on our British friends.

I am the first President in history to have a majority of Europeans (71%) view my presidency as the biggest threat to world peace and security.

I am supporting development of a nuclear "Tactical Bunker Buster," a WMD. I have so far failed to fulfill my pledge to bring Osama Bin Laden [sic] to justice.

RECORDS AND REFERENCES

All records of my tenure as governor of Texas are now in my father's library, sealed and unavailable for public view.

All records of SEC investigations into my insider trading and my bankrupt companies are sealed in secrecy and unavailable for public view.

All records or minutes from meetings that I, or my Vice-President, attended regarding public energy policy are sealed in secrecy and unavailable for publi c review. I am a member of the Republican Party.

PLEASE CONSIDER MY EXPERIENCE WHEN VOTING IN THE 2006 MIDTERM ELECTIONS. PLEASE SEND THIS TO EVERY VOTER YOU KNOW.

Intresting tid-bit.

On this date (June 27) in 1847, New York and Boston were linked by telegraph wires.

Morse Code worked then...Morse Code works now...

hi rich

it looks like a replacement car antenna, maybe fender mount, and it has a diplexer to split off the am/fm for the car radio and a port for the other band of use (see that pl 259 type)

there were a lot made for cb use stealth model hihi!
but some were made for scanner and ham use too when installed, no one knew you had valuable radios in the vehicle they didn't work that well, but probably prevented a lot of break-ins

Ralph,

Thanks for the reply.

Oh yea! I wanna be a '10-4 good buddy', but I don't want my friends to know it!

Funny you mention stoping the car break-ins, by comparison, back in the day when I had my CB in the car, I parked pretty much without a care.
Not that I was careless, or was inviting someone to break into my car. It was just that 11 Meter radios are a dime a dozen.

With my Ham gear in the car...THAT is a whole nother story. Here's an example, my son wanted to borrow my car the other day and I told him to use his mother's car to go to work. My reasons, I didn't want -my- car to be parked all day unattended in the south side of Holyoke with my Ham radios in it!

How many members of the Bush Administration are needed to change a light bulb?
1. One to deny that a light bulb needs to be changed,
2. One to attack the patriotism of anyone who says the light bulb needs to be changed,
3. One to blame Clinton for burning out the light bulb,
4. One to tell the nations of the world that they are either for changing the light bulb or for darkness,
5. One to give a billion dollar no-bid contract to Haliburton for the new light bulb,
6. One to arrange a photograph of Bush, dressed as a janitor, standing on a step ladder under the banner: " Light bulb Change Accomplished".
7. One administration insider to resign and write a book documenting in detail how Bush was literally in the dark,
8. One to viciously smear #7,
9. One surrogate to campaign on TV and at rallies on how George Bush has had a strong light-bulb-changing policy all along,
10. And finally one to confuse Americans about the difference between screwing a light bulb and screwing the country

Another reason why it is important to know your employees and understand their role within your firm...

A large flywheel company, feeling it was time for a shakeup, hired a new CEO. This new boss was determined to rid the company of all slackers.
On a tour of the facilities, the CEO noticed a guy leaning on a wall. The room was full of workers and he wanted to let them know that he meant business.
The new CEO walked up to the guy leaning against the wall and asked, "How much money do you make a week?"
A little surprised, the young fellow looked at him and replied, "I make $300.00 a week. Why?"
The CEO then handed the guy $1,200 in cash and screamed, "Here's four weeks' pay, now GET OUT and don't come back." Feeling pretty good about himself, the CEO looked around the room and asked, "Does anyone want to tell me what that goof-off did here?"
From across the room came a voice, "Pizza delivery guy from Domino's."

Hi Rich!

Thanks,....hope you make it!
It's a great hamfest and has always been one of my favorites, and very easy to get to from my location.
I'll be there with plenty of good junk to sell and many others will also.
And the food and bull-throwing are always enjoyable there!
It's a great spot, and hopefully the wx will be super, too!
I encourage everyone to "take a road trip" Sunday and see the beautiful Berkshire countryside!
See ya there!

Microsoft Employee of the Month - Think I spoke to this guy once or twice!!

Mujibar was trying to get a job in India.

The Personnel Manager said, "Mujibar, you have passed all the tests, except one. Unless you pass it you cannot qualify for this job."

Mujibar said, "I am ready"

The manager said, "Make a sentence using the words Yellow, Pink and Green."

Mujibar thought for a few minutes and said, "Mister manager, I am ready"

The manager said, "Go ahead."

Mujibar said, "The telephone goes green, green, and I pink it up, and say, 'Yellow, this is Mujibar.'"

Mujibar now works as a technician at a call center for computer problems.

No doubt you have spoken to him.

HISTORY TEST!!!

Please pause a moment, reflect back, and take the following multiple choice test.
The events are actual cuts from past history. They actually happened!!!

Do you remember?

-1968 Bobby Kennedy was shot and killed by a. Superman
b. Jay Leno
c. Harry Potter
d. Muslim male extremist between the ages of 17 and 40

1. In 1972 at the Munich Olympics, athletes were kidnapped and massacred by a. Olga Corbett
b. Sitting Bull
c. Arnold Schwarzenegger
d. Muslim male extremists mostly between the ages of 17 and 40

2. In 1979, the US embassy in Iran was taken over by:
a. Lost Norwegians
b. Elvis
c. A tour bus full of 80-year-old women
d. Muslim male extremists mostly between the ages of 17 and 40

3.During the 1980's a number of Americans were kidnapped in Lebanon by:
a. John Dillinger
b. The King of Sweden
c. The Boy Scouts
d. Muslim male extremists mostly between the ages of 17 and 40

4. In 1983, the US Marine barracks in Beirut was blown up by:
a. A pizza delivery boy
b. Pee Wee Herman

c. Geraldo Rivera
d. Muslim male extremists mostly between the ages of 17 and 40

5. In 1985 the cruise ship Achille Lauro was hijacked and a 70 year old American passenger was murdered and thrown overboard in his wheelchair by:
a. The Smurfs
b. Davy Jones
c. The Little Mermaid
d. Muslim male extremists mostly between the ages of 17 and 40

6.In 1985 TWA flight 847 was hijacked at Athens, and a US Navy diver trying to rescue passengers was murdered by:
a. Captain Kidd
b. Charles Lindberg
c. Mother Teresa
d. Muslim male extremists mostly between the ages of 17 and 40

7.In 1988, Pan Am Flight 103 was bombed by:
a. Scooby Doo
b. The Tooth Fairy
c. Butch Cassidy and The Sundance Kid
d. Muslim male extremists mostly between the ages of 17 and 40

8. In 1993 the World Trade Center was bombed the first time by:
a. Richard Simmons
b. Grandma Moses
c. Michael Jordan
d. Muslim male extremists mostly between the ages of 17 and 40

9.In 1998, the US embassies in Kenya and Tanzania were bombed by:
a. Mr. Rogers
b. Hillary Clinton, to distract attention from Wild Bill' s women problems
c. The World Wrestling Federation
d. Muslim male extremists mostly between the ages of 17 and 40

10.On 9/11/01, four airliners were hijacked; two were used as missiles to take out the World Trade Centers and of the remaining two, one crashed into the US Pentagon and the other was diverted and crashed by the passengers.Thousands of people were killed by:
a. Bugs Bunny, Wiley E. Coyote, Daffy Duck and Elmer Fudd
b. The Supreme Court of Florida
c. Mr. Bean
d. Muslim male extremists mostly between the ages of 17 and 40

11.In 2002 the United States fought a war in Afghanistan against:
a. Enron
b. The Lutheran Church

c. The NFL
d. Muslim male extremists mostly between the ages of 17 and 40

12. In 2002 reporter Daniel Pearl was kidnapped and murdered by:
a. Bonnie and Clyde
b. Captain Kangaroo
c. Billy Graham
d. Muslim male extremists mostly between the ages of 17 and 40

Nope, I really don't see a pattern here to justify profiling, do you..?

So, to ensure we Americans never offend anyone, particularly fanatics intent on killing us, airport security screeners will no longer be allowed to profile certain people. They must conduct random searches of 80-year-old women, little kids, airline pilots with proper identification, secret agents who are members of the President's security detail, 85-year old Congressmen with metal hips, and Medal of Honor winning and former Governor Joe Foss,
but leave Muslim Males between the ages 17 and 40 alone because of profiling.

Let's send this to as many people as we can so that the Gloria Aldreds and other dunder -headed attorneys along with Federal Justices that want to thwart common sense, feel doubly ashamed of themselves - if they have any such sense.

As the writer of the award winning story "Forrest Gump" so aptly put it,
"Stupid is as stupid does."

Come on people wake up!!!

Keep this going. Pass it on to everyone in your address book. Our Country and our troops need our support!

And we must remember that we definitely should not tap phones, they might find some of these terrorists and prevent some of these terrible incidents from happening! After all we don't want to infringe on someone's "Rights" !!!

Greetings all,

Would you like to own a VHF repeater to use for Amateur or public safety use? Well here's your chance... Here is a quote from an E-Bay auction that is going on right now!

----- Begin Quote -----

Vertex-Standard Desktop Repeater/Base Station

Up for auction is one used, Vertex-Standard VXR-7000 VHF Desktop Repeater/Base station. It was purchased 12/04. I just send it back to Vertex Standard in California in June 2006 for purposes of inspection and to make sure it is up to specs for resale. It was and is under warranty, so I took advantage of this, paid the shipping and it came back with a good report. I am doing something different with my set up and I need a different "ham" controller. The VXR-7000 does not have that for my purpose. I can put a CAT controller in this unit, but I am choosing to redo my whole set up.

The frequency range for this unit is 136-150 mHz. I believe that it can be progammed for commercial use. I have other Vertex radios and they said that they can not go to the 144-148 mHz band, but I programmed them with no problem. So I feel it could go the other way, not positive.

This machine if bought from a dealer would cost $1450.00 brand new! [That was the price paid for this machine in December of 2004.]

Here is the link to view and bid on this item:
http://cgi.ebay.com/ws/eBayISAPI.dll?ViewItem&ih=006&item=160021552378&rd=1&sspagename=STRK%3AMEBI%3AIT&rd=1

This machine is being sold due to the fact that the owner is putting up all new equipment on his site and so no longer needs this repeater.

Please take a moment to look at this auction. I'm not a fan of SPAM but I think it would be nice if we all would help support the list-seller by sharing this information with the larger community.

NOTE: I and not the seller of this item, nor will I make anything off of its sale. I do however know the seller, and want to help get the word out locally to give one of us a chance to own this machine as this machine is being listed world-wide on e-bay right now.

Subject: Saturday Mornings

The older I get, the more I enjoy Saturday mornings. Perhaps it's the quiet solitude that comes with being the first to rise, or maybe it's the unbounded joy of not having to be at work. Either way, the first few hours of a Saturday morning are most enjoyable.

A few weeks ago, I was shuffling toward the garage with a steaming cup of coffee in one hand and the morning paper in the other. What began as a typical Saturday morning turned into one of those lessons that life seems to hand you from time to time. Let me tell you about it:

I turned the dial up into the phone portion of the band on my ham radio
in order to listen to a Saturday morning swap net. Along the way, I came across an older sounding chap, with a tremendous signal and a golden voice. You know the kind; he sounded like he should be in the broadcasting business. He was telling whom-ever he was talking with something about "a thousand marbles."
I was intrigued and stopped to listen to what he had to say

"Well, Tom, it sure sounds like you're busy with your job. I'm sure they pay you well but it's a shame you have to be away from home and your family so much. Hard to believe a young fellow should have to work sixty or seventy hours a week to make ends meet. It's too bad you missed your daughter's "dance recital" he continued. "Let me tell you something that has helped me keep my own priorities." And that's when he began to explain his theory of a "thousand marbles."

"You see, I sat down one day and did a little arithmetic. The average person lives about seventy-five years. I know, some live more and some live less,
but on average, folks live about seventy-five years.

"Now then, I multiplied 75 times 52 and I came up with 3900, which is
the number of Saturdays that the average person has in their entire lifetime.
Now, stick with me, Tom, I'm getting to the important part.

It took me until I was fifty-five years old to think about all this in any detail", he went on, "and by that time I had lived through over twenty-eight hundred Saturdays." "I got to thinking that if I lived to be seventy-five, I only had about a thousand of them left to enjoy. So I went to a toy store and bought every single marble they had. I ended up having to visit three toy stores to round up 1000 marbles. I took them home and put them inside a large,
clear plastic container right here in the shack next to my gear."

"Every Saturday since then, I have taken one marble out and thrown it away.
I found that by watching the marbles diminish, I focused more on the really important things in life.

There is nothing like wat ching your time here on this earth run out to help get your priorities straight."

"Now let me tell you one last thing before I sign-off with you and take my lovely wife out for breakfast. This morning, I took the very last marble out of the container. I figure that if I make it until next Saturday then I have been given a little extra time. And the one thing we can all use is a little more time."

"It was nice to meet you Tom, I hope you spend more time with your family, and I hope to meet you again here on the band. This is a 75 Year old Man, K9NZQ, clear and going QRT, good morning!"

You could have heard a pin drop on the band when this fellow signed off. I guess he gave us all a lot to think about. I had planned to work on the antenna that morning, and then I was going to meet up with a few hams to work on the next club newsletter.

Instead, I went upstairs and woke my wife up with a kiss. "C'mon honey, I'm taking you and the kids to breakfast." "What brought this on?" she asked with a smile. "Oh, nothing special, it's just been a long time since we spent a Saturday together with the kids. And hey, can we stop at a toy store while we're out? I need to buy some marbles.

A friend sent this to me, so now I send it to you, my friends

Remarkable Obituary

Today we mourn the passing of a beloved old friend, Mr. Common Sense.
Mr.. Sense had been with us for many years. No one knows for sure how old he was since his birth records were long ago lost in bureaucratic red tape. He will be remembered as having cultivated such value lessons as knowing when to come in out of the rain, why the early bird gets the worm and that life isn't always fair. Common Sense lived by simple, sound financial policies (don't spend more than you earn) and reliable Parenting strategies (adults, not kids, are in charge). His health began to rapidly deteriorate when well intentioned but overbearing regulations were set in place. Reports of a six-year-old boy charged with sexual harassment for kissing a classmate; teens suspended from school for using mouthwash after lunch; and a teacher fired for reprimanding an unruly student, only worsened his condition. Mr. Sense declined even further when schools were required to get parental co nsent to administer aspirin to a student; but, could not inform the parents when a student became pregnant and wanted to have an abortion. Finally, Common Sense lost the will to live as the Ten Commandments became contraband; churches became businesses; and criminals received better treatment than their victims. Common Sense finally gave up the ghost after a woman failed to realize that a steaming cup of coffee was hot, she spilled a bit in her lap, and was awarded a huge financial settlement. Common Sense was preceded in death by his parents, Truth and Trust, his wife, Discretion; his daughter, Responsibility; and his son, Reason. He is survived by two stepbrothers; My Rights and Ima Whiner. Not many attended his funeral because so few realized he was gone. If you still remember him, pass this on; if not, join the majority and do nothing.

Hi all,

Big Oil is movin' on up with ga$ to $3/gallon again now that the Election Day Sale is over. The American Petroleum Institute denied that the midterm elections had anything to do with the price of oil and ga$ but Exxon-Mobil proved them wrong yesterday by raising prices 10 cents overnight. The API thought we were all slack-jawed cretons but good 'ole Exxon-Mobil blew the lid off that lie, IMHO. :-)

Never believe anything the API, Big Oil, or Wall Street says about petroleum prices.

Since the GOP lost control of the House and maby the Senate don't expect any more complimentary tubes of K-Y at the ga$ pumps..you'll have to bring your own.
==========
BPL is telecommunications, no surprise there. The FCC caters to the utilities big time, IMHO. Expect rapid deployment of BPL and be ready to file interference complaints. K1STM said on the TIPSNet Tuesday night that it seems that the FCC is doing everything it can to drive we hams off the air. Ann just may be right. The Commission works against us more than in the past. If George Bush signed an executive order abolishing Amateur Radio I would not be one bit surprised.

We best enjoy this hobby while we still can.
==========
One new petiton to the FCC wants us to ID every transmission with both callsigns or every callsign in the roundtable. What is the gentleman who submitted that one smoking? Hmmm........

Den

Hey we cant all expect to get "FREE" tubes of K-Y at the pumps now can we? That stuff is petroleum based so that will probably skyrocket in price too! I wonder if K-Y and Vasaline will have PPT wars? PPT, or Price Per Tube, wars could potentally drive people who need a personal lubricant, to start looking at other countries to live in if the price here in the states gets too high! ;)

Greetings to all our Veterans on the list,

From one veteran to all our nation's veterans, and to those members of the armed services on active duty, I wish you all a safe and enjoyable Veteran's Day.

May the Goddes and the God grant you peace and comfort on this day.

Eighteen Ways to Be a Good Liberal!

Wednesday, November 15, 2006

1. You have to believe that gender roles are artificial, but being homosexual is natural.

2. You have to believe that businesses create oppression and government creates prosperity.

3. You have to believe that guns in the hands of law-abiding citizens are more of a threat than nuclear weapons technology in the hands of Iran or North Korea.

4. You have to believe that there was no art before federal funding.

5. You have to believe that global temperatures are less affected by cyclical changes in the earth's climate and MORE affected by soccer moms driving SUVs.

6. You have to be against capital punishment, but support abortion on demand.

7. You have to believe that the AIDS virus is spread by lack of federal funding.

8. You have to believe that the same teacher who can't teach fourth graders how to read is somehow qualified to teach those same kids about sex.

9. You have to believe that hunters don't care about nature, but PETA activists do.

10. You have to believe that self-esteem is more important than actually doing something to earn it.

11. You have to believe that Mel Gibson spent $25 million of his own money to make "The Passion of the Christ" for financial gain only.

12. You have to believe the NRA is bad because it supports certain parts of the Constitution, while the ACLU is good because it supports certain parts of the Constitution.

13. You have to believe that taxes are too low and ATM fees are too high.

14. You have to believe that Margaret Sanger and Gloria Steinem are more important to American history that Thomas Jefferson, Robert E. Lee. and Thomas A. Edison.

15. You have to believe that standardized tests are racist, but racial quotas are not.

16. You have to believe that the only reason socialism hasn't worked anywhere that it's been tried is because the right people haven't been in charge.

17. You have to believe that homosexual parades displaying drag queens and transvestites should be constitutionally-protected, and manger scenes at Christmas should be illegal.

18. You have to believe that this message is part of a vast right-wing conspiracy.

"Flying the airplane is more important than radioing your plight to a person on the ground incapable of understanding or doing anything about it."

"The Piper Cub is the safest airplane in the world; it can just barely kill you." - Attributed to Max Stanley (Northrop test pilot)

"A pilot who doesn't have any fear probably isn't flying his plane to its maximum." - Jon McBride, astronaut

"If you're faced with a forced landing, fly the thing as far into the crash as possible." - Bob Hoover (renowned aerobatic and test pilot)

AAAHHH......Welcome aboard,... aaahhhhhh....uuuhhhhhhh! HIHI!

Around here, some hams have many more ingenious ways of driving new hams off the air, than just filling dead air with aahhhs and uuuhhhhhs.......!

Some have really made a lifelong career of it!

It seems every repeater or group has their own individual new ham spoiler (or spoilers) who have their own unique methods!

Some are of the pompous ass type,
and others lean toward the know it all dictator variety!

Be glad you're only dealing with aaahhh's......

Well,... aaaaahhhhhhh....
glad we gave ya a good laugh!

Hope you're inspired to put up a few antennas and fire up the equipment again!

There really are many wonderful people out there to talk with,.....but the aholes seem to have the biggest mouths,.... and the bulk of the air time!

Just imagine how many wonderful hams would be on the air, if all those new ham spoilers hadn't chased them away.....
it's really sad.

Many have even discouraged veteran hams, like myself, (30 yrs plus) from being as active as I used to be.
Some of the attitudes really turn me off!

It's easier to get on the computer or throw in a dvd, than to get on the air and have a couple of jerks send your blood pressure through the roof!

Jeeez, I'm starting to sound like you......hihi!

Happy New Year, and enjoy the pissin' and moanin' for another year....
and get on the air and have some fun!

50 Dumbest Things Bush Ever Said
Compiled by Daniel Kurtzman
12-30-6

50. "I promise you I will listen to what has been said here, even though I wasn't here." -at the President's Economic Forum in Waco, Texas, Aug. 13, 2002

49. "We spent a lot of time talking about Africa, as we should. Africa is a nation that suffers from incredible disease." -Gothenburg, Sweden, June 14, 2001

48. "You teach a child to read, and he or her will be able to pass a literacy test.'' -Townsend, Tenn., Feb. 21, 2001

47. "We both use Colgate toothpaste." -after a reporter asked what he had in common with British Prime Minister Tony Blair, Camp David, Md., Feb. 23, 2001

46. "Tribal sovereignty means that; it's sovereign. I mean, you're a - you've been given sovereignty, and you're viewed as a sovereign entity. And therefore the relationship between the federal government and tribes is one between sovereign entities." -Washington, D.C., Aug. 6, 2004

45. "I glance at the headlines just to kind of get a flavor for what's moving. I rarely read the stories, and get briefed by people who are probably read the news themselves." -Washington, D.C., Sept. 21, 2003

44. "I'm the commander - see, I don't need to explain - I do not need to explain why I say things. That's the interesting thing about being president." -as quoted in Bob Woodward's Bush at War

43. "I am here to make an announcement that this Thursday, ticket counters and airplanes will fly out of Ronald Reagan Airport." -Washington, D.C., Oct. 3, 2001

42. "The war on terror involves Saddam Hussein because of the nature of Saddam Hussein, the history of Saddam Hussein, and his willingness to terrorize himself." -Grand Rapids, Mich., Jan. 29, 2003

41. "I saw a poll that said the right track/wrong track in Iraq was better than here in America. It's pretty darn strong. I mean, the people see a better future." -Washington, D.C., Sept. 23, 2004

40. "Oh, no, we're not going to have any casualties." -discussing the Iraq war with Christian Coalition founder Pat Robertson, as quoted by Robertson

39. "I hear there's rumors on the Internets that we're going to have a draft." -presidential debate, St. Louis, Mo., Oct. 8, 2004

38. "Haven't we already given money to rich people? Why are we going to do it again?" -to economic advisers discussing a second round of tax cuts, as quoted by former Treasury Secretary Paul O'Neil, Washington, D.C., Nov. 26, 2002

37. "We need an energy bill that encourages consumption." -Trenton, N.J., Sept. 23, 2002

36. "After standing on the stage, after the debates, I made it very plain, we will not have an all-volunteer army. And yet, this week - we will have an all-volunteer army!" -Daytona Beach, Fla., Oct. 16, 2004

35. "Do you have blacks, too?" -to Brazilian President Fernando Cardoso, Washington, D.C., Nov. 8, 2001

34. "This foreign policy stuff is a little frustrating." -as quoted by the New York Daily News, April 23, 2002

33. "I got to know Ken Lay when he was head of the - what they call the Governor's Business Council in Texas. He was a supporter of Ann Richards in my run in 1994. And she had named him the head of the Governor's Business Council. And I decided to leave him in place, just for the sake of continuity. And that's when I first got to know Ken and worked with Ken." -attempting to distance himself from his biggest political patron, Enron Chairman Ken Lay, whom he nicknamed "Kenny Boy," Washington, D.C., Jan. 10, 2002

32. "It is white." -after being asked by a child in Britain what the White House was like, July 19, 2001

31. "I couldn't imagine somebody like Osama bin Laden understanding the joy of Hanukkah." -at a White House menorah lighting ceremony, Washington, D.C., Dec. 10, 2001

30. "For every fatal shooting, there were roughly three non-fatal shootings. And, folks, this is unacceptable in America. It's just unacceptable. And we're going to do something about it." -Philadelphia, Penn., May 14, 2001

29. "I don't know why you're talking about Sweden. They're the neutral one. They don't have an army." -during a Dec. 2002 Oval Office meeting with Rep. Tom Lantos, as reported by the New York Times

28. "You forgot Poland." -to Sen. John Kerry during the first presidential debate, after Kerry failed to mention Poland's contributions to the Iraq war coalition, Miami, Fla., Sept. 30, 2004

27. "I'm the master of low expectations." -aboard Air Force One, June 4, 2003

26. "I'm also not very analytical. You know I don't spend a lot of time thinking about myself, about why I do things." -aboard Air Force One, June 4, 2003

25. "I know what I believe. I will continue to articulate what I believe and what I believe - I believe what I believe is right." -Rome, Italy, July 22, 2001

24. "We need to counter the shockwave of the evildoer by having individual rate cuts accelerated and by thinking about tax rebates." -Washington, D.C. Oct. 4, 2001

23. "People say, how can I help on this war against terror? How can I fight evil? You can do so by mentoring a child; by going into a shut-in's house and say I love you." -Washington, D.C., Sept. 19, 2002

22. "I wish you'd have given me this written question ahead of time so I could plan for itI'm sure something will pop into my head here in the midst of this press conference, with all the pressure of trying to come up with answer, but it hadn't yet.I don't want to sound like I have made no mistakes. I'm confident I have. I just haven't - you just put me under the spot here, and maybe I'm not as quick on my feet as I should be in coming up with one." -President George W. Bush, after being asked to name the biggest mistake he had made, Washington, D.C., April 3, 2004

21. "The really rich people figure out how to dodge taxes anyway." -explaining why high taxes on the rich are a failed strategy, Annandale, Va., Aug. 9, 2004

20. "My plan reduces the national debt, and fast. So fast, in fact, that economists worry that we're going to run out of debt to retire." -radio address, Feb. 24, 2001

19. "You know, when I was one time campaigning in Chicago, a reporter said, 'Would you ever have a deficit?' I said, 'I can't imagine it, but there would be one if we had a war, or a national emergency, or a recession.' Never did I dream we'd get the trifecta." -Houston, Texas, June 14, 2002 (There is no evidence Bush ever made any such statement, despite recounting the trifecta line repeatedly in 2002. A search by the Washington Post revealed that the three caveats were brought up before the 2000 campaign - by Al Gore.)

WOMAN IN BAR

==========

A woman is sitting in a bar, wearing a tube top. Having never shaved her armpits, she has a thick black bush under each arm that she exposes every time she flags the bartender for another drink.

Near the end of the night, a drunk at the end of the bar tells the bartender, ?Hey, I?d like to buy the ballerina a drink.?

?What makes you think she?s a ballerina?? the bartender asks.

?Any girl who can lift her leg that high has to be a ballerina.?

Den,

Thanks for the information and frequency used. At the time of the original post regarding getting a SSTV net going, I could not remember what frequency we used. I did a number of postings not just on YahooGroups, but on other places on the web as well. So for this week, we?ll stay on 147.480, no PL.

I?ll do an initial call out on 147.480 simples, no PL and commence sending SSTV on or about 8:00 PM [EST] on Friday, February 23, 2007.

It was suggested (off-list) to me that in addition to sending data via SSTV on VHF, perhaps we should communicate via phone on UHF for signal reports and for coordinating which station would next send their pic and for signal reports.

I?m going to check with Richard ? KD1XP to see if we can use the 442.200 (+) [PL 173.8] repeater as the UHF coordination frequency. If the repeater is needed, or those of us in the SSTV net can reach each other via UHF simplex, we can always move the UHF phone frequency.

This sked is not set in stone, in the future, frequencies, day(s), time(s) and even mode(s) may be subject to change to suit the group.

Who knows, perhaps after a number of us upgrade, we can do some SSTV on HF! Now that?s cool and something to look forward to!

What say group? Comments, concerns, criticisms?flowers?

WHAT TEACHERS MAKE

The dinner guests were sitting around the table discussing life.

One man, a CEO, decided to explain the problem with education.

He argued, "What's a kid going to learn from someone who decided his best option in life was to become a teacher?"

He reminded the other dinner guests what they say about teachers: "Those who can, do. Those who can't, teach."

To stress his point he said to another guest; "You're a teacher, Bonnie. Be honest. What do you make?"

Bonnie, who had a reputation for honesty and frankness replied, "You want to know what I make? (She paused for a second, then began..)

"Well, I make kids work harder than they ever thought they could. I make a C+ feel like the Congressional Medal of Honor.

I make kids sit through 40 minutes of class time when their parents can't make them sit for 5 without an I-Pod, Game Cube or movie rental...

You want to know what I make?" (She paused again and looked at each and every person at the table.)

I make kids wonder.

I make them question.

I make them criticize.

I make them apologize and mean it.

I make them have respect and take responsibility for their actions.

I teach them to write and then I make them write.

I make them read, read, read.

I make them show all their work in math.

I make my students from other countries learn everything they need to know in English while preserving their unique cultural identity.

I make my classroom a place where all my students feel safe

I make my students stand to say the Pledge of Allegiance to the Flag, because we live in the United States of America.

Finally, I make them understand that if they use the gifts they were given, work hard, and follow their hearts, they can succeed in life.

"Then, when people try to judge me by what I make, I can hold my head up high and pay no attention because they are ignorant...

You want to know what I make?

I MAKE A DIFFERENCE. What do you make?"

Hi all,

The Western Mass Amateur Radio Slow Scan Television Net will meet at 7:30 PM on 145.520 MHz FM simplex from now on starting this Thursday, 15 March 2007.

The time change is to prevent conflict with the 7:00 PM nets on the FCARC and MTARA repeater systems.

Greetings all,

Just for clarification, both nets you mentioned do not begin at the same time on Thursdays. The MATRA net starts at 7:00 pm. The FCARC net starts at 8:00 pm.

Just for some background, when the time slot for the WMAR/SSTV net was being selected we based it on the known nets occurring throughout the week. Thursdays at 8:00 pm was decided upon, as we were unaware that the FCARC had an established net starting at 8:00 pm on Thursdays.

The Hams running the WMAR/SSTV do not wish to interfere with established nets. That being said, it has been suggested, and we will now start the WMAR/SSTV net at 7:30 pm on Thursday nights.

This should allow time for people to check in to the WMAR/SSTV net after the MTARA net, and before the FCARA net. Hopefully this will work for the greatest amount of people.

A new safety issue we need to be aware of: THIS HAPPENED IN SPRINGFIELD

I just wanted to let you all know of something that happened to me today in the Target parking lo, Holyoke Mall-Holyoke, MA. Be aware of this and let everyone you know to be aware so this does not happen to anyone else. I was at Target today to return something which only took a couple of minutes. When I pulled into the parking lot a man in a car pulled in a couple spaces down from me. He started to go into the store about the same time as I did, then turned back around and went back to his car. I went into Target returned my items and walked back out to get into my car. When I walked out, he was walking away from my car carrying a small gas can. I noticed there was fluid on the side of my car and a puddle beside it. I got into my car not sure of what happened, wrote down his license plate # and lef t. He followed me out of the parking lot. I was only able to drive about a half a mile and my car started acting funny. It died on me as I was driving and I was able to pull into an area business along the highway. I just sat in my car and called the police. The man drove by three times as I waited. The police who came took a report and said that he had poured sugar water into my gas tank which is what made my car stall. It was a great way to get a woman by herself to be stranded on the streets. Luckily for me I was able to stop where there were people around. The police know where the car came from and are working on this now. I am Not sure what will happen but my car is now in the shop not running, but it could have been much worse for me. Just be aware that this is happening and always be aware of your surroundings. It certainly scared me and I am grateful that nothing else happened. Please pass this on to your wife, church member and friends.....

Greetings all,

Please do not forward the below message...IT IS A HOAX!

No one by the name of Tia Altman works for the Office of Academic Affairs at American International College.

Here is the "A" list from the AIC phonebook page:
http://www.aic.edu/cgi-bin/pb.pl?action=plist&letter=a

Here is the AIC phonebook page for their Academic Affairs Department:
http://www.aic.edu/cgi-bin/pb.pl?action=ddetail&id=70

Here is the AIC phonebook page for their Human Resources Department:
http://www.aic.edu/cgi-bin/pb.pl?action=ddetail&id=76

A call was placed to AIC and the person on the phone said they had no one by the name of Tia Altman working at the college.

If Ms.Altman thought something was wrong, and if she stopped in an area where people were around, located in "an area business along the highway", why would she not have gone into the business, to call the police from the safety of the business?

How would the police know that "suger water" had been poured into the tank? Did the officer taste the "fluid" that was left on the side of the car?
If so, let's hope it was just and only suger water, and not some other form of fluid...

'The Police" are working on it now? Which police, Holyoke or West Springfield? When you leave the mall, you have a ways to drive before you get into Springfield proper. The generic police department rides again.

This story has too many holes in it to be true. I would say this is most likely an urban myth altered to sound local to Western Massachusetts.

Other than that...it makes for a good campfire story. Right along with Bloody Fingers!

I just got an email from my cousin, my computer-hoax babysitter, that the story was a hoax. I guess we should have checked snopes. You could do what I did, and rationalize that maybe anything that makes people more aware of what is going on around them can't be all bad. There are altogether too many creepy things happening in parking lots and malls (purse snatchings, kidnappings, ad nauseum) to feel really comfortable going anywhere alone. Or am I just getting old? doesn't have a phone in his room now but will soon have a cell phone there and hopefully a radio!

send him a card
or stop by for an eyeball
it will mean alot to him for those who don't know

bert is battling problems with diabetes and myasthenia gravis see:

Thankfully, bert's speech is back to normal again it was badly affected for awhile and we know how he loves to talk..... HIHI!

he is still having problems with chewing and swallowing and is being given nourishment through a feeding tube directly into his stomach he had problems with aspiration pneumonia recently also as some of what he was trying to swallow was going into the lungs

This year is the running of the 111th Boston Marathon. The marathon will be held on Monday, March 16, 200. I'm going to volunteer this year for the first time and I'm looking forward to it. My location will be somewhere in the town of Hopkinton, Mass. located at the begining of the race.

Is anyone else from Western Mass going? If so, have you received your mailing yet, and where will you be on the route?

460. HCRA Pre-meeting Coffee Fix Answer

Yahoo group: WA1UOL_PandM_Net

Greetings all,

As usual, before any Amateur Radio related function, there must be the ritual consumption of coffee. Some have indicated distress at the rumor going around that the Dunkin Donuts in Agawam has closed. Fear not people! Dunkin Donuts lives!!! It simply moved across the street, where it now lives inside of the Pride gas station, along with the Subway restaurant.

Now all the HCRA members can eat, drink and get gas before attending the meeting...Is that a good thing!?

Hi all,

The Western Mass Amateur Radio Slow Scan Television Net will meet every Thursday at 7:00 PM on 145.520 MHz FM simplex. This new start time will give a lot of our stations more time to send/receive SSTV pictures during the formal net.

There is usually an informal roundtable of picture swapping after the net is secured.

Please make note of the change and we hope to see you next Thursday at 7:00 PM.

How talking parrot spilled beans on owner's cheating girlfriend

Sam Jones
Tuesday January 17, 2006
The Guardian

Somewhere in Yorkshire, there lurks a proverbially nauseous parrot. Ziggy, an eight-year-old African Grey, had provided Chris Taylor with years of companionship until the fateful day when he opened his beak to mimic his owner's girlfriend and squawked out one word: Gary.

Ziggy's obsession with his latest impression grew and he began uttering "Hi Gary!" every time Suzy Collins' mobile phone rang. Chris's suspicions deepened after Ziggy started to make long kissing noises whenever he heard the name Gary on television or the radio.

Things between Chris and Suzy finally came to a head the night Ziggy decided to blurt out: "I love you, Gary" in her voice.

When Chris confronted Suzy about his pet's obsession, she admitted to having had a four-month affair with Gary, a former colleague.

The revelation ended the couple's two-year relationship, but also put paid to Chris and Ziggy's friendship. Unable to bear the verbal taunts of his faithful bird, the 30-year-old computer programmer gave Ziggy to a local parrot dealer and asked him to find him a new home.

"I wasn't sorry to see the back of Suzy after what she did, but it really broke my heart to let Ziggy go," said Chris, who lives in Headingley, Leeds. "I love him to bits and I really miss having him around, but it was torture hearing him repeat that name over and over again. I still can't believe he's gone. I know I'll get over Suzy, but I don't think I'll ever get over Ziggy."

He added: "It feels like someone's got it in for me because I've lost my girlfriend and my best mate at the same time. Ziggy was one in a million. He was a loyal friend and I've no doubt he was looking out for me. He never liked Suzy. and she never took to him."

Chris bought Ziggy as a chick almost eight years ago, and named his pet in honour of one of the 1970s alter egos of his favourite pop star, David Bowie. He also taught Ziggy to dance along to his owner's favourite Bowie records, and even taught the bird how to mimick the singer's idiosyncratic vocal style. Chris said the parrot's favourite Bowie tune was Let's Dance, and he liked to sing along to "Put on your red shoes. and dance the blues!" Ziggy also liked to imitate Chris and his friends, as well as household sounds such as the doorbell, phone, microwave, and alarm clock. He also mimicked sounds from the radio and TV from his cage in Chris's front room.

Ms Collins, who is staying with friends, was phlegmatic. "I'm not proud of what I did, but I'm sure Chris would be the first to admit we'd been having problems," she said. "We'd spoken about splitting up several times, and I think it was inevitable."

However, the 25-year-old call centre worker was less philosophical about the pet. "I'm surprised to hear he's got rid of that bloody bird," she said. "He spent more time talking to it than he did to me. I couldn't stand [Ziggy] and it looks now like the feeling was mutual."

America's "Quiet Warriors"

"America's quiet warriors are the legion of ham radio operators, 700,000 of them, who are always at ready for backup duty in emergencies --amateur, unpaid, uncelebrated, civilian radio operators, during and after floods and fires and tornadoes. After the nine-one-one attacks, hams were indispensible in reuniting friends and families. Most recently it was they who expedited the search for debris after the disaster to the Space Shuttle Columbia, and right now, at this moment, they are involved in homeland security..." ?Paul Harvey, March 19, 2003

Hello Mark,

Thank you for your time, efforts and couuntless hours you have put forth as EC for Hampshire County. To Hams who enjoy moving traffic, the position of NCS is critical, you handled the job (and the net participants) quite well.

Good luck and Goddess bless you in the near future.

Hello everyone,

Tuesday April 24,2007 will be the last day I can be NCS for the Hampshire County nets on 145.130 and 53.350. This is due to personal reasons I do not wish to elaborate on. If anyone wants to take over the nets after that date, Please feel free to do so. If you need a copy of the preamble I will email anyone who wants one

*Where Have All the Leaders Gone? *

By Lee Iacocca

with Catherine Whitney (c) 2007

Had Enough?

Am I the only guy in this country who's fed up with what's happening? Where the hell is our outrage? We should be screaming bloody murder We've got a gang of clueless bozos steering our ship of state right over a cliff, we've got corporate gangsters stealing us blind, and we can't even clean up after a hurricane much less build a hybrid car But instead of getting mad, everyone sits around and nods their heads when the politicians say, "Stay the course."

Stay the course? You've got to be kidding. This is America, not the damned Titanic. I'll give you a sound bite: Throw the bums out! You might think I'm getting senile, that I've gone off my rocker, and maybe I have. But someone has to speak up. I hardly recognize this country anymore. The President of the United States is given a free pass to ignore the Constitution, tap our phones, and lead us to war on a pack of lies. Congress responds to record deficits by passing a huge tax cut for the wealthy (thanks, but I don't need it). The most famous business leaders are not the innovators but the guys in handcuffs. While we're fiddling in Iraq, the Middle East is burning and nobody seems to know what to do. And the press is waving pom-poms instead of asking hard questions. That's not the promise of America my parents and yours traveled across the ocean for. I've had enough How about you?

I'll go a step further. You can't call yourself a patriot if you're not outraged. This is a fight I'm ready and willing to have. My friends tell me to calm down. They say, "Lee, you're eighty-two years old. Leave the rage to the young people." I'd love to-as soon as I can pry them away from their iPods for five seconds and get them to pay attention. I'm going to speak up because it's my patriotic duty. I think people will listen to me. They say I have a reputation as a straight shooter. So I'll tell you how I see it, and it's not pretty, but at least it's real. I'm hoping to strike a nerve in those young folks who say they don't vote because they don't trust politicians to represent their interests. Hey, America, wake up These guys work for us.

Who Are These Guys, Anyway?

Why are we in this mess? How did we end up with this crowd in Washington? Well, we voted for them-or at least some of us did. But I'll tell you what we didn't do. We didn't agree to suspend the Constitution. We didn't agree to stop asking questions or demanding answers. Some of us are sick and tired of people who call free speech treason. Where I come from that's a dictatorship, not a democracy And don't tell me it's all the fault of right-wing Republicans or liberal Democrats. That's an intellectually lazy argument, and it's part of the reason we're in this stew. We're not just a nation of factions. We're a people. We share common principles and ideals And we rise and fall together Where are the voices of leaders who can inspire us to action and make us stand taller? What happened to the strong and resolute party of Lincoln? What happened to the courageous, populist party of FDR and Truman? There was a time in this country when the voices of great leaders lifted us up and made us want to do better. Where have all the leaders gone?

The Test of a Leader

I've never been Commander in Chief, but I've been a CEO. I understand a few things about leadership at the top. I've figured out nine points-not ten (I don't want people accusing me of thinking I'm Moses). I call them the "Nine Cs of Leadership." They're not fancy or complicated. Just clear, obvious qualities that every true leader should have. We should look at how the current administration stacks up. Like it or not, this crew is going to be around until January

Maybe we can learn something before we go to the polls in 2008 Then let's be sure we use the leadership test to screen the candidates who say they want to run the country. It's up to us to choose wisely

So, here's my C list:

A leader has to show* CURIOSITY*. He has to listen to people outside of the "Yes, sir" crowd in his inner circle. He has to read voraciously, because the world is a big, complicated place. George W Bush brags about never reading a newspaper. "I just scan the headlines," he says. Am I hearing this right? He's the President of the United States and he never reads a newspaper? Thomas Jefferson once said, "Were it left to me to decide whether we should have a government without newspapers, or newspapers without a government, I should not hesitate for a moment to prefer the latter." Bush disagrees. As long as he gets his daily hour in the gym, with Fox News piped through the sound system, he's ready to go

If a leader never steps outside his comfort zone to hear different ideas, he grows stale. If he doesn't put his beliefs to the test, how does he know he's right? The inability to listen is a form of arrogance. It means either you think you already know it all, or you just don't care. Before the 2006 election, George Bush made a big point of saying he didn't listen to the polls. Yeah, that's what they all say when the polls stink. But maybe he/ should/ have listened because 70 percent of the people were saying he was on the wrong track. It took a "thumping" on election day to wake him up, but even then you got the feeling he wasn't listening so much as he was calculating how to do a better job of convincing everyone he was right A leader has to be* CREATIVE*, go out on a limb, be willing to try something different. You know, think outside the box. George Bush prides himself on never changing, even as the world around him is spinning out of control. God forbid someone should accuse him of flip-flopping. There's a disturbingly messianic fervor to his certainty. Senator Joe Biden recalled a conversation he had with Bush a few months after our troops marched into Baghdad. Joe was in the Oval Office outlining his concerns to the President-the explosive mix of Shiite and Sunni, the disbanded Iraqi army, the problems securing the oil fields. "The President was serene," Joe recalled. "He told me he was sure that we were on the right course and that all would be well. 'Mr. President,' I finally said, 'how can you be so sure when you don't yet know all the facts?'" Bush then reached over and put a steadying hand on Joe's shoulder. "My instincts," he said. "My instincts." Joe was flabbergasted. He told Bush, "Mr. President, your instincts aren't good enough." Joe Biden sure didn't think the matter was settled. And, as we all know now, it wasn't. Leadership is all about managing change-whether you're leading a company or leading a country. Things change, and you get creative You adapt. Maybe Bush was absent the day they covered that at Harvard Business School A leader has to* COMMUNICATE*. I'm not talking about running off at the mouth or spouting sound bites. I'm talking about facing reality and telling the truth. Nobody in the current administration seems to know how to talk straight anymore. Instead, they spend most of their time trying to convince us that things are not really as bad as they seem I don't know if it's denial or dishonesty, but it can start to drive you crazy after a while. Communication has to start with telling the truth, even when it's painful. The war in Iraq has been among other things, a grand failure of communication. Bush is like the boy who/ didn't/ cry wolf when the wolf was at the door. After years of being told that all is well, even as the casualties and chaos mount, we've stopped listening to him A leader has to be a person of* CHARACTER*. That means knowing the difference between right and wrong and having the guts to do the right thing. Abraham Lincoln once said, "If you want to test a man's character, give him power." George Bush has a lot of power. What does it say about his character? Bush has shown a willingness to take bold action on the world stage because he has the/ power/, but he shows little regard for the grievous consequences. He has sent our troops (not to mention hundreds of thousands of innocent Iraqi citizens) to their deaths-for what? To build our oil reserves? To avenge his daddy because Saddam Hussein once tried to have him killed? To show his daddy he's tougher? The motivations behind the war in Iraq are questionable, and the execution of the war has been a disaster. A man of character does not ask a single soldier to die for a failed policy

A leader must have* COURAGE*. I'm talking about balls. (That even goes for female leaders.) Swagger isn't courage. Tough talk isn't courage. George Bush comes from a blue-blooded Connecticut family but he likes to talk like a cowboy. You know, My gun is bigger than your gun. Courage in the twenty-first century doesn't mean posturing and bravado. Courage is a commitment to sit down at the negotiating table and talk If you're a politician, courage means taking a position even when you know it will cost you votes. Bush can't even make a public appearance unless the audience has been handpicked and sanitized. He did a series of so-called town hall meetings last year, in auditoriums packed with his most devoted fans. The questions were all softballs To be a leader you've got to have* CONVICTION*-a fire in your belly You've got to have passion.

You've got to really want to get something done. How do you measure fire in the belly? Bush has set the all-time record for number of vacation days taken by a U.S President-four hundred and counting. He'd rather clear brush on his ranch than immerse himself in the business of governing. He even told an interviewer that the high point of his presidency so far was catching a seven-and-a-half-pound perch in his hand-stocked lake It's no better on Capitol Hill. Congress was in session only ninety-seven days in 2006. That's eleven days less than the record set in 1948, when President Harry Truman coined the term/ do-nothing Congress/. Most people would expect to be fired if they worked so little and had nothing to show for it. But Congress managed to find the time to vote itself a raise. Now, that's not leadership. A leader should have* CHARISMA*. I'm not talking about being flashy Charisma is the quality that makes people want to follow you. It's the ability to/ inspire/. People follow a leader because they trust him. That's my definition of charisma. Maybe George Bush is a great guy to hang out with at a barbecue or a ball game. But put him at a global summit where the future of our planet is at stake, and he doesn't look very presidential. Those frat-boy pranks and the kidding around he enjoys so much don't go over that well with world leaders Just ask German Chancellor Angela Merkel, who received an unwelcome shoulder massage from our President at a G-8 Summit. When he came up behind her and started squeezing, I thought she was going to go right through the roof A leader has to be* COMPETENT*. That seems obvious, doesn't it? You've got to know what you're doing. More important than that you've got to surround yourself with people who know what/ they're/ doing. Bush brags about being our first MBA President. Does that make him competent? Well, let's see. Thanks to our first MBA President we've got the largest deficit in history, Social Security is on life support, and we've run up a half-a-trillion-dollar price tag (so far) in Iraq. And that's just for starters. A leader has to be a problem solver, and the biggest problems we face as a nation seem to be on the back burner You can't be a leader if you don't have* COMMON SENSE*. I call this Charlie Beacham's rule. When I was a young guy just starting out in the car business, one of my first jobs was as Ford's zone manager in Wilkes-Barre, Pennsylvania. My boss was a guy named Charlie Beacham who was the East Coast regional manager. Charlie was a big Southerner, with a warm drawl, a huge smile, and a core of steel Charlie used to tell me, "Remember, Lee, the only thing you've got going for you as a human being is your ability to reason and your common sense. If you don't know a dip of horseshit from a dip of vanilla ice cream, you'll never make it." George Bush doesn't have common sense. He just has a lot of sound bites. You know-Mr.they'll-welcome-us-as-liberators-no-child-left-behind-heck-of-a-job-Brownie-mission-accomplished Bush Former President Bill Clinton once said, "I grew up in an alcoholic home. I spent half my childhood trying to get into the reality-based world-and I like it here."

I think our current President should visit the real world once in a while
The Biggest C is Crisis
Leaders are made, not born. Leadership is forged in times of crisis It's easy to sit there with your feet up on the desk and talk theory Or send someone else's kids off to war when you've never seen a battlefield yourself. It's another thing to lead when your world comes tumbling down On September 11, 2001, we needed a strong leader more than any other time in our history. We needed a steady hand to guide us out of the ashes. Where was George Bush? He was reading a story about a pet goat to kids in Florida when he heard about the attacks. He kept sitting there for twenty minutes with a baffled look on his face. It's all on tape.

You can see it for yourself. Then, instead of taking the quickest route back to Washington and immediately going on the air to reassure the panicked people of this country, he decided it wasn't safe to return to the White House. He basically went into hiding for the day-and he told Vice President Dick Cheney to stay put in his bunker. We were all frozen in front of our TVs, scared out of our wits, waiting for our leaders to tell us that we were going to be okay, and there was nobody home. It took Bush a couple of days to get his bearings and devise the right photo op at Ground Zero That was George Bush's moment of truth, and he was paralyzed. And what did he do when he'd regained his composure? He led us down the road to Iraq-a road his own father had considered disastrous when he was President. But Bush didn't listen to Daddy. He listened to a higher father. He prides himself on being faith based, not reality based. If that doesn't scare the crap out of you, I don't know what will

A Hell of a Mess

So here's where we stand. We're immersed in a bloody war with no plan for winning and no plan for leaving. We're running the biggest deficit in the history of the country. We're losing the manufacturing edge to Asia, while our once-great companies are getting slaughtered by health care costs. Gas prices are skyrocketing, and nobody in power has a coherent energy policy. Our schools are in trouble. Our borders are like sieves. The middle class is being squeezed every which way. These are times that cry out for leadership But when you look around, you've got to ask: "Where have all the leaders gone?" Where are the curious, creative communicators? Where are the people of character, courage, conviction, competence, and common sense? I may be a sucker for alliteration, but I think you get the point Name me a leader who has a better idea for homeland security than making us take off our shoes in airports and throw away our shampoo?

We've spent billions of dollars building a huge new bureaucracy, and all we know how to do is react to things that have already happened Name me one leader who emerged from the crisis of Hurricane Katrina Congress has yet to spend a/ single/ day evaluating the response to the hurricane, or demanding accountability for the decisions that were made in the crucial hours after the storm. Everyone's hunkering down, fingers crossed, hoping it doesn't happen again. Now, that's just crazy. Storms happen. Deal with it. Make a plan. Figure out what you're going to do the next time Name me an industry leader who is thinking creatively about how we can restore our competitive edge in manufacturing. Who would have believed that there could ever be a time when "the Big Three" referred to Japanese car companies? How did this happen-and more important, what are we going to do about it?

Name me a government leader who can articulate a plan for paying down the debt, or solving the energy crisis, or managing the health care problem. The silence is deafening. But these are the crises that are eating away at our country and milking the middle class dry I have news for the gang in Congress. We didn't elect you to sit on your asses and do nothing and remain silent while our democracy is being hijacked and our greatness is being replaced with mediocrity What is everybody so afraid of? That some bobblehead on Fox News will call them a name? Give me a break. Why don't you guys show some spine for a change?

Had Enough?

Hey, I'm not trying to be the voice of gloom and doom here. I'm trying to light a fire. I'm speaking out because I have hope. I believe in America. In my lifetime I've had the privilege of living through some of America's greatest moments. I've also experienced some of our worst crises-the Great Depression, World War II, the Korean War, the Kennedy assassination, the Vietnam War, the 1970s oil crisis, and the struggles of recent years culminating with 9/11. If I've learned one thing, it's this: You don't get anywhere by standing on the sidelines waiting for somebody else to take action. Whether it's building a better car or building a better future for our children, we all have a role to play. That's the challenge I'm raising in this book. It's a call to action for people who, like me believe in America. It's not too late, but it's getting pretty close So let's shake off the horseshit and go to work. Let's tell 'em all we've had enough.

Hi all,

Check out the financial statistics for our friends at Exxon Mobil. They could at least provide K-Y at the pumps.

Gas is now the HIGHEST it as ever been even adjusted for inflation since 1981.

Do not believe that Exxon Mobil is not a profitable

Hi there,

Just a note to tell you that my mailbox is being flooded with mail concerning gas prices and illegal immigrants. To boycott oil companies or not; to provide amnesty to illegal immigrants or not, etc.

Since I have become jaded to the various solutions proposed by the Republicans, Democrats, Sierra Club, ACLU, etc., I have elected to solve the problems as they affect me.

My response solves both my gas and illegal immigrant problems.... I have hired illegal immigrants to push my car. They're plentiful and cheaper than buying gas. Then I pay them in Pesos so they have to go home to spend it.

Don't you love it when a plan comes together?

The English Language

A clarification for foreigners and native speakers alike.

We'll begin with a box, and the plural is boxes;
but the plural of ox became oxen not oxes.

One fowl is a goose, but two are called geese,
yet the plural of moose should never be meese.

You may find a lone mouse or a nest full of mice; yet the plural of house is houses, not hice.

If the plural of man is always called men,
why shouldn't the plural of pan be called pen?

If I spoke of my foot and show you my feet, and I give you a boot, would a pair be called beet?

If one is a tooth and a whole set are teeth,
why shouldn't the plural of booth be called beeth?

Then one may be that, and three would be those, yet hat in the plural would never be hose, and the plural of cat is cats, not cose.

We speak of a brother and also of brethren,
but though we say mother, we never say methren.

Then the masculine pronouns are he, his and him, but imagine the feminine, she, shis and shim.

Let's face it,
English is a crazy language.

There is no egg in eggplant,
nor ham in hamburger;
neither apple nor pine in pineapple.
English muffins weren't invented in England.

We take English for granted.
But if we explore its paradoxes, we find that quicksand can work slowly, boxing rings are square and a guinea pig is neither from Guinea, nor is it a pig.

And why is it that writers write but fingers don't fing, grocers don't groce and hammers don't ham?

Doesn't it seem crazy that you can make amends,
but not one amend?

If you have a bunch of odds and ends and get rid of all but one of them, what do you call it?

If teachers taught,
why didn't preachers praught?

If a vegetarian eats vegetables,
what does a humanitarian eat?

Sometimes, I think all the folks who grew up speaking English should be committed to an asylum for the verbally insane.

In what other language do people recite at a play and play at a recital?

Ship by truck and send cargo by ship?

Have noses that run and feet that smell?

How can a slim chance and a fat chance be the same, while a wise man and a wise guy are opposites?

You have to marvel at the unique lunacy of a language in which your house can burn up as it burns down; in which you fill in a form by filling it out and in which an alarm goes off by going on.

Greetings all,

Just a quick note, and an invitation to join a new Amateur Radio E-List for Western Massachusetts.
The name of the list is WMARG, this acronym is for Western Mass. Amateur Radio Group.

This group(WMARG) is separate and distinct from the WMAR E-Mail list many of you are familiar with.
While the WMAR list will remain open to all Hams (and others with an interest in Amateur Radio communication), the WMARG E-Mail list will be geared towards current and future members of the Western Mass. Amateur Radio Group.

To view this new list, please use this link: http://groups.yahoo.com/group/WMARG
To subscribe on-line, please use this link: WMARG-subscribe@yahoogroups.com
To visit the QRZ.COM listing for this group, please use this link:
http://www.qrz.com/callsign/KB1PEE

73...QRT and off the key!

Sir:

With all due respect, please do not use WMARG. It already exists and is a routine participant in Field Day and the Blandford Fair every September.
I am one of the founding fathers.

If you need additional proof please ask me for our blogspot.

Greetings Alvah,

You say your group also uses the acronym WMARG. We researched on Google, other search engines and the ARRL site itself and none of these searches showed the letters "WMARG" listed and/or in use anywhere else.

I did however find the "WMASS Ham Radio Group"...this acronym would be "WHRG." It's your own web page, located at: http://www.buckmore.com/Field%20Day%202004_1.html I assume this is the group you are speaking of.
While the group names are similar, I doubt anyone will be confused by the two.

The FCC has already issued a call sign for WMARG, it's KB1PEE. So, it's a little too late to change our group's name now... here is a link to the FCC site: http://gullfoss2.fcc.gov/cgi-bin/ws.exe/genmen/uls/call_res.hts?db_id=19&rows=&callsign=KB1PEE

Good luck on Field Day in the fall, perhaps our group will work your group.

You are correct. There is a minor but important difference between the two groups and, frankly, I don't think it will confuse anyone, either. What a co-incidence! You will find our blogspot at http://wmhrg.blogspot.com. I forgot about that web-page on my web-site.

Art, WA1ART, also has another web-site at http://www.geocities.com/wmhrg/

By the way, where on earth did you come up with KB1PEE? Or was it just by chance? Interesting. We don't have our own call. Usually, we use K1TMA.

Alvah

Dear Richard:

I forgot to mention another site with the URL address of:
http://www.arrl.org/contests/soapbox/index.html?con_id=106&call=k1tma

As you can see, we have been around for quite a while.

Hello Alvah,

Nice looking website(s) much useful information on them. After we became aware of your group, we've been taking an informal poll (among fellow Hams and non Hams) as to whether of not people would confuse the two groups. The greater of those asked, while admitting that the names are similar, said they would not confuse the two.

As for the call sign...that was the one issued by the FCC. From the start, we were going to apply for a vanity call, now we have even more motivation to speed up the application!

Hello Alvah and all,

Nicely done article on the 2006 ARRL Field Day Soapbox, looks like you had a good time. Yes it would appear that your group has been around for a while, but with all due respect, when we were tossing around the idea for our groups name...No one we spoke with...and we talked it up quite a bit on the air, off the air, simplex and on repeaters ~ever~ said to us 'Ya know, there is a group in the area that already uses a name similar to that.' Had someone mentioned that, we most likely would have chosen another name. No one did, so we went with Western Mass Amateur Radio Group [WMARG]

I did Google searches, Ask Jeeves searches, Dogpile searches and God knows how many other search engines were used by other members of our group. Long story short "WMARG" and "Western Mass. Amateur Radio Group" did ~not~ come back with any hits.

Groups with a similar name can work in peace and harmony. Here is an example of two groups BOTH formed in the 1970's: I used to be a member of the Pioneer Valley Radio Association (11 Meter in Mass.). There is another group locally that used the SAME name of the Pioneer Vally Radio Association (Hams in CT.). Both groups got along fine. Footnote: The 11 Meter group disbanded and the Ham Group is going strong to this day! Link: http://www.pvra.net

I can promise you this, we will not try to recruit/steal any of your group's members, and as long as your group uses "WM-H-RG" as an acronym, and we continue to use "WM-A-RG" as ours. Our group uses the title "Western Mass. Amateur Radio Group" and your group continues to use the title "WMASS Amateur Radio Group" as you show on your blogs, there should be no confusion issues.

Long story short, Amateur Radio is a big playground, there's lots of room for all of us at the sandbox. Just remember the Amateur's Creed:

The Radio Amateur is:

- Considerate...never knowingly uses the air in such a way to lesson the pleasure of others.

- Loyal...offers loyalty, encouragement and support to their fellow radio amateurs, their local radio club, and to the American Radio Relay League, through which Amateur Radio is represented.

- Progressive...with knowledge abreast of science. It is well-built and efficient. Operating practice is above reproach.

- Friendly...slow and patient sending when requested, friendly advice and counsel to the beginner, kindly assistance, cooperation and consideration for the interests of others. These are marks of the amateur spirit.

- Balanced...radio is their hobby. They never allow it to interfere with any of the duties they owe to their home, job, church, school, or community.

- Patriotic...their knowledge and their station are always ready for the service of his country and their community.

Who wrote the Amateur's Creed?
The Amateur Creed was composed in 1928 by Paul M. Segal - then 9EEA in Denver, and General Counsel of the ARRL. The creed has been updated a few times over the intervening years, to update the text and put it into contemporary terms. The Amateur's Creed appears in a number of ARRL publications such as the Handbook, and is just as valid today as it has been for nearly 70 years.

Dear Richard:

I don't think there will be any real problem with our names on the most part. Every once in a while, however, someone may feel a bit of confusion for a moment or two. I did at first.

Incidently, there is no reason we can not share some of our resources during Field Day, such as the Blandford Mountain as an example.
It is nearly 2,000 feet above sea level and we have exclusive rights to its use for Field Day. With my Walkie-Talkie I can easily work Keene, New Hampshire, from walking on the Fair Grounds with no difficulties.

Also, we could use some help during the Blandford Fair each year. This year it is from August 31 to September 3, 2007. I can provide free tickets for all four days for each participant. See our blogspot at http:/http://bfhrb.blogspot.com/ and Blandford's web-site at http://www.theblandfordfair.com

We can really use the help, truthfully, and, at the same time, everyone can take the week-end to enjoy the Fair free of charge with his family (with the exception of the rides and the food, of course)

One of the major reasons you were unable to identify our existence is the fact you were using conventional World Wide Web resources in your research when most of our sites are located on bloggers. To locate them requires blogger search engines. Googles and others will not work. I know. I have tested them. Blogspots are not on the World Wide Web.

Respectfully,

Alvah, K1TMA

I agree with you, more likely than not, there should not be any real problems with the two group names. Kind of like men who's names are similar for example: John Smith [John Smith (22 September 1832 ? 6 November 1911), was the fifth Presiding Patriarch of The Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints], and John Smyth [(1570 - c. August 28, 1612) was an early Baptist minister of England and a defender of the principle of religious liberty. Many historians consider John Smyth as a founder of the modern Baptist denomination]. While their names sound similar, these men in fact were quite different.

I'm sure that seeing as how our two groups have, at least for now, separate and distinct goals and aspirations as to where we are/are headed, each group should be able to complement the other. The WMASS Ham Radio Group is Field Day oriented, while the Western Mass Amateur radio Group is geared towards public service events and eventually will be erecting a repeater to support those ends.

Working together is a good thing; I will forward this information on to the group members. It will be up to each individual member to decide if they wish to work that event or not. I know there is desire among the group to work our own Field Day.

Thanks for the tip. Google and the others I mentioned have worked for me so far. But then again as the Web gets bigger and software gets better, there's always something "one step up" out there.

Please note: This is regarding "Yahoo! Photos" and ~not~ the photos you may have posted onto our Yahoo! Groups.
However, I thought it best to share this info as any number of us on the list may in fact use "Yahoo! Photos."

Dear Yahoo! Photos user,

For some time now, we've supported two great photo sharing services: Yahoo! Photos and Flickr. But even good things come to an end, and we've decided to close Yahoo! Photos to focus all our efforts on Flickr ? the award-winning photo sharing community that TIME Magazine has called "completely addictive."

We will officially close Yahoo! Photos on Thursday, September 20, 2007, at 9 p.m. PDT. Until then, we are offering you the opportunity to move to another photo sharing service (Flickr, KODAK Gallery, Shutterfly, Snapfish, or Photobucket), download your original-resolution photos back to your computer, or buy an archive CD from our featured partner (for users of the New Yahoo! Photos only). All you need to do is tell us what to do with your photos before we close, after which any photos remaining on Yahoo! Photos will be deleted and no longer accessible.

Of course, we hope you'll join us at Flickr (you can even use your Yahoo! ID), but we also realize that Flickr may not be for everyone. In the end, we want you to find the service that's right for you, and we hope you take some time to learn more about your options before making this important decision.

Please give us your decision by Thursday, September 20, 2007, at 9 p.m. PDT. After that time, any photos remaining in Yahoo! Photos will be deleted. Click here to make your decision, or review a list of our frequently asked questions.

Thanks for being a part of the Web's largest photo sharing service ? we hope to see you over at Flickr!

The Yahoo! Photos team

Greetings all,

KD1XP has updated his website at http://www.kd1xp.org and I for one think the new look is great. The colors are in my opinion easier on the eyes and navigating on the site is much easier now.

The XP repeater logo is really clean. I for one, if this is available as a sticker, will be getting one. Who knows...maybe I'll bootleg some and make a profit selling them myself! <evil grin>

In any case, head on over to http://www.kd1xp.org, check it out for yourself and tell the group what you think about it.

'Nerd' taunt drove Navy man to arson

Petty Officer Russell Tavares traveled 1,300 miles to torch rival's trailer

Russell Tavares
Jerry Larson / AP

Russell Tavares, 27, was sentenced to seven years for the 2005 arson of John Anderson's mobile home after a squabble on the Internet.

ELM MOTT, Texas - A Navy man who got mad when someone mocked him as a "nerd" over the Internet climbed into his car and drove 1,300 miles from Virginia to Texas to teach the other guy a lesson.

As he made his way toward Texas, Fire Controlman 2nd Class Petty Officer Russell Tavares posted photos online showing the welcome signs at several states' borders, as if to prove to his Internet friends that he meant business.

When he finally arrived, Tavares burned the guy's trailer down.
Story continues below ↓advertisement

This week, Tavares, 27, was sentenced to seven years in prison after pleading no contest to arson and admitting he set the blaze.

"I didn't think anybody was stupid enough to try to kill anybody over an Internet fight," said John G. Anderson, 59, who suffered smoke inhalation while trying to put out the 2005 blaze that caused $50,000 in damage to his trailer and computer equipment.

The feud started when Anderson, who runs a haunted house near Waco, joined a picture-sharing Web site and posted his artwork and political views. After he blocked some people from his page because of insults and foul language, they retaliated by making obscene digitally altered pictures of him, he said.

Anderson, who went by the screen name "Johnny Darkness," traded barbs with Tavares, aka "PyroDice."

Investigators say Tavares boiled over when Anderson called him a nerd and posted a digitally altered photo making Tavares look like a skinny boy in high-water pants, holding a gun and a laptop under a "Revenge of the Nerds" sign.

Tavares obtained Anderson's real name and hometown from Anderson's Web page about his Museum of Horrors Haunted House.

Tavares took leave from his post as a weapons systems operator at the AEGIS Training and Readiness Center in Dahlgren, Va., and started driving. Investigators say he told them he planned to point a shotgun at Anderson and shoot his computer.

John Anderson looks out from the bedroom of his mobile home in Elm Mott, Texas, which was set on fire by Russell Tavares after an Internet dust-up in 2005.
Instead, when he got to Elm Mott ? after posting one last photo of a "Welcome to Texas" sign ? Tavares threw a piece of gasoline-soaked plastic foam into the back of Anderson's mobile home and lit a flare, authorities say.

Tavares' attorney, Susan Kelly Johnston, said his trip to the Waco area was a last-minute decision during a cross-country trip to visit his parents in Arizona. She said he never intended to hurt Anderson and did not think he was in the trailer when he set the fire.

James Pack, an investigator with the McLennan County Sheriff's Office, caught up with Tavares after talking to people in several states and Spain who had been involved in the online feud. Tavares' cell phone records showed he was in the Waco area at the time of the fire, Pack said.

Tavares told investigators that Anderson had spread computer viruses and insulted his online friends for too long, Pack said.

"He lost everything ? all over an Internet squabble," the investigator said.

Tavares was discharged last year from the Navy, where he earned several medals ? including the pistol expert and rifle expert medals ? in his nine-year career, said Navy spokesman Mike McLellan.

Tavares would not let the feud go even at his sentencing. According to Pack, Tavares took cell-phone photos of Anderson in the courtroom while the judge was hearing another case. Authorities ordered the photos erased.

Anderson, an ex-Marine who served in Vietnam, said he continues to be harassed online, has been startled by people knocking on his window late at night and found bullet holes in a door to his business.

Shown below , is an actual letter that was sent to a bank by an 86 year old woman. The bank manager thought it amusing enough to have it published in the New York Times.

Dear Sir:
I am writing to thank you for bouncing my check with which I endeavored to pay my plumber last month. By my calculations, three nanoseconds must have elapsed between his presenting the check and the arrival in my account of the funds needed to honor it.

I refer, of course, to the automatic monthly deposit of my entire pension, an arrangement which, I admit, has been in place for only eight years.

You are to be commended for seizing that brief window of opportunity, and also for debiting my account $30 by way of penalty for the inconvenience caused to your bank.

My thankfulness springs from the manner in which this incident has caused me to rethink my errant financial ways.

I noticed that whereas I personally answer your telephone calls and letters, --- when I try to contact you, I am confronted by the impersonal, over- charging, pre-recorded, faceless entity which your bank has become.

From now on, I, like you, choose only to deal with a flesh-and-blood person. My mortgage and loan repayments will therefore and hereafter no longer be automatic, but will arrive at your bank, by check, addressed personally and confidentially to an employee at your bank whom you must nominate.

Be a ware that it is an offense under the Postal Act for any other person to open such an envelope.

Please find attached an Application Contact which I require your chosen employee to complete.
I am sorry it runs to eight pages, but in order that I know as much about him or her as your bank knows about me, there is no alternative.

Please note that all copies of his or her medical history must be countersigned by a Notary Public, and the mandatory details of his/her financia l situation (income, debts, assets and liabilities) must be accompanied by documented proof.

In due course, at MY convenience, I will issue your employee with a PIN number which he/she must quote in dealings with me.

I regret that it cannot be shorter than 28 digits but, again, I have modeled it on the number of button presses required of me to access my account balance on your phone bank service. As they say, imitation is the sincerest form of flattery.

Let me level the playing field even further.

When you call me, press buttons as follows:
#1. To make an appointment to see me
#2. To query a missing payment.
3. To transfer the call to my living room in case I am there.
4. To transfer the call to my bedroom in case I am sleeping.
5. To transfer the call to my toilet in case I am attending t o nature.
6. To transfer the call to my mobile phone if I am not at home

#7. To leave a message on my computer, a password to access my computer is required. Password will be communicated to you at a later date to that Authorized Contact mentioned earlier.
8. To return to the main menu and to listen to options 1 through 7.
9. To make a general complaint or inquiry. The contact will then be put on hold, pending the attention of my automated answering service.

While this may, on occasion, involve a lengthy wait, uplifting music will play for the duration of the call.

Regrettably, but again following your example, I must also levy an establishment fee to cover the setting up of this new arrangement. May I wish you a happy, if ever so slightly less prosperous New Year?

Your Humble Client

(Remember: This was written by a 86 year old woman)

'YA JUST GOTTA LOVE " SENIORS" !!!!!

Hi all,

I've passed this one out before but this is good to know. With food prices on the rise, one needs to get the freshest products possible.
--------- Begin forwarded message ----------
42. When you go to buy bread in the grocery store, have you ever wondered which is the freshest, so you
"squeeze" for freshness or softness? Did you know that bread is delivered fresh to the stores five days a week? Monday, Tuesday, Thursday, Friday and Saturday. Each day has a different color twist tie.
They are: Monday = Blue, Tuesday = Green, Thursday = Red Friday = White and Saturday = Yellow. So if today was Thursday, you would want a red twist tie; not white which is Fridays (almost a week old)! The colors go alphabetically by color Blue- Green - Red - White - Yellow, Monday through Saturday. Very easy to remember. I thought this was interesting. I looked in the grocery store and the bread w rappers DO have different twist ties, and even the ones with the plastic clips have different colors. You learn som! ething new everyday! Enjoy fresh bread when you buy bread with the right color on the day you are shopping.

Pass this information on to friends so they can be informed also.

Telephone Problems

A South Dakota farm wife called the local phone company to report her telephone failed to ring when her friends called - and that on the few occasions when it did ring, her dog always moaned right before the phone rang.

The telephone repairman proceeded to the scene, curious to see this psychic dog or senile lady. He climbed a telephone pole, hooked in his test set, and dialed the subscriber's house. The phone didn't ring right away, but then the dog moaned and the telephone began to ring.

Climbing down from the pole, the telephone repairman found:

1. The dog was tied to the telephone system's ground wire with a steel chain and collar.

2. The wire connection to the ground rod was loose.

3. The dog was receiving 90 volts of signaling current when the number was called

4. After a couple of jolts, the dog would start moaning and then urinate.

5 The wet ground would complete the circuit, thus causing the phone to ring.

Which demonstrates that some problems CAN be fixed by pissing and moaning.

In order to continue getting-by in America (our home land), we all need to learn the NEW English language! Practice by reading the following conversation until you are able to understand the term "TENJOOBERRYMUDS".

With a little patience, you'll be able to fit right in with the growing trend!!

Now, here goes..

The following is a telephone exchange between a hotel guest and room-service:

Room Service (RS): "Morrin. Roon sirbees."

Guest (G): "Sorry, I thought I dialed room-service."

RS: " Rye . Roon sirbees...morrin! Joowish to oddor sunteen???"

W2NSD Wayne Green's thoughts on 911....six years on....

http://www.waynegreen.com/wayne/news.html

911 + 6
Well, here we are at the sixth anniversary of the biggest event of the 21st century…one that still has conspiracy buffs busy blogging…one that has 36% of Americans more than suspicious of the official story.
Considering educational surveys show that most Americans are functionally illiterate products of our worst-in-the-world government-run (a.k.a. Socialist) public school system, and are kept entertained with Judge Judy, Jerry Springer, Oprah, Maury Povich, reality TV, ball games, an endless series of really dumb movies, and rock or rap music, that suspicion, in itself, is remarkable. Oh, and I almost forgot being further dumbed down by fluorides in our drinking water.
Of course, those few Americans who have taken an interest in the World Trade Center attack have raised some questions which no one or group in the government has or dares answer. Obviously being more curious than average, I've taken the time to read ten books on the subject and watched videos.
There are so many questions I don't know where to start or in what order they should be. Here's a few and they'll be random.

1. Since the four flights were supposedly carrying passengers, how come a close-up of the second plane to hit the Trade Center towers, according to witnesses and a video, has no windows, a large canister under its belly, and there was a bright flash in front of the plane just before it hit the south tower?
2. How was it that the four not regularly scheduled flights were carrying so few passengers, while other flights leaving at around the same time for the same destinations were packed?
3. Why have the passenger lists for the flights never been released?
4. Why have the video surveillance tapes of the passengers being loaded on the four flights never been released?
5. How was it that the list of 19 supposed hi-jackers was able to be released so quickly after the attack?
6. How about one on the list being found by journalists to have died before 911 and six were found still alive?
7. Then there was the video of a woman testifying that when she went to work that morning she found the parking area strangely empty, with just a few cars, when normally it was packed? Further, she said the elevators, normally filled with passengers, had only a few.
8. Since it is claimed that no one above the floors where the planes crashed managed to get down, and estimates of the number of people normally working on those floors were about 17,000, why were less than 3,000 total people said to have been killed?
9. Police, fire fighters, and people escaping the buildings reported hearing a series of explosions as the buildings collapsed straight down. This suggests the buildings must have been wired with demolition charges well before the attack, though this has never been acknowledged by officials. Why would they have been so wired and kept secret?
10. The timing of the purchase of the three buildings just seven weeks before the attack for $3.2 billion by Larry Silverstein, complete with over $7 billion of insurance, raises questions.

12. The fact that never before has a steel building been brought down by fire is curious.
13. And that the buildings were over-engineered and designed to take "multiple impacts of jetliners," according to WTC construction manager Frank DeMartini
14. Fire experts have pointed out that the fuel from the planes would have quickly burned out, so the continuing burning and the color of the later flames…the same color as napalm burning, not jet fuel, were not explainable.
15. Further, the temperature at which aircraft fuel burns is far below that needed to melt steel. Yet, days after the attack, the melted steel in the ruins was still far above the fuel's burning temperature.
16. In photos taken of the massive steel columns shortly after the towers collapsed they looked like they were cut with thermite.
17. Seismographs showed two big spikes just before the towers collapsed which could only have been caused by explosions.
18. I loved finding the passport of one of the supposed hi-jackers in the street unsinged.
19. And two of the supposed hi-jackers being in a singles bar the night before and leaving behind a copy of the Koran…two things no martyrs would ever, ever do.
20. The maneuvers of the two planes hitting the towers took considerable piloting skill, something the supposed hi-jackers lacked.
21. Thousands of "put options" were sold through Morgan Stanley and Merrill Lynch in the three days before the attack on American and United Airlines, betting their stocks would drop. The identities of the investors with obvious foreknowledge of the attack has never been made public.
22. While Flight 175, which hit the South Tower was a Boeing 767 when it left the airport, the CFM56 engine found in the tower wreckage was from a Boeing 737, and not powerful enough for the 767.
23. The JT8D turbojet engine found in the Pentagon wreckage is used in the A-3 Sky Warrior fighter jet and for remotely controlled drones with missiles, not on the Flight 77 aircraft.
24. So what really happened to Flight 77 and its passengers?
25. Was there any connection to the Pentagon's missing $2.3 trillion Rumsfeld announced September tenth, and the destruction of the computer systems by the crash which could have helped solved this huge unexplainable amount?
26. WTC janitor William Rodriquez, the last person to leave the WTC alive on 9/11, has testified that he was in the first basement level of the WTC when an immense explosion went off below him in the subbasement level of the building a few seconds before the plane hit the tower high above.
27. Two traffic controllers later said that the flights which supposedly hit the towers took off from the airport, headed east over the Atlantic, disappearing from their radar screens.

Then there's Building 7, a block away from the towers, which somehow caught fire and managed to collapse in it's footprint, just like the towers. No other buildings in the area caught fire.
Larry Silverstein, the owner, was heard telling someone to "Pull it" just before Building 7 collapsed.
If the two World Trade Towers and Building 7 were prewired for demolition in secret, why, and by whom? The demolition of huge buildings like those takes days of planning and preparation.
It was claimed that none of the indestructible black boxes from the planes were recovered, yet two fire fighters, Mike Bellone and Nicholas DeMasi claim they recovered three of them, but were told by federal agents to keep their recovery secret.

Flight 93, which supposedly crashed in Pennsylvania, was reported on Cleveland TV news that morning to have been taken to a secure area of the airport.
Though the plane reportedly was crashed when the passengers revolted against the hi-jackers, the debris was spread over several miles, more indicative of its being shot down.
People in the area reported seeing a fighter shoot it down.
None of the expected plane parts or bodies were found in the wreckage.

Then there's the Pentagon, where there are no eye-witnesses of the Boeing 757 Flight 77 that supposedly crashed into the building.
The Pentagon, the most protected building in the world, and ringed with surveillance cameras, was supposedly hit by a plane that had turned off its course 45 minutes earlier and was not responding to radio questions, even though there were fighter planes just a few minutes away.
The tapes from the surveillance cameras were quickly confiscated by federal agenta and have never been made public.
Further, the tape from a nearby gas station surveillance camera was also confiscated.
People who immediately went to the crash scene found no bodies, airplane parts, or baggage in the wreckage.
The 757 had two large titanium engines, which should have made two big holes in the Pentagon. No holes.
The 160-foot plane somehow only made a 16-foot wide hole, with no engines or wings in the wreckage.
The part of the Pentagon hit was one where there had been recent construction, so there were few people there. There was no part of the Pentagon where there would have been less damage.
Though clocks near the Pentagon crash site stopped at 9:32, the official time was reported as 9:37. How come this five minute dscrepency?

The WTC was a No Fly Zone where any plane off-course within 12 miles was given a warning to change direction. If you came within 5 miles they would threaten to shoot you down. If you came within 3 miles they could shoot you down.
Though contact was lost with Flight 11 at 8:13am by the FAA, and by 8:20 it was clear that something serious was wrong, NORAD was not notified until 8:40. NORAD scrambled F-15s at Cape Cod at 8:46, at the same time as Flight 11 (if that's what it was) was crashing into the North Tower.
I wonder how come the FBI, CIA, DIA, and none of the other government intelligence agencies had a clue that this was going to happen?
I also wonder why, after six years, there hasn't been another terrorist attack of some kind? That's really weird.
Right after the Pearl Harbor attack there were conspiracy theories saying that some people knew where and when the attack was going to happen. It wasn't until sixty years later we learned the truth, when Robert Stinnett's Day of Deceit exposed that Roosevelt not only knew the where and when of the attack way ahead of time, he's the one who pushed the Japanese into attacking us in order to get us into the war in Europe. Until Pearl Harbor the American people were 80% opposed to our getting involved in Europe, and that had to be changed.
Our entering WWII made an excuse for substantially increasing the income tax, so instead of paying once a year, the IRS started taking it out of our paychecks, making the tax increase less visible. And, you know, our taxes didn't go down when the war was over. Congress just found more ways to spend.

I wonder how long it'll be before the questions about the World Trade Center attack that the official report didn't answer will be answered. The attack certainly seems to be amazingly self-serving to the Bush Administration…providing an excuse to attack Iraq and Afghanistan, plus zip through the Patriot II Act…which, curiously was all ready to be submitted to Congress. Amazing coincidence. Pfft, gone were more of our freedoms. Now anyone who even scares people can be arrested as a terrorist and kept in prison with no trial or lawyer.

Copyright and tattoos: who owns your skin?
by Cory Doctorow, September 23, 2007 10:40 PM

Jordan Hatcher did a fascinating presentation on copyright and tattoos at Gikii, last week's UK conference on copyright law. Hatcher explores the legal ramifications of tattoo artists who assert copyright over their works after they've been inked, objecting to the tatts being displayed in advertising -- and even seeking to prevent old tattoos from being erased! The presentation isn't online, but the slide deck is, and it's a really interesting read.

ENFORCEMENT: HAMS HELP NAB FLORIDA BURGLERS

Back in the U-S, three Florida juveniles who allegedly used Amateur Radio gear to coordinate at least one burglary and possibly more have been taken into custody. This, after two they showed up on a wide area repeater that two hams were monitoring. One of them was a retired police officer.

It all started back on September 8th . Albert Moreschi, AG4BV, of Jupiter Farms and John Levey, KI4HTL, of Palm Beach Gardens, were listening to the repeater when some unexpected transmissions were heard. Some unlicensed operators showed up and what they were talking about caufght KI4HTL's ear. As a retired police officer, Levey, he knew what it was being discussed. So he began recording the radio transmissions from the suspects while he and Morsechi notified local law enforcement. Unfortunately, the would-be burglars didn't describe the house well enough to get the exact address.

Then on September 21st the same group of bootleggers again showed up on the repeater. It was evident to Levey what was happening, so he again began recording the transmissions while coordinating with Morsechi by cellphone.

Meantime, the owner of the house being burglarized was huddled in her bedroom closet, calling sheriff's deputies for help. They arrived on scene and the hams listening to the repeater knew it because the last transmission from the suspects was "Code Red, Code Red, Code Red. There are cops everywhere, dude!"

But for Levey, the work didn't end with the suspects arrest. He then headed to the Jupiter Farms Sheriff's Office substation where one of the suspects had been taken. KI4HTL identified himself as a former police officer and a ham radio operator. He told the deputy on duty that he had recordings of the suspects radio transmissions. The Sheriff's Office is now in possession of the tapes.

Oh yes. We forgot to mention that the repeater that the suspects chose to use has coverage Boynton Beach to Port St. Lucie. That's several hundred square miles. Its also a Citizens Emergency Response Team Repeater so there is always someone listening in. (Palm Beach Post,

During a visit to the mental asylum, a visitor asked the Director, "How do you determine whether or not a patient should be institutionalized."

"Well," said the Director, "we fill up a bathtub, then we offer a teaspoon, a teacup and a bucket to the patient and ask him or her to empty the bathtub."

"Oh, I understand," said the visitor. "A normal person would use the bucket because it's bigger than the spoon or the teacup."

"No." said the Director, "A normal person would pull the plug. Do you want a bed near the window?"

509. Is your "Betty" ready for a new color?

Greetings all,

Here is a real review for a real product, at the bottom is a link to view the products website...

----- Begin ---

Is your "Betty" ready for a new color?

Brazilians need not worry, but for those who want to make sure that the greener pastures of your nether regions match your new dye job, there is a new product that is all the rage called "Betty: The first safe color specially formulated for the hair down there. Colors naturally, covers gray, and enhances to match your glorious locks above."

Betty Of course, there is a rainbow of colors to make sure that your Betty is pretty for those nekkid kind of adventures. There is a "Fun Betty" which is a bright pink, and apparently one of the best sellers of the bunch. I guess that's cool to celebrate your va-jay-jay in a vibrant color. How about Sparkle Betty, Tiger Betty, or Patriotic Betty? Or better yet, Martha Betty, a line of Martha Stewart approved colors. Wouldn't it be awesome to match your sheets and towels as well?

With all the serious issues that are going on in the world, I guess talking about one's Betty matching one's Heady is a nice break from all the grimness. Personally, I don't think it's a big deal if you are a Blondie upstairs and a Brunette downstairs. I'm thinking most guys wouldn't care at all either because, hey, they are just excited to be in the presence of your Betty in the first place.

Oklahoma City
Most of us remember the bombing of the Murrah federal building and the truck with the fertilizer bomb. If you'll scan through my postings you'll see that I refer to the Oklahoma City bombing as a major government cover-up. So, is this another conspiracy theory?
Okay, let's look at the facts. I've had a copy of the local Oklahoma City TV coverage right after the bombing, and I've copies available for $10 on tape as my item #54. Now I've also got it available on DVD for the same price as item #54D.
The video shows people who were in the building explaining what happened. They all say the first bomb went off in the building, blowing out the front of the building. Then, a little later, the truck exploded. Next you see the bomb squads coming and taking two unexploded bombs out of the building.
An air view shows that the truck didn't even make a hole in the ground.
Two bombs went off? The local seismographs showed two explosions, confirming this.
A bomb expert called me, explaining that fertilizer bombs make a terrible stink that hangs around for days. But not one of the reporters or people interviewed mentioned any smell.
Curiously, the government quickly had the Patriot I Act all ready for Congress to okay.
If you send for the tape of the DVD you can see the real story for yourself.
In view of the enormous number of unanswered questions about the 911 attack, which got Congress to quickly okay the Patriot II Act, it's no wonder conspiracy buffs are raising a fuss.
One wonders how the White House managed to have the two acts, which had to take weeks to months to prepare, ready at exactly the right time. Fantastic timing.

Microwaving
Though I've done my best to ignore the bad news about microwaving food, I just can't ignore the scientific evidence any longer. And I was one of the very first adopters, starting with the unit made by International Crystal some forty years ago. Well, if there was any problem the FDA or some other government agency would blow the whistle, right?
When two scientists in Switzerland did a well-controlled study of the difference to the human body between food cooked normally compared to microwaved, they found the microwaved food was far more poisonous than regularly cooked food. When they published their findings the electrical dealers association went to court and got a gag order. Further, one of the scientists was convicted of "interfering with commerce," preventing him from any further publications. It took five years to get that conviction reversed. Money talks a lot louder than health.
When Russian scientists researched the subject the result was the banning of microwave ovens in Russia. They found that just about anything they microwaved created cancer-causing carcinogens. Meat, vegetables, milk, fruit, grains, and so on. It also decreased the vitamins and minerals.
They found that microwaved food led to high blood pressure, brain damage, memory loss, decreased intelligence, emotional instability, headaches, dizziness, sleeplessness, irritability, anxiety, nervousness, hair loss, cataracts, reproductive problems (shuts down hormone production), appendicitis, and heart disease.

Better replace your microwave with a toaster oven or one of those turbo ovens. I wonder if they still sell popcorn pans.

Slow Suicide
Poison = death. Slow poisoning = misery and then death. So, does it make sense to do what we can to limit the poisons we put in and on our bodies? Alas, with industries and the government colluding to keep us ignorant of the ways we're being poisoned, we're in sorry shape and significantly shortening our lives.
Billions in advertising dollars are effectively silencing the major media. And a little extra grease keeps congress quiet. Since there's little money in health, until the web came along there was no practical way to reach very many people with honest health news.
Okay, enough hand-wringing, now the poisons that are doing a job on us. How big a problem is this really? The Centers for Disease Control and Prevention says 76 million Americans get sick every year from the foods they've eaten, 300,000 end up in the hospital, and 5,000 in the cemetery. And those are immediate reactions to food, not the long term sicknesses.
It got our attention when pet food from China killed thousands of our pets because they added melamine to the gluten in the pet food. Cough syrup contaminated with diethylene glycol (antifreeze) from China and mislabeled as glycerin, killed hundreds of people. Toothpaste from China has also been found to contain this chemical.
Melamine is made of urea and formaldehyde (piss and embalming fluid). Formaldehyde is a powerful poison, so when melamine, and some other serious poisons were found in the gluten from China some 60 million cans of pet food were recalled. Worse, the gluten used had been classed as human grade and fed to three million chickens and 56,000 pigs. I wonder how much of that ended up in chicken Mcnuggets or KFC buckets? With 13% of our gluten imported from China, that puts a new light on eating Chinese. The Chinese restaurants use of MSG is bad enough.
Formaldehyde is giving us high rates of brain cancer, lymphoma, and leukemia…the same diseases associated with aspartame (the blue stuff), which breaks down to formaldehyde at 86°, like in our bodies. We also are getting it from those plastic water bottles.
Then there's the fluoride in our town water, toothpaste and mouthwashes. It's a powerful brain poison. It's used to keep cattle docile and in prison camps to do the same for prisoners. It has no benefits whatever for teeth, other than to permanently mottle them.
You should be drinking only distilled water kept in glass bottles. You'll find an inexpensive still for your family at www.steamdistiller.com. And stop drinking water with your meals, dammit.
Aluminum is another major poison. so avoid any foods with baking powder in them, like biscuits and pancakes. Aluminum pots and pans, underarm deodorants, and medications contribute aluminum. Vaccinations are a real prize with mercury, aluminum and formaldehyde. No wonder we're seeing autism, Alzheimer's and Parkinson's blossoming.
Ah yes, mercury, a deadly poison. Dental amalgam is half mercury, which then gradually is absorbed by your body. Get those fillings removed by a dentist experienced in the procedure. The stuff is also used in cement, so avoid living in a cement house so you won't get "merked."
A good reason to wash your fruits and vegetables before eating them is to wash off any pesticides or herbicides, since these contribute to Alzheimer's, Parkinson's, and dementia. Even tiny amounts can trigger Parkinson's in some people. And, if you add some silver colloid to the wash, that'll take care of any E-coli or salmonella that might be there. You can make the collide for about a penny a gallon with my silver colloid kit.

Presumably you already know not to eat luncheon meat. It's got nitrites.
Unless you're getting your beef and chickens from a local farm where they are raised free range and organically, these are two meats to avoid. I prefer buffalo, which tastes like beef, and is raised on grass, with no hormones or antibiotics.
Of course, if you don't mind heading toward cancer, Alzheimer's and so on, then poison away. There's plenty there for everyone. Neither the government nor businesses are going to protect you. You're on your own.

11/21/07

Pants On Fire
They lied to us about Santa, the Easter Bunny and the Tooth Fairy, but…but…but…they wouldn't lie to us about Thanksgiving would they?
Good heavens, can they have they been lying about 911, Oklahoma City, UFOs, chem trails, those 72 virgins, fluorides in our water, fluoride rinses for kids, WMDs, vaccinations, dental amalgam, Mad Cows, Worst Nile disease, and Pearl Harbor? Oh, and cold fusion being a fiasco? The next thing you know they're going to admit that voting machines have purposely been programmed to be compromised.
That's all conspiracy theory claptrap, right?
Ya wanna know the real scoop on the first thanksgiving? The official story has the Pilgrims coming to America on the Mayflower and establishing Plymouth colony in 1620. It was a tough winter and half of 'em died. But they learned farming from the Indians and the 1621 harvest was just fine, so they held a celebration and lived happily ever after.
If you'll read the history you'll learn that 1621 and 1622 were both famine years. It wasn't until 1623 that they had enough to eat. And by 1624 they were growing enough to start exporting corn.
So, what changed? The original system was for, "all profits and benefits that are got by trade, working, fishing, or any other means," had to be put in a common stock and, "all such persons as are of this colony, are to have their meat, drink, apparel, and all provisions out of that common stock." The result is what you might expect. Many of the people let others do the work and took it easy.
So, in 1622, after a second lousy harvest, Governor Bradford changed the rules. No more socialism. Now each man or family had their own piece of land and could keep or trade what they produced. The free market was the end of famines and thanksgiving was in celebration.
The Jamestown settlers in 1607 did the same thing. Most of the men didn't bother working so by 1610 the 500 original settlers had been starved down to 60. They changed to a free market system and that was the end of hunger.
It turns out that people are happy to work hard for their own benefit, but less enthusiastic to work for the benefit of all…including a majority who prefer to take it easy.

It's offical.

The Pats are 14-0 and on the way to making history as long as they play at the level that they have maintained this season.

I shall keep my fingers crossed for the Pats to go all the way.

It is a great time in history to be a New England sports fan as the Sox are #1, the Celtics are doing very good, and I believe the Bruins are even doing well too.

Wouldn't it be grand if the Pats win the Superbowl, the Celts take the NBA Championship, and the Bruins take the Stanley Cup? New England is already becoming the center of the professional sports universe(IMHO) as it is.

It was not so long ago when the Sox came up short against the Yanks, the Pats were a joke in the NFL etc..time to savor the success that other areas of the country have enjoyed, at OUR expense.

DIARY OF A SNOW SHOVELER

December 8 - 6:00 PM
It started to snow. The first snow of the season and the wife and I took our cocktails and sat for hours by the window watching the huge soft flakes drift down from heaven. It looked like a Grandma Moses Print. So romantic we felt like newlyweds again.
I love snow!

December 9
We woke to a beautiful blanket of crystal white snow covering every inch of the landscape. What a fantastic sight! Can there be a more lovely place in the whole world? Moving here was the best idea I've ever had! Shoveled for the first time in years and felt like a boy again. I did both our driveway and the sidewalks. This afternoon the snowplow came along and covered up the sidewalks and closed in the driveway, so I got to shovel again.
What a perfect life!

December 12 The sun has melted all our lovely snow. Such a disappointment!
Myneighbor tells me not to worry- we'll definitely have a white Christmas.
No snow on Christmas would be awful! Bob says we'll have so much snow by the end of winter, that I'll never want to see snow again. I don't think that's possible. Bob is such a nice man, I'm glad he's our neighbor.

December 14 Snow, lovely snow! 8 inches last night. The temperature dropped to -20. The cold makes everything sparkle so. The wind took my breath away, but I warmed up by shoveling the driveway and sidewalks. This is the life!
The snowplow came back this afternoon and buried everything again. I didn't realize I would have to do quite this much shoveling, but I'll certainly get back in shape this way.
I wish l wouldn't huff and puff so.

December 15
20 inches forecast. Sold my van and bought a 4x4 Blazer. Bought snow tires for the wife's car and 2 extra shovels. Stocked the freezer. The wife wants a wood stove in case the electricity goes out. I think that's silly. We aren't in Alaska , after all.
December 16
Ice storm this morning. Fell on my ass on the ice in the driveway putting down salt. Hurt like hell. The wife laughed for an hour, which I think was very cruel.

December 17 Still way below freezing. Roads are too icy to go anywhere.
Electricity was off for 5 hours. I had to pile the blankets on to stay warm. Nothing to do but stare at the wife and try not to irritate her. Guess I should've bought a wood stove, but won't admit it to her. God I hate it when she's right. I can't believe I'm freezing to death in my own living room.

December 20

Electricity's back on, but had another 14 inches of the damn stuff last night. More shoveling! Took all day. The damn snowplow came by twice. Tried to find a neighbor kid to shovel, but they said they're too busy playing hockey. I think they're lying. Called the only hardware store around to see about buying a snow blower and they're out. Might have another shipment in March. I think they're lying. Bob says I have to shovel or the city will have it done and bill me. I think he's lying.

December 22 Bob was right about a white Christmas because 13 more inches of the white shit fell today, and it's so cold, it probably won't melt till August. Took me 45 minutes to get all dressed up to go out to shovel and then I had to piss. By the time I got undressed, pissed and dressed again, I was too tired to shovel. Tried to hire Bob who has a plow on his truck for the rest of the winter, but he says he's too busy. I think the asshole is lying.

December 23 Only 2 inches of snow today. And it warmed up to 0. The wife wanted me to decorate the front of the house this morning. What is she, nuts?!! Why didn't she tell me to do that a month ago? She says she did but I think she's lying.

December 24
6 inches - Snow packed so hard by snowplow, l broke the shovel. Thought I was having a heart attack. If I ever catchthe son of a bitch who drives that snow plow, I'll drag him through the snow by his balls and beat him to death with my broken shovel. I know he hides around the corner and waits for me to finish shoveling and then he comes down the street at a 100 miles an hour and throws snow all over where I've just been! Tonight the wife wanted me to sing Christmas carols with her and open our presents, but I was too busy watching for the damn snowplow.

December 25 Merry F---ing Christmas!
20 more inches of the damn slop tonight
- Snowed in. The idea of shoveling makes my blood boil. God, I hate the snow! Then the snowplow driver came by asking for a donation and I hit him over the head with my shovel. The wife says I have a bad attitude. I think she's a fricking idiot. If I have to watch 'It's A Wonderful Life' one more time, I'm going to stuff her into the microwave.

December 26 Still snowed in. Why the hell did I ever move here? It was all HER idea. She's really getting on my nerves.

December 27 Temperature dropped to -30 and the pipes froze; plumber came after 14 hours of waiting for him, he only charged me $1,400 to replace all my pipes.

December 28 Warmed up to above -20. Still snowed in. The BITCH is driving me crazy!!!

December 29
10 more inches. Bob says I have to shovel the roof or it could cave in. That's the silliest thing I ever heard. How dumb does he think I am?

December 30 Roof caved in. I beat up the snow plow driver, and now he is suing me for a million dollars, not only the beating I gave him, but also for trying to shove the broken snow shovel up his ass. The wife went home to her mother. Nine more inches predicted.

December 31
I set fire to what's left of the house. No more shoveling.

January 8

Feel so good. I just love those little white pills they keep giving me. Why am I tied to the bed?

Hi all,

Rumor has it that there could be a trucker's strike to protest high(price gouged) diesel fuel prices.

I will support the truckers in their effort if that should occur. $100/barrel oil(New York Mercantile) might be a good motivator for a long overdue strike of some sort.

This is NOT Europe where they have widespread mass transit and a laid-back attitude toward this disgusting worldwide price gouging by big oil/OPEC.

The media(http://www.wwlp.com) is reporting that regular gas might be hitting $4 by spring.

We sure do. Now they(http://www.wwlp.com) are saying the Bush will address the Nation on Monday to discuss the possible recession! WHO'S fault is that now??

The President of the United States always sets the tone for the country(i.e. business trends attitude, ect...) so if he caters to his oil buddies and looks the other way while they drive up the price of crude oil and retail gasoline, he is responsible, IMHO!

Civil Rights Alert ! [video]

Here's a very important video on a very important topic. There is pending legislation in the US that would criminalize speech on any topic the government deems "threatening. " The law is called H.R. 1955. It goes by the Orwellian name: "The Violent Radicalization and Homegrown Terrorism Prevention Act." It quietly passed the House by a 404 to 6 vote and at least one Congressman admits voting for it without reading it. Language in this bill makes it possible for government agents to shut down any internet site by claiming that the information shared may insight violence. Few Americans even know of the existence of this legislation let alone know what's in it. The Internet can change that - and your help is needed. View this video, then alert EVERYONE you know that our government is attempting to gut our right to free speech. Then phone and email your Senators and tell them you will not stand for this attack on our rights and our Constitution.

but what can you expect when the "prez-ident" openly states that..." the Constitution is nothing but a goddamned piece of paper..."
and your lilly-livered house and senate shiver in their boots whenever he mentions "Terror-ism", and then gladly help run that piece of paper through the shredder...

Our Constitution and Bill of Rights will soon

When you click on the website Link below, a world map comes up showing strange & dangerous things happening right now throughout the world....like terrorist activity.

The "map" updates every 300seconds...constantly 24/7. You can move the map around, zero in on any one area & actually up-load the story of what is going on.

After looking at this map it's clear that the safest places to live are either Canada, Antarctica or the north pole. And of course there is No activity in Russia, China or Iran!

Hi Dennis...

Gee, I was listening in to a conversation today about the huge Clinton surplus and the EVEN HUGER BUSH DEFICIT....!!
And the discussion of what a TRILLION dollars really is... excellent food for thought......

If I'd had the time I would have chipped in my two cents.......

It's amazing how short the attention span of the average American is.......even when it comes to TRILLIONS of dollars....

On September 10, 2001....Donald Rumsfeld was forced to publicly admit that the Pentagon could not account for $2.3 TRILLION dollars that it had spent.......
Curiously, the records that would have shed light on where all that money went were in the Pentagon,...and in WTC building 7
(the one that mysteriously "collapsed"
from minimal damages, hours after the "attack")

......and the following day.....

what happened.......??

Funny,...the matter was never brought up again,.....

Also kinda funny to consider,....as most Americans can't fathom what a TRILLION dollars really is........that $2.3 TRILLION amounts to approximately every penny that the Pentagon had been legally appropriated in the previous TEN years.....so if you subtract all the easily verifiable expenses like salaries, defense contracts, upkeep, fixed expenses, etc....
where did all the extra money come from.....and where did it go???

Now, wouldn't you like to ask the administration to explain that little "oversight"?????

Don't try it.....

No prob...Congratulations on your ULS posting.
Welcome to the ranks of Amateur Extra. Now for the VE upgrade and you'll be administering all exam elements at the MTARA Flea Market. :-)

Den,

Thanks Bro. I would think that if the FCC ULS shows the upgrade, the ARRL/VEC would have processed my upgraded VE badge on the same day.
So now, I have something to look forward to each day when I check the mail.

Ralph and group,

Trillions!

One Trillion dollars is 1 x 10^12(one times ten to the twelfth power). That is a STAGGERING sum of money.

1 trillion dollars is:

$3,333.33 for every American(300 million people).
$153.85 for every person on this planet(6.5 billion people).

$2.3 trillion dollars(2.3 x 10^12):

$7,666.67 for every one of us 300 million Americans. Couldn't YOU all use $7,666.67 to pay your heating bills, ga$ to get to work, food for your familes?

Over 51(fifty-one) MILLION JOBS paying $45,000 for one year! Now needed more than ever.

2.56 million jobs paying $45,000 per year for TWENTY years OR 255.56 million HUD Section 8 housing vouchers for $750/month for one year benefiting low to moderate income families.

If the $2.3 trillion was invested at 3% APR, it would return $69 billion in revenue each year. That $69 billion could:

Provide 1.53 million jobs paying $45,000 per year OR provide 7.67 million HUD Section 8 housing vouchers for $750/month each year benefiting low to moderate income families.

I wonder too where that money went that could help so many people.

Hi Dennis...

Gee, I was listening in to a conversation today about the huge Clinton surplus and the EVEN HUGER BUSH DEFICIT....!! And the discussion of what a TRILLION dollars really is... excellent food for thought......

If I'd had the time I would have chipped in my two cents.......

It's amazing how short the attention span of the average American is.......even when it comes to TRILLIONS of dollars....

On September 10, 2001....Donald Rumsfeld was forced to publicly admit that the Pentagon could not account for $2.3 TRILLION dollars
that it had spent.......
Curiously, the records that would have shed light on where all that money went
were in the Pentagon,...and in WTC building 7
(the one that mysteriously "collapsed"
from minimal damages, hours after the "attack")

......and the following day.....

what happened.......??

Funny,...the matter was never brought up again,.....

Also kinda funny to consider,....as most Americans can't fathom what a TRILLION dollars really is........that $2.3 TRILLION amounts to approximately every penny that the Pentagon had been legally appropriated in the previous TEN years.....so if you subtract all the easily verifiable expenses like salaries, defense contracts, upkeep, fixed expenses, etc....
where did all the extra money come from.....and where did it go???

Now, wouldn't you like to ask the administration to explain that little "oversight"?????

Don't try it.....

540. Mt.Tom Amateur Radio Association's 20th Annual Amateur Radio & Electronics Hamfest

Greetings all,

I have posted on the QRZ message board a listing about the Mt.Tom Amateur Radio Association's 20th Annual Amateur Radio & Electronics Hamfest which will be held on Saturday, March 08, 2007 at the Springfield Turnverein Club. Here is the link: http://forums.qrz.com/showthread.php?s=f9cdddb4433b76a74e2ab2c2c8f5ad00&t=151081

What I'm asking of the group is this, seeing as how if the message is not read and commented on, it "drops" down the list and is less and less likely to be read: would you please click on the above link, read the message and post a positive reply about the post/event?

Things to post would be things like:
- A great deal you found and bought last year
- A good amount of foot traffic you experienced as a seller last year.
- A Ham buddy you reconnected with.
- The friendly worker bees of the MTARA.
- Easy to find location and plenty of free parking at the Springfield Turnverein Club.
- Those great baked potatoes...
You get the idea.

Thanks in advance for helping to get and keep the word out there regarding the Mt.Tom Amateur Radio Association's 20th Annual Amateur Radio & Electronics Hamfest Interesting article, please read.

Let's see if it can come to market or will the NSA do a Section 181 seizure under the National Security Act of 1947? Many other purported devices have reportedly been seized under Section 181.

Big Oil/Energy needs protection from clean and green alternatives.

Hi all,

I'm bummed like everyone else in New England about the spoiled perfect season chance for the Pats in Super Bowl XLII this past weekend.

We need to extract the positive from this event:

No other team in the NFL has 16-0
in the regular season.

No other team in the NFL has 18-1 with a .947 "batting average" for an entire season(regular and playoff).

The 1972 Dolphins hold their record...for now.

We'll get 'em next year, we have the means.

Pitchers and catchers report in two weeks. :-)
Go Sox!

Go Celts! Go Bruins! Go Pats in 08/09!

Check out Wayne "W2NSD" Green's unique ideas at:

http://www.waynegreen.com/wayne/news.html

Write In Wayne

It’s time to clean house. And I mean the White House and the House of Representatives. Throw in the Senate, too. How about a candidate who is dedicated to cutting the government back? And one that hasn’t been a senator or congressman. Or mayor or governor. One who’s not an inbred part of the system?
Tell you what, if you’re fed up with the way things have been going write me in when you vote and I’ll clean up the government with a flurry of Presidential Orders. Like, I’ll veto every one of those earmarks that get hooked onto spending bills. I’ll cut every government department in half or better in three years. I’ll bring back our military from most of those 144 countries they’re in right now. 10,000 in England is nonsense. Ditto 10,000 in Italy and nearly 60,000 in Germany! 27,000 in Korea! 50,000 in Japan! Lordy!
How can I cut the departments? That’s easy. When I had a chain of computer stores from coast to coast my store in Washington did more business in the few weeks before the end of the fiscal year than in the rest of the year combined. The departments were busy making sure they spent their budgets so they’d be able to ask for more next year.
So, all we have to do is take the budget for the current year and make it so that any money left over at the end of the fiscal year would be split among the people in the department. The resulting cost cutting will be historic, with everyone enthusiastically cooperating. Since many departments have budgets into the billions, we’ll be seeing a lot of suddenly wealthy government employees.
Then, the next year they’ll start with the actual budget spent the previous year and again split anything left over with those still in the department. By the end of three years we’ll see much smaller and far more efficient departments. I’ll be able to cut the government down to at least half its current size.
I’d also start applying the system they used in New Zealand to turn their country around. Check my 11/16/06 post for the details. Their Department of Transportation started with 5,600 employees and finished with 53. The Forest Service had 17,000 and ended with 17. The Ministry of Works had 28,000 and ended up with one.
Congress limited the Presidents to two terms. This President would issue a Presidential Order limiting Congress to two terms. I might even cancel that sweetheart retirement benefit they voted themselves and let them enjoy the same Social Security benefits the rest of us have.
Better yet, I’ll change over to the Social Security system they have in Chile, since that would make our checks about ten times their present size, and at no extra cost to the government.
I’ll use the bully pulpit to get colleges to change to tuition-free systems and run them 50 weeks of the year so kids can graduate in three instead of four to six years, and terribly in debt.
Can I dump the Federal Reserve Banking system? I’ll have to spring that one on them suddenly, before they can have me assassinated. But heck, I’ll be 87 by then, anyway. And if they don’t get me Big Pharma will when I start giving Presidential addresses explaining how people can stop making themselves sick and recover from any illness they have without any drugs.

I'll outlaw fluoridation and aspartame. No more thimerosal in vaccinations. Hey, let's stop vaccinations. And I'll wipe out AIDS within a year. Worldwide. We'll get busy remineralizing our farm lands and get rid of chemical fertilizer and the need for any pesticides.
Instead of sending our military into other countries, we'll send economic development teams and set up U.S. Aid banks for microloans and establishing Business Incubator Groups.
If the Reserve banks or Pharma haven't had me assassinated by this time we'll get started developing practical cold fusion powered home and car units so we can dump our need for oil, coal and natural gas. Maybe I can have the first factory built in New Hampshire's North Country, which desperately needs a new industry.
I'll get rid of the present public school system and replace it with one which encourages kids to be creative and lets them learn what they want because they want. And I'll make sure parents have the latest information on how to have children with an average 150 IQ.
We have the potential for a fantastic country if we can stop ourselves from re-electing the same crooks over and over and clean house. We need to start raising the poor to the middle class and raise the middle class to upper middle class. We sure don't need 25% of our GDP going to 2% of the people. And, like New Zealand, we'll put an end to the national debt.
Yes, I'll close our borders and start returning illegals. It's nice that they work so cheap, but that's just dragging down everyone's paychecks.
You'll love my plans for cutting our prison expenses by about 90%, and doing a far better job of rehabilitating the prisoners. Lordy, two million prisoners at $30,000 a year each. That's $60 billion, mostly wasted!
And all you have to do is decide you're fed up with being screwed and write me in as your next President. We're spending over $1 trillion for food that's making us sick and over $2 trillion to the medical industry to stop the pain. We're monumental brainwashed suckers. Is there any chance you can wake up your family and maybe a few friends?

Hi all,

Fidel Castro has resigned due to ill health in favor of his brother Raul Castro, who will succeed Fidel after 49 years of iron fisted communist rule. Make no mistake, Cuba will remain one if the last communist bastions on the planet under Raul Castro BUT maby Raul will eventually let up on the opression enough to get us to lift the nearly 50 year embargo.

If the embargo is lifted someday, then well heeled car collectors from all over this country will be chartering jets to fly to Havana to buy up maby the largest cache of classic American automobiles in the Western Hemisphere. I could envision Jay Leno flying to Cuba along with a few of his collector buddies like kids in a candy store with lots of cash to spend.

Some of those Cuban classics could even show up around here at local cruise nights as some of the local collectors are able to spend enough money to make that happen.

The cars down there are pretty much in good shape in service as daily drivers and are in restorable condition. I saw a documentary on PBS and the Cubans are chomping at the bit to sell their cars to American car collectors as these cars will "command serious money."

Raul will eventually let up on the opression enough to get us to lift the nearly 50 year embargo.

If the embargo is lifted someday, then well heeled car collectors from all over this country will be chartering jets to fly to Havana to buy up maby the largest cache of classic American automobiles in the Western Hemisphere outside the United States. I could envision Jay Leno flying to Cuba along with a few of his collector buddies who would be like kids in a candy store with lots of ca$h to spend.

Some of those Cuban classics could even show up around here at local cruise nights as some of the local collectors are able to spend enough money to make that happen.

The cars down there are pretty much in good shape in service as daily drivers and are in restorable condition. I saw a documentary on PBS and the Cubans are chomping at the bit to sell their cars to American car collectors as these cars will "command serious money."

First of all, I am not a Queer Near Vermonter! Remember, you hold the title of, " UNDERWEAR KING!" remember the WalMart incident??? Wow, with all them repeaters you have no RF activity. I know you don't like Echolink, but we have a rather large radio system that covers from Brooklyn, NY to up into the Catskills Mtns around Monticello NY (about 160 miles) with consant chatter and alot of fun, kinda like the old days on '985 with dumbo N1OOU, remember him? If you go to West Springfield, Ma. around exit 5 on Rt. 91 south where there's that high spot, you can hear our 2 meter repeater on 147.535 (KC2EHA/R) about 1/2 scale and get into it. I got into it when I came back from Vermont this past visit from that point. We had a ham from Boston get into it this past summer with 100 watts and a yagi. I have visited those websites from time to time, nice setup! Okay now I know your still alive and well. Take care and say hello to all.--------Dave Nerd pick up lines...

- You, me, here? this couldn?t be any better if I programmed the holodeck myself!

- Your mouth says, ?Shields up!? but your eyes say, ?A hull breach is imminent.?

- Honey, you?ve been looking for love in Alderaan places!

- I may look like an Ewok, but I?m all Wookie where it counts, baby.

- What?s a girl like you doing in a place like this when there?s a Farscape marathon on right now on the Sci-Fi channel?

- I?ve been told I have the cool sexual prowess of a Romulannce you make love to a man with Vulcan ears on you never go back.

- How ?bout I slip into something more comfortable? like these STAR TREK VOYAGER pajamas!

- Someone must have shot you with a phaser set on ?stunning?.

- Tell me of this thing you humans call (pause) love.

- Forgive my Kirk-like boldness, but you wanna go back to my mom?s place and watch ?Dr. Who??

- Nice Asimov.

- With my IQ and your body we could begin a race of genetic super-children to conquer the earth.

- If I were an enzyme, I?d be helicase so I could unzip your genes.

- I less than three you. (I <3 you)

- Would you like to be the numerator or the denominator?

- What?s your sine? It must be pi/2 because you?re the 1.

- You?re like an exothermic reaction; you spread your hotness everywhere!

- You know, it?s not the length of the vector that counts; it?s how you apply the force.

- Hi, I?m writing a new make-out program. Would you like to join the beta-test?

Greetings all,

This is your semi-annual reminder that the Daylight Saving Time change will occur Sunday, March 09, 2008 at 2 a.m. At that hour you should ADVANCE your clock by one hour to read 3 a.m. Daylight Saving Time has been extended by four weeks. This practice, which began last year in 2007, was due to the passage of the Energy Policy Act in 2005.

I'd hate to hear of anyone missing a sked because they forgot to change their clocks for local time. For the record, UTC time will ~not~ be effected by the changing of clocks in the USA.

Subject: [WA1UOL_PandM_Net] Set Your Clocks Ahead On March 09, 2008

Greetings all,

This is your semi-annual reminder that the Daylight Saving Time change will occur Sunday, March 09, 2008 at 2 a.m. At that hour you should ADVANCE your clock by one hour to read 3 a.m. Daylight Saving Time has been extended by four weeks. This practice, which began last year in 2007, was due to the passage of the Energy Policy Act in 2005.

I'd hate to hear of anyone missing a sked because they forgot to change their clocks for local time. For the record, UTC time will ~not~ be effected by the changing of clocks in the USA.

Whos dumb idea and who voted on this "act"?

Energy, ya right!

Is this a Bush idea? Dumb ass. Hey, I can pick on him, I voted for the jerk.

on the hill, on the rotary.

Lynda for president!

Although Bush told Dennis times are good, I have no idea what that means.

Hey J, what about 94?

What about Massachusetts?

What about Mr. Paul?

not stop talking about him and how he wishes gas was more to help him!

He gets on 94 all the time and challanges anyone to challange him, the dummy.

What about the average 94 conversation?

You see the fun N1QNV we are having, you need to get into this.

The weather net on 76 is so slow and boring, that by the time they are through conducting one session of it, the weather has already changed. And as far as excitement well....did you ever wonder what it would be like to jam an ice pick under a toenail or two? Personally, I would rather move a crappy camper and eat old off brand hot dogs!!

Big Oil needs to be brought to heel with their excessive price gouging selling the product and bidding up their own $105/barrel(42 gallons) for light sweet crude is OUTRAGEOUS!!!! This pigsh*t goes far beyond fair market activity, IMHO.

Yeah Dennis thats what you'll do. Big Oil would look at you and go "Flick" right in the forehead!I'm sorry to say but the $4 a gallon gas is coming and it will be here to stay unless it goes even higher. We will never, NEVER see gas prices below $3 a gallon again! This country will be the biggest Shoe, Bike, and Rickshaw consuming country the world has ever seen in the next 5 years! Greenpeace wants to rid the globe of fossil fuels, and Big Oil wants to keep alternative fuels DEAD! So..."These boots are made for walkin', my cars run out of gas, we should have payed attention, and kicked Big oil in the ASS!"

Some P and M's from the hills.........

I'm sick of.......

....people who don't cut all the headers off of things they forward...
(the spammers love all those new email addresses!)
Is it really that hard to highlight them and hit delete???????

(I just love opening all those foolish envelopes to finally get to something I've probably already seen.....)

.....(also, people who don't use BCC..(blind carbon copy) when forwarding to millions of "friends")

......Self-proclaimed computer guru's who forward all the ridiculous hoaxes they get in their emails without ever checking their validity !!

.....(It's so easy, ...type the subject of the email and the word "hoax" into your google search box,
.......bingo..you'll know if it's a hoax!)

.......Email group owners that feel the need to send out the same ridiculous messages each month, month after month, supposedly to insure that their group stays active.....
how many times do we have to see those same stupid messages???????????

.......people that send the same stupid email message to every email group under the sun,...(and most of the ones I belong to)....so I get 65 million copies of the same message I wasn't interested in reading anyway..........

.......email group owners that feel the need to "control" everything...... we have rules against that....stay on topic....end of discussion,..period!.... please use the "accepted" formats and protocols...only posts of this "type"
and using these "terms"......Jeez!!!

Get yourself a friggin' repeater if you wanna be a "CONTROL" Operator !!!!!

God knows, we could sure use a few more damn repeaters that no one uses....
Someday the few hams that are left will each have several of their own personal repeaters, so they can each quietly listen to no one in the world talking to them....

,,,,,,Bush and Cheney.....McCain....Barack Obama...Billary and Hilary..... and politics in general.....

Get the message, folks, ...if you're "in" American Politics, you're waving around millions of corrupt dollars to get elected,.....and as soon as you get elected, you're gonna spend billions of dollars ripped from the pockets of poor slobs like us, to line the pockets of your "sponsors" and "friends" that already have more money than they'll ever use in a zillion lifetimes.......and it doesn't matter what your name is,...or what party you decide to affiliate with....(at this particular time)...

it's the "system".....the American way.......

It's all bull......and they're all full of it.

Bah, humbug....

How'd ya like that, Richie and Jamie?

Hi
As many of you know,
I work at a local elementary school.
Well, I know of one kid at our school,
and another one who has moved on to junior high,
who are both very interested in radio.
They have a couple 11M radios but need a pair of base CB antennas and some coax
to be able to communicate.
If anyone out there has any antennas or coax they'd like to pass along to a couple of nice kids, please let me know.
The "low-profile" CB antennas like Antron 99,
Big-sticks, or similar would be preferred to keep their moms happy!

Many thanks,

Hi Ed
Many thanks for the offer!
As for low profile, I meant without a lot of radials sticking out, just a vertical antenna would be best if possible.
I live in Ashfield and work in Whately.
I see you're in Agawam.
How would you like to get together?
Or if you see Kd1xp often ...
he can get it to me or the school, I'm sure.
Let me know
Thanks again

Hey, why don't you put a new picture on the front page, like that 100 bill or something. In fact, send an automated message to remind you of this message.

Hi all,

I was listening to "Coast To Coast AM" and George Noory had Sean David Morton on during the first hour to comment on the recent action by our Federal Reserve Chairman Ben Bernanke to dump $200 billion into the loan market.

Sean says that should set the stage for hyperinflation this spring and summer. Ga$ should be $5 and Diesel should go for $6-6.60/gal. Diesel is already $4.189 at the Broad Street truck stop in Springfield, MA.

It could be a bumpy ride on our bicycles.

i have upgraded my tesla radiant energy device! it charges even faster than before, to me this is really exciting because i have finally started getting results that can make a difference in making power for a home. of course there are still tons of variables to test, but now the project is getting interesting. it further supports the patents claim of surface area yeilding higher energy results. so now i have added two larger 6' by 4' panels of aluminum
in my attic, and sooo soo thankful that my neighbor was nice enough to let me use them for my experiment. without his contribution i would be waiting to make some money to buy my own supplies, and it would have wasted alot of time. i hope this gets more people

interested, i waited awhile before posting this video to show that indeed there is something going on. right now it shows that it can collect, ions,static, earth capacitance, cosmic rays, high energy em waves. i still hope you try this out, i give you the details how to build it in my earlier videos. i will still post the link of the patent description and then i will post the new videos i just recorded today, PLEASE DONT BE GREEDY, I AM SHARING MY OPEN SOURCE WORK FOR YOU TO COPY AND UPGRADE, IF YOU DO FIND HELPFUL INFORMATION
HELP ME OUT AS WELL AS OTHERS WHO ARE DOING THE SAME, I HOPE YOU RESPECT THE GREATEST SCIENTIST OF ALL TIME AS WELL, NIKOLA TESLA, WITHOUT HIM I WOULDNT EVEN BE THINKING ABOUT A RADIANT ENERGY COLLECTOR, NO ONE EVER TOLD ME ABOUT COSMIC RAYS IN HS OR IN COLLEGE.
WITHOUT TESLAS THEORETICAL WORK AS WELL AS PROVEN CONCEPTS ALOT OF OUR TECHNOLOGY WOULDNT BE HERE, YES EVEN THE INTERENET IS AN IDEA OF TESLAS, 100 YRS AGO!! HE WOULD HAVE SUCCEEDED IF THE RICH WERENT SOO GREEDY. THANKS FOR READING, WE ALL GOT TO COME TOGETHER AS A PEOPLE

Hi everyone,...and Happy Easter !

Sending this out again, as a reminder.....

still looking for CB base antennas for a couple of nice kids got a couple replies, but no antennas yet.....

Ed, can you bring yours to Mt.Tom meeting and give it to KD1XP ?
When is the next meeting?

TUC, can we set up a meeting in Whately early some morning?
Can meet you between 6 --6:30 am......

Any others out there have any CB base antennas like bigsticks, antron 99, or some good lengths of coax and connectors,....

They probably could use a couple of mounting brackets, too.....wall or peak mounts, maybe

Thanks and 73,

Hi
As many of you know,
I work at a local elementary school.
Well, I know of one kid at our school,
and another one who has moved on to junior high,
who are both very interested in radio.
They have a couple 11M radios but need a pair of base CB antennas and some coax
to be able to communicate.
If anyone out there has any antennas or coax they'd like to pass along to a couple of nice kids,
please let me know.
The "low-profile" CB antennas like Antron 99,
Big-sticks, or similar would be preferred to keep their moms happy!

Many thanks,

I didn't read it at all...
I just wrote it....

guess you better join the "P and M about the P and M net Group" hihi and why won't XP EVER answer a question???? guess he doesn't want me at his breakfast.....

well, jack does......
maybe I'll have to start the WA1UOL breakfasts....

I give up,....I'm gonna go watch trains....

or the red sox......

Right!

Screw it!

April 5th Dummy at 8 AM

Heck with the gay Red Sox or baseball, I think 94 fits in there somewhere?

Jack Bennett is the best, it will be nice to see this crew at once!

Ya, what a busy day, Freddie is all tanked up!

Ten is 10 on Ten.......

now who could argue with that?

Double Kielbasa and Onions is on HF....
what is the world coming to....?

And where were you, Jack.....you missed all the fun?

anybody around....Twenty eight...three five four.....???

Geez, I miss hearing that........

Ten is 10 on Ten.......

now who could argue with that?

Double Kielbasa and Onions is on HF....
what is the world coming to....?

And where were you, Jack.....you missed all the fun?

anybody around....Twenty eight...three five four.....???

Geez, I miss hearing that........

Yeah, Freddie's having a ball now.

He sounded like an old pro almost last night when I made the first HF contact with him. Freddie's got a QSL card coming now.

Now I need another 10 meter rig as my VCO popped after the contact.

Hi all,

We were having a QSO on 145.130 this morning with Freddie about Tim, WA1HLR and I found a link about his WBCQ shortwave radio show.

Tim is also "world" famous for his lively QSO's on 3885 kHz AM phone.

652. CB donations for kids?

Hi,
As many of you know, I work in a local elementary school, and recently, have been involved in trying to connect a couple of kids via radio. I set them up with CB radios, power supplies, and wire dipoles. The dipoles didn't quite make it as they live in different towns, so I was asking for donations of a couple base antennas. Well, a couple of those are promised, but not yet delivered....still waiting.....
Well, the whole situation has snowballed...first, one kid and then a couple more....and so on..
So I've set up a few more kids with radios, power supplies and antennas.Now my supplies are almost exhausted and I still have a waiting list of 5 kids.....and it seems to grow every time I walk down the hall.
So I'm asking for any donations of old CB equipment to help the kids out....base stations, mobiles and power supplies, base and mobile antennas, coax, masts , brackets, etc. etc.
Pretty much anything CB related would be appreciated.

Many thanks for any help you can provide in getting youngsters interested in radio.
Maybe later on, some of them will become hams.

Well, Ed,

It's like anything with a group of kids....some are really interested in radio... many are interested in the social aspect of being able to talk to their friends....and some just don't want to miss out on something new.....

It's a small town rural elementary school we're dealing with... a good bunch of kids without a lot to do...
I'd rather see them staying at home, fiddling with a radio and talking with their friends....than glued to the boob tube or mesmorized with the myriad of mindless mayhem available in video gaming,...or doing all the other things that will lead them down the wrong paths in life.....

If we eventually get a new ham or two,
and help keep a few kids away from trouble for awhile,.....

I'd say it's been well worth our efforts........

Subject: [WA1UOL_PandM_Net] CB donations for kids?

Hi,
As many of you know, I work in a local elementary school, and recently, have been involved in trying to connect a couple of kids via radio. I set them up with CB radios, power supplies, and wire dipoles. The dipoles didn't quite make it as they live in different towns, so I was asking for donations of a couple base antennas. Well, a couple of those are promised, but not yet delivered....still waiting.....
Well, the whole situation has snowballed...first, one kid and then a couple more....and so on..

So I've set up a few more kids with radios, power supplies and antennas.Now my supplies are almost exhausted and I still have a waiting list of 5 kids.....and it seems to grow every time I walk down the hall.
So I'm asking for any donations of old CB equipment to help the kids out....base stations, mobiles and power supplies, base and mobile antennas, coax, masts , brackets, etc. etc.
Pretty much anything CB related would be appreciated.

Many thanks for any help you can provide in getting youngsters interested in radio.
Maybe later on, some of them will become hams.

Who cares about the Franklin County net! That net can drop off the face of the earth for all I care, right ZOJ?

If it is the Hampshire County net, it is 7:30 PM.

I love the freeness of this group!

Free....what,...didn't I send you your bill yet???

Dummy,....dupa....

I think Ed was referring to your ares net on 145.13,....

(not the other ARES one on 146.985 pl 136.5 at 9pm) and since yours covers both hampshire and franklin counties.....

maybe it should be the FrankHam ares net.....

there's alot of FRANKHAMS right here!

and, by the way, YOU live in Franklin county....

and get on 28.455 mhz anytime, Freddie and I are having a blast!

where's Jack?????

Here we go Ed, from the Western MA Amateur Radio site,

That is because they all talk about nothing, over and over again.

So do we!, but we will cut down to make the times work.

POOPIE HEADS.....Poopie heads....???????

How dare you,.... you Hamp Transplant into Hillbilly Country????

You, sir , obviously, know nothing of which you speak.....

I was a pioneer in the field ......of amateur radio dx'ing.

(Hmm, ...seems I've heard that somewhere before.......???)

Get a life, you dx'er wannabee.....you make one stinking contact into Portugal on 20M with your piss-weak indoor alligator clip dipole,.... and you think you're the King of Radio......you brainless blowhard !

Flippin' Freddie could work Portugal with a G D MEGAPHONE...... he wouldn't even need a radio....just listen to his voice... one "....cellulous phone...." and Africa would be coming back to him!!!

(Probably, telling him to shut up,....but that's beside the point....)

So take your stinking club and put it.....somewhere....... and while you're at it, how 'bout voting out that jerk of a president,....
he's worse than the member....and I hope you charge yourself really big dues!

And where did you get your Doctorate in PC anyway?
must be Political Correctness 'cause you obviously know nothing about Personal Computers..... better take that off your signature before someone tries to cram your RAM where the sun don't shine.....

Hi Jamie hihi !!!

So get on 10m and join the fun ... anybody around 28.......4......5........5 ?????

Well excuuuuuuuuuuuuuuse me Mr. God of ham radio! I'm sorry to have offended you. You see, it's just that "I" moved where Potugal on 20 meters "is" possible with just a Piss-ant Dipole. You people have to use mega power and antennas from the flat lands. Hope you enjoy town to town "DX" on 10 meters "Because this is the only signal, you people are going to get!" "Your days of picking up the mic, and getting a hold of some other country, are over!!" We hillbillies are on top of the mountain and therefore sir, that makes us KING of the airwaves! And as far as the PCMD stuff goes, I did get my PhD in computers, see all you have to do is be able to turn it on with out getting out the instruction manual and your all set. Ralph, you better find yours! BTW, Its the big button on the front!!Shhhhhhh!
Hi Hi right back at ya buddy!!

Ham radio might be fun again???

You get so pissed off listening to 94, you forget that there is other things like 900 mHz and 10 meters.

Ham radio might be fun again???

You get so pissed off listening to 94, you forget that there is other things like 900 mHz and 10 meters.

Thanks to Ed KB1NWH and Tuc N1QFT for the donation and delivery of an antron 99
this morning
It has already been passed along to a great kid and he was going to try to get it up tonight the fibreglass was in rough shape so I wrapped it with black tape so he could handle it better many thanks guys

also got a cobra mobile rig waiting for a small 12v power supply and a mobile magmount if anyone has any to donate ???? or any other cb stuff?

and some great news.....
I had 2 different kids come up and ask me today for info on getting their ham licenses......
I think my project is working!!

Hi all,

The inaugural session of the KD1XP Repeater Group 455 Net was a good one. We had seven check-ins.

Check-ins:

AB1FC, Alex, Chicopee
KB1MU, Dave, Wilbraham
KD1XP, Richard(NCS), Sunderland
N1KKO, Fred, North Hadley
N1QKO, Eric, Ware
N1WYU, Dennis, Lyden
WA1UOL, Ralph, Ashfield
WB1EHD, Dennis(@N1KKO), North Hadley

Everyone sounded good as 10 meters was nice and quiet with very good groundwave conditions.

10 meters can still be a lot of fun even during solar minimum using groundwave for local ragchews.

Greetings all,

Question regarding equipment used: Are/were most of the antennas used polarized vertically, or horizontally?

While not able to be part of the round table, I know attempting to work/hear a number of these station, I have difficulty.

doze = what does this mean?

Sounds like some kind of dummy from Chester or something.

Sorry, Dennis... but all but N1QKO were on vertical, too most are using Antron 99's or similar.....
KD1XP was on an R-7...
Eric from Ware was amazing with a G5RV in the attic.

Vertical Polarization for the antenna on 10M....

Horizontal polarization for the operator.....hihi

It's Friday April 4th....Richard KD1XP's Birthday !!!!!
So make sure you wish him a happy birthday!

and try to come to the Sugar Shack breakfast tomorrow Sat.April 5...

The ANNUAL Sugar Shack Breakfast
This upcoming Saturday the 5th of April at:

North Hadley Sugar Shack

181 River Drive

Hadley, MA

Get there at 8 AM or before (it is better).

This is place of the regular Sullys breakfast spot this month.

ALL homemade items for breakfast!

And take a moment to remember our old friend, who is a silent key and also had a birthday on April 4th.....

Joe Deyette WA1WRM.......Joe, we miss you!

Hi all,

Rich, N1KXR and myself went railfanning in West Springfield last night. We started at the West End of the CSX yard near CP100 and waited for the #530 bound for Chicago to get done switching and depart.

We then headed over to the bridge near CP103 to catch the #530 as he headed out toward Selkirk, NY and eventually Chicago.

Got a treat as an eastbounder passed under the bridge at the same time as the #530 was going west with a 400 axel count over CP103.

CSX is quite busy despite the worsening economic conditions.

73,
Den

Memo to Petraeus & Crocker: More Laughs, Please

Once again it is time to bid aloha to that sober team of mirthless entertainers, Petraeus & Crocker.
It's hard to imagine where you could find another pair of such sleep-inducing performers.
I can't look at Petraeus – his uniform ornamented like a Christmas tree with honors, medals and ribbons – without thinking of the great Mort Sahl at the peak of his brilliance. He talked about meeting General Westmoreland in the Vietnam days. Mort, in a virtuoso display of his uncanny detailed knowledge – and memory – of such things, recited the lengthy list ("Distinguished Service Medal, Croix de Guerre with Chevron, Bronze Star, Pacific Campaign" and on and on), naming each of the half-acre of decorations, medals, ornaments, campaign ribbons and other fripperies festooning the general's sternum in gaudy display.
Finishing the detailed list, Mort observed, "Very impressive!"
Adding, "If you're twelve."
(As speakers, both Petraeus and Crocker are guilty of unbearable sesquipedalianism, a word wickedly inflicted on me by my English-teaching mother. It's one of those words that is what it says. From the Latin, literally "using foot-and-a-half-long words." We all learned the word for words that sound like what they say – like "click" or "pop" or "boom" or "hiss" – but I'm sure the mercifully defunct Famous Writers School surely forbade using the "sesqui" word and "onomatopoeia" in the same paragraph. (You can have fun with both of them at your next cocktail party.)
But back to our story. Never in this breathing world have I seen a person clog up and erode his speaking – as distinct from his reading – with more "uhs," "ers" and "ums" than poor Crocker.
Surely he has never seen himself talking: "Uh, that is uh, a, uh, matter that we, er, um, uh are carefully, uh, considering." (Not a parody, an actual Crocker sentence. And not even the worst.)
These harsh-on-the-ear insertions, delivered in his less than melodious, hoarse-sounding tenor, are maddening. And their effect is to say that the speaker is painfully unsure of what he wants, er, um, to say.
If Crocker's collection of these broken shards of verbal crockery were eliminated from his testimony, everyone there would get home at least an hour earlier.
Petraeus commits a different assault on the listener. And on the language. In addition to his own pedantic delivery, there is his turgid vocabulary. It reminds you of Copspeak, a language spoken nowhere on earth except by cops and firemen when talking to “Eyewitness News.” Its rule: never use a short word where a longer one will do. It must be meant to convey some misguided sense of “learnedness” and “scholasticism” — possibly even that dread thing, “intellectualism” — to their talk. Sorry, I mean their “articulation.”

No crook ever gets out of the car. A “perpetrator exits the vehicle.” (Does any cop say to his wife at dinner, “Honey, I stubbed my toe today as I exited our vehicle”?) No “man” or “woman” is present in Copspeak. They are replaced by that five-syllable, leaden ingot, the “individual.” The other day, there issued from a fire chief’s mouth, “It contributed to the obfuscation of what eventually eventuated.” This from a guy who looked like he talked, in real life, like Rocky Balboa. And there’s nothing wrong with that.

Who imposes this phony, academic-sounding verbal junk on brave and hard-working men and women who don’t need the added burden of trying to talk like effete characters from Victorian novels?

And, General, there is no excuse anywhere on earth for a stillborn monster like “ethnosectarian conflict,” as Jon Stewart so hilariously pointed out.

What would the general be forced to say if it weren’t for the icky, precious-sounding “challenge” that he leans so heavily on? That politically correct term, which was created so that folks who are legally blind, deaf, clumsy, crippled, impotent, tremor-ridden, stupid, addicted or villainously ugly are really none of those unhappy things at all. They are merely challenged. (Are these euphemisms supposed to make them feel better?) And no one need be unlucky enough to be dead or hideously wounded anymore. Those unfortunates are merely “casualties” — a sort of restful-sounding word.

(I have a friend who would like the opportunity to say to our distinguished warrior, “General Petraeus, my son was killed in one of your challenges.”)

Petraeus uses “challenge” for a rich variety of things. It covers ominous developments, threats, defeats on the battlefield and unfound solutions to ghastly happenings. And of course there’s that biggest of challenges, that slapstick band of silent-movie comics called, flatteringly, the Iraqi “fighting forces.” (A perilous one letter away from “fighting farces.”) The ones who are supposed to allow us to bring troops home but never do.

Petraeus’s verbal road is full of all kinds of bumps and lurches and awkward oddities. How about “ongoing processes of substantial increases in personnel”?

Try talking English, General. You mean more soldiers.

It’s like listening to someone speaking a language you only partly know. And who’s being paid by the syllable. You miss a lot. I guess a guy bearing up under such a chestload of hardware — and pretty ribbons in a variety of decorator colors — can’t be expected to speak like ordinary mortals, for example you and me. He should try once saying — instead of “ongoing process of high level engagements” — maybe something in colloquial English? Like: “fights” or “meetings” (or whatever the hell it’s supposed to mean).

I find it painful to watch this team of two straight men, straining on the potty of language. Only to deliver such . . . what? Such knobbed and lumpy artifacts of superfluous verbiage? (Sorry, now I’m doing it…)

But I must hand it to his generalship. He did say something quite clearly and admirably and I am grateful for his frankness. He told us that our gains are largely imaginary: that our alleged “progress” is “fragile and reversible.” (Quite an accomplishment in our sixth year of war.) This provides, of course, a bit of pre-emptive covering of the general’s hindquarters next time that, true to Murphy’s Law, things turn sour again.

Back to poor Crocker. His brows are knitted. And he has a perpetually alarmed expression, as if, perhaps, he feels something crawling up his leg.

Could it be he is being overtaken by the thought that an honorable career has been besmirched by his obediently doing the dirty work of the tinpot Genghis Khan of Crawford, Texas? The one whose foolish military misadventure seems to increasingly resemble that of Gen. George Armstrong Custer at Little Bighorn?

Not an apt comparison, I admit.

Custer sent only 258 soldiers to their deaths.

collecting dust?
I need a tone squelch board that will work in an Alinco DR 510t....Alinco or something else I can adapt to it???
Only need PL encode...can live without decode.
Any help?

Also , still looking for CB stuff for the kids at my elementary school.... have a mobile ready, but need a small power supply and antenna for it.

Any contributions are much appreciated by the kids,....and me.
Thanks! And thanks again to those who have already donated stuff!

Tuc, any luck with those other antennas?

Johnny, have you had a chance to dig any of that stuff out yet?

698. Federal Rebate Check

The federal government is sending each and every one of us a $600 rebate.
If we spend it at Walmart, the money will go to China.
If we spend it on gasoline, the money will go to the Arabs.
If we purchase a computer it will go to India.
If we purchase fruit and vegetables it will go to Mexico, Honduras and Guatemala.
If we purchase a good car, it will go to Japan.
If we purchase useless crap it will go to Taiwan? and none of it will help the American economy.
The only way to keep the money here at home is to buy prostitutes, weed, beer and tattoos since these are the only products still produced in the USA.
Thank you for your help and please support the US.

Rich, Dennis, Ralph, Jamie,

Sick of the crap this week! Lets have fun over here and express or concerns, what say? Time to let loose.

1st order of business, I threw any radio with 94 in it, out the window, best move yet, right Jamie?

2nd order of business, everyone, mind your own business, did I say that right?

3rd order of business, if you do not like what you hear on 13/200/45, screw it, shove it up your ass, that is to the point.

4th order of business, N1ZOJ is the best, how many can we name that are the worse?

5th order of business NECR dispatcher CAF sounds cute, like caba girl from Yellow Cab, cute.

Lastly, ham radio is worthless right now.

Is this bitching and moaning? HAHA!

So maybe I can hear 13 up here. If I hear nothing, is that 13? Thanks for all the nice comments about me, I dont think I am the best, but I do know a few who are the worst, HI HI!! This is why I upgraded so I could get away from some of the douche-bags on VHF. Yes even way up here we have our share on 76. These Mooballic Bastards actually think they have some sort of Brain!! Let's look at an example, shall we?

Control Op: Ok now what is your current temp?

Answering Station: UUH DUH, I think its around like maybe 47, no wait ummmm 36, no no that was the low, wait I'll get it ummm forty umm one I think.....

Me Unkeyed: Look at the goddanm thermometer MORON!!!!!!!!! It's like your eyes is glued the f*ck shut!!

Answering station: ....ummm with a barometer of ummm 29 no 28 point 6 or something and I think its falling, yes, yes it its! Its falling!......

Me Unkeyed: OOOOHHHHHH i'm so proud of you, you got that one!! Yay Clap clap!!

Control Op: I'm sorry could you repeat your temp again there was some noise on your signal......

Me Unkeyed: Good God!!

So folks, there you have it, a weather net that takes longer to get through than it does to produce one of these people and is more painful to sit through than jumping naked on a huge pile of thumbtacks!!

IMHO!

I agree 101%.

I will do my part to make 13 a railfan repeater and Mike will do his when he's down at the yard besides uploading good pix from the cellcam to FHCS. If ga$ was cheaper we could put someone down in Palmer and relay up through on 13 while chasing the job up through Three Rivers, Belchertown and Amherst.
That used to be a blast in the 90's when I went to Palmer from the then Conrail yard to catch NECR jobs if Conrail was slow.

Time for electirc or greengas cars.

Rich,
Thought this story might bring you out of the woodwork!
Yea, your right about it seeming to be that the a-holes are everywhere in life!
As for the list...that might take a lot of printer time, paper and ink!

Hey guys,

Did you ever hear that Carrie Underwood song that all the woman sing along to called "Before He Cheats?"
It's about all the things this chick is going to do to this poor dude's truck.

Well comedian Rob Little has added just one more verse to the song...from the guy's perspective!
Listen to it once, then sing along with it when you play it the second (and third, and forth) time.

Here is a link to the song:

I was watching a news story on 22News last night about a ga$oline tanker truck that was stolen in Southwick with 2000 gallons on board.

The 22News poll taken last night showed that 95% of those who voted believe that this is just the beginning of such crimes brought on by these outrageous prices.

The Yanks are not in first as they usually are. Even the Mets are not in first in the National

The Knicks are not NBA champs now. The Islanders did not get the Stanley Cup.

Sorry New Yorkers, it's New England's turn now

728. Woodpecker Competition

From: n1kxr@comcast.net

A Hawaiian woodpecker and a Californian woodpecker were arguing about which place had the toughest trees.

The Hawaiian woodpecker said Hawaii had a tree that no woodpecker could peck. The Californian woodpecker accepted his challenge, and promptly pecked a hole in the three with no problem. The Hawaiian woodpecker was in awe.

The Californian woodpecker then challenged the Hawaiian woodpecker to peck a tree in California that was absolutely impeckable (a term woodpeckers like to use). The Hawaiian woodpecker expressed confidence that he could do it, and accepted the challenge. After flying to California, the Hawaiian woodpecker successfully pecked the three with no problem.

So the two woodpeckers were now confused. How is it that the Californian woodpecker was able to peck the Hawaiian tree and the Hawaiian woodpecker was able to peck the Californian tree, but neither one was able to peck the three in their own state?

After much woodpecker-pondering, they both came to the same conclusion; your pecker is always harder when you're away from home.

Becoming Illegal (Actual letter from an Iowa resident and sent to hissenator) The Honorable Tom Harkin 731 Hart Senate Office Building Phone (202) 224
3254 Washington DC, 20510 Dear Senator Harkin, As a native Iowan and excellent customer of the Internal Revenue Service,I am writing to ask for your assistance. I have contacted the Departmentof Homeland Security in an effort to determine the process for becoming anillegal alien and they referred me to you. My primary reason for wishing to change my status from U.S. Citizen toillegal alien stems from the bill which was recently passed by the Senateand for which you voted. If my understanding of this bill's provisions isaccurate, as an illegal alien who has been in the United States for fiveyears, all I need to do to become a citizen is to pay a $2,000 fine andincome taxes for three of the last five years. I know a good deal when Isee one and I am anxious to get the process started before everyonefigures it out. Simply put, those of us who have been here legally have had to pay taxesevery year so I'm excited about the prospect of avoiding two years oftaxes in return for paying a $2,000 fine. Is there any way that I canapply to be illegal retroactively? This would yield an excellent resultfor me and my family because we paid heavy taxes in 2004 and 2005. Additionally, as an illegal alien I could begin using the local emergencyroom as my primary health care provider. Once I have stopped payingpremiums for medical insurance, my accountant figures I could save almost$10,000 a year. Another benefit in gaining illegal status would be that my daughter wouldreceive preferential treatment relative to her law school applications, aswell as 'in-state' tuition rates for many colleges throughout theUnitedStates for my son. Lastly, I understand that illegal status would relieve me of theburden ofrenewing my driver's license and making those burdensome car insurancepremiums. This is very important to me given that I still have college agechildren driving my car. If you would provide me with an outline of the process to become illegal(retroactively if possible) and copies of the necessary forms, I would bemost appreciative.. Thank you for your assistance. New addition to Chemistry's Periodic Table

Research has led to the discovery of the heaviest element yet known to science. The new element, Governmentium (Gv), has one neutron, 25 assistant neutrons, 88 deputy neutrons, and 198 assistant deputy neutrons, giving it an atomic mass of 312.

These 312 particles are held together by forces called morons, which are surrounded by vast quantities of lepton-like particles called peons. Since Governmentium has no electrons, it is inert; however, it can be detected, because it impedes every action with which it comes into contact.

A minute amount of Governmentium can cause a reaction that would normally take less than a second to occur, to take from four days to four years to complete. Governmentium has a normal half-life of 2-6 years; it does not decay, but instead undergoes a reorganization in which a portion of the assistant neutrons and deputy neutrons exchange places.

In fact, Governmentium's mass will actually increase over time, since each reorganization will cause more morons to become neutrons, forming isodopes. This characteristic of moron promotion leads some scientists to believe that Governmentium is formed whenever morons reach a critical concentration. This hypothetical quantity is referred to as critical morass. When catalyzed with money, Governmentium becomes Administratium, an element that radiates just as much energy as Governmentium since it has half as many peons but twice as many morons.

RE-ELECT NOBODY !
Worthy of your time and attention ... regardless of your Party Affiliation

545 PEOPLE

By Charlie Reese -

Politicians are the only people in the world who create problems and then campaign against them.

Have you ever wondered why, if both the Democrats and the Republicans are against deficits, we have deficits?

Have you ever wondered why, if all the politicians are against inflation and high taxes, we have inflation and high taxes?

You and I do not propose a federal budget.

The president does.

You and I do not have the Constitutional authority to vote on appropriations. The House of Representatives does.

You and I do not write the tax code,

Congress does.

You and I do not set fiscal policy,

Congress does.

You and I do not control monetary policy,

the Federal Reserve Bank does.

One hundred senators, 435 congressmen, one president, and nine Supreme Court justices - 545 human beings out of the 300 million - are directly, legally, morally, and individually responsible for the domestic problems that plague this country..

I excluded the members of the Federal Reserve

Board because that problem was created by the Congress. In 1913, Congress delegated its Constitutional duty to provide a sound currency to a federally chartered, but private, central bank.

I excluded all the special interests and lobbyists for a sound reason. They have no legal authority.

They have no ability to coerce a senator, a congressman, or a president to do one cotton-picking thing. I do not care if they offer a politician $1 million dollars in cash.

The politician has the power to accept or reject

it. No matter what the lobbyist promises, it is the legislator's responsibility to determine how he/she votes.

Those 545 human beings spend much of their energy convincing you that what they did is not their fault. They cooperate in this common con regardless of party.

What separates a politician from a normal human being is an excessive amount of gall. No normal human being would have the gall of a speaker, who stood up and criticized the President for creating deficits.

The president can only propose a budget...

He cannot force the Congress to accept it.

The Constitution, which is the supreme law of the land, gives sole responsibility to the House of Representatives for originating and approving appropriations and taxes. Who is the speaker of the House? She is the leader of the majority party. She and fellow House members, not the president, can approve any budget they want.

If the president vetoes it, they can pass it over his veto if they agree to.

It seems inconceivable to me that a nation of 300 million cannot replace 545 people who stand convicted -- by present facts - of incompetence and irresponsibility. I cannot think of a single domestic problem that is not traceable directly to those 545 people. When you fully grasp the plain truth that 545 people exercise the power of the federal government, then it must follow that what exists is what they want to exist.

If the tax code is unfair, it is because they want it unfair.

If the budget is in the red, it is because they want it in the red.

If the Marines are in IRAQ, it is because they want them in IRAQ.

If they do not receive social security but are on an elite retirement plan not available to the people, it is because they want it that way.

There are no insoluble government problems.

Do not let these 545 people shift the blame to bureaucrats, whom they hire and whose jobs they can abolish; to lobbyists, whose gifts and advice they can reject; to regulators, to whom they give the power to regulate and from whom they can take this power. Above all, do not let them con you into the belief that there exists disembodied mystical forces like "the economy," "inflation," or "politics" that prevent them from doing what they take an oath to do.

Those 545 people, and they alone, are responsible.
They and they alone, have the power.
They and they alone, should be held accountable by the people who are their bosses - provided the voters have the gumption to manage their own employees.
We should vote all of them out of office and clean up their mess!

Orlando Sentinel Newspaper.

R.I. man held on charges of exposing himself to adult video store clerk in Palmer by The Republican Newsroom Thursday July 31, 2008, 3:56 PM
By LORI STABILE lstabile@...

PALMER - A 36-year-old Rhode Island man is being held at the Hampden County House of Correction in Ludlow in lieu of $500 cash bail after he allegedly exposed himself to the female clerk inside the Home Video adult store on Main Street, police said.

Joshua J. Lee, of 5 Oyster Lane, Warren, R.I., was charged with open and gross lewdness, indecent exposure and marijuana possession in connection with the Tuesday night incident, police said. He was arraigned yesterday in Palmer District Court, where an innocent plea was entered and bail was set. His next court date is Sept. 17 for a pretrial conference.

Police said Lee was working at a Vermont farm, jumped a train and got off in Palmer.

739. World History 101

Yahoo group: WA1UOL_PandM_Net
Date: 2008-08-08 12:33:11 UTC
From: Ralph D. Lovering Jr.
Topic: 739 Message: 739

For those of you who slept through World History 101 here is a condensed version.

Humans originally existed as members of small bands of nomadic hunters/gatherers

They lived on deer in the mountains during the summer and would go to the coast and live on fish and lobster in the winter.

The two most important events in all of history were:

1. The invention of beer, and

2. The invention of the wheel. The wheel was invented to get man to the beer, and the beer to the man.

These facts formed the foundation of modern civilization and together were the catalyst for the splitting of humanity into two distinct subgroups:

1. Liberals

2. Conservatives.

Once beer was discovered, it required grain and that was the beginning of agriculture.

Neither the glass bottle nor aluminum can were invented yet, so while our early humans were sitting around waiting for them to be invented, they just stayed close to the brewery. That's how villages were formed.

Some men spent their days tracking and killing animals to BBQ at night while they were drinking beer.

This was the beginning of what is known as the Conservative movement.

Other men who were weaker and less skilled at hunting learned to live off the conservatives by showing up for the nightly BBQ's and doing the sewing, fetching, and hair dressing.

This was the beginning of the Liberal movement.

Some of these liberal men eventually evolved into women. The rest became known as girlie-men.

Some noteworthy liberal achievements include the domestication of cats, the invention of group therapy and group hugs, the evolution of the Hollywood actor, and the concept of Democratic voting to decide how to divide all the meat and beer that conservatives provided.

Over the years, Conservatives came to be symbolized by the largest, most powerful land animal on earth, the elephant.

Liberals are symbolized by the jackass.

Modern liberals like imported beer (with lime added), but most prefer white wine or imported bottled water.

They eat raw fish but like their beef well done.

Sushi, tofu, and French food are standard liberal fare.

Another interesting evolutionary side note: most liberal women have higher testosterone levels than their men.

Most social workers, personal injury attorneys, journalists, dreamers in Hollywood and group therapists are liberals.

Conservatives drink domestic beer.

They eat red meat and still provide for their women.

Conservatives are big-game hunters, rodeo cowboys, firemen, lumberjacks, construction workers, medical doctors, police officers, corporate executives, athletes, Marines, and generally anyone who works productively.

Conservatives who own companies hire other conservatives who want to work for a living.

Liberals produce little or nothing.

They like to govern the producers and decide what to do with the production.

Liberals believe Europeans are more enlightened than Americans.

That is why most of the liberals remained in Europe when conservatives were going to America .

They crept in after the Wild West was tamed and created a business of trying to get more for nothing.

Here ends today's lesson in world history.

It should be noted that a liberal may have a momentary urge to angrily respond to the above before forwarding it.

A conservative will simply laugh and be so convinced of the absolute truth of this history that it will be forwarded immediately to other true believers, and to more liberals...just to piss them off.

AND THEN THE FIGHT STARTED...

When I got home last night, my wife demanded that I take her someplace expensive... so, I took her to a gas station...

And then the fight started....

****

After retiring, I went to the Social Security office to apply for Social Security. The woman behind the counter asked me for my driver's license to verify my age. I looked in my pockets and realized I had left my wallet at home. I told the woman that I was very sorry, but I would have to go home and come back later.

The woman said, 'Unbutton your shirt'. So I opened my shirt revealing my curly silver hair.

She said, 'That silver hair on your chest is proof enough for me' and she processed my Social Security application.

When I got home, I excitedly told my wife about my experience at the Social Security office.

She said, 'you should have dropped your pants. You might have gotten disability, too.'

And then the fight started...

****

My wife and I were sitting at a table at my high school reunion, and I kept staring at a drunken lady swigging her drink as she sat alone at a nearby table.

My wife asked, 'Do you know her?'

'Yes,' I sighed, 'She's my old girlfriend. I understand she took to drinking right after we split up those many years ago, and I hear she hasn't been sober since.'

'My God!' says my wife, 'who would think a person could go on celebrating that long?'

And then the fight started...

****

I rear-ended a car this morning. So, there we were alongside the road and slowly the other driver got out of his car. You know how sometimes you just get soooo stressed and little things just seem funny?

Yeah, well I couldn't believe it... he was a DWARF!!!

He stormed over to my car, looked up at me, and shouted, 'I AM NOT HAPPY!!!'

So, I looked down at him and said, 'Well, then which one are you?'

And then the fight started...

Laws of Life

Law of Mechanical Repair - After your hands become coated with grease, your nose will begin to itch or you'll have to pee.

Law of the Workshop - Any tool, when dropped, will roll to the least accessible corner.

Law of Probability - The probability of being watched is directly proportional to the stupidity of your act.

Law of the Telephone - If you dial a wrong number, you never get a busy signal.

Law of the Alibi - If you tell the boss you were late for work because you had a flat tire, the very next morning you will have a flat tire.

Variation Law - If you change lines (or traffic lanes), the one you were in will start to move faster than the one you are in now.

Law of the Bath - When the body is fully immersed in water, the telephone rings.

Law of Close Encounters - The probability of meeting someone you know increases dramatically when you are with someone you don't want to be seen with.

Law of the Result - When you try to prove to someone that a machine won't work, it will.

Law of Biomechanics - The severity of the itch is inversely proportional to the reach.

Law of the Theater - At any event, the people whose seats are furthest from the aisle arrive last.

Law of Coffee - As soon as you sit down to a cup of hot coffee, your boss will ask you to do something which will last until the coffee is cold.

Murphy's Law of Lockers - If there are only two people in a locker room, they will have adjacent lockers.

Law of Rugs/Carpets - The chances of an open-faced jelly sandwich landing face down on a floor covering are directly correlated to the newness and cost of the carpet/rug.

Law of Location - No matter where you go, there you are.

Law of Logical Argument - Anything is possible if you don't know what you are talking about.

Brown's Law - If the shoe fits, it's ugly.

Oliver's Law - A closed mouth gathers no feet.

Wilson 's Law - As soon as you find a product that you really like, they will stop making it.

Doctors' Law - If you don't feel well, make an appointment to go to the doctor, by the time you get there you'll feel better. Don't make an appointment and you'll stay sick.

747. Drinking age.

Topic: 747 Message: 747

Hi all,

The recent news stories concerning lowering
the drinking age to 18 from 21 is sparking
debates all over the country.

I will offer my 4 cents.

If you could possibly induct into mandatory military service an 18 year old then it makes sense to let them have a beer. Now, from a public/highway safety point of view, it cannot happen, as according to the media, deaths went way down when the drinking age was raised to 21 from 18 in 1984.

My recommendations:

Amend the U.S. Constitution to raise the voting age/age of majority BACK to 21 as it was before 1968. As a consequence of of the new majority age, do NOT induct or voluntary enlist into the Armed Services anyone under 21.

A 21 year old age of majority worked for decades and decades before 1968. Parents will just have to be legally responsible for their kids for an extra three years.

Raise the age of consent to 18 and also raise the driving age to 18.

If you can't trust 18 year olds to drink then this is solution to the problem, hard ass that it is.

Hi all,

The recent news stories concerning lowering
the drinking age to 18 from 21 is sparking
debates all over the country.

I will offer my 4 cents.

If you could possibly induct into mandatory
military service an 18 year old then it makes sense to let them have a beer. Now, from a public/highway safety point of view, it cannot happen, as according to the media, deaths went
way down when the drinking age was raised
to 21 from 18 in 1984.

My recommendations:

Amend the U.S. Constitution to raise the voting age/age of majority BACK to 21 as it was before 1968. As a consequence of of the new majority age, do NOT induct or voluntary enlist into the Armed Services anyone under 21.

A 21 year old age of majority worked for decades and decades before 1968. Parents will just have to be legally responsible for their kids for an extra three years.

Raise the age of consent to 18 and also raise the driving age to 18.

If you can't trust 18 year olds to drink then this is solution to the problem, hard ass that it is.

Respectfully submitted,

I don't mean to be a hardass toward young people under 21 but it does make sense to either give these young folks the privilege to drink beers or just keep them minors until age 21. It's hypocritical to say "You can go into the Armed Services and buy a house or rent an apartment at 18 but you can't drink a beer in it."

I was young once too.

September 9, 2008 --

MICHAEL Jackson's notorious tighty whities are up for grabs. A pair of size-28 Calvin Klein white briefs once belonging to Wacko Jacko will be auctioned on eBay tomorrow, with a reserve price of $1 million. The unwashed underpants have a sensational past. They were part of the evidence confiscated in 2003 by then-Santa Barbara DA Tom Sneddon, who wanted a DNA sample for his unsuccessful child-molestation case against the washed-up King of Pop. The briefs are part of a stash of Jacko artifacts offered by New Jersey businessman Henry Vacarro, who obtained them in a bankruptcy case. For extra authenticity, the briefs come sealed in an evidence bag and wrapped with police tape. Also being sold are the Gloved One's handwritten note explaining why he wants an annulment from Lisa Marie Presley and a used half-ounce tube of skin-bleaching cream.

THE ABSOLUTELY FUNNIEST JOKE EVER

What was the reason given for developing the Department of Energy during the CARTER administration? We have spent multi billions of dollars in support of this agency and I am willing to bet not one person who reads this will remember the reason given. It was very simple

THE DEPARTMENT OF ENERGY WAS INSTITUTED TO LESSEN OUR DEPENDENCE ON FOREIGN OIL.

NOTE: IN 2008 THE BUDGET FOR THIS DEPARTMENT IS NOW AT 24.2 BILLION A YEAR. THEY HAVE 16,000 FEDERAL EMPLOYEES AND APPROXIMATELY 100,000 CONTRACT EMPLOYEES.

765. PRE-ANNOUNCEMENT: MTARA Packet Seminar

From: n1kxr@comcast.net

Greetings all,

~ PRE-ANNOUNCEMENT?!?..What the heck is a Pre-Announcement? ~ Simple, it's just a way to get the word out about a seminar that's in the planning stages, but, will soon be offered to the greater Ham community. In olden days this would be called giving people a "heads-up."

So without further ado, here is the Pre-Announcement:

Do you have a Packet Radio setup in your shack that's collecting dust? Are you new to Packet Radio and want to know how to enhance your packet experience? Have you thought about getting into Packet Radio, but wanted to know what gear you would need and/or who is out there to "packet" with? If the answer to any of these questions is YES, then my friend you have the makings of joining the ranks of the "Packeteers."

The Mount Tom Amateur Repeater Association (MTARA) in conjunction with Brian Rogers - N1URO will be offering a Packet Radio Seminar in the not-too-distant future. Cold(er) weather will soon be upon us and we all like to spend time in the shack. With a packet station in place, you can add to your enjoyment of the hobby. In most cases you already have a lot of the gear you need already in your shack!

Brian - N1URO is one of the leaders and innovators in the use and enjoyment of Packet Radio. To learn more about him, please visit his website located at this URL: http://www.n1uro.net

The MTARA as you may know is one of the premier Amateur Radio Associations in Massachusetts. To learn more about the MTARA, please visit their website located at this URL: http://www.mtara.org

While this seminar is being sponsored by the MTARA, and conducted by Brian - N1URO, please note that this event is an open event, and all Amateur Radio Operators as well as those interested in Packet Radio and Amateur Radio, will be welcomed and are encouraged to attend. Registration information will follow when the actual seminar date is announced.

Thanks for taking the time to read this e-mail and please feel free to share this pre-announcement with others (but don't spam thank-you).

Hello everyone,

This is Emma, I know everyone is anxious to hear when services will be held for Dennis. Rich (n1kxr), Mark, and I are in full communication with Dennis's Aunt and she has told us that there WILL be a graveside service for Dennis, we are just not sure when it is going to be yet. Tommy O'brien, the director of the funeral home is in charge of putting the notice in the paper. The reason that hasn't been done yet is due to the fact that we don't know yet when the graveside service will be. When the details are clear then the notice will appear in the paper. This has absolutely nothing to do with his aunt, it is the way Tommy has to handle it right now. She has softened and has realized that Dennis had a lot of friends and that we all need closure, she needs the closure as well, she has also expressed to us how grateful she is that he had all of us.

Now for the other reason I am writing to all of you......PLEASE, NO MORE phone calls to the funeral home, we understand that everyone is concerned and wanting to know what is going on, but Tommy is being flooded with calls about Dennis. We promise that as soon as we know anything, we will let all of you know what is going on.

Thank you for understanding, we know you all care as much as we do, and we will do everything we can to keep you all informed as we receive information.

Hi everyone......

As a tribute to the memory of our friend,

Silent Key, WB1EHD, Dennis Malone,

Trailer Trash Radio will be re-airing

Show 20,..... the "Dennis Show" on Sunday November 9th at 3 pm on WBCQ 7.415 MHZ ....on your shortwave receiver, and on the Internet at:

http://www.splatterbox.us:7415/listen.pls

This show features Dennis at the mic in the trailer in Hadley, talking about various adventures with Freddie W1BCQ, formerly N1KKO.

Then you'll hear the Denny Mochexx "Demo" show, a recording Dennis made in his apartment, showing his many talents for broadcasting. Dennis had hoped to soon be able to start airing his own show on WBCQ, and we were happy to give Dennis a chance to give the listeners an opportunity to have a preview of what the Denny Mochexx Show might have to offer. You'll hear some of Dennis' favorite music and his comments about many things. You'll hear the special radio charisma that was Dennis, WB1EHD, SK,.....at the microphone,....once again!

You'll even hear the unforgettable recording of Dennis' phone call to the Radio Timtron Worldwide Show, (Saturdays on WBCQ at 8 pm).....you'll hear Dennis yakking with Timtron WA1HLR on the show about many subjects.....

Please, everyone.....DON'T miss this opportunity to hear Dennis,

...WB1EHD.....ON THE AIR.....again.....

God bless you, Den.....rest in peace....in our memories.....forever.....

Subject: The monkey market

Once upon a time, in a village, a man appeared and announced to the villagers that he would buy monkeys for $10 each.

The villagers seeing that there were many monkeys around, went out to the forest and started catching them. The man bought thousands at $10 and as supply started to diminish, the villagers stopped their effort. He further announced that he would now buy at $20. This renewed the efforts of the villagers and they started catching monkeys again.

Soon the supply diminished even further and people started going back to their farms. The offer increased to $25 each and the supply of monkeys became so little that it was an effort to even see a monkey, let alone catch it!

The man now announced that he would buy monkeys at $50 ! However, since he had to go to the city on some business, his assistant would now buy on behalf of him.

In the absence of the man, the assistant told the villagers. 'Look at all these monkeys in the big cage that the man has collected. I will sell them to you at $35 and when the man returns from the city, you can sell them to him for $50 each.' The villagers rounded up all their savings they had made and bought all the monkeys.

Then they never saw the man nor his assistant, only monkeys everywhere!

Now you have a better understanding of how the stock market works.

> 'Not I,' said the cow.

> 'Not I,' said the duck.

> 'Not I,' said the pig.

> 'Not I,' said the goose.

> 'Then I will do it by myself,' said the little red hen, and so she did. The

> 'Who will help me reap my wheat?' asked the little red hen.

> 'Not I,' said the duck.

> 'Out of my classification,' said the pig.

> 'I'd lose my seniority,' said the cow.

> 'I'd lose my unemployment compensation,' said the goose.

> 'Then I will do it by myself,' said the little red hen, and so she did.

> At last it came time to bake the bread.

> 'Who will help me bake the bread?' asked the little red hen.

> 'That would be overtime for me,' said the cow.

> 'I'd lose my welfare benefits,' said the duck.

> 'I'm a dropout and never learned how,' said the pig.

> 'If I'm to be the only helper, that's discrimination,' said the goose.

> 'Then I will do it by myself,' said the little red hen.

> She baked five loaves and held them up for all of her neighbors to see.
> They wanted some and, in fact, demanded a share. But the little red hen said > 'No, I shall eat all five loaves.'

Alvah,

Thank you for the kind words. Some may think it tacky to take photos at a graveside service, but then again anyone who ~really~ knew Dennis would know that he loved photo documentation. Just ask those who attended any function where Dennis was allowed to roam freely with a camera (still or video) in his hands!

It was my hope to not only share our sorrow in his passing, but to allow people comfort in knowing that Dennis' had a good turn out paying respects to him, that his cremations are respectfully enclosed, and most important, that his cremains rest where he wanted them to be, next to his beloved mother.

As for not being at the service itself, several others expressed the same regret. In my heart, I know that Dennis would understand. Dennis was a strong proponent of people attending to the responsibilities they have here on this earthly plane. While Dennis believed in an afterlife (and its infinite possibilities of dimensions, realms and plains of existence), he understood that life goes on.

Thank you again for your kind words and thoughts for Dennis.

Dear Richard:

You might consider the gravesite web-site at the URL address of: -- www.findagrave.com

This site has the explicit purpose to provide the opportunity for anyone to place a person's date of birth and death; place of birth and death; a short biography of his life and digital photographs of his cemetery; where he is buried, his gravestone, and images of his likeness.

I think you will like it. I have placed several such sites of my parents, grandparents, uncles, aunts, etc. It provide us with the purpose of keeping alive these people who may have been dead for hundreds of years.

You will also find Ian, N1KFG, on this site. He died in the year of 2000; of cancer. Perhaps you remember him? He was a good of mine, the husband of Lisa, N1ZOL.

Dear Richard, KD1XP:

I, too, when I looked at findagrave.com for the first time, when Lisa, N1ZOL, had introduced this site to me with her husband's photographs, had responded initially in precisely the same way. I thought the site to be a little morbid; then, later, after looking at several other submissions and contributions, changed my mind. I could see the advantage and historical value of placing our family's biography on the site. It is an excellent way of showing respect for our deceased family members and, at the same time, keeps the memory of these members fresh. After all, as most of us know, after a generation or two, when everyone starts to die off, there is no memory of most people who had lived before us. This site helps these memories to stay intact.

You can register into the site, with your own username and password, and then type out my name to find me listed as a major contributor. In time you will locate some of my deceased relatives and, perhaps, the relatives of your own family.

Of course, there will always be someone who will disagree, perhaps to disagree just to be miserable and disagreeable. In that instance, nothing we can do will make them more pleasant and agreeable. Some of them seem to enjoy being miserable and to make other people miserable to make themselves feel better -- or more miserable. There is nothing we can do about them. They are hopeless! Just be yourself. Friendly! Pleasant! Most of the time (?) Anyway!

Happy Veterans Day!

I loaded mine on xp.org

Find a Grave site, it is like, leave the deceased alone, my opinion.

Yes I looked at that site, no comment.

Osama bin Laden is Dead

Nov 13, 2008

I'm pleased to see Barak Obama hit the ground running after his election on the 4th. The US needs change.

I'd like to see him announce the death of Osama bin Laden as one of his first official duties. Bin Laden often better known as bin Forgotten died in December of 2001. There is nothing I am saying that is news to anyone who has actually spent any time thinking.

Osama bin Laden had serous kidney disease that required him to have dialysis treatment twice a week. There aren't any dialysis machines floating around in the border region of Afghanistan and Pakistan. A few months back a reporter finally asked the question that should have been asked years ago at a White House press conference.

How is it that a guy who was seriously ill seven years ago is getting treatment for end-stage renal disease in some cave in Afghanistan? The woman conducting the press conference panicked at the thought of answering that most basic question and immediately canceled the rest of the briefing.

The United States does not need a boogieman living in a cave in Asia. Osama bin Laden is dead. Barak Obama should be honest enough with the American people to declare him dead.

Here are the facts.

1.. The last intelligence intercept of Osama bin Laden was on December 14 of 2001. He has not been heard from since.
2.. President Bush and Defense Secretary Rumsfeld hinted in late December of 2001 that they knew Osama bin Laden was dead.
3.. President Musharraf of Pakistan announced in January of 2002 that Osama bin Laden was probably dead of kidney disease.
4.. President Hamid Karzai of Afghanistan was quoted in October of 2002 as saying, "The more we don't hear of him, and the more time passes, there is the likelihood that he probably is either dead or seriously wounded somewhere."
5.. But the actions of the US Military are the most telling. There isn't a single soldier, sailor or Marine tasked with chasing down Osama bin Laden, dead or alive. Because we know exactly where he is. He's dead. So the US military is either totally or absolutely incompetent or Osama bin Laden died years ago and we've been fighting the boogieman.
6.. As early as July of 2002, even the FBI's counterterrorism chief was quoted as saying; Osama bin Laden is "probably" dead.
The US does not need a boogieman; we have real challenges ahead of us. We need a President who will not lie to us on a constant basis.

While you are at it Mr President Elect, you may want to mention that Iran never threatened to wipe Israel off the map and 16 US Intelligence agencies all agree [pdf] Iran does not have a nuclear weapons program. But you knew that, didn't you? Iran is neither the enemy of the United States nor Israel.

785. Forwarding e-mail properly

Yahoo group: WA1UOL_PandM_Net
Date: 2008-11-22 20:06:02 UTC
From: Ralph D. Lovering Jr.
Topic: 785 Message: 785

Good info on a pet peeve...hihi!

HOW TO FORWARD E-MAIL APPROPRIATELY

A friend who is a computer expert received the following directly from a system administrator for a corporate system. It is an excellent message that ABSOLUTELY applies to ALL of us who send e-mails.

Please read the short letter below, even if you're sure you already follow proper procedures.

Do you really know how to forward e-mails? Most of us DO NOT know how.

Do you wonder why you get viruses or junk mail? Do you hate it?

Every time you forward an e-mail, there is information left over from the people who got the message before you -- namely their e-mail addresses & names. As the messages get forwarded along, the list of addresses builds, and builds, and builds, and all it takes is for some poor sap to get a virus, and his or her computer can send that virus to every e-mail address that has come across his computer. Or, someone can take all of those addresses and sell them or send junk mail to them in the hopes that you will go to the site and he will make five cents for each hit. That's right, all of that inconvenience over a nickel!

How do you stop it? Well, there are several easy steps:

(1) When you forward an e-mail, DELETE all of the other addresses that appear in the body of the message (at the top). That's right, DELETE them. Highlight them and delete them, backspace them, cut them, whatever you know how to. It only takes a second. You MUST click the 'Forward' button first and then you will have full editing capabilities against the body and headers of the message. If you don't hit the forward button first you won't have full editing functions. I particularly dislike having to scroll through 200 E-mail addresses before I get to the e-mail.

(2) Whenever you send an e-mail to more than one person, do NOT use the 'To:' or 'Cc:' fields for adding e-mail addresses.. Always use the BCC: (blind carbon copy) field for listing the e-mail addresses. This is the way the people you send to will only see their own e-mail address.

If you don't see your 'BCC:' option click on where it says To: and your address list will appear. Highlight the address and choose BCC: and that's it, it's that easy. When you send to BCC: your message will automatically say 'Undisclosed Recipients' in the 'TO:' field of the people who receive it.

That way you aren't sharing all those addresses with every Tom, Dick or Harry.

(3) Remove any 'FW:' in the subject line. You can re-name the subject if you wish or even fix spelling.

This one is very important - please read and heed

(4) ALWAYS hit your Forward button from the actual e-mail you are reading. Ever get those e-mails that you have to open 10 pages to read the one page with the information on it? By Forwarding from the actual page you wish someone to view; you stop them from having to open many e-mails just to see what you sent. These are the ones that often end up having picked up a virus from somebody. This is really important!

(5) Have you ever gotten an e-mail that is a petition? It states a position and asks you to add your name and address and to forward it to 10 or 15 people or your entire address book. The e-mail can be forwarded on and on and can collect thousands of names and e-mail addresses.

A FACT: The completed petition is actually worth a couple of bucks to a professional spammer because of the wealth of valid names and e-mail addresses contained therein. If you want to support the petition, send it as your own personal letter to the intended recipient. Your position may carry more weight as a personal letter than a laundry list of names and e-mail address on a petition. (Actually, if you think about it, who's supposed to send the petition in to whatever cause it support s? And don't believe the ones that say that the e-mail is being traced, it just isn't so!)

(6) One of the main ones I hate is the ones that say that something like, 'Send this e-mail to 10 people and you'll see something great run across your screen.' Or, sometimes they'll just tease you by saying something really cute will happen.

IT AIN'T GONNA HAPPEN!!!!! (Trust me; I'm still seeing some of the same ones that I waited on 10 years ago!) I don't let the bad luck ones scare me either, they get trashed. (Could this be why I haven't won the lottery??)

(7) Before you forward an Amber Alert, or a Virus Alert, or some of the other ones floating around nowadays, check them out before you forward them. Most of them are junk mail that's been circling the net for Years!

Just about everything you receive in an e-mail that is in question can be checked out at Snopes. Just go tohttp://www.snopes. com/

It's really easy to find out if it's real or not. If it's not, please don't pass it on.

So please, in the future, let's stop the junk mail and the viruses.

Finally, here's an idea!!! Let's send this to everyone we know (but strip my address off first, please).

This is something that SHOULD be forwarded.

Hello Alvah,

The beacon on 28.280 is the N1KXR/B Ten Meter Radio Propagation Beacon. I'd been thinking about it for awhile now, the opportunity afforded itself to me, so I put one up. It's still in the testing stages now, so the coverage is limited. Once I have the vertical antenna in my possession and tuned. The beacon is headed to the mountain top! Which mountain top will be revealed after the beacon is in place.

As for the question regarding "another beacon?" What other 10 meter beacon(s) in Western Massachusetts are you referring to? Sure there are beacons around the country, and even around the world...but they are sorely lacking here in Western Massachusetts. Most Hams who have heard about it, have been more than encouraging, why does your question have a negative read to it?

Dear Richard:

That comment of mine was not meant to be an insulting or a negative comment but a request for an explanation of its need and purpose. Though we may not have a 10-meter beacon from Western Massachusetts we certainly have plenty of them all over the world. I continually hear them when I scan the 10-meter band. Some of them are new and some of them have been around since I was a Novice in 1961. They come and go. Perhaps we could use one to identify the propagation condition in Western Massachusetts for the rest of the world? We have them everywhere else! Why not Western Massachusetts? If someone in Europe or the Pacific can hear it then that means the Band is open for them on 10 meters in this area.

I think it is a good idea, frankly. I like it.

When I get a chance to repair my antennas damaged from a storm recently I will listen for it and then give you a signal report.

Be careful about the location, and its identity, of the Beacon. Since some of my antennas go over a ravine in my backyard there are always kids, with nothing else better to do with themselves, who like to take down the antennas just for the hell of it.

Wish you well. By the way, is it readable CW using N1KXR/B as its call?

Respectfully,

Alvah, K1TMA

791. N1KXR/B is now Coordinated

Greetings all,

Thank you for all the reports that have been coming in regarding the N1KXR/B. Your kind words and encouragement as to what has been accomplished so far, have been most invigorating and will help to propel me in getting the beacon up and running at full capacity as soon as possible.

The tests have gone well, the radio is staying on frequency with no drift, and with the muffin fan, no overheating. The controller is functioning well, keying the CW ID at a steady 15 WPM. While the radio is set for 5 Watts, the antenna is only a steel 102" whip cut to 10 meters, so the ERP is ~not~ the full five watts. Never-the-less, reception reports are coming in from around Western Massachusetts. The beacon is being heard!

I've been in contact with Mr. William H. Hays - WJ5O, the IARU Region 2 HF Beacon Coordinator. The N1KXR beacon is now coordinated; I chose 28.289.50 as the frequency for the beacon, so if you were tuning for the N1KXR/B on 28.280.00...it wasn't there HI HI. In addition to being coordinated, we are now listed in the IARU Region 2 HF Beacon List which is maintained by Bill - WJ5O. Here is a link: http://userpages.troycable.net/~wj5o/bcn.htm

Future plans include the acquisition of a vertical antenna which will be tuned to the beacon's frequency. Once that is done, the beacon will be moved from my residence to the top of one of the local mountains. This should improve the performance of the beacon, and allow it to provide Ten Meter propagation information for Hams and others interested in radio propagation.

If you would like to read more about the N1KXR/B beacon, please feel free to click on this link: http://www.geocities.com/n1kxr/beacon.html

Hi Rich
I am very pleased to report that I was able to copy the beacon here in Ashfield this afternoon on the new frequency.
Very weak, but able to copy the cw in the noise......on A99 vertical couldn't hear it on the HTX 100 on ssb mode, but it was there in the narrower cw mode....congratulations and keep up the good work!

FN32om here...not long dx, but a lot of rock etc between us.
Glad to be able to hear it,...can't wait til it's up high.

fyi just tried it on the ts 940s hearing it on both the vertical and the 80/40m inverted v spider....weak but fully copyable.

Subject: [WesternMassAmateurRadio] N1KXR/B is now Coordinated

Greetings all,

Thank you for all the reports that have been coming in regarding the N1KXR/B. Your kind words and encouragement as to what has been accomplished so far, have been most invigorating and will help to propel me in getting the beacon up and running at full capacity as soon as possible.

The tests have gone well, the radio is staying on frequency with no drift, and with the muffin fan, no overheating. The controller is functioning well, keying the CW ID at a steady 15 WPM. While the radio is set for 5 Watts, the antenna is only a steel 102" whip cut to 10 meters, so the ERP is ~not~ the full five watts. Never-the-less, reception reports are coming in from around Western Massachusetts. The beacon is being heard!

I've been in contact with Mr. William H. Hays - WJ5O, the IARU Region 2 HF Beacon Coordinator. The N1KXR beacon is now coordinated; I chose 28.289.50 as the frequency for the beacon, so if you were tuning for the N1KXR/B on 28.280.00...it wasn't there HI HI. In addition to being coordinated, we are now listed in the IARU Region 2 HF Beacon List which is maintained by Bill - WJ5O. Here is a link: http://userpages.troycable.net/~wj5o/bcn.htm

Future plans include the acquisition of a vertical antenna which will be tuned to the beacon's frequency. Once that is done, the beacon will be moved from my residence to the top of one of the local mountains. This should improve the performance of the beacon, and allow it to provide Ten Meter propagation information for Hams and others interested in radio propagation.

If you would like to read more about the N1KXR/B beacon, please feel free to click on this link: http://www.geocities.com/n1kxr/beacon.html

Glad it is on the air. It is nice to see/hear some "new" project around instead of the same crap you hear daily, right Lynda?

794. N1KXR/B heard in Mexico!

Greetings all,

I just got a report in that the N1KXR/B was heard in Mexico! A Ham with the call of XE3ARV located in Quintana Roo, Mexico sent a report in that he heard the beacon. Here is a link to his QRZ information: http://www.qrz.com/callsign/XE3ARV

I'm so kicked up with this report, it's my first international report! Not bad as seeing the beacon is only using a 102' steel whip tuned to 10 Meters, sitting only about 20' off of the ground! I'm so looking forward to getting a "real" 10 Meter antenna and getting the beacon up onto the mountain.

Hello Alvah,

Correct you are sir. That means the beacon was doing what it was interned to do. That is to show when the propagation is right for signals to be heard from one location to another. In this case 1-Land into the southwest section of the North American continent.

This beacon hunter was happy to find, and then to list on the international beacon reflector(s) a new Ten Meter beacon. I, as the/a beacon owner, am thrilled that the beacon is doing it's job and is being heard.

I hear this beacon up here as well. A neat idea Rich once again. I leave that on to listen to it and been tuning around. I would rather listen to that that 94 anyday. Of course I would rather listen to EOT signals than 94. What do you think Jamie, ZOJ? Look foward to the progress of this project.

No Coal Trains today? opps, wrong group, haha.

What does this have to do with the N1KXR/B coordination?

Subject: Computer password problem

A woman was helping her husband set up his computer, and at the appropriate point in the process, told him that he would now need to enter a ‘password’ .... Something he will use to log on.
The husband was in a rather playful mood and figured he would try for the shock effect to bring this to his wife’s attention. So, when the computer asked him to enter his password, he made it plainly obvious to his wife what he was keying in.... and thinking:

E…
N…
I....
S…

His wife fell off her chair laughing when the computer replied:

‘PASSWORD NOT LONG ENOUGH’

Subject: Thomas Jefferson

Jefferson in some cases could be called a prophet.

When we get piled upon one another in large cities, as in Europe, we shall become as corrupt as Europe.
Thomas Jefferson

The democracy will cease to exist when you take away from those who are willing to work and give to those who would not.
Thomas Jefferson

It is incumbent on every generation to pay its own debts as it goes. A principle which if acted on would save one-half the wars of the world.
Thomas Jefferson

I predict future happiness for Americans if they can prevent the government from wasting the labors of the people under the pretense of taking care of them.
Thomas Jefferson

My reading of history convinces me that most bad government results from too much government.
Thomas Jefferson

No free man shall ever be debarred the use of arms.
Thomas Jefferson
\
The strongest reason for the people to retain the right to keep and bear arms is, as a last resort, to protect themselves against tyranny in government.
Thomas Jefferson

The tree of liberty must be refreshed from time to time with the blood of patriots and tyrants.
Thomas Jefferson

To compel a man to subsidize with his taxes the propagation of ideas which he disbelieves and abhors is sinful and tyrannical.
Thomas Jefferson

Very Interesting Quote

In light of the present financial crisis, it's interesting to read what Thomas Jefferson said in 1802:

'I believe that banking institutions are more dangerous to our liberties than standing armies. If the American people ever allow private banks to control the issue of their currency, first by inflation, then by deflation, the banks and corporations that will grow up around the banks will deprive the people of all property until their children wake-up homeless on the continent their fathers conquered.'

ALCOHOL TROUBLESHOOTING

ACTION

Feet cold and wet.
Glass being held at incorrect angle.
Rotate glass so that open end points toward ceiling.

Feet warm and wet.
Improper bladder control.
Stand next to nearest dog, complain about house training.

Drink unusually pale and tasteless.
Glass empty.
Get someone to buy you another drink.

Opposite wall covered with fluorescent lights.
You have fallen over backward.
Have yourself leashed to bar.

Mouth contains cigarette butts.
You have fallen forward.
See above.

Alcohol tasteless, front of your shirt is wet.
Mouth not open, or glass applied to wrong part of face.
Retire to restroom, practice in mirror.

Floor blurred.
You are looking through bottom of empty glass.
Get someone to buy you another drink.

Floor moving.
You are being carried out.
Find out if you are being taken to another bar.

Room seems unusually dark.
Bar has closed.
Confirm home address with bartender.

Taxi suddenly takes on colourful aspect and textures.
Alcohol consumption has exceeded personal limitations.
Cover mouth.

Everyone looks up to you and smiles.
You are dancing on the table.
Fall on somebody cushy-looking.

Drink is crystal-clear.
It's water. Somebody is trying to sober you up.
Punch him.

Hands hurt, nose hurts, mind unusually clear.
You have been in a fight.
Apologize to everyone you see, just in case it was them.

Don't recognize anyone, don't recognize the room you're in.
You've wandered into the wrong party.
See if they have free alcohol.

Your singing sounds distorted.
The drink is too weak.
Have more alcohol until your voice improves.

Don't remember the words to the song.
Drink is just right.
Play air guitar.

With all sincerity, if you don't like to hear the conversations on the .94 machine, then why in hell do you bother to listen to them? Have you taken the time to listen to yourself on your machines?

Why don't you either shut down your station or change the frequency? In some respects you resemble WT1W who, for more than 15 years, was always complaining about these conversations on the repeater but still continued to listen to them.

I guess it doesn't pay to voice an opinion. Everyone jumps all over you!! I thought this was the USA--free speech and all that. And then there are those who carry free to a new level--they use the repeaters and don't support the repeaters. If it weren't for the hard work of club members. they wouldn't have repeaters to use. Repeaters have to be maintained, and that's not free. Not to mention that quite a lot of the equipment is being replaced and updated.

-It makes me laugh to see someone who is trying to sound over intelligent using words out of the context. I find it hard to figure out how a "complaint" can be an absurd guttersnipe? You are saying that a Complaint is a child of the slums who spends most of his or her time in the streets. A contemptuous term applied to anyone regarded as having the manners, morals, etc. of the gutter? Not to mention the "Absurd" part being anything of the sort. How can this be the condition or state in which humans exist in a meaningless, irrational universe wherein people's lives have no purpose or meaning? What you are saying, and correct me if I am wrong here, Is that these "complaints" are meaningless children of the slums? Hmmmm....Weird.

Dear Jamie:

First of all, I am not trying to sound in any particular way. So, where in the hell do you get the notion I am "trying to sound 'over intelligent' using words out of the context." What in hell does "over intelligence" mean anyway? I think you got out of control with your extensive vocabulary in an attempt to sound intellectual -- actually, to be truthful. As for me, I am real and I am what I am.

Secondly, a complaint or criticism, without substance or constructiveness, is not an honest or legitimate complaint but an irresponsible snipe, probably with psychiatric connotations behind it. An honest person with a criticism goes into significant detail in his criticism and, ultimately, it usually turns out to be a legitimate criticism. Without substance there is no validity.

In respect to my use of the word, "guttersnipe," I am using it in the context you apparently don't understand. It refers to a person who snipes at people from a distance without substance to support the attack, usually to people who can not defend themselves. It may be the results of jealousy converted into hate or the dissipation of internal hatred of one self, such as in the instance of a woman, big, repulsive and fat, who doesn't like herself or the way she looks, so she spends much of her time absolutely miserable with herself, eating constantly and, out of anger, sniping at everyone and everything. This kind of behavior is clear evidence of serious psychiatric issues and has nothing to do with the legitimacy of a criticism or complaint.

I am also very well aware of the ugly things some of you people on this Reflector say about me behind my back, usually at a local restaurant in Northampton, such as in the instance some of you people suggested I married in order to conceal or mask "my homosexuality."

I am not homosexual and do not -- and will not -- tolerate this kind of guttersniping behavior. It is criminally irresponsible and very, very dangerous. If this behavior doesn't stop I will have no alternative but to file an application for a criminal complaint in a show and cause hearing at the local district court. I already know the identity of the culprits and have at least two eye-witnesses.

If you have a valid criticism or complaint of me -- fine! It is well within everyone's constitutional rights to criticize anyone and everything; however, there is nothing in our Constitution that gives anyone a right to snipe at people, whether out of jealousy, self anger, self hate or for some other psychological or psychiatric reason. For there is never any legitimacy in this kind of behavior. It is wrong and evil. Dangerous! Ugly! And self-destructive!

If Richard has a legitimate complaint or criticism about the people who use the .94 machine then let him substantiate his complaint or criticism with substance and detail. Sniping at people, from a distance who can not defend themselves, is wrong and evil. It will ultimately lead to his destruction.

Respectfully,

Alvah

-It makes me laugh to see someone who is trying to sound over intelligent using words out of the context. I find it hard to figure out how a "complaint" can be an absurd guttersnipe? You are saying that a Complaint is a child of the slums who spends most of his or her time in the streets. A contemptuous term applied to anyone regarded as having the manners, morals, etc. of the gutter? Not to mention the "Absurd" part being anything of the sort. How can this be the condition or state in which humans exist in a meaningless, irrational universe wherein people's lives have no purpose or meaning? What you are saying, and correct me if I am wrong here, Is that these "complaints" are meaningless children of the slums?

Hmmmm....Weird.

Hello Alvah,

Lighten up please, Jamie, Rich, Ed (NWH), Dennis (RIP) Lynda and others have a fun time picking on each other.

Do you listen to my machines, do you know what I sound like on them?

Ed, WT1W is a good person.

This is a piss and moan group so we can piss and moan and have fun.

Right Jamie?

Isn't the guttersnipe Ralph?

OK, Mr. Buckmore for you sir, I will make it constructive, At times, I choose not to listen to 146.940, therefore I shut my radio off, which is a Motorola, on the frequency of 146.940 mHz, therefore not listening to any further conversations that I feel are not suitable for young ears or the general Amateur Radio Community. Conclusion, by doing a "turn off activity", I do not have to listen to conversations that I feel are not of interest to myself or anybody around me.

Further theory, I am a member of the MTARA and I pay a yearly fee to support the upkeep of their equipment, therefore if I wish to make a comment and have fun with these fine people, I can do such an activity. If I did not support the MTARA, then I would not make any comments. The MTARA president, Cindy, K1ISS appriciates all the supporters and is doing a fine job keeping the club going.

Thanks!

PS: KB1NWH is funny (looking)

PSS: My favorite frequency is 152.330 mHz

PSSS: What does this have to do with the new QRZ format?

Dear Richard:

That is not a valid argument, either. You are just rationalizing your snipes.

Isn't the guttersnipe Ralph?

OK, Mr. Buckmore for you sir, I will make it constructive, At times,

I choose not to listen to 146.940, therefore I shut my radio off, which is a Motorola, on the frequency of 146.940 mHz, therefore not listening to any further conversations that I feel are not suitable for young ears or the general Amateur Radio Community. Conclusion, by doing a "turn off activity", I do not have to listen to conversations that I feel are not of interest to myself or anybody around me.

Further theory, I am a member of the MTARA and I pay a yearly fee to support the upkeep of their equipment, therefore if I wish to make a comment and have fun with these fine people, I can do such an activity. If I did not support the MTARA, then I would not make any comments. The MTARA president, Cindy, K1ISS appriciates all the supporters and is doing a fine job keeping the club going.

Thanks!

PS: KB1NWH is funny (looking)

PSS: My favorite frequency is 152.330 mHz

PSSS: What does this have to do with the new QRZ format?

I got a good one, who gives a shit!

Alvah, I have no problems with you, lets cut this nonsense now. Who cares about your "valid arguement" or "snipes" comments. Go start with someone else because I do not care! I can not speak on anyone else, but I am sure no one else cares, hey, lets do a poll!

By the way, why are you, Alvah, K1TMA in this group? This is a piss and moan group where one can "piss and moan" and have fun. No one mentioned you on 146.940, right? I, for one did not say anything like, "ya, that asshole Alvah on 94, can't stand him". You are acting like everything with the New QRZ format paragraphs is against you. I was making comments such as Rich Wheelers Beacon sounds better than half the conversations on 94, which it does.

You Sir, know nothing of which you speak.

If this was any of mine or Rich Wheelers e-mail groups, you would be gone.

Who cares, if you do not like this group or the comments, leave. Right Ralph?

Thank you kind Sir,

Dear Richard:

You are mixing up a lot of stuff here. I started off this controversy by criticizing you for sniping at the people on the .94 machine. You have done it before. I am one of those people you sniped without identifying me. You sniped from a distance knowing full well most people would be incapable of defending themselves, if aware of the slight.

When you ran out of an argument to justify your dishonesty you began to rationalize your behavior as my fault. You even attempted to use a perceived flaw of me as a platform to launch a counterattack that would not address the issues in this controversy.

If you have a legitimate complaint against people who use the .94 machine then kindly identify the people and the nature of your complaint. Sniping at them is not a legitimate complaint; nor is it fair and honest to snipe at people in general as if you were shooting rabbits in a field when they can't fight back effectively. Psychiatrically, it means you are an unhappy person sniping at people out of frustration but unwilling to face the prospects of someone sniping back or hunting you in self-defense. You want to hurt someone without getting hurt.

"ya, that asshole Alvah on 94, can't stand him" Actually, according to my information, you, Ralph, Tom and Dennis have said almost exactly that, among a lot of other ugly things about me.

What is going on with you, Richard. You were once a very nice guy and, to my knowledge, never sniped or talked about anyone without cause. Now you are doing it constantly. Something has happened with your life. You are no longer happy.

In full view of the fact, or the possibly, I may be dis-connected from this Reflector, if you recall, that has already happened several years ago when I began to criticize Ralph for his sniping behavior.

What gets me is the declaration in your legal argument you have a right to talk about anything, or to criticize anyone, whether a legitimate complaint or a psychotic snipe, but consistently refuse to recognize another person's right to criticize you. That is a serious and inherent contradiction in law and logic.

In response to your comment you think I think everyone on this Reflector is "against" me, you are mistaken. There is nothing in any of my comments to support your contention I believe such a thing and, if I were, I would be paranoid.

Respectfully,

Alvah

I got a good one, who gives a shit!

Alvah, I have no problems with you, lets cut this nonsense now. Who cares about your "valid arguement" or "snipes" comments. Go start with someone else because I do not care! I can not speak on anyone else, but I am sure no one else cares, hey, lets do a poll!

By the way, why are you, Alvah, K1TMA in this group? This is a piss and moan group where one can "piss and moan" and have fun. No one mentioned you on 146.940, right? I, for one did not say anything like, "ya, that asshole Alvah on 94, can't stand him". You are acting like everything with the New QRZ format paragraphs is against you. I was making comments such as Rich Wheelers Beacon sounds better than half the conversations on 94, which it does.

You Sir, know nothing of which you speak.

If this was any of mine or Rich Wheelers e-mail groups, you would be gone.

Who cares, if you do not like this group or the comments, leave.

Right Ralph?

Thank you kind Sir,

Dear Richard:

Your poll is only an attempt to mute the intensity of this controversy and my criticism of your sniping irresponsibility. Instead of addressing the issues and modifying your criminal behavior, you are attempting to distract the real issues.

You are committing fraud.

The whole point of the P & M group is to do just that. P&M all you want.
Some people are clueless about what is going on. It's good natured b-busting a lot of the time. Nobody gets mad. We all have our say, and people agree or laugh or contradict or all three or invent new stuff. (That's for people who don't understand.) I personally think it's hilarious! If anyone is offended by the whole thing (DUH!!!!!!) then go away.
I'm not offended (though not crazy about being misunderstood), I'm sure Richie isn't (by most of it anyway), and I doubt anyone else is.
Give it a rest, kids, and go play with your radios. It was fun--and funny--while it lasted.

Thanks Lynda, its funny, the same concept in a general conversation I have with some of my friends where we would say, " I hate people", to one another, meaning the general world right now is screwed up. No, we do not hate people, it is simply a general joke to laugh at the world problems between friends, similar to this, whatever happened conversation.

Alvah, no problems with you or anyone, you know that, you know darn well. Take some humor.

Time for another good topic,

I think I will state that OJ Simpson is not guilty on all charges ever, anyone want to challange this?

Same idea as 94.

Good God Martha! This is beginning to sound like a quarrel from 11 meters!! Furthermore, just for the record, I don't care personally if you are or aren't a homosexual. Actually, I personally never thought that. Different maybe but GAY? Hmmmm, don't know about that. Anyways, I will waste no more time on this subject except to say that maybe the Piss and Moan net should take place on channel 21 or something!

What in hell does "over intelligence" mean anyway? I think you got out of control with your extensive vocabulary in an attempt to sound intellectual -- actually, to be truthful. As for me, I am real and I am what I am.

An honest person with a criticism goes into significant detail in his criticism and, ultimately, it usually turns out to be a legitimate criticism. Without substance there is no validity.

> In respect to my use of the word, "guttersnipe," I am using it in the context you apparently don't understand. It refers to a person who snipes at people from a distance without substance to support the attack, usually to people who can not defend themselves. It may be the results of jealousy converted into hate or the dissipation of internal hatred of one self, such as in the instance of a woman, big, repulsive and fat, who doesn't like herself or the way she looks, so she spends much of her time absolutely miserable with herself, eating constantly and, out of anger, sniping at everyone and everything. This kind of behavior is clear evidence of serious psychiatric issues and has nothing to do with the legitimacy of a criticism or complaint.

at a local restaurant in Northampton, such as in the instance some of you people suggested I married in order to conceal or mask "my homosexuality."

If this behavior doesn't stop I will have no alternative but to file an application for a criminal complaint in a show and cause hearing at the local district court. I already know the identity of the culprits and have at least two eye-witnesses.
> If you have a valid criticism or complaint of me -- fine! It is well within everyone's constitutional rights to criticize anyone and everything; however, there is nothing in our Constitution that gives anyone a right to snipe at people, whether out of jealousy, self anger, self hate or for some other psychological or psychiatric reason. For there is never any legitimacy in this kind of behavior. It is wrong and evil. Dangerous! Ugly! And self-destructive!

> If Richard has a legitimate complaint or criticism about the people who use the .94 machine then let him substantiate his complaint or criticism with substance and detail. Sniping at people, from a distance who can not defend themselves, is wrong and evil. It will ultimately lead to his destruction.

OJ Simpson is great, he never did it, nor was he there.

Ed (NWH), looks like OJ

This is better than half the conversations on 146.730 mHz

I agree with you--you should hear some of the stuff I say when I'm aggravated and need to blow off steam! "I hate.." is usually at the beginning of the sentence. I'm afraid too much of what some of us were saying was taken way too seriously. Not to mention being misinterpreted. I'm afraid the holiday stress is getting to some people!!

OJ Simpson is great, he never did it, nor was he there.

Ed (NWH), looks like OJ

This is better than half the conversations on 146.730 mHz

Dear Bucky,....

Please leave your comments about me out of this...
I don't talk about you....regardless of what you think you've "heard"....
I have enough problems to deal with ....
without adding your demented problems to the mix....

I also think you have a lot of nerve slinging mud at our dear departed friend Dennis.......
if there was one person around here who looked up to you,
it was Dennis.....

And, by the way, do you ever proofread the things you write?

Merry Christmas to all...

and keep on Pissin' and Moanin'........

it's your Constitutional Right !

Subject: RE: [WA1UOL_PandM_Net] Re: New QRZ format/ Bullshit

Dear Richard:

You are mixing up a lot of stuff here. I started off this controversy by criticizing you for sniping at the people on the .94 machine. You have done it before. I am one of those people you sniped without identifying me. You sniped from a distance knowing full well most people would be incapable of defending themselves, if aware of the slight.

When you ran out of an argument to justify your dishonesty you began to rationalize your behavior as my fault. You even attempted to use a perceived flaw of me as a platform to launch a counterattack that would not address the issues in this controversy.

If you have a legitimate complaint against people who use the .94 machine then kindly identify the people and the nature of your complaint. Sniping at them is not a legitimate complaint; nor is it fair and honest to snipe at people in general as if you were shooting rabbits in a field when they can't fight back effectively. Psychiatrically, it means you are an unhappy person sniping at people out of frustration but unwilling to face the prospects of someone sniping back or hunting you in self-defense. You want to hurt someone without getting hurt.

"ya, that asshole Alvah on 94, can't stand him" Actually, according to my information, you, Ralph, Tom and Dennis have said almost exactly that, among a lot of other ugly things about me.

What is going on with you, Richard. You were once a very nice guy and, to my knowledge, never sniped or talked about anyone without cause. Now you are doing it constantly. Something has happened with your life. You are no longer happy.

In full view of the fact, or the possibly, I may be dis-connected from this Reflector, if you recall, that has already happened several years ago when I began to criticize Ralph for his sniping behavior.

What gets me is the declaration in your legal argument you have a right to talk about anything, or to criticize anyone, whether a legitimate complaint or a psychotic snipe, but consistently refuse to recognize another person's right to criticize you. That is a serious and inherent contradiction in law and logic.

In response to your comment you think I think everyone on this Reflector is "against" me, you are mistaken. There is nothing in any of my comments to support your contention I believe such a thing and, if I were, I would be paranoid.

Respectfully,

Alvah

I got a good one, who gives a shit!

Alvah, I have no problems with you, lets cut this nonsense now. Who cares about your "valid arguement" or "snipes" comments. Go start with someone else because I do not care! I can not speak on anyone else, but I am sure no one else cares, hey, lets do a poll!

By the way, why are you, Alvah, K1TMA in this group? This is a piss and moan group where one can "piss and moan" and have fun. No one mentioned you on 146.940, right? I, for one did not say anything like, "ya, that asshole Alvah on 94, can't stand him". You are acting like everything with the New QRZ format paragraphs is against you. I was making comments such as Rich Wheelers Beacon sounds better than half the conversations on 94, which it does.

You Sir, know nothing of which you speak.

If this was any of mine or Rich Wheelers e-mail groups, you would be gone.

Who cares, if you do not like this group or the comments, leave. Right Ralph?

Thank you kind Sir,

Guttersnipes are coming to town
by: N1ZOJ

1

It's on the piss and moan net
Now don't you forget
We'll piss and moan
From 6am to sunset
Guttersnipes are coming to town

2

I'm making a list
Checking it twice
Alvah was pissed
But Richard was nice
Guttersnipes are coming to town

Bridge:

Now Ralph you set this group up
To have some fun you see
If you don't like the way things are
You can take a bite of me!

3

Now i'll finish this song
With just one more verse
I've got the Piss and moan blues
And the Piss and Moan curse
Guttersnipes are coming---to town--- ya better not snipe,

whatever you say,
it's nothing but tripe....
Guttersnipes are coming to town...

He's making a list,
and checking it twice,
gonna find out who's snipin' tonight,
Guttersnipes are coming to town.....

He sees you when you're snipin'...
He knows that you're a fake....
He knows if you've been talkin' 'bout him....
so shut your mouth,... for goodness sake.....

OOOOOOOOH,....you better watch out,
you better not speak....
free speech for the strong,
but not for the weak......

Guttersnipes are coming to town.....

Santa Claus Is Coming To Town

You better watch out
You better not cry
Better not pout
I'm telling you why

Santa Claus is coming to town

He's making a list,
And checking it twice;
Gonna find out Who's naughty and nice.
Santa Claus is coming to town

He sees you when you're sleeping
He knows when you're awake
He knows if you've been bad or good
So be good for goodness sake!

O! You better watch out!
You better not cry.
Better not pout, I'm telling you why.
Santa Claus is coming to town.
Santa Claus is coming to town.

"Santa Claus Is Coming to Town" is a Christmas song. It was written by J. Fred Coots and Haven Gillespie, and was first sung on Eddie Cantor's radio show in November 1934. It became an instant hit with orders for 100,000 copies of sheet music the next day and over 400,000 copies sold by Christmas.

Two elements in this song have made it of particular interest to children as well as adults. First is the attention-getting opening-line warning, "You better watch out," and second is the delightful promise of an upcoming event, "Santa Claus is comin' to town." Coupled with a bouncy and catchy melody, these teasers have made the 1932 composition by lyricist Haven Gillespie and musician John Frederick Coots one of the most successful of all popular Christmas carols. Only "Rudolph" and "White Christmas" have outsold this depression-era joyful gem. "Santa Claus Is Comin'" was the best-known piece by either Gillespie or Coots, although both had other successful hits.

This Christmas Carol has been sang for many years. It tells children to be good because Santa Claus is watching them. If the children aren't good they won't get any presents for Christmas. Santa watches them all the time and he knows what they do. They have to be good to get presents from Santa.

That would be BARRY FARRELL FUNERAL HOME on NORTHAMPTON ST. a few blocks north of K-Mart plaza on Rt 5 in Holyoke.
FROM THE NORTH take rt 91 south to Exit 15, [Soldiers Home]. Take left off ramp and go down hill to second traffic light. That will be route 5. Take right[RT 5 SOUTH] and follow about a mile to Farrells which will be on right side.
FROM THE SOUTH Take rt 91 north to exit 15, [Ingleside]. Bear right off ramp and take left at first traffic light which is Whiting Farm Road. BERNIES appliance is at that corner. Follow to end which will be route 5. Take left at light [RT 5 NORTH] and Farrells will be a few blocks north on your left. It's a big converted house with plenty of parking.

A pianist was hired to play background music for a movie. When it was completed he asked when and where he could see the picture. The producer sheepishly confessed that it was actually a porno film and it was due out in a month.

A month later, the musician went to a porno theatre to see it. With his collar up and dark glasses on, he took a seat in the back row, next to a couple who also seemed to be in disguise.The movie was even raunchier than he had feared, featuring group sex, S/M and even a dog.

After a while, the embarrassed pianist turned to the couple and said, "I'm only here to listen to the music."
"Yeah?" replied the man. "We're only here to see our dog."

Haven't seen any politicians like this lately.

Harry Truman was a different kind of President. He probably made as many important decisions regarding our nation's history as any of the other 42 Presidents. However, a measure of his greatness may rest on what he did after he left the White House.

The only asset he had when he died was the house he lived in, which was in Independence Missouri. His wife had inherited the house from her mother and other than their years in the White House, they lived their entire lives there.

When he retired from office in 1952, his income was a U.S. Army pension reported to have been $13,507.72 a year. Congress, noting that he was paying for his stamps and personally licking them, granted him an 'allowance' and, later, a retroactive pension of $25,000 per year. After President Eisenhower was inaugurated, Harry and Bess drove home to Missouri by themselves. There were no Secret Service following them. When offered corporate positions at large salaries, he declined, stating, "You don't want me. You want the office of the President, and that doesn't belong to me. It belongs to the American people and it's not for sale."

Even later, on May 6, 1971, when Congress was preparing to award him the Medal of Honor on his 87th birthday, he refused to accept it, writing, "I don't consider that I have done anything which should be the reason for any award, Congressional or otherwise."

As president he paid for all of his own travel expenses and food. Modern politicians have found a new level of success in cashing in on the Presidency, resulting in untold wealth. Today, many in Congress also have found a way to become quite wealthy while enjoying the fruits of their offices. Political offices are now for sale.

Good old Harry Truman was correct when he observed,

"My choice early in life was either to be a piano player in a whorehouse or a politician. And to tell the truth, there is hardly any difference.”

Work vs Pleasure

The Commanding Officer of a U S. Marine Corps battalion was about to start the morning briefing to his staff and company commanders. While waiting for the coffee machine to finish its brewing, he decided to pose a question to all assembled. He explained that his wife had been a bit frisky the night before and he failed to get his usual amount of sound sleep. He posed the question of just how much of sex was 'work' and how much of it was 'pleasure?'

The X.O. Chimed in with 75-25% in favor of work. A Captain said it was 50-50%

The Colonel's Aide, a Lt. responded with 25-75% in favor of pleasure, depending on his state of inebriation at the time.

There being no consensus, the Colonel turned to the PFC who was in charge of making the coffee. What was HIS opinion?

With no hesitation the young PFC responded, "Sir, it has to be 100% pleasure. The Colonel was surprised and, as you might guess, asked why?

"Well Sir," began the PFC, "If there was any work involved, the officers would have me doing it for them."

The room fell silent.

God Bless the Marine Corps

While on vacation a married couple walked into a shoe store. The Salesman said to them, 'I have some very special Jamaican sandals I tink you would be interested in. Dey make you wild at sex.' Well, the wife was really interested in buying the sandals after what the man claimed, but her husband felt he really didn't need them, being the sex god he was.

The husband asked the man, 'How could sandals make you into a sex freak?' The Jamaican replied, 'Just try dem on, Mon.' So, the husband, after some badgering from his wife, finally gave in, and tried them on. As soon as he slipped them onto his feet, he got this wild look in his eyes, something his wife hadn't seen in many years!

In the blink of an eye, the husband grabbed the Jamaican, bent him violently over a table, yanked down his pants, ripped down his own pants, and grabbed a firm hold of the Jamaican's hips. The Jamaican then began screaming, 'You got dem on the wrong feet! You got dem on the wrong feet!'

A South Carolina farm wife called the local phone company to report her telephone failed to ring when her friends called - and that on the few occasions when it did ring her dog always moaned right before the phone rang.

The telephone repairman proceeded to the scene, curious to see this psychic dog or senile lady. He climbed a telephone pole, hooked in his test set, and dialed the subscriber's house. The phone didn't ring right away, but then the dog moaned and the telephone began to ring.

Climbing down from the pole, the telephone repairman found:

1. The dog was tied to the telephone system's ground wire with a steel chain and collar.
2. The wire connection to the ground rod was loose.
3. The dog was receiving 90 volts of signaling current when the number was called.
4. After a couple of jolts, the dog would start moaning and then urinate.
5. The wet ground would complete the circuit, thus causing the phone to ring.

Which demonstrates that some problems CAN be fixed by .....Pissing and Moaning.

Thought you'd like to know.

Roping A Deer------- (Names have been removed to protect the Stupid!)

Actual letter from someone who farms and writes well!

I had this idea that I was going to rope a deer, put it in a stall, feed it up on corn for a couple of weeks, then kill it and eat it.

The first step in this adventure was getting a deer. I figured that, since they congregate at my cattle feeder and do not seem to have much fear of me when we are there (a bold one will sometimes come right up and sniff at the bags of feed while I am in the back of the truck not 4 feet away), it should not be difficult to rope one, get up to it and toss a bag over its head (to calm it down) then hog tie it and transport it home.

I filled the cattle feeder then hid down at the end with my rope.

The cattle, having seen the roping thing before, stayed well back. They were not having any of it.

After about 20 minutes, my deer showed up -- 3 of them. I picked out.. ..a likely looking one, stepped out from the end of the feeder, and threw.. my rope. The deer just stood there and stared at me.

I wrapped the rope around my waist and twisted the end so I would have a good hold. The deer still just stood and stared at me, but you could tell it was mildly concerned about the whole rope situation.

I took a step towards it...it took a step away. I put a little tension on the rope and then received an education.

The first thing that I learned is that, while a deer may just stand there looking at you funny while you rope it, they are spurred to action when you start pulling on that rope.

That deer EXPLODED.

The second thing I learned is that pound for pound, a deer is a LOT stronger than a cow or a colt. A cow or a colt in that weight range I could fight down with a rope and with some dignity.

A deer -- no chance.

That thing ran and bucked and twisted and pulled. There was no controlling it and certainly no getting close to it. As it jerked me off my feet and started dragging me across the ground, it occurred to me that having a deer on a rope was not nearly as good an idea as I had originally imagined.

The only up side is that they do not have as much stamina as many other animals.

A brief 10 minutes later, it was tired and not nearly as quick to jerk me off my feet and drag me when I managed to get up. It took me a few minutes to realize this, since I was mostly blinded by the blood flowing out of the big gash in my head. At that point, I had lost my taste for corn-fed venison. I just wanted to get that devil creature off the end of that rope.

I figured if I just let it go with the rope hanging around its neck, it would likely die slow and painfully somewhere. At the time, there was no love at all between me and that deer. At that moment, I hated the thing, and I would venture a guess that the feeling was mutual.

Despite the gash in my head and the several large knots where I had cleverly arrested the deer's momentum by bracing my head against various large rocks as it dragged me across the ground, I could still think clearly enough to recognize that there was a small chance that I shared some tiny amount of responsibility for the situation we were in, so I didn't want the deer to have to suffer a slow death, so I managed to get it lined back up in between my truck and the feeder - a little trap I had set before hand...kind of like a squeeze chute.

I got it to back in there and I started moving up so I could get my rope back.

Did you know that deer bite? They do! I never in a million years would have thought that a deer would bite somebody, so I was very surprised when I reached up there to grab that rope and the deer grabbed hold of my wrist.

Now, when a deer bites you, it is not like being bit by a horse where they just bite you and then let go. A deer bites you and shakes its head --almost like a pit bull. They bite HARD and it hurts.

The proper thing to do when a deer bites you is probably to freeze and draw back slowly. I tried screaming and shaking instead. My method was ineffective. It seems like the deer was biting and shaking for several minutes, but it was likely only several seconds.

I, being smarter than a deer (though you may be questioning that claim by now), tricked it.

While I kept it busy tearing the tendons out of my right arm, I reached up with my left hand and pulled that rope loose. That was when I got my final lesson in deer behavior for the day.

Deer will strike at you with their front feet. They rear right up on their back feet and strike right about head and shoulder level, and their hooves are surprisingly sharp. I learned a long time ago that, when an animal -- like a horse --strikes at you with their hooves and you can't get away easily, the best thing to do is try to make a loud noise and make an aggressive move towards the animal.
This will usually cause them to back down a bit so you can escape.

This was not a horse. This was a deer, so obviously, such trickery would not work. In the course of a millisecond, I devised a different strategy. I screamed like a woman and tried to turn and run.

The reason I had always been told NOT to try to turn and run from a horse that paws at you is that there is a good chance that it will hit you in the back of the head. Deer may not be so different from horses after all, besides being twice as strong and 3 times as evil, because the second I turned to run, it hit me right in the back of the head and knocked me down.

Now, when a deer paws at you and knocks you down, it does not immediately leave. I suspect it does not recognize that the danger has passed. What they do instead is paw your back and jump up and down on you while you are laying there crying like a little girl and covering your head.

I finally managed to crawl under the truck and the deer went away.

So now I know why when people go deer hunting they bring a rifle with a scope to sort of even the odds.

Something to think about

"The Proposal"

When a company falls on difficult times, one of the things that seems to happen is they reduce their staff and workers. The remaining workers need to find ways to continue to do a good job or risk that their job would be eliminated as well. Wall street, and the media normally congratulate the CEO for making this type of "tough decision", and his board of directors gives him a big bonus.

Our government should not be immune from similar risks.

Therefore: Reduce the House of Representatives from the current 435 members to 218 members and Senate members from 100 to 50 (one per State). Also reduce remaining staff by 25%.

Accomplish this over the next 8 years. (two steps / two elections) and of course this would require some redistricting.

Some Yearly Monetary Gains Include:

$44,108,400 for elimination of base pay for congress. (267 members X $165,200 pay / member / yr.)

$97,175,000 for elimination of the above people's staff. (estimate $1.3 Million in staff per each member of the House, and $3 Million in staff per each member of the Senate every year)

$240,294 for the reduction in remaining staff by 25%.

$7,500,000,000 reduction in pork barrel ear-marks each year. (those members whose jobs are gone. Current estimates for total government pork earmarks are at $15 Billion/yr)

The remaining representatives would need to work smarter and would need to improve efficiencies. It might even be in their best interests to work together for the good of our country?

We may also expect that smaller committees might lead to a more efficient resolution of issues as well. It might even be easier to keep track of what your representative is doing.

Congress has more tools available to do their jobs than it had back in 1911 when the current number of representatives was established. (telephone, computers, cell phones to name a few)

Note:
Congress did not hesitate to head home when it was a holiday, when the nation needed a real fix to the economic problems. Also, we have 3 senators that have not been doing their jobs for the past 18+ months (on the campaign trail) and still they all have been accepting full pay.. These facts alone support a reduction in senators & congress.

Summary of opportunity:

$ 44,108,400 reduction of congress members.

$282,100,000 for elimination of the reduced house member staff.

$150,000,000 for elimination of reduced senate member staff.

$59,675,000 for 25% reduction of staff for remaining house members.

$37,500,000 for 25% reduction of staff for remaining senate members.

$7,500,000,000 reduction in pork added to bills by the reduction of congress members.

$8,073,383,400 per year, estimated total savings.
(that's 8-BILLION just to start!)

Big business does these types of cuts all the time.

If Congresspersons were required to serve 20, 25 or 30 years (like everyone else) in order to collect retirement benefits there is no telling how much we would save. Now they get full retirement after serving only ONE term.

IF you are happy how the Congress spends our taxes, then just delete this message.
IF you are NOT at all happy, then I assume you know what to do..

I voted Democrat because I love the fact that I can now marry whatever I want. I've decided to marry my horse.

I voted Democrat because I believe oil companies' profits of 4% on a gallon of gas are obscene but the government taxing the same gallon of gas at 15% isn't.

I voted Democrat because I believe the government will do a better job of spending the money I earn than I would.

I voted Democrat because freedom of speech is fine as long as nobody is offended by it.

I voted Democrat because when we pull out of Iraq I trust that the bad guys will stop what they're doing because they now think we're good people.

I voted Democrat because I'm way too irresponsible to own a gun, and I know that my local police are all I need to protect me from murderers and thieves.

I voted Democrat because I believe that people who can't tell us if it will rain on Friday can tell us that the polar ice caps will melt away I n ten years if I don't start driving a Prius.

I voted Democrat because I'm not concerned about the slaughter of millions of babies so long as we keep all death row inmates alive.

I voted Democrat because I believe that business should not be allowed to make profits for themselves. They need to break even and give the rest away to the government for redistribution as THEY see fit.

I voted Democrat because I believe liberal judges need to rewrite The Constitution every few days to suit some fringe kooks who would never get their agendas past the voters.

I voted Democrat because my head is so firmly planted up my ass that it is unlikely that I'll ever have another point of view.

Three Ladies in a Sauna

THREE WOMEN, TWO YOUNGER, AND ONE SENIOR CITIZEN, WERE SITTING NAKED IN A SAUNA. SUDDENLY THERE WAS A BEEPING SOUND. THE YOUNG WOMAN PRESSED HER FOREARM AND THE BEEP STOPPED. THE OTHERS LOOKED AT HER QUESTIONINGLY. 'THAT WAS MY PAGER,' SHE SAID. I HAVE A MICROCHIP UNDER THE SKIN OF MY ARM.

A FEW MINUTES LATER, A PHONE RANG. THE SECOND YOUNG WOMAN LIFTED HER PALM TO HER EAR. WHEN SHE FINISHED, SHE EXPLAINED, 'THAT WAS MY MOBILE PHONE. I HAVE A MICROCHIP IN MY HAND.'

THE OLDER WOMAN FELT VERY LOW -TECH. NOT TO BE OUT DONE, SHE DECIDED SHE HAD TO DO SOMETHING JUST AS IMPRESSIVE. SHE STEPPED OUT OF THE SAUNA AND WENT TO THE BATHROOM. SHE RETURNED WITH A PIECE OF TOILET PAPER HANGING FROM HER REAR END.

THE OTHERS RAISED THEIR EYEBROWS AND STARED AT HER.
THE OLDER WOMAN FINALLY SAID.....

WELL, ...WILL YOU LOOK AT THAT....

Catching Wild Pigs
A chemistry professor in a large college had some exchange students in the class. One day while the class was in the lab the Professor noticed one young man (exchange student) who kept rubbing his back, and stretching as if his back hurt.
The professor asked the young man what was the matter. The student told him he had a bullet lodged in his back. He had been shot while fighting communists in his native country who were trying to overthrow his country's government and install a new communist government.
In the midst of his story he looked at the professor and asked a strange question. He asked, 'Do you know how to catch wild pigs?'
The professor thought it was a joke and asked for the punch line. The young man said this was no joke. 'You catch wild pigs by finding a suitable place in the woods and putting corn on the ground. The pigs find it and begin to come everyday to eat the free corn. When they are used to coming every day, you put a fence down one side of the place where they are used to coming. When they get used to the fence, they begin to eat the corn again and you put up another side of the fence. They get used to that and start to eat again. You continue until you have all four sides of the fence up with a gate in The last side. The pigs, who are used to the free corn, start to come through the gate to eat, you slam the gate on them and catch the whole herd.
Suddenly the wild pigs have lost their freedom. They run around and around inside the fence, but they are caught. Soon they go back to eating the free corn. They are so used to it that they have forgotten how to forage in the woods for themselves, so they accept their captivity.
The young man then told the professor that is exactly what he sees happening to America . The government keeps pushing us toward socialism and keeps spreading the free corn out in the form of programs such as supplemental income, tax credit for unearned income, tobacco subsidies, dairy subsidies, payments not to plant crops (CRP), welfare, medicine, drugs, etc.. While we continually lose our freedoms -- just a little at a time.
One should always remember: There is no such thing as a free lunch! Also, a politician will never provide a service for you cheaper than you can do it yourself.
Also, if you see that all of this wonderful government 'help' is a problem confronting the future of democracy in America , you might want to send this on to your friends. If you think the free ride is essential to your way of life then you will probably delete this email, but God help you when the gate slams shut!
Keep your eyes on the newly elected politicians who are about to slam the gate on America .
"A government big enough to give you everything you want, is big enough to take away everything you have."

A dad walks into a market with his young son. The kid is holding a quarter. Suddenly, the boy starts choking, going blue in the face. The dad realizes the boy has swallowed the quarter and starts panicking.

A well dressed, attractive, but serious looking woman in a blue business suit is sitting at a coffee bar in the market reading her newspaper and sipping a cup of coffee. At the sound of the commotion, she looks up, puts her coffee cup down on the saucer, neatly folds her newspaper and places it on the counter. Then she gets up from her seat and makes her way, unhurried, across the market.

Reaching the boy, the woman carefully takes hold of the boy's testicles and starts to squeeze, gently at first and then over more firmly. After a few seconds the boy convulses violently and coughs up the quarter, which the woman deftly catches in her free hand. Releasing the boy, the woman hands the coin to the father and walks back to her seat in the coffee bar without saying a word.

As soon as he is sure that his son has suffered no lasting ill effects, the father rushes over to the woman and starts thanking her saying, "I've never seen anybody do anything like that before. It was fantastic. Are you a doctor?"

"No," she says. "Divorce attorney."

"To explain the problem science has with religion."

The atheist professor of philosophy pauses before his class and then asks one of his new students to stand.

"You're a Christian, aren't you, son?

"Yes sir," the student says.

"So you believe in God?"

"Absolutely."

"Is God good?"

"Sure! God's good."

"Is God all-powerful? Can God do anything?"

"Yes."

"Are you good or evil?"

"The Bible says I'm evil."

The professor grins knowingly."Aha! The Bible!"

He considers for a moment, "Here's one for you. Let's say there's a sick person over here and you can cure him.. You can do it. Would you help him? Would you try?

"Yes sir, I would."

"So you're good!"

"I wouldn't say that."

"But why not say that? You'd help a sick and maimed person if you could. Most of us would if we could. But God doesn't.."

The student does not answer, so the professor continues.

"He doesn't, does he? My brother was a Christian who died of cancer, even though he prayed to Jesus to heal him. How is this Jesus good? Hmmm? Can you answer that one?"

The student remains silent.

"No, you can't, can you?" the professor says. He takes a sip of water from a glass on his desk to give the student time to relax.

"Let's start again, young fella. Is God good?"

“Er…yes,” the student says.

“Is Satan good?”

The student doesn’t hesitate on this one, “No.”

“Then where does Satan come from?”

The student falters, “from God.”

“That’s right. God made Satan, didn’t he? Tell me, son. Is there evil in this world?”

“Yes , sir…”

“Evil is everywhere, isn’t it? And God did make everything, correct?”

“Yes.”

“So who created evil?” The professor continued, “If God created everything, then God created evil, since evil exists, and according to the principle that our works define who we are, then God is evil.”

Again, the student has no answer.

“Is there sickness? Immorality? Hatred? Ugliness? All these terrible things, do they exist in this world?

The student squirms on his feet. “Yes.”

“So who created them?”

The student does not answer again, so the professor repeats his question, “Who created them?”

There is still no answer… Suddenly the lecturer breaks away to pace in front of the classroom. The class is mesmerized.

“Tell me,” he continues onto another student. “Do you believe in Jesus Christ, son”

The student’s voice betrays him and cracks. “Yes, professor, I do.”

The old man stops pacing, “Science says you have five senses you use to identify and observe the world around you. Have you ever seen Jesus?”

“No, sir, I’m afraid I haven’t.”

“Yet you still believ e in him?”

“Yes.”

“According to the rules of empirical, testable, demonstrable protocol, science says your God doesn’t exist. What do you say to that, son?”

“Nothing,” the student replies. “I only have my faith.”
“Yes, faith,” the professor repeats. “And that is the problem science has with God. There is no evidence, only faith.”

The student stands quietly for a moment, before asking a question of His own. “Professor, is there such a thing as heat?”

“Yes,” the professor replies.” There’s heat.”

“And is there such a thing as cold?”

“Yes, son, there’s cold too.”

“No sir, there isn’t…”

The professor turns to face the student, obviously interested. The room suddenly becomes very quiet.

The student begins to explain…

“You can have lots of heat, even more heat, super-heat, mega-heat, unlimited heat, white heat, a little heat or no heat, but we don’t have anything called “cold8 0. We can hit up to 458 below zero, which is no heat, but we can’t go any further after that.. There is no such thing as cold; otherwise we would be able to go colder than the lowest -458 degrees.”

“Everybody or object is susceptible to study when it has or transmits energy, and heat is what makes a body or matter have or transmit energy. Absolute zero (-458 F) is the total absence of heat. You see, sir, cold is only a word we use to describe the absence of heat. We cannot measure cold. Heat we can measure in thermal units because heat is energy. Cold is not the opposite of heat, sir, just the absence of it.”

Silence across the room. A pen drops somewhere in the classroom, sounding like a hammer.

“What about darkness, professor. Is there such a thing as darkness?”

“Yes,” the professor replies without hesitation. “What is night if it isn’t darkness?”

“You’re wrong again, sir. Darkness is not something; it is the absence of something. You can have low light, normal light, bright light, flashing light, but if you have no light constantly you have nothing and it is called darkness, isn’t it? That’s the meaning we use to define the word. In reality, darkness isn’t. If it were, you would be able to make darkness darker, wouldn’t you?”

The professor begins to smile at the student in front of him. This will be a good semester. “So what point are you making, young man?”

“Yes, professor. My point is, your philosophical premise is flawed to start with, and so your conclusion must also be flawed.”
The professor’s face cannot hide surprise this time, “Flawed? Can you explain how?”

“You are working on the premise of duality,” the student explains….

“You argue that there is life and then there’s death; a good God and a bad God. You are viewing the concept of God as something finite, something we can measure. Sir, science can’t even explain a thought.”

“It uses electricity and magnetism, but has never been seen, much less fully understood. To view death as the opposite of life is to be ignorant of the fact that death cannot exist as a substantive thing. Death is not the opposite of life, just the absence of it…”

“Now tell me, professor. Do you teach your students that they evolved from a monkey?”

“If you are referring to the natural evolutionary process, young man, yes, of course I do.”

“Have you ever observed evolution with your own eyes, sir?”

The professor begins to shake his head, still smiling, as he realizes where the argument is going. A very good semester, indeed.

“since no one has ever observed the process of evolution at work and cannot even prove that this process is an on-going endeavor, are you not teaching your opinion , sir? Are you now not a scientist, but a preacher?”

The class is in an uproar. The student remains silent until the commotion has subsided.

“To continue the point you were making earlier to the other student, let me give you an example of what I mean.” The student looks around the room, “Is there anyone in the class who has ever seen the professor’s brain?” The class breaks out into laughter.

“Is there anyone here who has ever heard the professor’s brain, felt the professor’s brain, touched or smelled the professor’s brain? No one appears to have done so. So, according to the established rules of empirical, stable, demonstrable protocol, science says that you have no brain, with all due respect, sir.”

“So if science says you have no brain, how can we trust your lectures, sir?”

Now the room is silent. The professor just stares at the student, his face unreadable. Finally, after what seems an eternity, the old man answers, “I guess you’ll have to take them on faith.”

“Now, you accept that there is faith, and, in fact, faith exists with life, “the student continues, “Now sir, is there such a thing as evil?”

Now uncertain, the professor responds, “Of course, there is.. We see it everyday. It is in the daily example of man’s inhumanity to man. It is in the multitude of crime and violence everywhere in the world. These manifestations are nothing else but evil.”

To this the student replied, “Evil does not exist sir, or at least it does not exist unto itself. Evil is simply the absence of God. It is just like darkness and cold, a word that man has created to describe the absence of God. God did not create evil. Evil is the result of what happens when man does not have God’s love present in his heart. It’s like the cold that comes when there is no heat or the darkness that comes when there is no light.”

The professor sat down.

If you read it all the way through and had a smile on your face when finished, mail it to your friends and family.

PS: The student was Albert Einstein

LAKELAND, Fla. — An eighth-grader was suspended from riding the school bus for three days after being accused of passing gas. The bus driver wrote on a misbehavior form that a 15-year-old teen passing gas on the bus Monday to make the other children laugh, creating a stench so bad that it was difficult to breathe. The bus driver handed the teen the suspension form the next day.

Polk County school officials said there's no rule against flatulence, but there are rules against causing a disturbance on the bus.

The teen said he wasn't the one passing gas.

Whether he did it or not, he might have gotten off easy. A 13-year-old student at a Stuart school was arrested in November after authorities said he broke wind in class.

This British children's show asks the questions:
- What comes after "three-skin?"
- Do you like to take out your "twanger?"
- Are we going to play with our friend's balls?
- Are you a "plucker", and would you like to sing that "plucking" song?

Click on this link to see the show and sing along with the the gang!

Heart Attacks

After an exhaustive review of the research literature, here's the final word on nutrition and health:

1. Japanese eat very little fat and suffer fewer heart attacks than us.

2. Mexicans eat a lot of fat and suffer fewer heart attacks than us.

3. Chinese drink very little red wine and suffer fewer heart attacks than us.

4. Italians drink excessive amounts of red wine and suffer fewer heart attacks than us.

5. Germans drink beer and eat lots of sausages and fats and suffer fewer heart attacks than us.

CONCLUSION: Eat and drink what you like. Speaking English is apparently what kills you. But don't worry, your Government is trying to correct this problem.

MEN ARE JUST HAPPIER PEOPLE

NICKNAMES:

a.. If Laura, Kate and Sarah go out for lunch, they will call each other Laura, Kate and Sarah .

a.. If Mike , Dave and John go out, they will affectionately refer to each other as Fat Boy, Godzilla and Four-eyes.

EATING OUT:

a.. When the bill arrives, Mike , Dave and John will each throw in $20, even though it's only for $32.50. None of them will have anything smaller and none will actually admit they want change back.

a.. When the girls get their bill, out come the pocket calculators.

MONEY:

a.. A man will pay $2 for a $1 item he needs.
b.. A woman will pay $1 for a $2 item that she doesn't need but it's on sale.

BATHROOMS:

a.. A man has six items in his bathroom: toothbrush and toothpaste, shaving cream, razor, a bar of soap, and a towel ..

a.. The average number of items in the typical woman's bathroom is 337. A man would not be able to identify more than 20 of these items.

FUTURE:

a.. A woman worries about the future until she gets a husband.
b.. A man never worries about the future until he gets a wife.

SUCCESS:

a.. A successful man is one who makes more money than his wife can spend.

a.. A successful woman is one who can find such a man.

MARRIAGE:

a.. A woman marries a man expecting he will change, but he doesn't.
b.. A man marries a woman expecting that she won't change, but she does.

DRESSING UP:

a.. A woman will dress up to go shopping
b.. A man will dress up for weddings and funerals.

NATURAL:

a.. Men wake up as good-looking as they went to bed.
b.. Women somehow deteriorate during the night.

OFFSPRING:

a.. Ah, children. A woman knows all about her children. She knows about dentist appointments and romances, best friends, favorite foods, secret fears and hopes and dreams.

a.. A man is vaguely aware of some short people living in the house.

THOUGHT FOR THE DAY
A married man should forget his mistakes.

There's no use in two people remembering the same thing!

APHORISM: A SHORT, POINTED SENTENCE EXPRESSING A WISE OR CLEVER OBSERVATION OR A GENERAL TRUTH

1. The nicest thing about the future is that it always starts tomorrow.

2. Money will buy a fine dog, but only kindness will make him wag his tail.

3. If you don't have a sense of humor, you probably don't have any sense at all.

4. Seat belts are not as confining as wheelchairs.

5. A good time to keep your mouth shut is when you're in deep water.

6. How come it takes so little time for a child who is afraid of the dark to become a teenager who wants to stay out all night?

7. Business conventions are important because they demonstrate how many people a company can operate without.

8. Why is it that at class reunions you feel younger than everyone else looks?

9. Scratch a cat and you will have a permanent job.

10. No one has more driving ambition than the boy who wants to buy a car.

11. There are no new sins; the old ones just get more publicity.

12. There are worse things than getting a call for a wrong number at 4 AM. It could be a right number.

13. No one ever says 'It's only a game.' when their team is winning.

14. I've reached the age where the happy hour is a nap.

15. Be careful reading the fine print. There's no way you're going to like it.

16. The trouble with bucket seats is that not everybody has the same size bucket.

17. Do you realize that in about 40 years, we'll have thousands of old ladies running around with tattoos?
(And rap music will be the Golden Oldies!)

18. Money can't buy happiness -- but somehow it's more comfortable to cry in a Corvette than in a Yugo.

19. After 50, if you don't wake up aching in every joint, you are probably dead!!

20. Always be yourself because the people that matter don't mind, and the ones who mind, don't matter

The Perfect Solution to Senior Health Care

While discussing the upcoming Universal Health Care Program with my sister-in-law the other day, I think we have found the solution. I am sure you have heard the ideas that if you're a senior you need to suck it up and give up the idea that you need any health care. A new hip? Unheard of. We simply can't afford to take care of you anymore. You don't need any medications for your high blood pressure, diabetes, heart problems, etc. Let's take care of the young people. After all, they will be ruling the world very soon.

So here is the solution. When you turn 70, you get a gun and 4 bullets. You are allowed to shoot 2 senators and 2 representatives. Of course, you will be sent to prison where you will get 3 meals a day, a roof over your head and all the health care you need!!! New teeth, great!!! Need glasses, no problem. New hip, knee, kidney, lung, heart? Well bring it on. And who will be paying for all of this. The same government that just told you that you are too old for health care. And, since you are a prisoner, you don't have to pay any income tax.

I really think we have a Perfect Solution!!!

PARENT - Job Description

This is hysterical. If it had been presented this way,
I don't believe any of us would have done it!!!!

POSITION :
Mum, Mummy, Mama, Ma
Dad, Daddy, Dada, Pa, Pop

JOB DESCRIPTION :

Long term, team players needed, for challenging, permanent work in an
often chaotic environment.
Candidates must possess excellent communication and organizational skills and be willing to work variable hours, which will include evenings and weekends and frequent 24 hour shifts on call.
Some overnight travel required, including trips to primitive camping sites on rainy weekends and endless sports tournaments in far away cities!
Travel expenses not reimbursed.
Extensive courier duties also required.

RESPONSIBILITIES :

The rest of your life.
Must be willing to be hated, at least temporarily, until someone needs $5.
Must be willing to bite tongue repeatedly.
Also, must possess the physical stamina of a pack mule and be able to go from zero to 60 mph in three seconds flat in case, this time, the screams from the backyard are not someone just crying wolf.
Must be willing to face stimulating technical challenges, such as small gadget repair, mysteriously sluggish toilets and stuck zippers.
Must screen phone calls, maintain calendars and coordinate production of multiple homework projects.
Must have ability to plan and organize social gatherings for clients of all ages and mental outlooks.
Must be a willing to be indispensable one minute,
an embarrassment the next.
Must handle assembly and product safety testing of a half million cheap, plastic toys, and battery operated devices.

Must always hope for the best but be prepared for the worst.
Must assume final, complete accountability for the quality of the end product.
Responsibilities also include floor maintenance and janitorial work throughout the facility.

POSSIBILITY FOR ADVANCEMENT & PROMOTION :

None.
Your job is to remain in the same position for years, without complaining, constantly retraining and updating your skills, so that those in your charge can ultimately surpass you

PREVIOUS EXPERIENCE :

None required unfortunately.
On-the-job training offered on a continually exhausting basis.

WAGES AND COMPENSATION :

Get this! You pay them!
Offering frequent raises and bonuses.
A balloon payment is due when they turn 18 because of the assumption that college will help them become financially independent
When you die, you give them whatever is left.
The oddest thing about this reverse-salary scheme is that you actually enjoy it and wish you could only do more.

BENEFITS :

While no health or dental insurance, no pension, no tuition reimbursement, no paid holidays and no stock options are offered;
this job supplies limitless opportunities for personal growth, unconditional love, and free hugs and kisses for life if you play your cards right.

Forward this on to all the PARENTS you know, in appreciation for everything they d o on a daily basis, letting them know they are appreciated for the fabulous job they do... or forward with love
to anyone thinking of applying for the job.

Vaccination Myths And Truths

Vaccination Myths And Truths
By Stephen Lendman
8-3-9

Alan G. Philips is an attorney with the following credentials:

-- he's one of the few American lawyers whose practice includes vaccine exemption and waiver issues;

-- he advises other attorneys seeking help for their own clients on vaccine exemptions;

-- he co-founded Citizens for Healthcare Freedom (CHF) as "a grassroots, nonprofit organization supporting an exciting new Consumer Health Freedom Act in North Carolina" where he lives and practices law;

-- he "may be the only attorney in the US with a website dedicated to vaccine exemptions" - vaccinerights.com;

-- he authored "The Authoritative Guide to Vaccine Legal Exemptions;" and

-- he's written numerous articles and publications on vaccinations and immunizations, including "Dispelling Vaccination Myths: An Introduction to the Contradictions Between Medical Science and Immunization Policy," published in 1996 and most recently updated in 2007.

Given the possibility of universally mandated untested, experimental, toxic, and extremely dangerous Swine Flu vaccinations this fall, Philips' work is especially relevant and vital.

In its entirety, it can be accessed at vaccinerights.com/dispellingvaccinationmythsx.pdf. A brief account follows below, focusing on 10 myths and truths he explains plus some additional information. More than ever, information is vital for protection against vaccines that can cause annoying to life-threatening autoimmune diseases, even the illnesses they're designed to prevent.

Of special concern is their affect on children. In America and elsewhere, they're over-immunized enough to destroy their immune systems, leaving them vulnerable to a lifetime of serious health disorders.

No one should voluntarily or otherwise take any vaccine, let alone one as untested and dangerous as for H1N1. But make no mistake. The dominant global media are readying a high intensity fear-mongering campaign to convince the unwary to jeopardize their health and well-being by doing it. Just say NO!!

In America, laws in place empower the Health and Human Services and/or Defense secretaries to declare a national emergency and order mass vaccinations. Legally, individual states can resist, but not likely when enough pressure is applied.

Under the proposed, but not enacted, October 2001 Model State Emergency Health Powers Act (MSEHPA), states are advised on how to exercise extraordinary emergency powers without regard to civil liberties issues. Individual ones have adopted some of its provisions and may add more later given the power of Washington and the media to force them.

The WHO is also empowered under the 2005 International Health Regulations (IHR) to address but not mandate global vaccinations. But it has enough influence to compel nations to go along in case of a "declared" pandemic threat, even without evidence to prove one.

Suspicious H1N1's Origins

On April 24, AP reported that"

"Health officials are investigating a never-before-seen form of the flu that combines pig, bird and human viruses.... (It's) a growing medical mystery because it's unclear how (affected people) caught the virus. None (of seven cited had) contact with pigs." Nor had others reportedly affected in other US cities.

The "intercontinental" mixture included North American Swine Flu, North American Avian Flu, human H1N1 flu, and a fourth H3N2 strain found in Asia and Europe.

Suspicions about a synthetic laboratory-made virus have surfaced. Writing in NewsMax.com, Dr. Russell Blaylock quoted an unnamed viroligist saying: "Where the hell it got all these genes we don't know." According to Blalock: "Debate continues over the possibility that swine flu is a genetically engineered virus."

Dallas County Medical Director Dr. John Carlo voiced concern about the possibility that:

"This strain of swine influenza (may have been) cultured in a laboratory....something that's not been seen anywhere actually in the United States and the world...."

Recently interviewed on Russia Today TV, investigative journalist Wayne Madsen cited a University of Wisconsin lab conducting joint influenza vaccine research with drug company FluGen. On March 24, Reuters reported that:

"FluGen, Inc., an emerging leader in the development, production and delivery of influenza vaccines and related products, today announced it has secured exclusive rights to a novel, patent-protected vaccine-delivery technology (that) painlessly delivers seasonal and pandemic influenza vaccines."

Madsen believes "the Swine Flu virus began in a lab," the objective being profits for vaccine makers with products "that may not actually be safe." Many noted experts share that view about all vaccines.

NutriMedical founder Dr. William Deagle reported that 6-8% of Swine Flu DNA matches no virus on record. He believes more lethal strains may appear in the fall.

Project Camelot "provide(s) a vehicle for researchers and whistleblowers to get their stories out." Interviewed on its Whistleblower Radio show, Burk Elder Hale claimed that a senior drug company biochemist (unnamed to protect him) told him:

"....an aerosoled precursor has been put into the air and almost everyone has breathed it into their lungs. (When Swine Flu) vaccines (are) administered in the fall, (they'll) be activated when (their) constituents come into contact with the aerosoled precursor in the body and will cause a rapid spread of the H1N1 influenza A virus. The biochemist is very upset about the matter....and is a very reliable source that needs our utmost protection."

Catherine Austin Fitts is a former high-level US government official and Wall Street insider. She's now the editor of Solari.com and runs Solari, Inc. as an "online media company focusing on ethical investment and preserving family wealth."

Admitting she's no expert, she wrote this about Swine Flu on July 22:

"I believe one of the goals of the swine flu vaccine is depopulation. Perhaps it is the goal of a swine flu epidemic as well, whether bio-warfare or hype around a flu season....Lowering immune systems and increasing toxicity levels combined with poor food, water and terrorizing stress will help do the trick....a plague can so frighten and help control people that they will accept the end of their current benefits....without objection. And a plague with proper planning can be highly profitable. Whatever the truth (about) swine flu and related vaccines....it can be used (to) control (a) situation that is quickly shifting out of control."

"In short, an epidemic can be used to offset the inflation of capital with increasing deflation of the value and income of labor and continual demand destruction. (What's coming next is the) meaner face of 'the establishment against the rest of society.' "

The possibility of a diabolical depopulation scheme can't be dismissed. The idea's been around for decades, including from the 1974 Henry Kissinger project - National Security Study Memorandum 200 (NSSM 200). It was backed by Rockefeller interests to cull the world population of useless feeders so corporate giants could exploit world resources unimpeded.

Kissinger's scheme was to make birth control a prerequisite for US aid. He wanted the annual death rate doubled and for a population decline in the hundreds of millions by 2000. Poor third world women in countries like Brazil were involuntarily sterilized. Millions were harmed then. Perhaps today's toll from mandatory global Swine Flu vaccinations will be billions.

Yet US laws were passed to prevent it. In 1986, the National Childhood Vaccine Injury Act (NCVIA) required:

-- giving parents written information on vaccine benefits and risks so they could decide on what was safe for their children;

-- maintaining a permanent record of all vaccines given children, including producer names and lot numbers;

-- keeping up to date medical records of all vaccinations given children; and

-- recording all serious health problems after vaccinations were administered and notifying the federal Vaccine Adverse Event Reporting System (VAERS) immediately.

At issue is whether federal laws and constitutional and Nuremberg protections will help. Nuremberg requires voluntary consent with full disclosure of known risks and avoidance of experimental treatments if there's any reason to believe harm may result. The Fifth Amendment protects against abusive government authority in stating that "No person shall....be deprived of life, liberty or property, without due process of law...." The Eighth Amendment prohibits "cruel and unusual punishments." Harming human health is cruel and abusive. Mandating suspect drugs violates Nuremberg, the US Constitution, and other protective laws. Whether they'll be enforced is another matter.

Dispelling Vaccination Myths with Truths

Myth No. 1: Vaccines are safe

Under the 1986 National Childhood Vaccine Injury Act, VAERS (Vaccine Adverse Reporting System) was established. Annually, it reports about 11,000 serious vaccine reactions, including up to 200 deaths and many more permanent disabilities.

Far more alarming is the following;

-- the FDA estimates that only 1% of serious adverse reactions are reported;

-- CDC says it's 10%;

-- medical school students testified before Congress that they're told not to report these incidents;

-- according to the National Vaccine Information Center (NVIC), only one in 40 New York doctors reported adverse vaccine reactions or deaths;

-- international studies show vaccines cause up to 10,000 US SIDS (Sudden Infant Death Syndrome) deaths annually, and at least half of them are from vaccines;

-- another study determined that 3000 US children die annually from vaccines;

-- poor reporting in America suggests that annual adverse vaccine reactions, in fact, number from 100,000 - one million;

-- since 1988, the government's National Vaccine Injury Compensation Program (NVICP) paid families of affected children $1.2 billion in damages;

-- as authorized by the 2006 Public Readiness and Emergency Preparedness (PREP) Act, HHS Secretary Sebelius, granted drug companies legal immunity (except for impossible to prove willful misconduct) to proliferate dangerous, untested Swine Flu vaccines globally;

-- vaccines are legally mandated in all 50 US states, though legally avoidable in most (under normal circumstances) as explained below;

-- in settling vaccine damage suits, drug companies impose gag orders to keep vital information from the public; and

-- insurers refuse to cover adverse vaccine reactions because of the high potential liability they'd face.

Truth No. 1

Vaccinations cause high numbers of severe reactions, permanent disabilities, and deaths as well as an enormous personal and public cost. Virtually none of this gets reported.

Myth No. 2: Vaccines are very effective

Medical literature documents significant numbers of vaccine failures for measles, mumps, small pox, pertussis, polio and Hib-causing bacterial meningitis and pneumonia. In 1989, Oman experienced a widespread polio outbreak six months after completing a population-wide immunization program. In Kansas (in 1986), 90% of 1300 reported pertussis cases were "adequately vaccinated," and 72% of Chicago pertussis incidents in 1993 had been as well.

Truth No. 2

Evidence shows that vaccinations are an unreliable and dangerous way to prevent illness and disease.

Myth No. 3: Low US disease rates are attributable to vaccines

From 1850 - 1940, well before mandatory vaccination programs, the British Association for the Advancement of Science reported a 90% decrease in childhood diseases due to improved sanitation and hygiene practices. By 1945, US medical authorities noted a 95% drop in deaths from the leading childhood infectious diseases (diphtheria, pertussis, scarlet fever and measles), well before mass-immunizations began.

A recent WHO report found that third world disease and mortality rates had no direct correlation with immunization programs, but closely relate to hygiene and diet standards.

Truth No. 3

No evidence links vaccines with infectious disease declines. Proper hygiene and diet practices may be far more effective.

Myth No. 4: Sound immunization theory and practice prove the effectiveness of vaccines

Although vaccines stimulate antibody production, no evidence suggests that alone assures immunity. A 1950 British Medical Council-published study found no relationship between antibody count and disease incidence. Natural immunization involves many bodily organs and systems. Artificially producing antibodies can't achieve it.

Research also shows how squalene adjuvants harm the human immune system, making it susceptible to numerous illnesses and diseases ranging from very annoying to life threatening. In addition, the "herd immunity" notion of mass-immunizations effectiveness is largely discredited. Just the opposite is true as evidence shows that fully vaccinated populations have experienced epidemics numerous times in the past.

Further, vaccine effectiveness "remains scientifically unproven" because no double blind studies have been conducted to do it. Significantly, recent disease outbreaks have affected more vaccinated children than unvaccinated ones. And the common practice of "one size fits all" is troublesome. It lets tiny new-borns get the same dosage as a five year old. It tolerates dubious quality control practices producing what's known as "Hot Lots" - ones associated with disproportionately high death and disability rates.

Shockingly, the FDA refuses to act preventatively against them. In fact, individual vaccine lots have almost never been recalled even when associated with severe adverse reactions. Instead, they're administered under the assumption that all recipients respond the same, regardless of race, ethnicity, genetic makeup, or other characteristics.

A recent New England Journal of Medicine-reported study found that a significant number of Romanian children receiving polio vaccine contracted the disease. Evidence linked antibiotic injections to it. One innoculation raised the polio risk eight-fold; two - nine shots, 27-fold, and 10 or more 182-fold.

New research may reveal other unknown hazards, but public safety won't be addressed until government health officials act responsibly, report accurately, and adequately protect their populations from vaccines they never should allow.

Truth No. 4

Many supposed vaccine truths have, in fact, been proved false.

Myth No. 5: Childhood diseases are extremely dangerous

False. Even CDC data show a 99.8% pertussis recovery rate during the 1992-94 period. One Cincinnati Children's Hospital infectious diseases expert said at the time: "The disease was very mild, no one died, and no one went to the intensive care unit."

Nearly always, childhood infectious diseases "are benign and self-limiting. They usually impart lifelong immunity, whereas vaccine-induced immunization (when achieved) is only temporary." In fact, it can increase vulnerability later on by postponing better tolerated childhood illnesses until adulthood when death rates (though still low) are far higher.

Most important is that nearly all common infectious diseases are rarely dangerous, and, in fact, can develop strong, healthy adult immune systems when they're most needed. In addition, few people know that children who didn't contract measles have a higher incidence of skin diseases, degenerative bone and cartilage ones, and tumors while ovarian cancer is higher among mumps-free adult women. The human immune system benefits from common childhood infectious diseases. Freedom from them may be harmful later on.

Truth No. 5

Childhood disease dangers are greatly exaggerated to scare parents into getting their children vaccinated with unsafe drugs.

Myth No. 6: Polio vaccinations were very successful

False again. In 1955, when the Salk vaccine was introduced, polio was considered the most serious post-war public health problem. A year later, six New England states reported sharp rises ranging from more than double in Vermont to a 642% increase in Massachusetts. Other states also were badly impacted enough for Idaho and Utah to halt immunizations due to increased incidence and death rates.

In his 1962 congressional testimony, Dr. Bernard Greenberg, Biostatistics Department head at the University of North Carolina, reported sharp polio increases from 1957 to 1959 and a Public Health Service whitewash that suppressed it. In 1985, the CDC reported that 87% of US cases between 1973 and 1983 were caused by the vaccine. Later it added that it caused nearly all imported cases, and most of the victims were fully vaccinated.

Further, misdiagnosing, poor reporting, and cover-ups suggest that the actual number of vaccine-associated paralytic polio (VAPP) cases "may be 10 to 100 times higher than that cited by the CDC."

In 1977, even Jonas Salk admitted that mass inoculations caused most polio cases since 1961.

Truth No. 6

The Salk vaccine proved highly dangerous. Information about it was suppressed, and declines in the disease were well underway when mass-immunizations were begun. In Europe, they occurred in countries that used, then rejected the vaccine proving it was never needed in the first place. Showing also that the same is true for other diseases, including Swine Flu with the WHO and CDC admitting that most cases are mild, unthreatening, and generally pass without treatment, let alone risking dangerous unneeded vaccines.

Myth No. 7: Lack of an initial adverse reaction proves vaccines are safe

Documented long-term health problems include arthritis, chronic headaches, rashes indicative of disease, non-healing skin lesions, seizures, autism, anemia, multiple sclerosis, ALS, cancer, and many others. Ingredients common to all vaccines are at issue. Squalene adjuvants are a biological time bomb that can harm or destroy the human immune system.

Other ingredients are known toxicants and carcinogens, including thimersol (a mercury derivative), aluminum phosphate, formaldehyde, phenoxyethanol, and numerous gastrointestnal toxicants like liver toxicants, cardiovascular and blood toxicants, and reproductive toxicants. "Chemical ranking systems rate many vaccine ingredients among the most hazardous substances" known, even in microscopic doses.

"Millions of children (and adults) are partaking in an enormous crude experiment, and no sincere, organized effort is being made to track the negative side effects or to determine the long-term consequences."

Dr. Bart Classen's epidemiological research found vaccines as the cause of 79% of insulin type I diabetes cases in children under 10. The sharp rise in numerous other diseases may also be linked with mass-immunizations. California's autism rate skyrocketed 1000% in the last 20 years. In the 1990s, MMR vaccine usage in Britain (for measles, mumps and rubella) occurred at the same time autism rose sharply. The January 2000 Journal of Adverse Drug Reactions reported that no adequate testing was done, so the vaccine never should have been licensed.

The Autism Society says: "Autism is a complex developmental disability that typically appears during the first three years of life and is the result of a neurological disorder that affects the normal functioning of the brain...."

According to the CDC and National Vaccine Information Center, one in every 150 US children develop the disease. Tens of millions are affected worldwide, making it more common than pediatric cancer, incurable type 1 (juvenile-onset) diabetes and AIDS combined. In the early 1940s, prior to mass immunizations, autism was so rare that few doctors ever encountered it. Today it's a global pandemic.

Truth No. 7

Long-term vaccination reactions have been suppressed and ignored in spite of the alarming correlation between their use and the rise of autoimmune and other diseases. Vaccines aren't for protection. They're for profit and other nefarious purposes. Avoiding them is essential to protecting human health and well-being.

Myth No. 8: Vaccines are the only available disease prevention option

"Historically, homeopathy has proven many times...more effective than allopathic (conventional) medicine in the treatment and prevention of disease." During the 1849 US cholera outbreak, homeopathic hospitals documented a 3% death rate compared to 48 - 60% in conventional ones. It's as true today, and recent epidemiological studies show homeopathic remedies far superior to vaccines in preventing diseases. They're safe, effective, and toxin and side effect-free, yet most insurers won't cover them.

Truth No. 8

Alternative treatments and remedies have been safe and effective for generations, yet the medical establishment and governments attack and spurn them.

Myth No. 9: "Vaccinations are legally mandated and unavoidable..."

All states require them. However, laws vary by state, legal exemptions exist, and all states offer one or more of the following:

-- all states allow medical exemptions for persons susceptible to adverse reactions; parents can cite this for their children based on family history;

-- 48 states offer religious exemptions but may require membership in an established religious organization; "according to federal precedent, personal religious beliefs may be sufficient for a religious exemption regardless of which religious organization you belong to, or whether or not you belong to an organized religion at all;" in addition, the Supreme Court defined religion broadly for legal purposes; and

-- 17 states allow philosophical or personal exemptions.

All public and private schools must comply with federal and state vaccination laws and permit legal exemptions.

Truth No. 9

Some vaccines are mandated, but most, perhaps all, US citizens may use legal exemptions to avoid them. In a recent article, however, Phillips states:

"All non-medical exemptions in the US are ultimately provided conditionally. That is, states have the right to require immunization for everyone, legally exempt or not, during an (emergency) outbreak, other than (for) those" with medical exemptions.

Myth No. 10: Governments place public health concerns above all others Vaccination history shows "documented instances of deceit portraying vaccines as mighty disease conquerors, when in fact vaccines have had little or no discernible impact - or have even delayed or reversed - pre-existing disease declines....Conflicts of interest are the norm in the vaccine industry." Government agencies like the FDA and CDC are stacked with corporate officials who return to high-paying industry jobs provided they place profit considerations over public health and safety.

In November 2000, concern over this and adverse reactions got the American Association of Physicians and Surgeons (AAPS) to pass a unanimous resolution at its 57th meeting calling for a moratorium on mandatory childhood vaccinations and for doctors to insist on "truly informed consent for (their) use...."

In October 1999, Dr. Bart Classen, founder and CEO of Classen Immunotherapies, told Congress:

"It is clear....that the government's immunization policies are driven by politics and not by science. I can give numerous examples where employees of the US Public Health Service....appear to be furthering their careers by acting as propaganda officers to support political agendas. In one case....employees of a foreign government, who were funded and working closely with the US Public Health Service, submitted false data to a major medical journal. The true data indicated the vaccine was dangerous; however, the false data" indicated no risk.

In addition, "four letters from the FDA/Public Health Service....clearly reveal(ed) that the anthrax vaccine" approved for US military personnel was done "without the manufacturer performing a single controlled clinical trial." They're essential to determine safety and effectiveness. Failure to conduct them proved devastating to the health and well-being of recipients and still does today. Besides, all vaccines are unsafe and some are extremely dangerous.

US military forces receive many or all of the following vaccinations:

-- three shots for hepatitis B;

-- two for hepatitis A;

-- annually for influenza so all military personnel will get Swine Flu shots;

-- all military personnel must have documented proof of receiving MMR vaccines for measles, mumps and rubella; those without them them get single doses;

-- two varicella (chicken pox) shots;

-- smallpox doses every ten years;

-- three for polio for adults never vaccinated; those fully vaccinated get a booster shot;

-- tetanus-diphtheria and pertussis vaccinations for personnel who haven't have them in the past 10 years;

-- tetanus every 10 years;

-- typhoid vaccinations in either oral or injectable forms;

-- a multiple dose series for anthrax;

-- yellow fever every 10 years in some cases;

-- three for rabies and later boosters;

-- tuberculosis screening and shots;

-- single pneumococcal doses;

-- meningococcal vaccinations every five years before deployment to certain regions; and

-- three Japanese encephalitis doses in some cases.

Multiple vaccinations for all US military personnel practically assures damage to their immune systems and severe health problems later on.

Truth No. 10

Public health officials approve dangerous vaccines on unsuspecting recipients and profit handsomely for their efforts.

Final Comments

All vaccines are biological weapons that weaken or destroy the human immune system. They often fail to protect against diseases they're designed to prevent and often cause them. The H1N1 vaccine is experimental, untested, toxic, extremely dangerous, and essential to avoid even if mandated.

In a December 1994 Medical Post article, Dr. Guylaine Lanctot said:

"The medical authorities keep lying. Vaccination has been a disaster on the immune system. It actually causes a lot of illnesses. We are actually changing our genetic code through vaccination....100 years from now we will know that the biggest crime against humanity was vaccines."

Dr. Viera Scheibner is internationally known as perhaps the leading expert on adverse vaccine reactions. Her analysis concluded that "there is no evidence whatsoever of the ability of vaccines to prevent any diseases. To the contrary, there is a great wealth of evidence that they cause serious side effects."

Nonetheless, immunization programs proliferate because the profit potential is enormous despite growing numbers of reputable scientific figures citing concerns.

Currently, over 200 new vaccines are being developed "for everything from birth control to (curbing) cocaine addiction." Around half of them are in clinical trials using human guinea pigs putting their health and safety on the line unwittingly.

New delivery systems are also being developed that include nasal sprays, mosquitoes, and genetically engineered fruits containing vaccine viruses. With every country in the world a potential buyer, health and safety considerations are suppressed for the sake of profits. Unless somehow this madness is stopped, the harm to our children and society will be catastrophic.

Vaccination Myths And Truths

Vaccination Myths And Truths
By Stephen Lendman
8-3-9

Alan G. Philips is an attorney with the following credentials:

-- he's one of the few American lawyers whose practice includes vaccine exemption and waiver issues;

-- he advises other attorneys seeking help for their own clients on vaccine exemptions;

-- he co-founded Citizens for Healthcare Freedom (CHF) as "a grassroots, nonprofit organization supporting an exciting new Consumer Health Freedom Act in North Carolina" where he lives and practices law;

-- he "may be the only attorney in the US with a website dedicated to vaccine exemptions" - vaccinerights.com;

-- he authored "The Authoritative Guide to Vaccine Legal Exemptions;" and

-- he's written numerous articles and publications on vaccinations and immunizations, including "Dispelling Vaccination Myths: An Introduction to the Contradictions Between Medical Science and Immunization Policy," published in 1996 and most recently updated in 2007.

Given the possibility of universally mandated untested, experimental, toxic, and extremely dangerous Swine Flu vaccinations this fall, Philips' work is especially relevant and vital.

In its entirety, it can be accessed at vaccinerights.com/dispellingvaccinationmythsx.pdf. A brief account follows below, focusing on 10 myths and truths he explains plus some additional information. More than ever, information is vital for protection against vaccines that can cause annoying to life-threatening autoimmune diseases, even the illnesses they're designed to prevent.

Of special concern is their affect on children. In America and elsewhere, they're over-immunized enough to destroy their immune systems, leaving them vulnerable to a lifetime of serious health disorders.

No one should voluntarily or otherwise take any vaccine, let alone one as untested and dangerous as for H1N1. But make no mistake. The dominant global media are readying a high intensity fear-mongering campaign to convince the unwary to jeopardize their health and well-being by doing it. Just say NO!!

In America, laws in place empower the Health and Human Services and/or Defense secretaries to declare a national emergency and order mass vaccinations. Legally, individual states can resist, but not likely when enough pressure is applied.

Under the proposed, but not enacted, October 2001 Model State Emergency Health Powers Act (MSEHPA), states are advised on how to exercise extraordinary emergency powers without regard to civil liberties issues. Individual ones have adopted some of its provisions and may add more later given the power of Washington and the media to force them.

The WHO is also empowered under the 2005 International Health Regulations (IHR) to address but not mandate global vaccinations. But it has enough influence to compel nations to go along in case of a "declared" pandemic threat, even without evidence to prove one.

Suspicious H1N1's Origins

On April 24, AP reported that"

"Health officials are investigating a never-before-seen form of the flu that combines pig, bird and human viruses.... (It's) a growing medical mystery because it's unclear how (affected people) caught the virus. None (of seven cited had) contact with pigs." Nor had others reportedly affected in other US cities.

The "intercontinental" mixture included North American Swine Flu, North American Avian Flu, human H1N1 flu, and a fourth H3N2 strain found in Asia and Europe.

Suspicions about a synthetic laboratory-made virus have surfaced. Writing in NewsMax.com, Dr. Russell Blaylock quoted an unnamed viroligist saying: "Where the hell it got all these genes we don't know." According to Blalock: "Debate continues over the possibility that swine flu is a genetically engineered virus."

Dallas County Medical Director Dr. John Carlo voiced concern about the possibility that:

"This strain of swine influenza (may have been) cultured in a laboratory....something that's not been seen anywhere actually in the United States and the world...."

Recently interviewed on Russia Today TV, investigative journalist Wayne Madsen cited a University of Wisconsin lab conducting joint influenza vaccine research with drug company FluGen. On March 24, Reuters reported that:

"FluGen, Inc., an emerging leader in the development, production and delivery of influenza vaccines and related products, today announced it has secured exclusive rights to a novel, patent-protected vaccine-delivery technology (that) painlessly delivers seasonal and pandemic influenza vaccines."

Madsen believes "the Swine Flu virus began in a lab," the objective being profits for vaccine makers with products "that may not actually be safe." Many noted experts share that view about all vaccines.

NutriMedical founder Dr. William Deagle reported that 6-8% of Swine Flu DNA matches no virus on record. He believes more lethal strains may appear in the fall.

Project Camelot "provide(s) a vehicle for researchers and whistleblowers to get their stories out." Interviewed on its Whistleblower Radio show, Burk Elder Hale claimed that a senior drug company biochemist (unnamed to protect him) told him:

"....an aerosoled precursor has been put into the air and almost everyone has breathed it into their lungs. (When Swine Flu) vaccines (are) administered in the fall, (they'll) be activated when (their) constituents come into contact with the aerosoled precursor in the body and will cause a rapid spread of the H1N1 influenza A virus. The biochemist is very upset about the matter....and is a very reliable source that needs our utmost protection."

Catherine Austin Fitts is a former high-level US government official and Wall Street insider. She's now the editor of Solari.com and runs Solari, Inc. as an "online media company focusing on ethical investment and preserving family wealth."

Admitting she's no expert, she wrote this about Swine Flu on July 22:

"I believe one of the goals of the swine flu vaccine is depopulation. Perhaps it is the goal of a swine flu epidemic as well, whether bio-warfare or hype around a flu season....Lowering immune systems and increasing toxicity levels combined with poor food, water and terrorizing stress will help do the trick....a plague can so frighten and help control people that they will accept the end of their current benefits....without objection. And a plague with proper planning can be highly profitable. Whatever the truth (about) swine flu and related vaccines....it can be used (to) control (a) situation that is quickly shifting out of control."

"In short, an epidemic can be used to offset the inflation of capital with increasing deflation of the value and income of labor and continual demand destruction. (What's coming next is the) meaner face of 'the establishment against the rest of society.' "

The possibility of a diabolical depopulation scheme can't be dismissed. The idea's been around for decades, including from the 1974 Henry Kissinger project - National Security Study Memorandum 200 (NSSM 200). It was backed by Rockefeller interests to cull the world population of useless feeders so corporate giants could exploit world resources unimpeded.

Kissinger's scheme was to make birth control a prerequisite for US aid. He wanted the annual death rate doubled and for a population decline in the hundreds of millions by 2000. Poor third world women in countries like Brazil were involuntarily sterilized. Millions were harmed then. Perhaps today's toll from mandatory global Swine Flu vaccinations will be billions.

Yet US laws were passed to prevent it. In 1986, the National Childhood Vaccine Injury Act (NCVIA) required:

-- giving parents written information on vaccine benefits and risks so they could decide on what was safe for their children;

-- maintaining a permanent record of all vaccines given children, including producer names and lot numbers;

-- keeping up to date medical records of all vaccinations given children; and

-- recording all serious health problems after vaccinations were administered and notifying the federal Vaccine Adverse Event Reporting System (VAERS) immediately.

At issue is whether federal laws and constitutional and Nuremberg protections will help. Nuremberg requires voluntary consent with full disclosure of known risks and avoidance of experimental treatments if there's any reason to believe harm may result. The Fifth Amendment protects against abusive government authority in stating that "No person shall....be deprived of life, liberty or property, without due process of law...." The Eighth Amendment prohibits "cruel and unusual punishments." Harming human health is cruel and abusive. Mandating suspect drugs violates Nuremberg, the US Constitution, and other protective laws. Whether they'll be enforced is another matter.

Dispelling Vaccination Myths with Truths

Myth No. 1: Vaccines are safe

Under the 1986 National Childhood Vaccine Injury Act, VAERS (Vaccine Adverse Reporting System) was established. Annually, it reports about 11,000 serious vaccine reactions, including up to 200 deaths and many more permanent disabilities.

Far more alarming is the following;

-- the FDA estimates that only 1% of serious adverse reactions are reported;

-- CDC says it's 10%;

-- medical school students testified before Congress that they're told not to report these incidents;

-- according to the National Vaccine Information Center (NVIC), only one in 40 New York doctors reported adverse vaccine reactions or deaths;

-- international studies show vaccines cause up to 10,000 US SIDS (Sudden Infant Death Syndrome) deaths annually, and at least half of them are from vaccines;

-- another study determined that 3000 US children die annually from vaccines;

-- poor reporting in America suggests that annual adverse vaccine reactions, in fact, number from 100,000 - one million;

-- since 1988, the government's National Vaccine Injury Compensation Program (NVICP) paid families of affected children $1.2 billion in damages;

-- as authorized by the 2006 Public Readiness and Emergency Preparedness (PREP) Act, HHS Secretary Sebelius, granted drug companies legal immunity (except for impossible to prove willful misconduct) to proliferate dangerous, untested Swine Flu vaccines globally;

-- vaccines are legally mandated in all 50 US states, though legally avoidable in most (under normal circumstances) as explained below;

-- in settling vaccine damage suits, drug companies impose gag orders to keep vital information from the public; and

-- insurers refuse to cover adverse vaccine reactions because of the high potential liability they'd face.

Truth No. 1

Vaccinations cause high numbers of severe reactions, permanent disabilities, and deaths as well as an enormous personal and public cost. Virtually none of this gets reported.

Myth No. 2: Vaccines are very effective

Medical literature documents significant numbers of vaccine failures for measles, mumps, small pox, pertussis, polio and Hib-causing bacterial meningitis and pneumonia. In 1989, Oman experienced a widespread polio outbreak six months after completing a population-wide immunization program. In Kansas (in 1986), 90% of 1300 reported pertussis cases were "adequately vaccinated," and 72% of Chicago pertussis incidents in 1993 had been as well.

Truth No. 2

Evidence shows that vaccinations are an unreliable and dangerous way to prevent illness and disease.

Myth No. 3: Low US disease rates are attributable to vaccines

From 1850 - 1940, well before mandatory vaccination programs, the British Association for the Advancement of Science reported a 90% decrease in childhood diseases due to improved sanitation and hygiene practices. By 1945, US medical authorities noted a 95% drop in deaths from the leading childhood infectious diseases (diphtheria, pertussis, scarlet fever and measles), well before mass-immunizations began.

A recent WHO report found that third world disease and mortality rates had no direct correlation with immunization programs, but closely relate to hygiene and diet standards.

Truth No. 3

No evidence links vaccines with infectious disease declines. Proper hygiene and diet practices may be far more effective.

Myth No. 4: Sound immunization theory and practice prove the effectiveness of vaccines

Although vaccines stimulate antibody production, no evidence suggests that alone assures immunity. A 1950 British Medical Council-published study found no relationship between antibody count and disease incidence. Natural immunization involves many bodily organs and systems. Artificially producing antibodies can't achieve it.

Research also shows how squalene adjuvants harm the human immune system, making it susceptible to numerous illnesses and diseases ranging from very annoying to life threatening. In addition, the "herd immunity" notion of mass-immunizations effectiveness is largely discredited. Just the opposite is true as evidence shows that fully vaccinated populations have experienced epidemics numerous times in the past.

Further, vaccine effectiveness "remains scientifically unproven" because no double blind studies have been conducted to do it. Significantly, recent disease outbreaks have affected more vaccinated children than unvaccinated ones. And the common practice of "one size fits all" is troublesome. It lets tiny new-borns get the same dosage as a five year old. It tolerates dubious quality control practices producing what's known as "Hot Lots" - ones associated with disproportionately high death and disability rates.

Shockingly, the FDA refuses to act preventatively against them. In fact, individual vaccine lots have almost never been recalled even when associated with severe adverse reactions. Instead, they're administered under the assumption that all recipients respond the same, regardless of race, ethnicity, genetic makeup, or other characteristics.

A recent New England Journal of Medicine-reported study found that a significant number of Romanian children receiving polio vaccine contracted the disease. Evidence linked antibiotic injections to it. One innoculation raised the polio risk eight-fold; two - nine shots, 27-fold, and 10 or more 182-fold.

New research may reveal other unknown hazards, but public safety won't be addressed until government health officials act responsibly, report accurately, and adequately protect their populations from vaccines they never should allow.

Truth No. 4

Many supposed vaccine truths have, in fact, been proved false.

Myth No. 5: Childhood diseases are extremely dangerous

False. Even CDC data show a 99.8% pertussis recovery rate during the 1992-94 period. One Cincinnati Children's Hospital infectious diseases expert said at the time: "The disease was very mild, no one died, and no one went to the intensive care unit."

Nearly always, childhood infectious diseases "are benign and self-limiting. They usually impart lifelong immunity, whereas vaccine-induced immunization (when achieved) is only temporary." In fact, it can increase vulnerability later on by postponing better tolerated childhood illnesses until adulthood when death rates (though still low) are far higher.

Most important is that nearly all common infectious diseases are rarely dangerous, and, in fact, can develop strong, healthy adult immune systems when they're most needed. In addition, few people know that children who didn't contract measles have a higher incidence of skin diseases, degenerative bone and cartilage ones, and tumors while ovarian cancer is higher among mumps-free adult women. The human immune system benefits from common childhood infectious diseases. Freedom from them may be harmful later on.

Truth No. 5

Childhood disease dangers are greatly exaggerated to scare parents into getting their children vaccinated with unsafe drugs.

Myth No. 6: Polio vaccinations were very successful

False again. In 1955, when the Salk vaccine was introduced, polio was considered the most serious post-war public health problem. A year later, six New England states reported sharp rises ranging from more than double in Vermont to a 642% increase in Massachusetts. Other states also were badly impacted enough for Idaho and Utah to halt immunizations due to increased incidence and death rates.

In his 1962 congressional testimony, Dr. Bernard Greenberg, Biostatistics Department head at the University of North Carolina, reported sharp polio increases from 1957 to 1959 and a Public Health Service whitewash that suppressed it. In 1985, the CDC reported that 87% of US cases between 1973 and 1983 were caused by the vaccine. Later it added that it caused nearly all imported cases, and most of the victims were fully vaccinated.

Further, misdiagnosing, poor reporting, and cover-ups suggest that the actual number of vaccine-associated paralytic polio (VAPP) cases "may be 10 to 100 times higher than that cited by the CDC."

In 1977, even Jonas Salk admitted that mass inoculations caused most polio cases since 1961.

The Salk vaccine proved highly dangerous. Information about it was suppressed, and declines in the disease were well underway when mass-immunizations were begun. Showing also that the same is true for other diseases, including Swine Flu with the WHO and CDC admitting that most cases are mild, unthreatening, and generally pass

Myth No. 7: Lack of an initial adverse reaction proves vaccines are safe

Documented long-term health problems include arthritis, chronic headaches, rashes indicative of disease, non-healing skin lesions, seizures, autism, anemia, multiple sclerosis, ALS, cancer, and many others. Ingredients common to all vaccines are at issue. Squalene adjuvants are a biological time bomb that can harm or destroy the human immune system.

All vaccines are biological weapons that weaken or destroy the human immune system. They often fail to protect against diseases they're designed to prevent and often cause them. The H1N1 vaccine is experimental, untested, toxic, extremely dangerous, and essential to avoid even if mandated.

In a December 1994 Medical Post article, Dr. Guylaine Lanctot said:

"The medical authorities keep lying. Vaccination has been a disaster on the immune system. It actually causes a lot of illnesses. We are actually changing our genetic code through vaccination....100 years from now we will know that the biggest crime against humanity was vaccines."

Dr. Viera Scheibner is internationally known as perhaps the leading expert on adverse vaccine reactions. Her analysis concluded that "there is no evidence whatsoever of the ability of vaccines to prevent any diseases. To the contrary, there is a great wealth of evidence that they cause serious side effects."

Nonetheless, immunization programs proliferate because the profit potential is enormous despite growing numbers of reputable scientific figures citing concerns.

Currently, over 200 new vaccines are being developed "for everything from birth control to (curbing) cocaine addiction." Around half of them are in clinical trials using human guinea pigs putting their health and safety on the line unwittingly.

New delivery systems are also being developed that include nasal sprays, mosquitoes, and genetically engineered fruits containing vaccine viruses. With every country in the world a potential buyer, health and safety considerations are suppressed for the sake of profits. Unless somehow this madness is stopped, the harm to our children and society will be catastrophic.

Bush's Third Term - You're Living It
By David Swanson and Tom Engelhardt
9-2-9

A presidential candidate opposed to the Iraq War is elected and enters the Oval Office. Yet six months later, there are still essentially the same number of troops in Iraq as were there when his predecessor left, the same number, in fact, used in the original invasion of Iraq in March 2003. Moreover, the new president remains on the "withdrawal" schedule the previous administration laid out for him with the same caveats being issued about whether it can even be met.

That administration also built a humongous, three-quarters-of-a-billion-dollar embassy in Baghdad, undoubtedly the most expensive on the planet. Staffed with approximately 1,000 "diplomats," it was clearly meant to be a massive command center for Iraq (and, given neocon dreams, the region). Last weekend, well into the Obama era, the Washington Postreported that the State Department's yearly budget for "running" that embassy - $1.5 billion (that is not a misprint) in 2009 - will actually rise to $1.8 billion for 2010 and 2011. In addition, the Obama administration now plans to invest upwards of a billion dollars in constructing a massive embassy in Islamabad and other diplomatic facilities in Pakistan and Afghanistan. Here, too, there will be a massive influx of "diplomats," and here, too, a U.S. command center for the region is clearly being created.

What's striking are the continuities in American foreign and military policy, no matter who is in the White House. The first-term Obama foreign policy now looks increasingly like the second-term Bush foreign policy. Even where change can be spotted, it regularly seems to follow in the same vein. The New York Times, for instance, recently reported that the controversial "missile defense shield" the Bush administration was insistent on basing in Poland and the Czech Republic is being reconsidered in a many-months-long Obama administration "review." While this should be welcomed, the only option mentioned involved putting it elsewhere - in Turkey and somewhere in the Balkans. At stake is one of the great military-industrial boondoggles of our age. Yet cancellation is, it seems, beyond consideration in Washington.

Organizer David Swanson, founder among other things of the website AfterDowningStreet.org, was long in the forefront of those calling for the impeachment of George W. Bush and Dick Cheney - and now for bringing them to trial. He gives the term "activist" a good name and he's a prodigious, energetic, thoughtful writer as well. If you're as struck by today's piece as I was, you should consider giving his new book, Daybreak: Undoing the Imperial Presidency and Forming a More Perfect Union, published on this very day, a careful look. He's special.

Bush's Third Term?

You're Living It

By David SwansonIt sounds like the plot for the latest summer horror movie. Imagine, for a moment, that George W. Bush had been allowed a third term as president, had run and had won or stolen it, and that we were all now living (and dying) through it. With the Democrats in control of Congress but Bush still in the Oval Office, the media would certainly be talking endlessly about a mandate for bipartisanship and the importance of taking into account the concerns of Republicans. Can't you just picture it?

There's Dubya now, still rewriting laws via signing statements. Still creating and destroying laws with executive orders. And still violating laws at his whim. Imagine Bush continuing his policy of extraordinary rendition, sending prisoners off to other countries with grim interrogation reputations to be held and tortured. I can even picture himformalizing his policy of preventive detention, sprucing it up with some "due process" even as he permanently removes habeas corpus from our culture.

I picture this demonic president still swearing he doesn't torture, still insisting that he wants to close Guantanamo, but assuring his subordinates that the commander-in-chief has the power to torture "if needed," and maintaining a prison at Bagram Air Base in Afghanistan that makes Guantanamo look like summer camp. I can imagine himcontinuing to keep secret his warrantless spying programs while protecting the corporations and government officials involved.

If Bush were in his third term, we would already have seen him propose, yet again, the largest military budget in the history of the world. We might well have seen him pretend he was including war funding in the standard budget, and then claim that one final supplemental war budget was still needed, immediately after which he would surely announce that yet another war supplemental bill would be needed down the road. And of course, he would have held onto his Secretary of Defense from his second term, Robert Gates, to run the Pentagon, keep our ongoing wars rolling along, and oversee the better part of our public budget.

Bush would undoubtedly be following through on the agreement he signed with Iraqi Prime Minister Nouri al-Maliki for all U.S. troops to leave Iraq by the end of 2011 (except where he chose not to follow through). His generals would, in the meantime, be leaking word that the United States never intended to actually leave. He'd surely be maintaining current levels of troops in Iraq, while sending thousands more troops to Afghanistan and talking about a new "surge" there. He'd probably also beescalating the campaign he launched late in his second term to use drone aircraft to illegally and repeatedly strike into Pakistan's tribal borderlands with Afghanistan.

If Bush were still "the decider" he'd be employing mercenaries like Blackwater and propagandists like the Rendon Group and he might even be expanding the number of private security contractors in Afghanistan. In fact, the whole executive branch would be packed with disreputable corporate executive types. You'd have somebody like John ("May I torture this one some more, please?") Rizzo still serving, at least for a while, as general counsel at the CIA. The White House and Justice Department would be crawling with corporate cronies, people like John Brennan, Greg Craig, James Jones, and Eric Holder. Most of the top prosecutors hired at the Department of Justice for political purposes would still be on the job. And political prisoners, like former Alabama Governor Don Siegelman and former top Democratic donor Paul Minor would still be abandoned to their fate.

In addition, the bank bailouts Bush and his economic team initiated in his second term would still be rolling along - with a similar crowd of people running the show. Ben Bernanke, for instance, would certainly have been reappointed to run the Fed. And Bush's third term would have guaranteed that there would be none of the monkeying around with the North American Free Trade Agreement (NAFTA) that the Democrats proposed or promised in their losing presidential campaign. At this point in Bush's third term, no significant new effort would have begun to restore Katrina-decimated New Orleans either.

If the Democrats in Congress attempted to pass any set of needed reforms like, to take an example, new healthcare legislation, Bush, the third termer, would have held secret meetings in the White House with insurance and drug company executives to devise a means to turn such proposals to their advantage. And he would haverefused to release the visitor logs so that the American public would have no way of knowing just whom he'd been talking to.
During Bush's second term, some of the lowest ranking torturers from Abu Ghraib were prosecuted as bad apples, while those officials responsible for the policies that led to Abu Ghraib remained untouched. If the public continued to push for justice for torturers during the early months of Bush's third term, he would certainly have gone withanother bad apple approach, perhaps targeting only low-ranking CIA interrogators and CIA contractors for prosecution. Bush would undoubtedly have decreed that any higher-ups would not be touched, that we should now be looking forward, not backward. And he would thereby have cemented in place the power of presidents to grant immunity for crimes they themselves authorized.

If Bush were in his third term, some of his first and second term secrets might, by now, have been forced out into the open by lawsuits, but what Americans actually read wouldn't be significantly worse than what we'd already known. What documents saw the light of day would surely have had large portions of their pages redacted, and the vast bulk of documentation that might prove threatening would remain hidden from the public eye. Bush's lawyers would be fighting in court, with ever grander claims of executive power, to keep his wrongdoing out of sight.

Now, here's the funny part. This dark fantasy of a third Bush term is also an accurate portrait of Obama's first term to date. In following Bush, Obama was given the opportunity either to restore the rule of law and the balance of powers or to firmly establish in place what were otherwise aberrant abuses of power. Thus far, President Obama has, in all the areas mentioned above, chosen the latter course. Everything described, from the continuation of crimes to the efforts to hide them away, from the corruption of corporate power to the assertion of the executive power to legislate, is Obama's presidency in its first seven months.

Which doesn't mean there aren't differences in the two moments. For one thing, Democrats have now joined Republicans in approving expanded presidential powers and even - in the case of wars, military strikes, lawless detention and rendition, warrantless spying, and the obstruction of justice - presidential crimes. In addition, in the new Democratic era of goodwill, peace and justice movements have been strikingly defunded and, in some cases, even shut down. Many progressive groups now, in fact, take their signals from the president and his team, rather than bringing the public's demands to his doorstep.

If we really were in Bush's third term, people would be far more active and outraged. There would already be a major push to really end the wars in Iraq and Afghanistan/Pakistan. Undoubtedly, the Democrats still wouldn't impeach Bush, especially since they'd be able to vote him out before his fourth term, and surely four more years of him wouldn't make all that much difference.

AN OPEN LETTER TO PRESIDENT OBAMA

Dear President Obama:

You are the thirteenth President under whom I have lived and unlike any of the others, you truly scare me.

You scare me because after months of exposure, I know nothing about you.

You scare me because I do not know how you paid for your expensive Ivy League education and your upscale lifestyle and housing with no visible signs of support.

You scare me because you did not spend the formative years of youth growing up in America and culturally you are not an American.

You scare me because you have never run a company or met a payroll.

You scare me because you have never had military experience, thus don't understand it at its core.

You scare me because you lack humility and 'class', always blaming others.

You scare me because for over half your life you have aligned yourself with radical extremists who hate America and you refuse to publicly denounce these radicals who wish to see America fail.

You scare me because you are a cheerleader for the 'blame America' crowd and deliver this message abroad.

You scare me because you want to change America to a European style country where the government sector dominates instead of the private sector.

You scare me because you want to replace our health care system with a government controlled one.

You scare me because you prefer 'wind mills' to responsibly capitalizing on our own vast oil, coal and shale reserves.

You scare me because you want to kill the American capitalist goose that lays the golden egg which provides the highest standard of living in the world.

You scare me because you have begun to use 'extortion' tactics against certain banks and corporations.

You scare me because your own political party shrinks from challenging you on your wild and irresponsible spending proposals.

You scare me because you will not openly listen to or even consider opposing points of view from intelligent people.

You scare me because you falsely believe that you are both omnipotent and omniscient.

You scare me because the media gives you a free pass on everything you do.

You scare me because you demonize and want to silence the Limbaughs, Hannitys, O'Relllys and Becks who offer opposing, conservative points of view.

You scare me because you prefer controlling over governing.

Finally, you scare me because if you serve a second term I will probably not feel safe in writing a similar letter in 8 years.

Lou Pritchett

Analysis: The letter is authentic. Lou Pritchett, author, motivational speaker and former Vice-President of Sales and Customer Development for Procter & Gamble, has acknowledged writing the above opinion piece and submitting it to the New York Times for publication, though to date it has only been published on the Internet, including on various conservative blogs and the American Family Association's website.

CHEMISTRY STUDENT

The following is an actual question given on a University of Washington chemistry mid term.

The answer by one student was so "profound" that the professor shared it with colleagues, via the Internet, which is, of course, why we now have the pleasure of enjoying it as well :

Bonus Question: Is Hell exothermic (gives off heat) or endothermic (absorbs heat)?

Most of the students wrote proofs of their beliefs using Boyle's Law (gas cools when it expands and heats when it is compressed) or some variant.

One student, however, wrote the following:

First, we need to know how the mass of Hell is changing in time. So we need to know the rate at which souls are moving into Hell and the rate at which they are leaving. I think that we can safely assume that once a soul gets to Hell, it will not leave. Therefore, no souls are leaving. As for how many souls are entering Hell, let's look at the different religions that exist in the world today.

Most of these religions state that if you are not a member of their religion, you will go to Hell. Since there is more than one of these religions and since people do not belong to more than one religion, we can project that all souls go to Hell. With birth and death rates as they are, we can expect the number of souls in Hell to increase exponentially. Now, we look at the rate of change of the volume in Hell because Boyle's Law states that in order for the temperature and pressure in Hell to stay the same, the volume of Hell has to expand proportionately as souls are added.

This gives two possibilities:

1. If Hell is expanding at a slower rate than the rate at which souls enter Hell, then the temperature and pressure in Hell will increase until all Hell breaks loose.

2. If Hell is expanding at a rate faster than the increase of souls in Hell,then the temperature and pressure will drop until Hell freezes over.

So which is it?

If we accept the postulate given to me by Teresa during my Freshman year that, "It will be a cold day in Hell before I sleep with you," and take into account the fact that I slept with her last night, then number two must be true, and thus I am sure that Hell is exothermic and has already frozen over. The corollary of this theory is that since Hell has frozen over, it follows that it is not accepting any more souls and is therefore, extinct......leaving only Heaven, thereby proving the existence of a divine being which explains why, last night, Teresa kept shouting "Oh my God."

I hope you find the time to read this with an open mind. It's interesting. Please read it with the open mind rather than immediately breaking it down into left or right, but rather look at it from the neutral viewpoint of right or wrong. It's like the line below says, "what if he is right?"

Take the three minutes to read this.
Maybe he is wrong.
What if he is right?

David Kaiser is a respected historian whose published works have covered a broad range of topics, from European Warfare to American League Baseball. Born in 1947, the son of a diplomat, Kaiser spent his childhood in three capital cities: Washington D.C. , Albany , New York , and Dakar , Senegal .. He attended Harvard University , graduating there in 1969 with a B.A. In history. He then spent several years more at Harvard, gaining a PhD in history, which he obtained in 1976. He served in the Army Reserve from 1970 to 1976.

He is a professor in the Strategy and Policy Department of the United States Naval War College . He has previously taught at Carnegie Mellon, Williams College and Harvard University . Kaiser's latest book, The Road to Dallas, about the Kennedy assassination, was just published by Harvard University Press.

Dr. David Kaiser

History Unfolding

I am a student of history. Professionally, I have written 15 books on history that have been published in six languages, and I have studied history all my life. I have come to think there is something monumentally large afoot, and I do not believe it is simply a banking crisis, or a mortgage crisis, or a credit crisis. Yes these exist, but they are merely single facets on a very large gemstone that is only now coming into a sharper focus.

Something of historic proportions is happening. I can sense it because I know how it feels, smells, what it looks like, and how people react to it. Yes, a perfect storm may be brewing, but there is something happening within our country that has been evolving for about ten to fifteen years. The pace has dramatically quickened in the past two.

We demand and then codify into law the requirement that our banks make massive loans to people we know they can never pay back? Why?

We learned just days ago that the Federal Reserve, which has little or no real oversight by anyone, has "loaned" two trillion dollars (that is $2,000,000,000,000) over the past few months, but will not tell us to whom or why or disclose the terms. That is our money. Yours and mine. And that is three times the $700 billion we all argued about so strenuously just this past September. Who has this money? Why do they have it? Why are the terms unavailable to us? Who asked for it? Who authorized it? I thought this was a government of "we the people," who loaned our powers to our elected leaders. Apparently not.

We have spent two or more decades intentionally de-industrializing our economy.. Why?

We have intentionally dumbed down our schools, ignored our history, and no longer teach our founding documents, why we are exceptional, and why we are worth preserving. Students by and large cannot write, think critically, read, or articulate. Parents are not revolting, teachers are not picketing, school boards continue to back mediocrity. Why?

We have now established the precedent of protesting every close election (violently in California over a proposition that is so controversial that it simply wants marriage to remain defined as between one man and one woman. Did you ever think such a thing possible just a decade ago?) We have corrupted our sacred political process by allowing unelected judges to write laws that radically change our way of life, and then mainstream Marxist groups like ACORN and others to turn our voting system into a banana republic. To what purpose?

Now our mortgage industry is collapsing, housing prices are in free fall, major industries are failing, our banking system is on the verge of collapse, social security is nearly bankrupt, as is Medicare and our entire government. Our education system is worse than a joke (I teach college and I know precisely what I am talking about) - the list is staggering in its length, breadth, and depth.. It is potentially 1929 x ten...And we are at war with an enemy we cannot even name for fear of offending people of the same religion, who, in turn, cannot wait to slit the throats of your children if they have the opportunity to do so.

And finally, we have elected a man that no one really knows anything about, who has never run so much as a Dairy Queen, let alone a town as big as Wasilla , Alaska .. All of his associations and alliances are with real radicals in their chosen fields of employment, and everything we learn about him, drip by drip, is unsettling if not downright scary (Surely you have heard him speak about his idea to create and fund a mandatory civilian defense force stronger than our military for use inside our borders? No? Oh, of course. The media would never play that for you over and over and then demand he answer it. Sarah Palin's pregnant daughter and $150,000 wardrobe are more important.)

Mr. Obama's winning platform can be boiled down to one word: Change. Why?

I have never been so afraid for my country and for my children as I am now.

This man campaigned on bringing people together, something he has never, ever done in his professional life. In my assessment, Obama will divide us along philosophical lines, push us apart, and then try to realign the pieces into a new and different power structure. Change is indeed coming. And when it comes, you will never see the same nation again.

And that is only the beginning..

As a serious student of history, I thought I would never come to experience what the ordinary, moral German must have felt in the mid-1930s In those times, the "savior" was a former smooth-talking rabble-rouser from the streets, about whom the average German knew next to nothing. What they should have known was that he was associated with groups that shouted, shoved, and pushed around people with whom they disagreed; he edged his way onto the political stage through great oratory. Conservative "losers" read it right now.

And there were the promises. Economic times were tough, people were losing jobs, and he was a great speaker. And he smiled and frowned and waved a lot. And people, even newspapers, were afraid to speak out for fear that his "brown shirts" would bully and beat them into submission. Which they did - regularly. And then, he was duly elected to office, while a full-throttled economic crisis bloomed at hand - the Great Depression. Slowly, but surely he seized the controls of government power, person by person, department by department, bureaucracy by bureaucracy. The children of German citizens were at first, encouraged to join a Youth Movement in his name where they were taught exactly what to think. Later, they were required to do so. No Jews of course,

How did he get people on his side? He did it by promising jobs to the jobless, money to the money-less, and rewards for the military-industrial complex. He did it by indoctrinating the children, advocating gun control, health care for all, better wages, better jobs, and promising to re-instill pride once again in the country, across Europe , and across the world. He did it with a compliant media - did you know that? And he did this all in the name of justice and .... change. And the people surely got what they voted for.

If you think I am exaggerating, look it up. It's all there in the history books.

So read your history books. Many people of conscience objected in 1933 and were shouted down, called names, laughed at, and ridiculed. When Winston Churchill pointed out the obvious in the late 1930s while seated in the House of Lords in England (he was not yet Prime Minister), he was booed into his seat and called a crazy troublemaker. He was right, though. And the world came to regret that he was not listened to.

Do not forget that Germany was the most educated, the most cultured country in Europe. It was full of music, art, museums, hospitals, laboratories, and universities. And yet, in less than six years (a shorter time span than just two terms of the U. S. presidency) it was rounding up its own citizens, killing others, abrogating its laws, turning children against parents, and neighbors against neighbors.. All with the best of intentions, of course. The road to Hell is paved with them.

As a practical thinker, one not overly prone to emotional decisions, I have a choice: I can either believe what the objective pieces of evidence tell me (even if they make me cringe with disgust); I can believe what history is shouting to me from across the chasm of seven decades; or I can hope I am wrong by closing my eyes, having another latte, and ignoring what is transpiring around me..

I choose to believe the evidence. No doubt some people will scoff at me, others laugh, or think I am foolish, naive, or both.. To some degree, perhaps I am. But I have never been afraid to look people in the eye and tell them exactly what I believe-and why I believe it.

I pray I am wrong. I do not think I am. Perhaps the only hope is our vote in the next elections.

More Detail on Obama's Eligibility to Serve as President

This registration document, made available on Jan. 24, 2007, by the Fransiskus Assisi school in Jakarta, Indonesia, shows the registration of Barack Obama under the name Barry Soetoro made by his step-father, Lolo Soetoro.

Name: Barry Soetoro
Religion: Islam
Nationality: Indonesian

How did little INDONESIAN, Barry Soetoro, (A.K.A. Barack Obama) get around the issue of nationality to become president?

PART 2:
The transcript was released by Occidental College in compliance with a court order in a suit brought by the group in the Superior Court of California.

The transcript shows that Obama (Soetoro) applied for financial aid and was awarded a fellowship for foreign students from the Fulbright Foundation Scholarship program. To qualify, for the scholarship, a student must claim foreign citizenship. This document would seem to provide the smoking gun that many of Obama's detractors have been seeking. Along with the evidence that he was first born in Kenya and there is no record of him ever applying for US citizenship, this is looking pretty grim.

The news has created a firestorm at the White House as the release casts increasing doubt about Obama's legitimacy and qualification to serve as president. When reached for comment in London, where he has been in meetings with British Prime Minister Gordon Brown, Obama smiled but refused comment on the issue. Britain's Daily Mail has also carried the story in a front-page article titled, "Obama Eligibility Questioned," leading some to speculate that the story may overshadow economic issues on Obama's first official visit to the U.K.

In a related matter, under growing pressure from several groups, Justice Antonin Scalia announced that the Supreme Court agreed on Tuesday to hear arguments concerning Obama's legal eligibility to serve as President in a case brought by Leo Donofrio of New Jersey. This lawsuit claims Obama's dual citizenship disqualified him from serving as president. Donofrio's case is just one of 18 suits brought by citizens demanding proof of Obama's citizenship or qualifications to serve as president.

Gary Kreep of the United States Justice Foundation has released the results of the investigation of Obama's campaign spending. This study estimates that Obama has spent upwards of $950,000 in campaign funds in the past year with eleven law firms in 12 states for legal resources to block disclosure of any of his personal records. Mr. Kreep indicated that the investigation is still on-going but that the final report will be provided to the U.S. attorney general, Eric Holder. Mr. Holder has refused to comment on the matter.

LET OTHER FOLKS KNOW THIS NEWS THAT THE MEDIA WON'T QUESTION!

I have combined two e-mails into one because they are relative to each other.

While I've little interest in getting in the middle of the Obama birth issue, Paul Hollrah over at FSM did so yesterday and believes the issue can be resolved by Obama answering one simple question:
What passport did he use when he was shuttling among New York, Jakarta, and Karachi?

So, how did a young man--who arrived in New York in early June 1981 without the price of a hotel room in his pocket--suddenly come up with the price of a 'round-the-world trip just a month later?

And once he was on a plane, shuttling among New York, Jakarta, and Karachi, what passport was he offering when he passed through Customs and Immigration?

The American people not only deserve to have answers to these questions, they MUST have answers.

It makes the debate over Obama's citizenship a rather short and simple one.

Q: Did he travel to Pakistan in 1981, at age 20?

A : Yes, by his own admission..

Q: What passport did he travel under?

A: There are only three possibilities.
1) He traveled with a U.S. Passport,
2) He traveled with a British passport, or
3) He traveled with an Indonesian passport.

Q: Is it possible that Obama traveled with a U.S. Passport in 1981?

A: No. It is not possible. Pakistan was on the U.S. State Department's "no travel" list in 1981.
Conclusion

When Obama went to Pakistan in 1981 he was traveling either with a British passport or an Indonesian passport.

If he were traveling with a British passport that would provide proof that he was born in Kenya on August 4, 1961, not in Hawaii as he claims... And if he were traveling with an Indonesian passport that would tend to prove that he relinquished whatever previous citizenship he held, British or American, prior to being adopted by his Indonesian step-father in 1967.

Whatever the truth of the matter,the American people need to know how he managed to become a "natural born" American citizen between 1981 and 2008.

Given the destructive nature of his plans for America, as illustrated by his speech before Congress and the disastrous spending plan he has presented to Congress, the sooner we learn the truth of all this,
the better.

The American people need to get educated on this issue.

A Call to Action

This needs to be re-sent again next November. People will be even more disgusted by then, than they are now.

I'm sending this to absolutely every email address that has ever crossed my computer. Some of you may get this twice. If that is the case, I apologize for the repetition. All I ask is that you consider the suggestion I'm making.

The entire Congress of the United States is corrupt. And I mean both Houses and I mean both major parties.

I realize that a few Members of each House are Independents and at least one is a declared Socialist but, as a group of people, they are absolutely the most corrupt bunch to ever disgrace our Nation.

In November of 2010 the entire House of Representatives will have to stand for re-election; all 435 of them.

One third of the Senate, a total of 33 of them, will also stand for re-election. Vote every incumbent out.

And I mean every one of them. No matter their Party affiliation. Let's start all over in the House of Representatives with 435 people who have absolutely no experience in running that body, with no political favors owed to anyone but their own constituents.

Let's make them understand that they work for us. They are answerable to us and they simply have to run that body with some common sense.

Two years later, in 2012, vote the next third of the incumbents in the Senate out. You'll know who they are because their names will be on the ballot and, in most cases, will be shown as the Incumbent. If you don't know who your Senators are, (there are only two for each State) find out. And then vote them out, too!

We can do the same thing in 2014 and, by that time we will have put all new people in that body as well.

We, the People, have got to take this Country back and we HAVE to do it peacefully.

That's what the Framers of our Constitution envisioned.

Please, if you love this Country, send this (as I have done) to absolutely everyone whose email address appears in your address book.

This idea can permeate this Country in no time. Let's make it happen.

VOTE THE BUMS OUT.....LET'S TAKE AMERICA BACK !!!!!!!!!
IF YOU LIKE THE WAY THINGS ARE GOING IN OUR COUNTRY, THEN DO NOTHING.....

Wake Up America! This is our last chance and our last hope to get our country back !

Please pass this on.

GOD BLESS AMERICA & OUR MILITARY FAMILIES

Politicians are like diapers.They should be changed often and for the same reason.

Electro-Magnetic Pulse.....!

A Few Comments on the EMP Threat:

"I've had a couple of people write to ridicule this analysis, stating that the EMP will only destroy running devices."

This is BS - EMP destruction is a function of the strength of the signal and the length of the "antenna" attached to the device and the type of semiconductor attached to it.

If the "Antenna" is disconnected (like a power switch turned off) the damage potential is less, but far from eliminated. Portable devices (like cars) primary "Antenna" is internal wiring, which is not disconnected when you turn off the car.

BTW - smart people have vacuum tube backup radios....

Mike M.

To the people that say e.m.p. will only destroy running devices is not true. It will come in on anything with at least a thirty inch antenna, running or not. The surge will fry any circuit board. The economy will fry, also, because of the fact everything is run on computers and they will be cooked. Wall street will be total mess, nothing going out or coming in. Your banks will not be open (computers down), ATNs won't work, you won't be able to buy food or water unless you have cash-on-hand or have supplies stashed.

Don't look to your government for help. They could not handle the hurricane damage. Just think what kind of devistation would come from an e.m.p. attack. Your best hope is to "hope for the best, but prepare for the worst". If an e.m.p. attack did occur, that would be the time for close friends and relatives to "clan up" to protect what you have from those that seem to want to take from everybody, instead of working for what they need and preparing for it.

Thanks, Ken T.

Dear Bruce:

We certainly appreciate your timely and pertinent email newsletters. The second paragraph of your 9/27/09 report rang my bell, the part about the potential of an EMP attack.

Back in the mid-sixties I was the engineering project leader on what then was a secret Air Force project, through [Company] of [City] [State], to develop an EMP simulator that was designed to be dropped from a very high flying B-52 bomber out over the mid-Pacific. The purpose of the simulator was so our military could calibrate a variety of instruments in preparation for the real thing. Our mission's goal was achieved and the tests were successful. I'm fairly knowledgeable about EMP's and I can tell you the following with a high level of confidence:

- One, and only one, medium size nuclear detonation occurring approx. 180-200 miles above the earth, over the central US, would immediately set this country back in time to the mid-1800's.

- ALL unshielded electronic devices would be immediately destroyed, whether they are operating at the time or not.

- The power transmission lines that criss-cross this nation would act like giant antennas that would pick up the very high energy EMP (pulse) and very quickly destroy most of this nation's electrical generating capacity, including turbines, generators and the huge transformers involved. Bruce, none of these components are manufactured in the US anymore and the current lead time on order for such items can be a year or more. In addition, most all household and industrial appliances and equipment that are connected to the Grid would also be destroyed.

One of the major impacts from electronics being destroyed relates to most all gasoline automobiles manufactured after 1979 and all diesel automobiles mfg'd after the late 1980's as they have electronic engine control modules that would be destroyed. Transportation, including most heavy trucks and much farm equipment, would become useless. And of course, the aircraft (commercial and private) would lose their instrumentation and control systems.

Think about being "trapped" on an elevated expressway on a hot summer day in central Los Angeles when all of a sudden everything stops. And most people don't have a clue. Remember, no radios, TV, phones, cell phones will work; no emergency services can operate; no water is being pumped; no sewage systems are operating; no A/C or refrigeration; no electrical anything is operational - nor will it be for a very long time.

Several of our enemies have the capability of launching the right type missiles either from their homeland, submarines or ships/barges. EMP weapons are the weapons of choice of a variety of our enemies.
Iran has already practiced launching dummy warhead missiles, from ships, out over the Caspian Sea that were intentionally detonated at altitudes of approx. 180 miles.

Even unsophisticated SCUD type missiles could be launched from vessels off of either of our Coasts that could do the same thing but only limited to Western or Eastern portions of the country.

Also, know this: the EMP energy travels at the speed of light, 186,000 miles per second, so the destruction happens very quickly.

The EMP pulse would NOT be physically felt by human beings and the nuclear blast is high enough to cause little or no damage on the ground. But, the unprepared masses of people in this country would soon die for lack of the basic necessities of life. Of course there would soon be marauding gangs and unprecedented civil unrest, including the burning of major cities. Remember, no operational fire departments or pressurized water with which to fight fires.

The saddest part of all that I've told you is: most people do NOT want to hear about any of this let alone prepare themselves and their families to survive. Our most powerful tool for surviving such things is to have an up-to-date personal relationship with Jesus Christ. HE will be our ONLY reliable strength and protection during such a time.

Bruce, I've written this to you because I trust you. I'm asking you to please not publish the name of the corporation, or my name, if you choose to share any of the above information. I really don't need crazies knocking on my door or trying to do me or my family harm.

Bruce, thank you for listening to what I've had to say. I trust that it is informative to you and that it will help you understand fact from fiction regarding this subject.

May God Bless you and your Ministry,

W.R.

WR,

I'm sitting here watching the History Channel's presentation of "Day After Disaster" about nuclear detonations in the US ... and they brought up the subject of a 10 kiloton nuke set off by a terrorist at ground level.

They depict emergency vehicles rushing toward Ground Zero. But maybe they wouldn't be able to move...

Do you have any knowledge of the EMP effects of such a weapon detonated at ground level, or maybe from a skyscraper?

Bruce,

Regarding the effects of a ground level, or near ground level, nuclear explosion:

A ground level nuclear explosion has very little EMP effect, and whatever effect there is, is very, very local; and is overwhelmed with the BLAST effect.

For a nuclear device to generate a significantly damaging EMP it must take place at very high altitude, in a very rarified atmosphere, where the high energy x-rays, electrons and other high energy particles generate an electrical pulse through what is known as the Compton/Bremsstrahlung effect. Basically a cascading effect of charged particles striking air molecules and knocking electrons out of those molecules which then interact in the same way with other air molecules, all the way to the ground, hence the very high EMP effect. A powerful radio station has a radiated electromagnetic field in the few volts per meter whereby an EMP weapon (some of which are specifically designed for that purpose) can have hundreds of thousands of volts per meter of high energy pulsed power. Enough energy to destroy all solid state or magnetic storage devices, such as banking records and literally everything else you can think of that uses electricity.

Some of our military have EMP hardened sites but also know that many combat-type military weapons have vulnerable components which could be rendered unusable. Some nations even have EMP weapons designed for specific theater use, relatively small geographic areas, designed specifically to render enemy weapons and guidance systems inoperable.

I hope my above explanation helps you understand the terrible potential for disaster that many of our government officials are choosing to ignore. We, as a nation, are definitely not prepared.

939. Help Audit the Fed !

Dear Newsmax Reader:

Please find below a special message from our sponsor, Campaign for Liberty. They have some important information to share with you. Thank you.

Newsmax.com

Dear Friend of Liberty,

I hope you join me in my firm conviction that now is the time to fight back against the out of control Federal Reserve and continued Wall Street plundering of our tax dollars.

The threat isn't hard to see -- just look all around us. Our constitutional principles and freedoms are being assaulted at every turn. More bailouts, trillion dollar "stimulus" plans, huge new debt burdens for our children, simply printing money to cover our failed policies -- I could go on and on. You and I both know that President Obama is going to keep going and going unless someone puts a stop to the madness.

But the good news is there is a way to fight back. And that fight starts today -- by "Auditing the Fed" and showing the American people just how the Fed has abused its power, debauched the dollar, and helped strangle our economy.

Because I know you are a friend in Liberty, I wanted you to be among the first people contacted by Campaign for Liberty for the vital fight against the out of control Federal Reserve.

Please read the enclosed letter from my friend and Campaign for Liberty's President, John Tate. John isn't just a friend of mine. He's also a patriot with years of experience getting things done in politics. Now he's agreed to take up the fight in a way I cannot -- by leading the fight for Liberty on the outside, while I do battle in the halls of Congress.

I trust you'll find this battle to expose the out of control Fed worth your support.

For Liberty,

Congressman Ron Paul

Dear Friend of Liberty,

Trillions of dollars are being stolen from the U.S. taxpayer.

Right now, you and I are seeing the worst plundering of a country's wealth in the history of civilization, led by an out of control Federal Reserve.

But together you and I CAN put a stop to it all.

With your help (including submitting the petition linked below to your Congressman and Senators) today, Representative Ron Paul, Senator Jim DeMint and Campaign for Liberty are ready to fight back, by taking the battle straight to the heart of the problem – the Federal Reserve itself.

Just think about the scope of the problem for a minute: The massive, outrageous amount of dollars committed to the economic bailouts in recent months totals:

More than the socialist New Deal ... More than the entire Iraq debacle ... More than the 1980's savings and loan mess ... More than the Korean War ...

COMBINED.

When will it all end?

It's time you and I put a stop to a renegade Federal Reserve by exposing the Fed's out of control actions to the American people. And Congressman Ron Paul and Senator Jim DeMint have a bill before Congress to do just that, known as the "Audit the Fed" Bill (HR 1207 and S 604).

That's why it's vital you click here to submit your "Audit the Fed" petition in support of Congressman Paul's bill.

You see, Audit the Fed already has almost 300 cosponsors!

Now is the time to make sure your Congressman and Senators feel the heat to support the Audit the Fed bill!

If you and I don't act today, I'm afraid this crisis will end with the economic ruin of every man, woman and child in America.

Today, nearly 13 TRILLION in taxpayer dollars in bailouts and loans has been agreed to by Congress, the Bush and Obama Treasury Departments, and the out of control Fed.

So is it really any wonder more and more folks are starting to realize the Washington, D.C. establishment is hurtling us toward complete economic disaster?

Whether it's watching a phony "stimulus" package get rammed into law or watching Congress pass a $700 BILLION bank "bailout" under threat of martial law, the American people are agitated and increasingly angry.

That means it's a perfect time to unleash the pressure of MILLIONS of outraged Americans on the out of control Fed!

So please click here to sign the petition linked below urging your Congressman and Senators to cosponsor and seek roll call votes to pass the Audit the Fed Bill!

As I know you're aware, the Federal Reserve is shrouded in secrecy. Their meetings are off-limits to the public. Their inner workings are off-limits to the public.

And just recently, the Federal Reserve told Congress "NO WAY" when asked to account for $2 TRILLION in taxpayer-backed loans!

Well, why do you think they refused?

They know coming clean with Congress and the American people on how they doled out that two TRILLION dollars would result in an anti-Fed firestorm.

So can you imagine the impact of a full-scale audit? You and I will finally be able to show the American people that the Federal Reserve System leads to:
 Constant economic crises -- the housing crisis and the resulting chaos is just one example of an economic bubble created by centrally-planned interest rates and money manipulation;

 The destruction of the middle class -- as fuel, food, housing, medical care and education costs soar, everyone who is NOT on the government dole is forced to make do with less as the value of their money slowly decreases;

 Currency destruction -- history shows us that riots, violence and full-scale police states can result when people finally realize our money isn't worth the paper it's printed on and REFUSE to accept it.
And unless you and I do end the madness in Washington, D.C., we may be closer than we'd like to think to learning that history lesson firsthand -- right here in our own streets.

That's why your commitment to helping pass the Audit the Fed Bill -- and helping Campaign for Liberty fight this battle -- is so vital.

Just a few months ago, there was no chance of passing any legislation like the Audit the Fed Bill. So I guess there has been one "CHANGE."

You see, with the piling up of trillions of dollars in out of control "bailouts" of Wall Street and international bankers, even many politicians in Washington want to show you they're "being responsible."

What better way for Congress to do this than by auditing the Federal Reserve to account for the trillions stolen from the U.S. taxpayers?

More and more Congressmen are already feeling the pressure and are signing up to support this bill. I've even received word this bill could move in the next few weeks in the U.S. House.

When that happens, you and I must be ready to fight.

And, it's both a bill we CAN pass, and one that is vital to exposing the massive corruption and dollar manipulation at the Federal Reserve.

You see, after regulating, taxing, spending, borrowing and printing us into what looks like the worst recession in decades, establishment politicians and power brokers are assuring us they're working hard to "fix" our economic woes. What is their solution? You guessed it. More of the same!

And even if the Audit the Fed Bill is defeated this time, just forcing a vote is a win/win situation.

Can you imagine how many politicians will pay the price at the ballot box in 2010 when you and I tell the American people their Congressman somehow lost trillions of taxpayer dollars and refused to even LOOK for it?

Now we just need to show Congress the American people demand action on the Audit the Fed Bill. Here's how we plan to do that.

First, we're already busy contacting up to five million activists nationwide through mail, phones and email to generate petitions to the U.S. Congress demanding action on Ron Paul's Audit the Fed Bill.

But that’s just the beginning. We’ll work the talk radio stations and grant local media interviews to ratchet up the pressure even further on Congress.

And a few days before the vote, if we have the resources, we’d also like to run hard-hitting targeted radio, TV and newspaper ads.

This entire program is designed to send this one, CLEAR message to Congress: Any politician who votes against the Federal Reserve Audit should look for another job.

But such a massive effort won’t be easy -- or cheap.

So in addition to submitting your petition, I also hope you’ll agree to make a contribution of $1000, $500, $250, or $100 to Campaign for Liberty.

If $100 is too much to ask right now, please make a contribution of $50 or even $25 today. Every dollar will help, and every dollar will go to this vital fight.

I know times are hard, but if we don’t take action, the America we see in just a few years could look far worse than even the one we see today.

Can I count on you to join the fight to AUDIT THE FED by clicking here to sign the petition, and by making a generous contribution of $1000, $500, $250, $100, $50 -- or whatever you can afford -- to Ron Paul’s Campaign for Liberty?

Sincerely,

John F. Tate
President

P.S. Please submit the petition urging your Congressman and Senators to cosponsor and seek roll call votes on Rep. Ron Paul's Audit the Fed Bill TODAY!

With Congress spending like never before, and TRILLIONS of new dollars being created out of thin air, it’s never been more important the Federal Reserve’s abuses are exposed to the American people once and for all. And, along with submitting your petition, please make a contribution of $1000, $500, $250, $100, or $50 to Campaign for Liberty TODAY!

940. Conservative vs Liberal

Conservative vs Liberal

If a conservative doesn’t like guns, he doesn`t buy one.
If a liberal doesn't like guns, he wants all guns outlawed.

If a conservative is a vegetarian, he doesn`t eat meat.
If a liberal is a vegetarian, he wants all meat products banned for everyone.

If a conservative sees a foreign threat, he thinks about how to defeat his enemy.
A liberal wonders how to surrender gracefully and still look good.

If a conservative is homosexual, he quietly leads his life.
If a liberal is homosexual, he demands everyone know it , and legislative legitimacy.

If a black man or Hispanic are conservative, they see themselves as independently successful.
Their liberal counterparts see themselves as victims , in need of government protection.

If a conservative is down-and-out, he thinks about how to better his situation.
A liberal wonders what government program is going to take care of him.

If a conservative doesn’t like a talk show host, he switches channels.
Liberals demand that those they don’t like,... be shut down.

If a conservative is a non-believer, he doesn’t go to church.
A liberal non-believer wants any mention of God and religion silenced.

(Unless it’s a foreign religion, especially Islam, of course!)

If a conservative decides he needs health care, he goes about shopping for it, or may choose a job that provides it.
A liberal demands that the rest of us pay for his, through the government.

If a conservative slips and falls in a store, he gets up, laughs and is embarrassed.
If a liberal slips and falls, he grabs his neck, moans like he's in labor , and then sues.

If a conservative reads this, he'll forward it so his friends can have a good laugh.
A liberal will delete it because he's "offended", or he finds it negative.

“Live FREE or die”!!!

God bless what America once was....!

And may someday soon,....be again!

Take back your country, ...and restore the Constitution and the Bill of Rights!

Today's Riddle

What's the difference between the Houston Zoo and the White House?

The Zoo has an African Lion.....

The White House has a Lyin' African.....

This is a statement that was read over the PA system at the football game at Roane County High School, Kingston, Tennessee, by school Principal, Jody McLeod

"It has always been the custom at Roane County High School football games, to say a prayer and play the National Anthem, to honor God and Country.

"Due to a recent ruling by the Supreme Court, I am told that saying a Prayer is a violation of Federal Case Law.

As I understand the law at this time, I can use this public facility to approve of sexual perversion and call it "an alternate life style," and if someone is offended, that's OK.

"I can use it to condone sexual promiscuity, by dispensing condoms and calling it, "safe sex." If someone is offended, that's OK.

"I can even use this public facility to present the merits of killing an unborn baby as a "viable! means of birth control." If someone is offended, no problem...

"I can designate a school day as "Earth Day" and involve students in activities to worship religiously and praise the goddess "Mother Earth" and call it "ecology."

"I can use literature, videos and presentations in the classroom that depicts people with strong, traditional Christian convictions as "simple minded" and "ignorant" and call it "enlightenment."

"However, if anyone uses this facility to honor GOD and to ask HIM to Bless this event with safety and good sportsmanship, then Federal Case Law is violated.

"This appears to be inconsistent at best, and at worst, diabolical.

"Apparently, we are to be tolerant of everything and anyone, except GOD and HIS Commandments.

"Nevertheless, as a school principal, I frequently ask staff and students to abide by rules with which they do not necessarily agree. For me to do otherwise would be inconsistent at best, and at worst, hypocritical. I suffer from that affliction enough unintentionally. I certainly do not need to add an intentional transgression.

"For this reason, I shall "Render unto Caesar that which is Caesar's," and refrain from praying at this time.

"However, if you feel inspired to honor, praise and thank GOD and ask HIM, in the name of JESUS, to Bless this event, please feel free to do so. As far as I know, that's not against the law----yet."

One by one, the people in the stands bowed their heads, held hands with one another and began to pray.
They prayed in the stands. They prayed in the team huddles. They prayed at the concession stand and they prayed in the Announcer's Box!

The only place they didn't pray was in the Supreme Court of the United States of America -- the "Seat of Justice" in the "one nation, under GOD."

Somehow, Kingston, Tennessee remembered what so many have forgotten: We are given the Freedom OF Religion, not the Freedom FROM Religion. Praise GOD that HIS remnant remains!

Just for you!

Julie Andrews Turns 69

To commemorate her birthday , actress/vocalist, Julie Andrews made a special appearance at Manhattan 's Radio City Music Hall for the benefit of the AARP.
One of the musical numbers she performed was 'My Favorite Things' from the legendary Movie 'Sound Of Music'. Here are the lyrics she used:
> >> > > > > > > > >

(Sing It!) - If you sing it, its especially hysterical!!!

Botox and nose drops and needles for knitting,
Walkers and handrails and new dental fittings,
Bundles of magazines tied up in string,
These are a few of my favorite things.

Cadillacs and cataracts, hearing aids and glasses,
Polident and Fixodent and false teeth in glasses,
Pacemakers, golf carts and porches with swings,
These are a few of my favorite things.

When the pipes leak, When the bones creak,
When the knees go bad,
I simply remember my favorite things,
And then I don't feel so bad.

Hot tea and crumpets and corn pads for bunions,
No spicy hot food or food cooked with onions,
Bathrobes and heating pads and hot meals they bring,
These are a few of my favorite things.

Back pain, confused brains and no need for sinnin',
Thin bones and fractures and hair that is thinnin',
And we won't mention our short shrunken frames,
When we remember our favorite things.

When the joints ache, When the hips break,
When the eyes grow dim,
Then I remember the great life I've had,
And then I don't feel so bad.
> >> >

(Ms. Andrews received a standing ovation from the crowd
That lasted over four minutes and repeated encores. Please Share Ms.. Andrews' clever wit and humor with others who Would appreciate it

Pleas read and tell all your friends before it is too late.

Recent studies have determined that we are all faced with a dangerous new health threat!
The potentially deadly chemical, Di-Hydrogen Monoxide has recently been detected in virtually every eco-system known to man.
Further studies also show that almost every citizen of these United States has a very high concentration of this material in their bodies, foreshadowing many unknown and dire consequences.
Have you seen your doctor recently and had your level checked? Demand the test now!
Several large and reputable pharmaceutical companies are rushing to provide new and helpful drugs that may potentially minimize the effects of this menace to our very existence.
Pray that these miracle drugs are brought to market before this chemical has truly had the chance to complete its deadly agenda. There is no cure, but these forthcoming treatments are promising, but expensive.
Do not be fooled by advertisements by unscrupulous companies still trying to market this potentially deadly chemical for their own selfish interests and outrageous profits!
Avoid it at all costs! The lives of your loved ones and yourself may hang in the balance.
Please contact your senators and representatives and demand that they ban this substance before it is too late!
Before you know it, all mankind might be drowning in it, if we don't stop this horrendous pollution.
Please check all your commonly used products for the presense of this potentially deadly chemical.
It may be found masquarading under many names, including Hydrogen Hydroxide, a common ruse that can fool the un-informed into believing that it is merely a safe relative of the common chemical, Hydrogen Peroxide !
You must not be fooled. This earth-shaking news will probably be hitting the mainstream media outlets this evening.
Make sure you alert your loved ones and all your friends to this potentially deadly health menace!
The National Poison Control Center also warns that, once ingested , this substance CANNOT be "watered" down, or treated with any known antidote. Its effects are immediate and long-lasting.
New studies also indicate that it may very well play a part in Global Warming and Climate Change !

Yes, you, too, an ordinary average citizen can help rid America, and the world, of this hazard!

Join the movement to "BAN H-2-0 ".....before it's too late!

See how it's done........

The American Sheeple will believe almost anything.....

and this wasn't even on television yet!

949. WB1EHD Remembrance Gathering

From: n1kxr@comcast.net

Greetings all,

Well it's been almost a year now since Dennis - WB1EHD left us and the wheel has almost turned full circle. A number of us talked about getting together to remember our good friend and if you, as one of Dennis' friends would like to join us, you are more than welcome. This is a casual gathering, wear comfortable clothes appropriate for the weather as the meteorologists are forecasting rain.

The basic plan is this, on Saturday, October 24, 2009 we will meet at Dennis' graveside which is located in the St Bridges Cemetery on Everett Street in Easthampton, Massachusetts by 3:00pm. There will be no ceremony, no clergy, no pomp and circumstance. Simply a group of people who wish to gather to remember, share stories and honor the life that was Dennis Malone. We'll also look to the future, acknowledge that these indeed ~are~ the good times and embrace life as Dennis would have done.

Here is a Google map: http://maps.google.com/maps?oe=UTF-8&gfns=1&q=Everett+Street,++Easthampton,+Massachusetts&um=1&hl=en&hq=&gl=us&resnum=1&ie=UTF-8&hq=&hnear=Everett+St,+Easthampton,+MA+01027&gl=us&ei=0OXfSuOAJ4PO8QaMvNlk&sa=X&oi=geocode_result&ct=title&resnum=1&ved=0CA4Q8gEwAA

After the gathering at the cemetery, it has been suggested that we go to the Bluebonnet Diner on King Street in Northampton (http://www.bluebonnetdiner.net) and feast on foods that would have made Dennis' tummy happy. The five (5) scoop bowl of Chocolate ice cream are optional!

No R.S.V.P. is required for this gathering. Simply show up at the cemetery and/or the diner.

In remembrance of Dennis,

Rich

OBAMA WINS 2010 BOSTON MARATHON
2009 Oct 18 from Nance, planetnews8@gmail.com

BOSTON - President Barack Obama won the 2010 Boston Marathon on Friday in a stunning decision designed to encourage him to quit smoking and keep running to stay in shape. The Boston Athletic Association announced their decision to name Obama the winner even though the race will not be run until 18 April 2010 because the president has the desire to win and has good intentions.

In announcing Obama the winner the president of the BAA said, "We must rise above the out dated measurements of what a person actually has accomplished and focus instead on their intentions and what they say they will do. Intentions and talk are what drive the world." Congressman Barney Frank and Chinese Vice President XI Jinping seated nearby reiterated these words.

The BAA also noted that no president has won the marathon before. This would set a good example for all future presidents of the United States and for other countries such as Iran and North Korea that intentions really matter.

Many observers were shocked by the unexpected decision before the race has even been run. However, when told of his win the President said he had really been thinking a lot about keeping in shape, talked with staff about cutting back on his smoking, and even read an article about the Boston Marathon.

Obama added that wining the Boston Marathon was better than any other award he has received including his Nobel Prize, Tony for best performance by leading actor, Emmy for outstanding lead actor in drama series, Golden Globe for best performance of an actor in a comedy, NASCAR Champion, World Series Most Valuable Player, Best TwitterPage, and Teleprompters of America Best Reader.

Old WWII Posters

A friend sent these and they are great!!!
I wonder whatever happened to this kind of thinking. I got a lump in my throat when I read this. I "grew up" thinking: patriotism, it is the AMERICAN way! I am glad to see that somebody saved them.

The statement at the end says it all!

These were our parents. What in God's name have we let happen?

I guess we are the last generation to see, or even remember anything like these? Whatever happened? Political correctness (or "re-education") happened, lack of God's name happened, lack of personal responsibility happened, lack of personal integrity and honesty happened, lack of respect and loyalty to our country happened, lack of being an American happened.

Did all of these die along with common sense?!?
I'm proud to be an American!
If you are too,pass it along...in English!
(Do NOT press one!)

Our Government at work, doing what it does best...

Government Waste

Somebody spent a lot of time putting this together..... .
Pretty good summary of what is known - how much more is hidden?

$34,000:

The amount of federal taxes that Secretary of the Treasury Timothy Geithner (D) failed to pay during his employment at the International Monetary Fund despite receiving extra compensation and explanatory brochures that described his tax liabilities.

True:
http://www.cleveland.com/nation/index.ssf/2009/01/timothy_geithner_obamas_nomine.html

$75,000:

The amount of money that the head of the powerful tax-writing committee, Rep. Charlie Rangel (D-NY), was forced to report on his taxes after the discovery that he had not reported income from a Dominican Republic rental property. His excuses for the failure started with blaming his wife, then his accountant and finally the fact that he didn't speak Spanish.

True
http://www.nypost.com/seven/09102008/news/regionalnews/rangels_spanish_excuse_128444.htm

$93,000:

The INCREASE in the amount of petty cash each of our Congressional representatives voted to give themselves in January 2009 during the height of an economic meltdown.
That's a $40 + million INCREASE!

http://gatewaypundit.blogspot.com/2009/01/its-recession-congress-gives-lawmakers.html See video here from Fox

$133,900:

The amount Fannie Mae "invested" in Chris Dodd (D-CT), head of the powerful Senate Banking Committee, presumably to repel oversight of the GSE prior to its meltdown. Said meltdown helped touch off the current economic crisis. In only a few years time, Fannie also "invested" over $105,000 in then-Senator Barack Obama.

True: http://www.opensecrets.org/news/2008/07/top-senate-recipients-of-fanni.html

$140,000:

The amount of back taxes and interest that Cabinet nominee
Tom Daschle (D) was forced to cough up after the vetting process revealed significant, unexplained tax liabilities.

True: http://online.wsj.com/article/SB123335984751235247.html?mod=googlenews_wsj Wall Street Journal

$356,000:

The approximate amount of income and deductions that Daschle (D) was forced to report on his amended 2005 and 2007 tax returns after being caught cheating on his taxes.
This includes $255,256 for the use of a car service, $83,333 in unreported income, and $14,963 in charitable contributions.

True: http://online.wsj.com/article/SB123335984751235247.html?mod=googlenews_wsj Wall Street Journal

$800,000:

The amount of "sweetheart" mortgages Senate Banking Chairman Chris Dodd (D-CT) received from Countrywide Financial, the details for which he has refused to release details despite months of promises to do so. Countrywide was once the nation's largest mortgage lender and linked to Government-Sponsored Entities like Fannie Mae a nd Freddie Mac. Their meltdown precipitated the current financial crisis. Just days ago in Pennsylvania , Countrywide was forced to pay $150,000,000 in mortgage assistance following "a state investigation that concluded that Countrywide relaxed its underwriting standards to sell risky loans to consumers who did not understand them and could not afford them."

$1,000,000:

The estimated amount of donations by Denise Rich, wife of fugitive Marc Rich, to Democrat interests and the William J. Clinton Foundation in an apparent quid pro quo deal that resulted in a pardon for Mr. Rich. The pardon was reviewed and blessed by Obama Attorney General and then Deputy AG Eric Holder, despite numerous requests by government officials to turn it down.

True: http://articles.latimes.com/2008/nov/20/nation/na-holder20

$12,000,000:

The amount of TARP money provided to community bank OneUnited despite the fact that it did not qualify for funds, and was "under attack from its regulators for allegations of poor lending practices and executive-pay abuses." It turns out that Rep. Maxine Waters (D-CA), a key contributor to the Fannie Mae meltdown, just happens to be married to one of the bank's former directors.

True: http://online.wsj.com/article/SB123258284337504295.html Wall Street Journal

$23,500,000:

The upper range of net worth Rep. Allan M ollohan (D-WV) accumulated in four years time according to The Washington Post through earmarks of "tens of millions of dollars to groups associated with his own business partners."

True: http://www.washingtonpost.com/wp-dyn/content/article/2006/05/14/AR2006051401032.html Washington Post

$2,000,000,000:

($2 billion) the approximate amount of money that House Appropriations Chairman David Obey (D-WI) is earmarking related to his son's lobbying efforts. The son, Craig Obey, is "a top lobbyist for the nonprofit group" that would receive a roughly $2 billion component of the "Stimulus" package.

True: http://www.newwest.net/topic/article/a_plan_for_stimulus_money_national_parks/C530/L37/and this as a list of these related stories: http://search.yahoo.com/404handler?src=news&+++%0A+fr%3D404_news%26ref%3Dhttp://directorblue.blogspot.com/2009/01/obama-democrats-by-numbers.html&url=http://news.yahoo.com/s/ap/20090129/ap_on_go_co/stimulus_national_parks_2

$3,700,000,000:

($3.7 billion) not to be outdone, this is the estimated value of various defense contracts awarded to a company controlled by the husband of Rep. Diane Feinstein (D-CA). Despite an obvious conflict-of-interest as "a member of the Military Construction Appropriations subcommittee, Sen. Feinstein voted for appropriations worth billions to her husband's firms."

True: http://www.sfgate.com/cgi-bin/article.cgi?file=/chronicle/archive/2003/04/22/MN310531.DTL

$4,190,000,000:

($4.19 billion) the amount of money in the so-called "Stimulus" package devoted to fraudulent voter registration ACORN Stabilization Activities". ACORN is currently the subject of a RICO suit in Ohio .

True: http://www.ocregister.com/articles/stimulus-economy-percent-2295331-bill-pelosi

$1,646,000,000,000 ($1.646 trillion):

The approximate amount of annual United States exports endangered by the "Stimulus" package, which provides a "Buy American" stricture. According to international trade experts, a "US-EU trade war looms" which could result in a worldwide economic depression reminiscent of that touched off by the protectionist Smoot-Hawley Act.

True: http://www.asiaing.com/2008-national-export-strategy-the-new-global-main-street.html

and http://www.powerlineblog.com/archives/2009/01/022685.php

Background: Smmot-Hawley Act: http://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Smoot-Hawley_Tariff_Act

It's becoming a culture of corruption and stupidity.

In addition, these folks appear to be above the law.

All of the aforementioned are still in office, living like the royalty they think they are.

A Message to the Environmental Movement: Your Movement Has Been Hijacked a.. Text size b.. c..
James Corbett
The Corbett Report
November 25, 2009

The Corbett Report has released a new video message to the environmental movement. Watch the video by clicking here or in the embedded player.

Transcript: This is James Corbett of corbettreport.com and I come here today with a message for you.

You the environmentalists, you the activists, you the campaigners.

You who have watched with growing concern the ways in which the world around us has been ravaged in the pursuit of the almighty dollar.

You who are concerned with the state of the planet that we are leaving for our children and our grandchildren and those generations yet unborn.

This is not a message of divisiveness, but cooperation.

This is a message of hope and empowerment, but it requires us to look at a hard and uncomfortable truth:

Your movement has been usurped by the very same financial interests you thought you were fighting against.

You have suspected as much for years.

You watched at first with hope and excitement as your movement, your cause, your message began to spread, as it was taken up by the media and given attention, as conferences were organized and as the ideas you had struggled so long and hard to be heard were talked about nationally. Then internationally.

You watched with growing unease as the message was simplified. First it became a slogan. Then it became a brand. Soon it was nothing more than a label and it became attached to products. The ideas you had once fought for were now being sold back to you. For profit.

You watched with growing unease as the message became parroted, not argued, worn like a fashion rather than something that came from the conviction of understanding.

You disagreed when the slogans–and then the science–were dumbed down. When carbon dioxide became the focus and CO2 was taken up as a political cause. Soon it was the only cause.

You knew that Al Gore was not a scientist, that his evidence was factually incorrect, that the movement was being taken over by a cause that was not your own, one that relied on beliefs you did not share to propose a solution you did not want. It began to reach a breaking point when you saw that the solutions being proposed were not solutions at all, when they began to propose new taxes and new markets that would only serve to line their own pockets.

You knew something was wrong when you saw them argue for a cap-and-trade scheme proposed by Ken Lay, when you saw Goldman Sachs position itself to ride the carbon trading bubble, when the whole thrust of the movement became ways to make money or spend money or raise money from this panic.

Your movement had been hijacked.

The realization came the first time you read The Club of Rome's 1991 book, The First Global Revolution, which says:

"In searching for a common enemy against whom we can unite, we came up with the idea that pollution, the threat of global warming, water shortages, famine and the like, would fit the bill. In their totality and their interactions these phenomena do constitute a common threat which must be confronted by everyone together. But in designating these dangers as the enemy, we fall into the trap, which we have already warned readers about, namely mistaking symptoms for causes. All these dangers are caused by human intervention in natural processes, and it is only through changed attitudes and behaviour that they can be overcome. The real enemy then is humanity itself."

And when you looked at the Club of Rome's elite member roster. And when you learnt about eugenics and the Rockefeller ties to the Kaiser Willhelm Institute and the practice of crypto-eugenics and the rise of overpopulation fearmongering and the call by elitist after elitist after elitist to cull the world population.

a.. A d v e r t i s e m e n t b..
Still, you wanted to believe that there was some basis of truth, something real and valuable in the single-minded obsession of this hijacked environmental movement with manmade global warming.

Now, in November 2009, the last traces of doubt have been removed.

Last week, an insider leaked internal documents and emails from the Climate Research Unit of East Anglia University and exposed the lies, manipulation and fraud behind the studies that supposedly show 0.6 degrees Celsius of warming over the last 130 years. And the hockey stick graph that supposedly shows unprecedented warming in our times. And the alarmist warning of impending climate disaster.

We now know that these scientists wrote programming notes in the source code of their own climate models admitting that results were being manually adjusted.

We now know that values were being adjusted to conform to scientists' wishes, not reality.

We now know that the peer review process itself was being perverted to exclude those scientists whose work criticized their findings.

We now know that these scientists privately expressed doubts about the science that they publicly claimed to be settled.

We now know, in short, that they were lying.

It is unknown as yet what the fallout will be from all of this, but it is evident that the fallout will be substantial.

With this crisis, however, comes an opportunity. An opportunity to recapture the movement that the financiers have stolen from the people.

Together, we can demand a full and independent investigation into all of the researchers whose work was implicated in the CRU affair.

We can demand a full re-evaluation of all those studies whose conclusions have been thrown into question by these revelations, and all of the public policy that has been based on those studies.

We can establish new standards of transparency for scientists whose work is taxpayer funded and/or whose work effects public policy, so that everyone has full and equal access to the data used to calculate results and all of the source code used in all of the programs used to model that data.

In other words, we can reaffirm that no cause is worth supporting that requires deception for its propagation.

Even more importantly, we can take back the environmental movement.

We can begin to concentrate on the serious questions that need to be asked about the genetic engineering technology whereby hybrid organisms and new, never-before-seen proteins that are being released into the biosphere in a giant, uncontrolled experiment that threatens the very genome of life on this planet.

We can look into the environmental causes of the explosion in cancer and the staggering drops in fertility over the last 50 years, including the BPA in our plastics and the anti-androgens in the water.

We can examine regulatory agencies that are controlled by the very corporations they are supposedly watching over.

We can begin focusing on depleted uranium and the dumping of toxic waste into the rivers and all of the issues that we once knew were part of the mandate of the real environmental movement.

Or we can, as some have, descend into petty partisan politics. We can decide that lies are OK if they support ‘our’ side. We can defend the reprehensible actions of the CRU researchers and rally around the green flag that has long since been captured by the enemy.

It is a simple decision to make, but one that we must make quickly, before the argument can be spun away and environmentalism can go back to business as usual.

We are at a crossroads of history. And make no mistake, history will be the final judge of our actions. So I leave you today with a simple question: Which side of history do you want to be on?

For The Corbett Report, this is James Corbett in western Japan.

IT’S TIME FOR A ––REAL ENVIRONMENTAL MOVEMENT––

1. Shame not profit should be the aim for all to protect the environment.

2. More energy sources like nuclear to boost human productivity

3. A galactic mission for mankind to explore and colonize our solar system and live like the the Jetsons no more like the Flinstones.

4. We should stop globalization and British-style free trade – that would stop local fish and foodstuffs from being shipped and dragged overseas and spur an organic, cultural local diet.

5. We should stop using building materials like wood and instead use more ‘permenant’ construction like stone and concrete to build our homes and cultural centers.

A new way of thinking and a disposal of Wall Street/City of London is the new environmental movement.

This is nothing but a ploy to distract us 9/11 Truthers from Climategate. We all know 9/11 was an inside job, there’s nothing a bunch of text messages is going to add to the debate.

We need to focus on Climategate right now, we’re not out of the woods yet. We need to make sure this Climate hoax is exposed. Its still being buried by MSM.

The timing of the release of these 9/11 text messages is nothing but very clever pys-ops. Think about it. 5 million text messages, unsecured transmissions, it will distract many patriots/truthers who will be pouring over the texts, while the elite meet in Copenhagen to seal our fate with Cap & Trade, Carbon tax ,Global Governance. Don’t get distracted. Stay on point. Climategate is the BIG issue.

London, England:

Apparently, an “alien craft” of sorts has been hovering in the sky over London. Police have evacuated the area of a 5km radius. At appoximately 11:11 AM London time, a smaller craft exited the “mothership”.

After touchdown on the streets of London, 3 occupants of the vehicle emerged. Apparently it was communicated that they desired to speak to, what has been termed as, “World Leaders”. After several hours Brown, Blair, Obama, both Bushes, the Queen of England, the Pope, Putin and an entire contingency from China appeard on the scene. Later it was reported that Hugo Chavez finally arrived on the scene. Moments later, Oprah Winfrey arrived.

A shocking scene then erupted. Apparently the ‘visitors’ communicated that they wanted ” World Leaders” to be present. It was then communicated to the visitors that THESE ARE THE WORLD LEADERS. At that….the visitors instantly vaporized the group where they stood.

We have word that the ‘visitors’ asked for leaders and not blood-thirsty, lying, felonious criminals that lead based on oppression, thievery, wars and murders. They have apparently communicated that they still desire to speak with a World Leader.

As of this time, the governments of the World have not been able to find an appropriate representative that will meet the visitor’s requirements. [sarc]

Ok,
I’ve seen through all of this News about these “Hacked Emails” and I am Surprised that None of the rest of you have Recognized and Picked up on what has really happened. Has Everyone Forgotten So Fast about ” Echelon ” ???

Remember Everyone – Echelon monitors ALL Email & Radio & Phone Traffic 24/7.
Obviously Someone inside Echelon “Leaked” those emails. The Reason they leaked them is this. Echelon has Become a Very Dangerous “Double Edged Sword” for all of the Main Big Governments. Someone in Russia Leaked these emails, because they realized all of this Global Warming Scam Crap could come back in the Future to Bite Anyone who was a Party or Was an Accomplice to this Global Warming Scam. Russia Figured out Right Away that THEY Did Not Want to Have Any Part of the ” NWO’s ” Global Warming Scam, and Russia – ” Wisely ” Decided that THEY Did Not want to PAY Money to Any Of The ” Carbon Tax Scam “.

Yes, Echelon has Come Back to Bite the Global Elite ” NWO ” Real Good. None of The Criminals at the Top of Any World Government can Hida Any of Their Crimes From ” Echelon ” So that leaves All of them Wide Open for Any Future ” Black Mail ” etc. etc. etc.

This is what has Really Happened, and Why these emails where leaked ! This has All worked out for the Best for All of the Individual Peoples of the World. ” Echelon ” the Creation of The Global Elite has Come Back To Bite them All real good, and this is what is called ” Poetic Justice ”

Yes, ” Poetic Justice ” indeed…

Leaving data on russian server assured global spread of information and content of mails.

You are Really Naive, if you think Echelon does not Monitor ALL COMMUNICATIONS !

Here’s the ” Bottom Line ” about anyone who is online on the Internet !

Anyone who is ” Online ” on the Internet, ANYTHING Anyone does online is ” Monitored ” by ” Echelon ” and not only does Echelon Monitor All Internet and Email Traffic. Echelon Also Monitors ALL Radio & Telephone and Cell Phone Traffic !

This Does Not Come From The Movies ! This Is What is Actually Real !

The Movies just try to ” Copy ” what THEY Think Echelon is Like and How It Works !

Vatican looks to heavens for signs of alien life

By ARIEL DAVID (AP) – 14 hours ago
11-10-09

VATICAN CITY — E.T. phone Rome. Four hundred years after it locked up Galileo for challenging the view that the Earth was the center of the universe, the Vatican has called in experts to study the possibility of extraterrestrial alien life and its implication for the Catholic Church.

“The questions of life’s origins and of whether life exists elsewhere in the universe are very suitable and deserve serious consideration,” said the Rev. Jose Gabriel Funes, an astronomer and director of the Vatican Observatory.

Funes, a Jesuit priest, presented the results Tuesday of a five-day conference that gathered astronomers, physicists, biologists and other experts to discuss the budding field of astrobiology — the study of the origin of life and its existence elsewhere in the cosmos.

http://www.google.com/hostedne.....AD9BSTO1G1

After the vatican and the high priests finally Figure Out that they:

” Are Not God’s Representatives on Earth ”

They now start looking for ” Alien Life ” in the Universe…

BTW

In case you don’t get it yet, Nasa is pulling the same type of Grand Scale Scam as Bernie Madoff did.

The Type of Scam that Bernie Madoff Pulled is called a ” Confidence Scam ” He represented himself as “the inside/know it all/big money connection”

The Type of Scam that NASA is Pulling is called ” The Intellectual Scam ” Nasa has the American People hoodwinked into believing their scam crap lies because they Posture themselves as ” We Are The Intellectuals ” They Know it All, and No One Knows Anything except Nasa.

BTW Russia is Not Fooled By Nasa’s Bologna ” Intellectual Scam ” The Russians know that Nasa did not go to moon in the Apollo Program. The Russians know that Nasa is scamming the American citizens. Also, Nasa will have to Depend on Russia to even Reach the International Space station very soon, because of the retirement of the aging Shuttle Program.

Anyone who still believes Nasa is not lying and pulling the ” Intellectual Scam ” for Billions of the Tax Payers Dollars – Here’s your answer: Take A Look At Where YOU Are Living, and Now Take A Look at Where the Nasa’s Inside Billionaire Scam Crowd are Living !!!

Now do you ” Get It ” ???

BTW -

The Top Government Echelons of Nations ” Keep Other Nations Secrets ”

That is How They All Stay In Power in their Own Lands – Every Government around the World pull Similar Types of Scams on their own People. That is How they Keep and Maintain Power & Control over their own people. They all communicate at their Top Level G-8 and G-20 Meetings etc. etc. etc.

Is the picture getting clearer now… ???

You have every right to feel pleased with yourselves, at the turn of events that are leading to definite changes soon to be apparent to you. After a long period of Endeavour, you are about to reap the result of your dedication to bring the Light to Earth. Your faith has been remarkable given that you have been unable to appreciate the whole picture as we do. Where we have seen positive movement you have found it hard to detect, indeed at times the chaos has seemed to accelerate. As we have pointed out with regard to the cleansing that it is taking place, it has inevitably given the impression of uncoordinated events because of its nature. The truth is that each occurrence is following a pattern that will make way for the new systems to take their place. It is not easy to prise people away from what they have been used to do doing for decades. Therefore the answers to your problems are not necessarily evident, but with the assistance of our allies you will begin to see positive signs of what is to be done. They will satisfy your pleas for a new way forward, and will eventually bring about the long awaited peace to Earth.

The tempo increases as your thoughts turn to the festive celebrations that are quickly approaching. This is more than welcome, as when our presence is made known your spirits will already be lifted. It is not that everyone will be ecstatic at the news, and many will not know what to think. However, our intention is that sufficient information will be released, that will satisfy such persons as to our reason and desire to have a closer contact with you. Our actions will soon be understood as those that convey our concern for you, and our loyalty to the Higher Ones who are of Light and Love. We come to help you elevate to our level of existence and rightly take your place alongside us. Most of you have all but completed your experience of duality, and you now need to take the next step up on your path to illumination.

We can hardly wait to get fully started on our mission, and a ripple of excitement is spreading through the Galactic Federation at the prospect of commencing very shortly. For us time is not as you experience it, but nevertheless we understand that as you live by linear time matters seem to have been drawn out. We share your concern about your pressing needs, that have led to a worsening quality of life for many of you. Again we say this is largely due to necessary changes that can only follow a dismantling of your old systems. Once we get the go ahead we can so to say move mountains, and no task presents us with any problems whatsoever. We are equipped to ensure that you are inconvenienced as little as possible whilst the changes occur. Speed will be our priority and you will be pleasantly surprised at our rate of progress.

So Dear Ones, it is a bit of a waiting game but it will not go on too long. A point has been reached when our presence must come about, to enable us to be accepted and mobilize our allies to work in co-ordination with us. Be assured that we are in any event aware of exactly where we need to be, and what action to take prior to our official landing on Earth. We can start at a minutes notice, and that is a measure of how prepared we are already. So please do not be unduly worried at any delay, it will hardly have any effect on our overall objectives and time scales.

More and more people see our craft in your skies, and clear enough to sufficiently determine that they are extraterrestrial and not of Earth. However, there are designs of earthly craft that could be mistaken for ours. Size is indicative of origin, as our Mother Craft that are tadpole-shaped (and Sirian scout-ships are spheroid) can be hundreds of miles in diameter. They are not called Cities of the Skies for nothing and as inter galactic craft, they are totally equipped for their crews to stay in space for extremely long periods of time. Because of their sheer size, they stay at a safe distance from Earth for your safety. Technological advances must be accompanied by an understanding of what conduct is expected to go with it. The ambitions of your dark forces are not in accordance with such aims, and for this reason they will not allowed to move beyond your solar system. Law and order exists throughout your Universe, and when civilizations show that they can abide by it they are allowed to explore beyond their own solar system.

Man is being prepared to join the Galactic Federation and will be expected to make that step after Ascension. You will by then have risen sufficiently to become One with us, and join your brothers and sisters of Space. There are many organizations similar to ours to be found in different areas of the Universe, and they help maintain peace through their spiritual knowledge and application. You will never run out of things to do, and your experience in duality will be invaluable as you help others to reach out for upliftment. Experience is the priceless jewel that each one of you seeks, and you have well earned your place amongst us. It is the application of it with your achievement of Unconditional Love that will enable you to be of great service to others.

We will tell you that your future is in the higher dimensions, and that is where your true home is amongst the stars. In us you will see yourselves, and we will encourage you to emulate what we do in service to you. It is a most enjoyable and rewarding existence, which even for us is increasing our level of consciousness. You will find that you never stop learning, and every permutation of whatever you could think exists is there in reality. There are millions upon millions of planets, and all are at some dimensional level that supports intelligent life forms. Many will be non-human but they are nevertheless just like you, born of the Source that you know as the Creator. Wonders never cease to astound us, and life is astonishing inasmuch it can be found to exist in the most unusual circumstances, but as you are aware not all are like your Earth conditions. This is evident in your own solar system, where there is a vast difference in other planetary conditions compared to yours.

One thing I’ll say about Glen Beck, love him or hate him, he may not be our friend, he may be, he’s a bit of a mystery man in my opinion, but one thing’s for sure he is a powerful ally in this battle against Copenhagen.

scott—the only word that comes to mind concerning glenn beck is douchebag. You watch, he’ll change his story later on, he always does. But about this article, alot of herd memers have been saying the same thing corbett is saying for quite some time. But back then nobody listened, maybe they will now. I remember when they started “re-cycling” and it was a good idea, but right after that is when it got hyjacked. Then the “greenies” came out. Then al gore popped up. Now the u.n is involved with a new enviromental religion. what next? Let me guess…. we’ll be visited by some god of the planet thats angry and wants revenge for the “damage done ” to the earth, condeming us to death.

Ah don’t get me wrong I’ve never been a fan of Beck but as long as he doesn’t change his mind, and I have a feeling he won’t on this issue somehow, then he is a powerful force, but anyway enough of Beck, let’s focus on this man.

Many things we have been taught are not even in Scripture and millions have swallowed so many lies by these false prophets. If you are a truth seeker please visit the following web site and take the time to read some of the articles… You will be shocked.

THERE IS A GREAT NEW AUDIO THERE FOR YOU TO LISTEN TO. YOU WILL COME AWAY ASKING MANY QUESTIONS. REAL SHOCKING.

This whole issue pretty much sums up the elites position on everything. They are manipulaters of umpteenth degree. The sad element to this story is the fact that we do have a planet that is abused by man. Has anyone seen the swirling trash dump in the pacific ocean. Maybe the whole global warming thing is designed to de-legitamize the whole environmental movement for the profiteering of the elite. Not saying that is what I believe, but in a world full of so much dis-info it is hard to disern the truth from the lies.

You are exactly right. The reason I am on here is because I want to know what others are swallowing because that is much more important than truth. The people in control don’t care if Global warming is true or not… They care about what people are swallowing and are reacting accordingly to gain the most. If global warming falls out of favor they will be the first to come up with an alternative.

Most people have felt the effect of pollution and realize the dangers personally or know people that have been affected so the “elites” (anybody with an advertising budget or media outlet including Alex) have to address this in a way they can have the most control… Global warming had the most universal implications with a decent amount of science behind it. Spin it and now some own it. Alex makes his living by being contrary to nearly everybody, which is a personality trait common to enough to carve a significant niche market out of.

I see the elite gaining more by having Alex spew his rhetoric in Apocalyptic fashion because it's so "sky is falling" that the majority of people can't take him seriously. In fact Alex could tell the truth and have all the original copies to prove it and wouldn't change anything because he is a pompous blow-hard. I heard him go off for 15 minutes about Rush lifting his Al Gore Photoshop story (a lame and pointless story) instead of rubbing his own member he could have had honest debate with real POLICY MAKERS and make them look silly like Jon Stewart and The Colbert Report do as silly comedy acts.

"And we will ALL get on board and pay the carbon tax, or we will be all guilty of killing the planet."

O.K. there buddy…

Question 1
Please do explain how Carbon, one of the most abundant and naturally occurring elements on this planet, in the form of CO2, better known as the gas responsible for photosynthesis, is causing global warming??

Question 2
So if Carbon is really the problem…then am I killing the earth every time I exhale?

To be honest…I don't even care what you have to say as a response because you are so stupid, it would be a waste of my time…

CO2 is not causing global warming….in fact….the recent shift in temperature can be traced to increased sunspot activity which is sending more solar radiation to the earth…it also happens that our solar system is passing through the gravitational axis of the Milky Way galaxy, which Albert Einstein predicted would cause more violent weather and perhaps even a polar shift…

This is a big joke…just like you and your beliefs…

Funny how you call people simpletons as if you are condescending when in reality…you are striving so hard to elevate yourself to that status…

If you truly believe in this Co2 BS…I have the solution….Gun to your head and pull the trigger…one less person exhaling that dangerous global warming gas…(or from my point of view…one less moron driving around with his turn signal flashing from when he left the house)

Wow, so you watched the videos and now you're an expert? You didn't even listen to counter points or do a little research on your own? You saw on the news Copenhagen would be a success and so now you know it to be true?

No one is saying they aren't aware of the problems in the environment but there is way too many unknown variables to just start throwing cash (that we don't have) at the problem…

How will that money be used?

Will those programs be succesful?

What if the plan is terrible but takes 10 years to evidence the mistake?

What if the program is a good one but implementation is poor so they scrap it?

What if these people just run off with the money?

You see real environmentalists know that the movement starts with education, then the changing of habits. We have the education, we just need to start changing the habits and not by force but by example.

Looking through hadley cru foi2009.zip One of my favorite files that no one is talking about is RulesOfTheGame.PDF. It's a little pamphlet that explains to those who would communicate about globalclimatewarmingchange how they should properly use fear and and celebrities to push the message.

When you use fear don't do it without agency. IOW, don't scare people unless you can also tell them what to do about it, otherwise people will be apathetic and not scared.

And never treat people as if they were rational. There is no 'rational man.' Evidence disproves this theory.

Also: greenpeace.txt

Hi Mick,

It was good to see you again yesterday – if briefly. One particular thing you said – and we agreed – was about the IPCC reports and the broader climate negotiations were working to the globalisation agenda driven by organisations like the WTO. So my first question is do you have anything written or published, or know of anything particularly on this subject, which talks about this in more detail?

My second question is that I am invovled in a working group organising a climate justice summit in the Hague and I wondered if you had any contacts, ngos or individuals, with whom you have worked especially from the small island States or similar areas, who could be invited as a voice either to help on the working group and/or to invite to speak?

All the best,

Paul

Nice C&P but I disagree with the premise. Actually the original was written in several different languages and the later versions which do in fact differ in context were mere translations with the texts you cite compiled by the Pasha being outright frauds,

New Baskin-Robbins Ice Cream Flavor

New Baskin-Robbins Ice Cream Flavor

Gotta love these creative folks!

In honor of the 44th President of the United States, Baskin-Robbins Ice Cream has introduced a new flavor: " Barocky Road ..."

Barocky Road is a blend of half vanilla, half chocolate, and surrounded by nuts and flakes.
The vanilla portion of the mix is not openly advertised and usually denied as an ingredient.
The nuts and flakes are all very bitter and hard to swallow.

The cost is $100.00 per scoop.

When purchased it will be presented to you in a large beautiful cone, but then the ice cream is taken away and given to the person in line behind you.

You are left with an empty wallet and no change, holding an empty cone with no hope of getting any ice cream.

Are you stimulated?

Subject: HR 615 - Healthcare for Congress

This is our chance to do something other than just complain! Whether you are for or against the Healthcare Bill before the Senate, take a look at this recommendation. It makes sense!!

On Tuesday, the Senate health committee voted 12-11 in favor of a two-page amendment, courtesy of Republican Tom Coburn, which would require all Members of Congress and their staff members to enroll in any new government-run health plan.

Congressman John Fleming has proposed an amendment that would require Congressmen and Senators to take the same health care plan that they would force on us. (Under proposed legislation they are exempt.)

Congressman Fleming is encouraging people to go to his Website and sign his petition. The process is very simple.
I have done just that at: http://fleming.house.gov/index.html.

Senator Coburn and Congressman Fleming are both physicians.

Regardless of your political beliefs, it sure seems reasonable that Congress should have exactly the same medical coverage that they impose on the rest of us.

Please urge as many people as you can to do the same!

God created the mule, and told him, "You will be mule, working constantly from dusk to dawn, carrying heavy loads on your back. You will eat grass and lack intelligence. You will live for 50 years."

The mule answered, "To live like this for 50 years is too much. Please, give me no more than 20." And it was so.

Then God created the dog, and told him, "You will hold vigilance over the dwellings of Man, to whom you will be his greatest companion. You will eat his table scraps and live for 25 years."

And the dog responded, "Lord, to live 25 years as a dog like that is too much. Please, no more than 10 years." And it was so.

God then created the monkey, and told him, "You are monkey. You shall swing from tree to tree, acting like an idiot. You will be funny, and you shall live for 20 years."

And the monkey responded, "Lord, to live 20 years as the clown of the world is too much. Please, Lord, give me no more than 10 years." And it was so.

Finally, God created Man and told him, "You are Man, the only rational being that walks the earth. You will use your intelligence to have mastery over the creatures of the world. You will dominate the earth and live for 20 years."

And the man responded, "Lord, to be Man for only 20 years is too little. Please, Lord, give me the 30 years the mule refused, the 15 years the dog refused, and the 10 years the monkey rejected." And it was so.

And so God made Man to live 20 years as a man, then marry and live 30 years like a mule working and carrying heavy loads on his back. Then, he is to have children and live 15 years as a dog, guarding his house and eating the leftovers after they empty the pantry; then, in his old age, to live 10 years as a monkey, acting like an idiot to amuse his grand children.

Letter from Grandpa - PRICELESS

John G. is 65 years old and owns a small business. He's a life-long Republican and sees his dream of retiring next year has all but evaporated. With the stock market crashing and new taxes coming his way, John assumes now that he will work to his dying day.

John has a granddaughter. Laura is a recent college grad. She drives a flashy hybrid car, wears all the latest fashions, and loves to go out to nightclubs and restaurants. Laura campaigned hard for Barack Obama. After the election she made sure her grandfather (and all other Republican family members) received a big I told-you-so earful on how the world is going to be a much better place now that her party is taking over.

Having lost both roommates, Laura recently ran short of cash and cannot pay the rent (again) on her 3 bedroom townhouse. Like she has done many times in the past, she e-mailed her grandfather asking for some financial help. Here is his reply:

Sweetheart,

I received your request for assistance.
Laura, you know I love you dearly and I'm sympathetic to your financial plight. Unfortunately, times have changed. With the election of Obama, your grandmother and I have had to set forth a bold new economic plan of our own..."The Laura Economic Empowerment Plan." Let me explain.

Your grandmother and I are life-long, wage-earning tax payers. We have lived a comfortable life, as you know, but we have never had the fancier things like European vacations, luxury cars, etc. We have worked hard and were looking forward to retiring soon. But the plan has changed. Your president is raising our personal and business taxes significantly. He says it is so he can give our hard earned money to other people. Do you know what this means, Laura? It means less for us, and we must cut back on many business and personal expenses.

You know the wonderful receptionist who worked in my office for more than 23 years? The one who always gave you candy when you came over to visit? I had to let her go last week. I can't afford to pay her salary and all of the government mandated taxes that go with having employees. Your grandmother will now work 4 days a week to answer phones, take orders and handle the books. We will be closed on Fridays and will lose even more income to Wal-Mart.

I'm also very sorry to report that your cousin Frank will no longer be working summers in the warehouse. I called him at school this morning. He already knows about it and he's upset because he will have to give up skydiving and his yearly trip to Greenland to survey the polar bears.

That's just the business side of things. Some personal economic effects of Obama's new taxation policies include none other than you. You know very well that over the years your grandmother and I have given you thousands of dollars in cash, tuition assistance, food, housing, clothing, gifts, etc., etc. But by your vote, you have chosen to help others -- not at your expense -- but at our expense.

If you need money now sweetheart, I recommend you call: 202-456-1111 .
That is the direct phone number for the White House. You yourself told me how foolish it is to vote Republican. You said Obama is going to be the People's President, and is going to help every American live a better life. Based on everything you've told me, along with all the promises we heard during the campaign, I'm sure Obama will be happy to transfer some stimulus money into your bank account. Have him call me for the account number which I memorized years ago.

Perhaps you can now understand what I've been saying all my life: those who vote for a president should consider the impact on the nation as a whole, and not be just concerned with what they can get for themselves. What Obama supporters don't seem to realize is all of the money he is redistributing to illegal aliens and non-taxpaying Americans (the so-called "less fortunate") comes from tax-paying families.

Remember how you told me, "Only the richest of the rich will be affected"? Well guess what, honey? Because we own a business, your grandmother and I are now considered to be the richest of the rich.
On paper, it might look that way, but in the real world, we are far from it..

As you said while campaigning for Obama, some people will have to carry more of the burden so all of America can prosper. You understand what that means, right? It means that raising taxes on productive people results in them having less money; less moneyfor everything,including granddaughters.

I'm sorry, Laura, but the well has run dry. The free lunches are over. I have no more money to give you now.

So, congratulations on your choice for "change." For future reference, I encourage you to try and add up the total value of the gifts and cash you have received from us, just since you went off to college, and compare it to what you expect to get from Obama over the next 4 (or 8) years. I have not kept track of it, Laura. It has all truly been the gift of our hearts.

Remember, we love you dearly......but from now on you'll need to call the number mentioned above. Your "Savior" has the money we would have given to you. Just try and get it from him.

Good luck, sweetheart.
Love,
Grandpa

"Change you can believe in"...yeah...right!!! This is from the Canadian Free Press...

About Michelle :

Written by Dr. Paul L. Williams

"In my own life in my own small way, I have tried to give back to this country that has given me so much," she said. "See, that's why I left a job at a big law firm for a career in public service, "...
Michelle Obama

No, Michele Obama does not get paid to serve as the First Lady and she doesn't perform any official duties. But this hasn't deterred her from hiring an unprecedented number of staffers to cater to her every whim and to satisfy her every request in the midst of the Great Recession.

Just think, Mary Lincoln was taken to task for purchasing china for the White House during the Civil War.. And Mamie Eisenhower had to shell out the salary for her personal secretary from her husband's salary.

Total Personal Staff members for other first ladies paid by taxpayers:

Mamie Eisenhower: One-- paid for personally out of President's salary.

Jackie Kennedy: One

Roseline Carter: One

Barbara Bush: One

Hilary Clinton: Three

Laura Bush: One

Michele Obama: Twenty-two

How things have changed! If you're one of the tens of millions of Americans facing certain destitution, earning less than subsistence wages stocking the shelves at Wal-Mart or serving up McDonald cheeseburgers, prepare to scream and then come to realize that the benefit package for these servants of Ms. Michelle are the same as members of the national security and defense departments and the bill for these assorted lackeys is paid by YOU,

John Q.Public.

Michele Obama's personal staff:

One.. $172,200 - Sher, Susan (Chief Of Staff)

Two... $140,000 - Frye, Jocelyn C. (Deputy Assistant to the President and Director of Policy And Projects For The First Lady)

Three... $113,000 - Rogers, Desiree G. (Special Assistant to the President and White House Social Secretary for Mrs. Obama)

Four.. $102,000 - Johnston, Camille Y. (Special Assistant to the President and Director of Communications for the First Lady)

Five.. $100,000 - Winter, Melissa (Special Assistant to the President and Deputy Chief Of Staff to the First Lady)

Six.. $90,000 - Medina , David S. (Deputy Chief Of Staff to the First Lady)

Seven.. $84,000 - Lilyveld, Catherine M. (Director and Press Secretary to the First Lady)

Eight.. $75,000 - Starkey, Frances M. (Director of Scheduling and Advance for the First Lady)

Nine.. $70,000 - Sanders, Trooper (Deputy Director of Policy and Project for the First Lady)

Ten.. $65,000 - Burnough, Erinn (Deputy Director and Deputy Social Secretary)

Eleven.. $64,000 - Reinstein, Joseph B.(Deputy Director and Deputy Social Secretary)

Twelve.. $62,000 - Goodman, Jennifer R. (Deputy Director of Scheduling and Events Coordinator For The First Lady)

Thirteen.. $60,000 Fitz, Alan O..(Deputy Director of Advance and Trip Director for the First Lady)

Fourteen... $57,500 - Lewis, Dana M. (Special Assistant and Personal Aide to the First Lady)

Fifteen... $52,500 - Mustaphi, Semonti M. (Associate Director and Deputy Press Secretary To The First Lady)

Sixteen.. $50,000 - Jarvis, Kristen E. (Special Assistant for Scheduling and Traveling Aide To The First Lady)

Seventeen.. $45,000 - Lechtenberg, Tyler A. (Associate Director of Correspondence For The First Lady)

Eighteen.. $43,000 - Tubman, Samanth a (Deputy Associate Director, Social Office)

Nineteen.. $40,000 - Boswell, Joseph J. (Executive Assistant to the Chief Of Staff to the First Lady)

Twenty... $36,000 - Armbruster, Sally M. (Staff Assistant to the Social Secretary)

Twenty-One.. $35,000 - Bookey, Natalie (Staff Assistant)

Twenty-Two.. $35,000 - Jackson, Deilia A. (Deputy Associate Director of Correspondence for the First Lady)

Total.. $1,591,200 in annual salaries

There has NEVER been anyone in the White House at any time who has created such an army of staffers whose sole duties are the facilitation of the First Lady's social life.

One wonders why she needs so much help, at taxpayer expense.

Note: This does not include makeup artist Ingrid Grimes-Miles, 49, and "First Hairstylist" Johnny Wright, 31, both of whom traveled aboard Air Force One to Europe ...

There's an old sea story in the Navy about a Ship's' Captain who inspected his sailors, and afterward told the Chief Boatswain that his men smelled bad. The Captain suggested perhaps it would help if the sailors would change underwear occasionally.

The Chief responded, "Aye, aye sir, I'll see to It immediately!" The Chief went straight to the sailors berth deck and announced, "The Captain thinks you guys smell bad and wants you to change your underwear."

He continued, "Pittman, you change with Jones, McCarthy, you change with Witkowski, and Brown, you change with Schultz. Now GET TO IT!!!"

THE MORAL OF THE STORY IS:

Someone may come along and promise "Change",.....

but don't count on things smelling any better.

I voted Democrat, because

I love the fact that I can now marry whatever I want.

I've decided to marry my horse.

I voted Democrat, because

I believe oil companies' profits of 4% on a gallon of gas are obscene, but the government taxing the same gallon of gas at 15% isn't.

I voted Democrat, because

I believe the government will do a better job of spending the money I earn than I would.

I voted Democrat, because

Freedom of speech is fine as long as nobody is offended by it.

I voted Democrat, because

When we pull out of Iraq I trust that the bad guys will stop what they are doing, because they now think we are good people.

I voted Democrat, because

I'm way too irresponsible to own a gun, and I know that my local police are all I need to protect me from murderers and thieves.

I voted Democrat, because

I believe that people who can't tell us if it will rain on Friday can tell us that the polar ice caps will melt away in ten years if I don't start driving a Prius.

I voted Democrat, because

I'm not concerned about the slaughter of millions of babies so long as we keep all death row inmates alive.

I voted Democrat, because

I think illegal aliens have a right to free health care, education, and Social Security benefits.

I voted Democrat, because

I believe that business should not be allowed to make profits for themselves. They need to break even and give the rest away to the government for redistribution as the democrats see fit.

I voted Democrat, because

I believe liberal judges need to rewrite The Constitution every few days to suit some fringe kooks who would never get their agendas past the voters.

I voted Democrat, because My head is so firmly planted up my ass that it is unlikely that

I'll ever have another point of view.

There are no tricks here - just a simple test to see if you are current on your information.

This is quite good and the results are shocking. The results are not what you would guess.

Test your knowledge with 12 questions, and then be ready to shudder when you see how others did.

I DO NOT...Repeat...DO NOT.... believe in the propaganda of global warming.....period.

It is absolutely ridiculous!

The documents and emails revealed in Climategate have already established that fact.

The whole theory is just a vehicle to control the actions of everyone left on this planet, and to concentrate vast sums of revenue and property into the hands of a very few.

And by the way, the same voices that were proclaiming during the no snow years of the mid atlantic areas, that it was a result of global warming,...are now preaching that the record snows in the same areas, are a result of global warming also.

Do some research....

and stop watching An Inconvenient Lie....

The temperature on Earth is controlled by the sun.....

not by how many cows fart.....

or how many SUV's are on the road......

Check out what sources were used to "prove" that all the glaciers are melting.....it's very revealing..

And, unlike what Al tells you, polar bears are excellent swimmers and are growing in numbers....not dying off rapidly...

And carbon dioxide is a vital part of the life process, animals exhale it after inhaling oxygen....

plants inhale it and release oxygen....

let's not disrupt that process......it's called a symbiotic relationship.

(But "they" do want to kill most of us off.....

and control the food sources for those that are left..)

CO2 levels have been hundreds of times higher throughout history, and there weren't any SUV's around to blame for the Medievel Warming Period,....were there?

Maybe too many beans being eaten??

And now your arrogant dictator wants to TAX and restrict any CO2 sources through the EPA,....and executive orders...(..which he VOWED not to use!)

...because the world wasn't buying the lies and laws that were proposed as treaties at Copenhagen.

Thank God.

Join the right fight, man...and woman..

Educate people,....don't sell them globalist lies.....

Remember our forefathers ..and our Constitution...

Warm wishes....

Lay-off letter from an excellent boss.

Dear employees:

As the CEO of this organization, I have resigned myself to the fact that Barack Hussein Obama is our President and that our taxes and government fees will increase in a BIG way.To compensate for these increases, our prices would have to increase by about 10%. But since we cannot increase our prices right now do to the dismal state of the economy, we will have to lay off sixty of our employees instead.

This has really been bothering me, since I believe we are family here, and I didn't know how to choose who would have to go. So, this is what I did. I walked through our parking lot and found sixty 'Obama' bumper stickers on our employees' cars, and have decided these folks will be the ones to let go.

I can't think of a more fair way to approach this problem. They voted for change...I gave it to them. I will see the rest of you at the company picnic.

This should be read and understood by all Americans Democrats, Republicans, EVERYONE!!

To President Obama and all 535 voting members of the Legislature,

It is now official you are ALL corrupt morons:

The U.S. Post Service was established in 1775. You have had 234 years to get it right and it is broke.
Social Security was established in 1935. You have had 74 years to get it right and it is broke.
Fannie Mae was established in 1938. You have had 71 years to get it right and it is broke.
War on Poverty started in 1964. You have had 45 years to get it right; $1 trillion of our money is confiscated each year and transferred to "the poor" and they only want more.
Medicare and Medicaid were established in 1965. You have had 44 years to get it right and they are broke.
Freddie Mac was established in 1970. You have had 39 years to get it right and it is broke.
The Department of Energy was created in 1977 to lessen our dependence on foreign oil. It has ballooned to 16,000 employees with a budget of $24 billion a year and we import more oil than ever before. You had 32 years to get it right and it is an abysmal failure.

You have FAILED in every "government service" you have shoved down our throats while overspending our tax dollars

AND YOU WANT AMERICANS TO BELIEVE YOU CAN BE TRUSTED WITH AGOVERNMENT-RUN HEALTH CARESYSTEM??

Folks, keep this circulating. It is very well stated. Maybe it will end up in the e-mails of some of our "duly elected' and their staff (they never read anything) will clue them in on how American's feel.

BREAST MILK ASSAULT

OWENSBORO, Ky. (AP) - The charge: assault on a police officer. The weapon: breast milk. Toni Tramel now faces the felony charge after being jailed in Owensboro, Ky. Authorities report she was originally busted on a misdemeanor charge of public intoxication. Deputies accuse Tramel of squirting breast milk at a female jailer. According to WYMT-TV, the alleged breast milk assault occurred as Tramel was changing into an inmate uniform. Her bond has been set at $10,000.

A man and his dog were walking along a road. The man was enjoying the scenery, when it suddenly occurred to him that he was dead. He remembered dying, and that the dog walking beside him had been dead for years. He wondered where the road was leading them.

After a while, they came to a high, white stone wall along one side of the road. It looked like fine marble. At the top of a long hill, it was broken by a tall arch that glowed in the sunlight.

When he was standing before it he saw a magnificent gate in the arch that looked like mother-of-pearl, and the street that led to the gate looked like pure gold. He and the dog walked toward the gate, and as he got closer, he saw a man at a desk to one side. When he was close enough, he called out, "Excuse me, where are we?" "This is Heaven, sir," the man answered.

"Wow! Would you happen to have some water?" the man asked. "Of course, sir. Come right in, and I'll have some ice water brought right up."

The man gestured, and the gate began to open. "Can my friend," gesturing toward his dog, "come in, too?" the traveler asked. "I'm sorry, sir, but we don't accept pets." The man thought a moment and then turned back toward the road and continued the way he had been going with his dog.

After another long walk, and at the top of another long hill, he came to a dirt road leading through a farm gate that looked as if it had never been closed. There was no fence. As he approached the gate, he saw a man inside, leaning against a tree and reading a book.

"Excuse me!" he called to the man. "Do you have any water?" "Yeah, sure, there's a pump over there, come on in." "How about my friend here?" the traveler gestured to the dog. "There should be a bowl by the pump."

They went through the gate, and sure enough, there was an old-fashioned hand pump with a bowl beside it. The traveler filled the water bowl and took a long drink himself, then he gave some to the dog.

When they were full, he and the dog walked back toward the man who was standing by the tree. "What do you call this place?" the traveler asked. "This is Heaven," he answered.

"Well, that's confusing," the traveler said. "The man down the road said that was Heaven, too." "Oh, you mean the place with the gold street and pearly gates? Nope. That's hell."

"Doesn't it make you mad for them to use your name like that?" "No, we're just happy that they screen out the folks who would leave their best friends behind."

"I'm 63 and I'm Tired"

by Robert A. Hall

I'm 63. Except for one semester in college when jobs were scarce and a six-month period when I was between jobs, but job-hunting every day, I've worked, hard, since I was 18. Despite some health challenges, I still put in 50-hour weeks, and haven't called in sick in seven or eight years. I make a good salary, but I didn't inherit my job or my income, and I worked to get where I am. Given the economy, there's no retirement in sight, and I'm tired. Very tired.

I'm tired of being told that I have to "spread the wealth" to people who don't have my work ethic. I'm tired of being told the government will take the money I earned, by force if necessary, and give it to people too lazy to earn it.

I'm tired of being told that I have to pay more taxes to "keep people in their homes." Sure, if they lost their jobs or got sick, I'm willing to help. But if they bought McMansions at three times the price of our paid-off, $250,000 condo, on one-third of my salary, then let the left-wing Congress-critters who passed Fannie and Freddie and the Community Reinvestment Act that created the bubble help them with their own money.

I'm tired of being told how bad America is by left-wing millionaires like Michael Moore, George Soros and Hollywood Entertainers who live in luxury because of the opportunities America offers. In thirty years, if they get their way, the United States will have the economy of Zimbabwe , the freedom of the press of China , the crime and violence of Mexico , the tolerance for Christian people of Iran , and the freedom of speech of Venezuela .

I'm tired of being told that Islam is a "Religion of Peace," when every day I can read dozens of stories of Muslim men killing their sisters, wives and daughters for their family "honor"; of Muslims rioting over some slight offense; of Muslims murdering Christian and Jews because they aren't "believers"; of Muslims burning schools for girls; of Muslims stoning teenage rape victims to death for "adultery"; of Muslims mutilating the genitals of little girls; all in the name of Allah, because the Qur'an and Shari'a law tells them to.

I'm tired of being told that "race doesn't matter" in the post-racial world of Obama, when it's all that matters in affirmative action jobs, lower college admission and graduation standards for minorities (harming them the most), government contract set-asides, tolerance for the ghetto culture of violence and fatherless children that hurts minorities more than anyone, and in the appointment of U.S. Senators from Illinois.

I think it's very cool that we have a black president and that a black child is doing her homework at the desk where Lincoln wrote the Emancipation Proclamation. I just wish the black president was Condi Rice, or someone who believes more in freedom and the individual and less arrogantly of an all-knowing government.

I'm tired of a news media that thinks Bush's fundraising and inaugural expenses were obscene, but that think Obama's, at triple the cost, were wonderful; that thinks Bush exercising daily was a waste of presidential time, but Obama exercising is a great example for the public to control weight and stress; that picked over every line of Bush's military records, but never demanded that Kerry release his; that slammed Palin, with two years as governor, for being too inexperienced for VP, but touted Obama with three years as senator as potentially the best president ever. Wonder why people are dropping their subscriptions or switching to Fox News? Get a clue. I didn't vote for Bush in 2000, but the media and Kerry drove me to his camp in 2004.

I'm tired of being told that out of "tolerance for other cultures" we must let Saudi Arabia use our oil money to fund mosques and madrassa Islamic schools to preach hate in America , while no American group is allowed to fund a church, synagogue or religious school in Saudi Arabia to teach love and tolerance.

I'm tired of being told I must lower my living standard to fight global warming, which no one is allowed to debate. My wife and I live in a two-bedroom apartment and carpool together five miles to our jobs. We also own a three-bedroom condo where our daughter and granddaughter live. Our carbon footprint is about 5% of Al Gore's, and if you're greener than Gore, you're green enough.

I'm tired of being told that drug addicts have a disease, and I must help support and treat them, and pay for the damage they do. Did a giant germ rush out of a dark alley, grab them, and stuff white powder up their noses while they tried to fight it off? I don't think Gay people choose to be Gay, but I damn sure think druggies chose to take drugs. And I'm tired of harassment from cool people treating me like a freak when I tell them I never tried marijuana.

I'm tired of illegal aliens being called "undocumented workers," especially the ones who aren't working, but are living on welfare or crime. What's next? Calling drug dealers, "Undocumented Pharmacists"? And, no, I'm not against Hispanics. Most of them are Catholic, and it's been a few hundred years since Catholics wanted to kill me for my religion. I'm willing to fast track for citizenship any Hispanic person, who can speak English, doesn't have a criminal record and who is self-supporting without family on welfare, or who serves honorably for three years in our military.... Those are the citizens we need.

I'm tired of latte liberals and journalists, who would never wear the uniform of the Republic themselves, or let their entitlement-handicapped kids near a recruiting station, trashing our military. They and their kids can sit at home, never having to make split-second decisions under life and death circumstances, and bad mouth better people than themselves. Do bad things happen in war? You bet. Do our troops sometimes misbehave? Sure. Does this compare with the atrocities that were the policy of our enemies for the last fifty years and still are? Not even close. So here's the deal. I'll let myself be subjected to all the humiliation and abuse that was heaped on terrorists at Abu Ghraib or Gitmo, and the critics can let themselves be subject to captivity by the Muslims, who tortured and beheaded Daniel Pearl in Pakistan, or the Muslims who tortured and murdered Marine Lt. Col. William Higgins in Lebanon, or the Muslims who ran the blood-spattered Al Qaeda torture rooms our troops found in Iraq, or the Muslims who cut off the heads of schoolgirls in Indonesia, because the girls were Christian. Then we'll compare notes. British and American soldiers are the only troops in history that civilians came to for help and handouts, instead of hiding from in fear.

I'm tired of people telling me that their party has a corner on virtue and the other party has a corner on corruption. Read the papers; bums are bipartisan. And I'm tired of people telling me we need bipartisanship. I live in Illinois , where the "Illinois Combine" of Democrats has worked to loot the public for years. Not to mention the tax cheats in Obama's cabinet.

I'm tired of hearing wealthy athletes, entertainers and politicians of both parties talking about innocent mistakes, stupid mistakes or youthful mistakes, when we all know they think their only mistake was getting caught. I'm tired of people with a sense of entitlement, rich or poor.

Speaking of poor, I'm tired of hearing people with air-conditioned homes, color TVs and two cars called poor. The majority of Americans didn't have that in 1970, but we didn't know we were "poor." The poverty pimps have to keep changing the definition of poor to keep the dollars flowing.

I'm real tired of people who don't take responsibility for their lives and actions. I'm tired of hearing them blame the government, or discrimination or big-whatever for their problems.

Yes, I'm damn tired. But I'm also glad to be 63. Because, mostly, I'm not going to have to see the world these people are making. I'm just sorry for my granddaughter.

Robert A. Hall is a Marine Vietnam veteran who served five terms in the Massachusetts State Senate.

There is no way this will be widely publicized, unless each of us sends it on! This is your chance to make a difference.

This teacher is truly a genius!

As the late Adrian Rogers said, "you cannot multiply wealth by dividing it."

This man is truly a genius!

An economics professor at a local college made a statement that he had never failed a single student before, but had once failed an entire class. That class had insisted that Obama's socialism worked and that no one would be poor and no one would be rich, a great equalizer.

The professor then said, "OK, we will have an experiment in this class on Obama's plan". All grades would be averaged and everyone would receive the same grade so no one would fail and no one would receive an A...

After the first test, the grades were averaged and everyone got a B. The students who studied hard were upset and the students who studied little were happy. As the second test rolled around, the students who studied little had studied even less and the ones who studied hard decided they wanted a free ride too so they studied little.

The second test average was a D! No one was happy.

When the 3rd test rolled around, the average was an F.

As the tests proceeded, the scores never increased as bickering,blame, and name-calling all resulted in hard feelings. No one would study for the benefit of anyone else.

All failed to their great surprise, and the professor told them that socialism would also ultimately fail because when the reward is great, the effort to succeed is great but when government takes all the reward away, no one will try or want to succeed.

Could not be any simpler than that. (Please pass this on)

Remember, there is a test coming up.

God's Conversation with St. Francis...

GOD: Frank, you know all about gardens and nature. What in the world is going on down there on the planet? What happened to the dandelions, violets, thistle and stuff I started eons ago? I had a perfect, no-maintenance garden plan. Those plants grow in any type of soil, withstand drought and multiply with abandon. The nectar from the long lasting blossoms attracts butterflies, honey bees and flocks of songbirds. I expected to see a vast garden of colors by now. But all I see are these green rectangles.

ST. FRANCIS: It's the tribes that settled there, Lord. The Suburbanites. They started calling your flowers "weeds" and went to great lengths to kill them and replace them with grass.

GOD: Grass? But it's so boring. It's not colorful. It doesn't attract butterflies, birds and bees, only grubs and sod worms. It's sensitive to temperatures. Do these Suburbanites really want all that grass growing there?

ST. FRANCIS: Apparently so, Lord. They go to great pains to grow it and keep it green. They begin each spring by fertilizing grass and poisoning any other plant that crops up in the lawn.

GOD: The spring rains and warm weather probably make grass grow really fast. That must make the Suburbanites happy.

ST. FRANCIS: Apparently not, Lord. As soon as it grows a little, they cut it -- sometimes twice a week.

GOD: They cut it? Do they then bail it like hay?

ST. FRANCIS: Not exactly, Lord. Most of them rake it up and put it in bags.

GOD: They bag it? Why? Is it a cash crop? Do they sell it?

ST. FRANCIS: No, Sir. Just the opposite. They pay to throw it away.

GOD: Now let me get this straight. They fertilize grass so it will grow. And when it does grow, they cut it off and pay to throw it away?

ST. FRANCIS: Yes, Sir.

GOD: These Suburbanites must be relieved in the summer when we cut back on the rain and turn up the heat. That surely slows the growth and saves them a lot of work.

ST. FRANCIS: You aren't going to believe this Lord. When the grass stops growing so fast, they drag out hoses and pay more money to water it so they can continue to mow it and pay to get rid of it.

GOD: What nonsense. At least they kept some of the trees. That was a sheer stroke of genius, if I do say so myself. The trees grow leaves in the spring to provide beauty and shade in the summer. In the autumn leaves fall to the ground and form a natural blanket to keep moisture in the soil and protect the trees and bushes. Plus, as they rot, the leaves form compost to enhance the soil. It's a natural circle of life.

ST. FRANCIS: You better sit down, Lord. The Suburbanites have drawn a new circle. As soon as the leaves fall, they rake them into great piles and pay to have them hauled away.

GOD: No fooling? What do they do to protect the shrub and tree roots in the winter and to keep the soil moist and loose?

ST. FRANCIS: After throwing away the leaves, they go out and buy something which they call mulch. They haul it home and spread it around in place of the leaves.

GOD: And where do they get this mulch?

ST. FRANCIS: They cut down trees and grind them up to make the mulch.

GOD: Enough. I don't want to think about this anymore. St. Catherine, you're in charge of the arts. What movie have you scheduled for us tonight?

ST. CATHERINE: "Dumb and Dumber," Lord. It's a really stupid movie about....

GOD: Never mind. I think I just heard the whole story from St. Francis

1000. The Sheriff and the Farmer

The Sheriff and the Farmer

Air Force One crashed in the middle of rural America. Panic stricken, the local sheriff mobilized and descended on the farm in force.

When they got there, the disaster was clear. The aircraft was totally destroyed with only a burned hulk left smoldering in a tree line that bordered a farm. The sheriff and his men entered the smoking mess but could find no remains of anyone, including the President.
They spotted a lone farmer plowing a field not too far away as if nothing at all happened. They hurried over to the man's tractor.

"Hank," the sheriff yelled, panting and out of breath. "Did you see this terrible accident happen?"

"Yep. Sure did." The farmer mumbled unconcernedly, cutting off his motor.

"Do you realize that is the airplane of the President of the United States?"

"Yep."

"Were there any survivors?"

"Nope.

They's all kilt straight out" the farmer answered. "I done buried them all myself over yonder. Took me most of the morning."

"President Obama is dead?" the sheriff shouted.

"Well," the farmer grumbled, restarting his tractor. "He kept a-saying he wasn't ... but you know what a liar he is."

PU 311 a dangerous new element
Discovery Announcement

~ The densest element in the known Universe has been found!

Pelosium:
A major research institution has just announced the discovery of the densest element yet known to science. The new element has been named Pelosium. Pelosium has one neutron, 12 assistant neutrons, 75 deputy neutrons, and 224 assistant deputy neutrons, giving it an atomic mass of 311.
These particles are held together by dark forces called morons, which are surrounded by vast quantities of lepton-like particles called peons.
The symbol of Pelosium is PU.
Pelosium's mass actually increases over time, as morons randomly interact with various elements in the atmosphere and become assistant deputy neutrons within the Pelosium molecule, leading to the formation of isodopes.
This characteristic of moron-promotion leads some scientists to believe that Pelosium is formed whenever morons reach a certain quantity in concentration. This hypothetical quantity is referred to as Critical Morass.
When catalyzed with money, Pelosium activates CNNadnausium, an element that radiates orders of magnitude more energy, albeit as incoherent noise, since it has half as many peons but twice as many morons as Pelosium.

Shopping >>>this is terrible

A woman was in town on a shopping trip. She began her day finding the most perfect shoes in the first shop and a beautiful dress on sale in the second. In the third, everything had just been reduced by 50 percent. Then her mobile phone rang.

It was a female doctor notifying her that her husband had just been in a terrible car accident and was in critical condition and in the ICU.

The woman told the doctor to inform her husband where she was and that she'd be there as soon as possible. As she hung up she realized she was leaving what was shaping up to be her best day ever in the boutiques. She decided to get in a couple of more shops before heading to the hospital.

She ended up shopping the rest of the morning, finishing her trip with a cup of coffee and a beautiful chocolate cake slice, compliments of the last shop. She was jubilant.

Then she remembered her husband. Feeling guilty, she dashed to the hospital. She saw the doctor in the corridor and asked about her husband's condition.

The lady doctor glared at her and shouted, "You went ahead and finished your shopping trip didn't you! I hope you're proud of yourself! While you were out for the past four hours enjoying yourself in town, your husband has been languishing in the Intensive Care Unit! It's just as well you went ahead and finished, because it will more than likely be the last shopping trip you ever take! For the rest of his life he will require round-the-clock care. And he will now be your career!"

The woman was feeling so guilty she broke down and sobbed.

The lady doctor then chuckled and said, "I'm just pulling your leg. He's dead. Show me what you bought."

Truths for Mature Humans

1. I think part of a best friend's job should be to immediately clear your computer history if you die.

2. Nothing sucks more than that moment during an argument when you realize you're wrong.

3. I totally take back all those times I didn't want to nap when I was younger.

4. There is great need for a sarcasm font.

5. How the hell are you supposed to fold a fitted sheet?

6. Was learning cursive really necessary?

7. Map Quest really needs to start their directions on # 5. I'm pretty sure I know how to get out of my neighborhood.

8. Obituaries would be a lot more interesting if they told you how the person died.

9. I can't remember the last time I wasn't at least kind of tired.

10. Bad decisions make good stories.

11. You never know when it will strike, but there comes a moment at work when you know that you just aren't going to do anything productive for the rest of the day.

12. Can we all just agree to ignore whatever comes after Blue Ray? I don't want to have to restart my collection...again.

13. I'm always slightly terrified when I exit out of Word and it asks me if I want to save any changes to my ten-page technical report that I swear I did not make any changes to.

14. "Do not machine wash or tumble dry" means I will never wash this - ever.

15. I hate when I just miss a call by the last ring (Hello? Hello? Damn it!), but when I immediately call back, it rings nine times and goes to voice mail. What did you do after I didn't answer? Drop the phone and run away?

16. I hate leaving my house confident and looking good and then not seeing anyone of importance the entire day. What a waste.

17. I keep some people's phone numbers in my phone just so I know not to answer when they call.

18. I think the freezer deserves a light as well.

19. I disagree with Kay Jewelers. I would bet on any given Friday or Saturday night more kisses begin with Miller Lite than Kay.

20. I wish Google Maps had an "Avoid Ghetto" routing option.

21. Sometimes, I'll watch a movie that I watched when I was younger and suddenly realize I had no idea what the heck was going on when I first saw it.

22. I would rather try to carry 10 over-loaded plastic bags in each hand than take 2 trips to bring my groceries in.

23. The only time I look forward to a red light is when I'm trying to finish a text.

24. I have a hard time deciphering the fine line between boredom and hunger.

BEST BAR JOKE

Guy goes into a bar, there's a robot bartender.
The robot says, "What will you have?"
The guy says, "Martini."
The robot brings back the best martini ever and says to the man, "What's your IQ?"
The guy says, "168."
The robot then proceeds to talk about physics, space exploration and medical technology.

The guy leaves, but he is curious...

So he goes back into the bar.
The robot bartender says, "What will you have?"
The guy says, "Martini."
Again, the robot makes a great martini gives it to the man and says, "What's your IQ?"
The guy says, "100."
The robot then starts to talk about Nascar, Budweiser and John Deere tractors.

The guy leaves, but finds it very interesting, so he thinks he will try it one more time.

He goes back into the bar.
The robot says, "What will you have?"
The guy says, "Martini," and the robot brings him another great martini.
The robot then says, "What's your IQ?"
The guy says, "Uh, about 50."
The robot leans in real close and says, "So, you people still happy you voted for Obama?"

The establishment media and the scientific dictatorship are promoting brain-eating vaccines that virtually lobotomize people and rewire their minds into a state of subservient compliance so that their natural instinct to get angry and rebel against the tyranny being imposed upon them is neutered and sterilized.

"Academics say they are close to developing the first vaccine for stress - a single jab that would help us relax without slowing down," reports the Daily Mail.

Dr Robert Sapolsky, professor of neuroscience at Stanford University in California, says the vaccine is intended to impose a state of "focused calm" by altering brain chemistry.

The proposals ominously hark back to George Lucas' 1971 dystopian chiller THX 1138, in which the population is controlled and subjugated through the use of special drugs to suppress emotion.

Feeling stress, getting angry, expressing emotion and displaying passion are all innate, natural and vital aspects of human behavior. Reacting with stress to dangerous or uncomfortable situations is an essential and healthy response, and is one shared by just about every living thing on the planet.

Scientists are now telling us that getting angry, upset and passionate is abnormal and needs to be "treated" through a fresh dose of pharmaceutical drugs and injections that will virtually lobotomize us into submissive compliance. This is blatantly a part of the full spectrum assault on our minds, our bodies and our nervous system through the contamination of our food and water supply.

The new research on brain-altering vaccines dovetails with proposals to add lithium to the water supply in order to treat "mood disorders".

People globally are already being bombarded with sodium fluoride, a cancer causing neurotoxin, through the water supply, toothpaste, and many foods.

The first occurrence of fluoridated drinking water on Earth was found in Germany's Nazi prison camps. The Gestapo had little concern about fluoride's supposed effect on children's teeth; their alleged reason for mass-medicating water with sodium fluoride was to sterilize humans and force the people in their concentration camps into calm submission.

As a growing number of people worldwide begin to educate themselves about what they are putting in their bodies and how they are under chemical and biological attack from the foods they eat, the establishment in getting increasingly desperate in trying to maintain a sick and weak populace, even telling them that injecting the toxic poison mercury into their bloodstream will be beneficial to their health.

The effort to chemically lobotomize the public is part of the elite's drive to create a sub-species of drugged up, dumbed-down slaves who don't have the intelligence or the energy to resist the control measures being imposed on them by their population-reduction obsessed masters. While the elite will be free to enjoy

Infowars is promoting a new viral Google search term in order to attract much needed attention to this grave issue.

Search for "brain eating vaccines" and by elevating this term to the top of Google Trends, we can reach millions of new people who would otherwise have never come across this information

Start with a cage containing five monkeys. Inside the cage, hang a banana on a string and place a set of stairs under it. Before long, a monkey will go to the stairs and start to climb towards the banana.

As soon as he touches the stairs, spray all the other monkeys with cold water. After a while another monkey makes the attempt with same result, all the other monkeys are sprayed with cold water. Pretty soon when another Monkey tries to climb the stairs, the other monkeys will try to prevent it.

Now, put the cold water away. Remove one monkey from the cage and replace it with a new one. The new monkey sees the banana and wants to climb the stairs.

To his shock, all of the other monkeys beat the snot out of him. After another attempt and attack, he knows that if he tries to climb the stairs he will be assaulted.

Next, remove another of the original five monkeys and replace it with a new one.

The newcomer goes to the stairs and is attacked. The previous newcomer takes part in the punishment with enthusiasm.

Likewise, replace a third original monkey with a new one, then a fourth, then the fifth. Every time the newest monkey takes to the stairs he is attacked.

Most of the monkeys that are beating him up have no idea why they were not permitted to climb the stairs OR even why they are participating in the beating of the newest monkey.

Finally, after replacing all of the original monkeys, none of the remaining monkeys have ever been sprayed with cold water. Nevertheless, no monkey ever again approaches the stairs to try for the banana.

Why not?

Because as far as they know, that is the way it has always been done around here.

And that, my fellow monkeys, is how Congress operates - And precisely why we need to REPLACE all the original monkeys this November.

. . . .

Robert A. Hall is the actor who plays the coroner on CSI. He is much more than an actor. Read to the end.

This should be required reading for every man, woman and child in the United States of America.
"I'm 63 and I'm Tired" by Robert A. Hall

I'm 63. Except for one semester in college when jobs were scarce and a six-month period when I was between jobs, but job-hunting every day, I've worked, hard, since I was 18. Despite some health challenges, I still put in 50-hour weeks, and haven't called in sick in seven or eight years. I make a good salary, but I didn't inherit my job or my income, and I worked to get where I am. Given the economy, there's no retirement in sight, and I'm tired. Very tired.

I'm tired of being told that I have to "spread the wealth" to people who don't have my work ethic. I'm tired of being told the government will take the money I earned, by force if necessary, and give it to people too lazy to earn it.

I'm tired of being told that I have to pay more taxes to "keep people in their homes." Sure, if they lost their jobs or got sick, I'm willing to help. But if they bought McMansions at three times the price of our paid-off, $250,000 condo, on one-third of my salary, then let the left-wing Congress-critters who passed Fannie and Freddie and the Community Reinvestment Act that created the bubble help them with their own money.

I'm tired of being told how bad America is by left-wing millionaires like Michael Moore, George Soros and Hollywood Entertainers who live in luxury because of the opportunities America offers. In thirty years, if they get their way, the United States will have the economy of Zimbabwe, the freedom of the press of China, the crime and violence of Mexico, the tolerance for Christian people of Iran, and the freedom of speech of Venezuela.

I'm tired of being told that Islam is a "Religion of Peace," when every day I can read dozens of stories of Muslim men killing their sisters, wives and daughters for their family "honor"; of Muslims rioting over some slight offense; of Muslims murdering Christian and Jews because they aren't "believers"; of Muslims burning schools for girls; of Muslims stoning teenage rape victims to death for "adultery"; of Muslims mutilating the genitals of little girls; all in the name of Allah, because the Qur'an and Shari'a law tells them to.

I'm tired of being told that "race doesn't matter" in the post-racial world of Obama, when it's all that matters in affirmative action jobs, lower college admission and graduation standards for minorities (harming them the most), government contract set-asides, tolerance for the ghetto culture of violence and fatherless children that hurts minorities more than anyone, and in the appointment of U.S.. Senators from Illinois.

I think it's very cool that we have a black president and that a black child is doing her homework at the desk where Lincoln wrote the Emancipation Proclamation. I just wish the black president was Condi Rice, or someone who believes more in freedom and the individual and less arrogantly of an all-knowing government.

I'm tired of a news media that thinks Bush's fundraising and inaugural expenses were obscene, but that think Obama's, at triple the cost, were wonderful; that thinks Bush exercising daily was a waste of presidential time, but Obama exercising is a great example for the public to control weight and stress; that picked over every line of Bush's military records, but never demanded that Kerry release his; that slammed Palin, with two years as governor, for being too inexperienced for VP, but touted Obama with three years as senator as potentially the best president ever. Wonder why people are dropping their subscriptions or switching to Fox News? Get a clue. I didn't vote for Bush in 2000, but the media and Kerry drove me to his camp in 2004.

I'm tired of being told that out of "tolerance for other cultures" we must let Saudi Arabia use our oil money to fund mosques and mandrassa Islamic schools to preach hate in America, while no American group is allowed to fund a church, synagogue or religious school in Saudi Arabia to teach love and tolerance.

I'm tired of being told I must lower my living standard to fight global warming, which no one is allowed to debate. My wife and I live in a two-bedroom apartment and carpool together five miles to our jobs. We also own a three-bedroom condo where our daughter and granddaughter live. Our carbon footprint is about 5% of Al Gore's, and if you're greener than Gore, you're green enough.

I'm tired of being told that drug addicts have a disease, and I must help support and treat them, and pay for the damage they do. Did a giant germ rush out of a dark alley, grab them, and stuff white powder up their noses while they tried to fight it off? I don't think Gay people choose to be Gay, but I damn sure think druggies chose to take drugs. And I'm tired of harassment from cool people treating me like a freak when I tell them I never tried marijuana.

I'm tired of illegal aliens being called "undocumented workers," especially the ones who aren't working, but are living on welfare or crime. What's next? Calling drug dealers, "Undocumented Pharmacists"? And, no, I'm not against Hispanics. Most of them are Catholic, and it's been a few hundred years since Catholics wanted to kill me for my religion. I'm willing to fast track for citizenship any Hispanic person, who can speak English, doesn't have a criminal record and who is self-supporting without family on welfare, or who serves honorably for three years in our military.... Those are the citizens we need.

I'm tired of latte liberals and journalists, who would never wear the uniform of the Republic themselves, or let their entitlement-handicapped kids near a recruiting station, trashing our military. They and their kids can sit at home, never having to make split-second decisions under life and death circumstances, and bad mouth better people than themselves. Do bad things happen in war? You bet. Do our troops sometimes misbehave? Sure. Does this compare with the atrocities that were the policy of our enemies for the last fifty years and still are? Not even close. So here's the deal. I'll let myself be subjected to all the humiliation and abuse that was heaped on terrorists at Abu Ghraib or Gitmo, and the critics can let themselves be subject to captivity by the Muslims, who tortured and beheaded Daniel Pearl in Pakistan, or the Muslims who tortured and murdered Marine Lt. Col.

William Higgins in Lebanon, or the Muslims who ran the blood-spattered Al Qaeda torture rooms our troops found in Iraq, or the Muslims who cut off the heads of schoolgirls in Indonesia, because the girls were Christian. Then we'll compare notes. British and American soldiers are the only troops in history that civilians came to for help and handouts, instead of hiding from in fear.

I'm tired of people telling me that their party has a corner on virtue and the other party has a corner on corruption. Read the papers; bums are bipartisan. And I'm tired of people telling me we need bipartisanship. I live in Illinois , where the "Illinois Combine" of Democrats has worked to loot the public for years. Not to mention the tax cheats in Obama's cabinet.

I'm tired of hearing wealthy athletes, entertainers and politicians of both parties talking about innocent mistakes, stupid mistakes or youthful mistakes, when we all know they think their only mistake was getting caught. I'm tired of people with a sense of entitlement, rich or poor.

Speaking of poor, I'm tired of hearing people with air-conditioned homes, color TVs and two cars called poor. The majority of Americans didn't have that in 1970, but we didn't know we were "poor." The poverty pimps have to keep changing the definition of poor to keep the dollars flowing.

I'm real tired of people who don't take responsibility for their lives and actions. I'm tired of hearing them blame the government, or discrimination or big-whatever for their problems.

Yes, I'm damn tired. But I'm also glad to be 63. Because, mostly, I'm not going to have to see the world these people are making. I'm just sorry for my granddaughter.

Robert A. Hall is a Marine Vietnam veteran who served five terms in the Massachusetts State Senate.

There is no way this will be widely publicized, unless each of us sends it on!
This is your chance to make a difference.

Two women were having lunch together and discussing the merits of cosmetic surgery.

The first woman said, "I need to be honest with you, I'm getting a boob job."

The second woman responded, "Oh, that's nothing, I'm thinking of having my asshole bleached!"

"Whoa," replied the first woman. "I just can't picture your husband as a blonde."

Subject:
A Real Man

A real man is a woman's best friend. He will never stand her up and never let her down. He will reassure her when she feels insecure and comfort her after a bad day.

He will inspire her to do things she never thought she could do; to live without fear and forget regret. He will enable her to express her deepest emotions and give in to her most intimate desires. He will make sure she always feels as though she's the most beautiful woman in the room and will enable her to be the most confident, sexy, seductive, and invincible.

No wait... sorry... I'm thinking of wine.
It’s wine that does all that.......

Ham radio operators are upset over bill

Written by

Malia Rulon
mrulon@...m

11:00 PM, Mar. 12, 2011|

Washington -- Springfield Rep. Billy Long is co-sponsoring a bill in the U.S. Congress that ham radio enthusiasts and others say jeopardizes a system they say is a vital part of emergency communications plans across the country.

When a tornado or ice storm hits southwest Missouri, nearly all of the first-hand reports come via ham radio enthusiasts, often providing crucial and timely information for the National Weather Service.

"They are a critical component of the National Weather Service's job to protect life and property," said Steve Reynolds of the Springfield office of the National Weather Service.

Amateur radio volunteers also provide a backup communication system that emergency responders depend on if cell phones, satellite phones or other radio systems don't work.

"That's how we plan to communicate between hospitals and the Red Cross, in the event of an emergency," said Ryan

Nicholls, director of the Springfield-Greene County Office of Emergency Management. "We have it written into our emergency operations plan."

But this service, currently provided for free by amateur ham radio operators, could be in jeopardy.

A bill, introduced by Homeland Security Chairman Peter King, R-N.Y., and co-sponsored by Long, would strengthen the communications capabilities of America's first responders by reallocating certain frequencies -- 758-763 MHz and 788-793 MHz -- to public safety.

"Allocation of the D Block to public safety will ensure that our nation's first responders have sufficient spectrum to develop a wireless broadband network," King said in a statement.

That objective, which is one of the recommendations of the 9/11 Commission and has wide support from both parties, including President Barack Obama, isn't under question.

It's a tiny clause farther down in the legislation that has ham radio enthusiasts and emergency responders concerned.

Under the bill, the government would in the next 10 years sell the 420-440 MHz frequency, which is currently used by amateur radio operators, for commercial u se. Selling it would raise money to offset the cost of setting aside the frequencies for the first responders to use.

Important for public safety

But the 420-440 MHz band is not used only by hobbyists. It's used by hundreds of thousands of Amateur Radio Emergency Service (ARES) volunteers, severe-weather spotters working with National Weather Service, weak-signal operations, thousands of repeater systems, mobile operators, amateur radio satellite communications, radio location beacons, amateur radio's nationwide system of digital and text communications and more.

The amateur radio enthusiasts have for the most part spend their own money, use their own equipment, and spend hours of their time training and volunteering during emergencies. They say that losing this frequency would require costly changes to their infrastructure and equipment, and could jeopardize their ability to assist during emergencies.

"The expense of trying to change everything would be just astronomical," said Kenneth Baremore, section emergency coordinator for Missouri's Amateur Radio Emergency Service. "This is an infrastructure that has been built over the last 10 to 15 years."

Baremore, of Battlefield, said that every time there is a tornado watch, local ham radio operators assist the National Weather Service and emergency management offices until it passes. When victims of hurricanes Katrina and Rita sought refuge in Missouri, shelter operators used ham radios to communicate. Hospital and emergency management centers are also set up to use ham radios to communicate, he said.

Part of the system is a repeater network, set up with antennas throughout southwest Missouri, that radio operators use to communicate from Springfield to Rolla, Joplin and Nevada.

"We know this tool exists and we know it works," said Nicholls of the Springfield-Greene County Office of Emergency Management. "It's not something that's just there that we hope to pull off the shelf. It's something that we're dependent on, and we practice all the time."

James Adkins, president of the Nixa Amateur Radio Club of southwestern Missouri, said it may be a hobby, but it's much more than that.

"We built these repeaters ourselves, " he said. "The whole reason we do it is for public safety. It's just a thing that we feel is so important."

Long responds

Adkins said he and others have reached out to Rep. Long's office about their concerns.

But when asked about the provision in the bill that would sell off the frequency used by amateur radio operators, Long said that was news to him. He said he co-sponsored the bill because King, the homeland security chairman, asked him to and because the bill is supported by many organizations that are committed to public safety, something he values.

"I know ham radio operators are important, but this is the first I've heard that they're upset about it," the Springfield Republican said, adding that his office gets thousands of letters and e-mails each week.

"I'll need to visit with them when I'm back in the district. Maybe sit down and hear what they have to say," he said. "I may not agree with them at the end of the day, or I may agree with them, but I'm always willing to listen to their side."

The American Radio Relay League, which is the national association for amateur radio, has been lobbying members of Congress over this provision, which they call "unacceptable."

"It is ... completely unnecessary to the creation of a nationwide Public Safety broadband network," said ARRL spokesman Dan Henderson said in an e-mail. "To be sure, ARRL will vigorously oppose this legislation in its present form."

The National Public Safety Telecommunications Council (NPSTC), which is a federation of more than a dozen public safety communications organizations, has also spoken out against this provision in the bill.

In a letter, NPSTC Chair Ralph Haller said that the provision in question "needs to be amended to address the concerns of public safety and the amateur radio users."

Both groups support the underlying objective of the legislation.

WHAT YOUR FAVORITE CLASSIC ROCK BAND SAYS ABOUT YOU.

BY JOHN PECK

- - - -

The Doors: You have been bitten by an animal while trying to get it stoned.

The Who: You own a Goldwing with a baby-changing station.

Ted Nugent: Your hair has at some point been caught in a ceiling fan, boat propeller, or lathe.

The Rolling Stones: You own three cars and no stereo.

Canned Heat: You own three stereos and no car.

The Beatles: You can do exactly 1.5 pull-ups.

Badfinger: You are a Beatle.

Deep Purple: Some part of a law named after a young girl applies to you.

Led Zeppelin: The first three things you smoked were banana peels, catnip, and poppies, in that order.

Jimi Hendrix: You are under 20 or over 65.

The Kinks: You have bad teeth and are good in bed.

The Guess Who: You have good teeth and are bad in bed.

Black Sabbath: Your greatest joy is painting unventilated rooms.

David Bowie: There is still, somewhere, a Dig Dug or Zaxxon machine with your high score on it.

Mott the Hoople: You are David Bowie.

The Moody Blues: You are a former volunteer at the Liberace museum, a serial killer, or both.

1030. Grandpa vs. IRS .....

The IRS decides to audit Grandpa, and summons him to the IRS office.

The IRS auditor was not surprised when Grandpa showed up with his attorney.

The auditor said, 'Well , sir, you have an extravagant lifestyle and no full-time employment, Which you explain by saying that you win money gambling. I'm not sure the IRS finds that believable.'

I'm a great gambler, and I can prove it,' says Grandpa. 'How about a demonstration?'

The auditor thinks for a moment and said, 'Okay . Go ahead.'

Grandpa says, 'I'll bet you a thousand dollars that I can bite my own eye.'

The auditor thinks a moment and says, 'It's a bet.'

Grandpa removes his glass eye and bites it. The auditor's jaw drops.

Grandpa says, 'Now , I'll bet you two thousand dollars that I can bite my other eye.'

Now the auditor can tell Grandpa isn't blind, so he takes the bet.

Grandpa removes his dentures and bites his good eye.

The stunned auditor now realizes he has wagered and lost three grand, with Grandpa's attorney as a witness. He starts to get nervous.

'Want to go double or nothing?' Grandpa asks. 'I'll bet you six thousand dollars that I can stand on one side of your desk, and pee into that wastebasket on the other side, and never get a drop anywhere in between.'

The auditor, twice burned, is cautious now, but he looks carefully and decides there's no way this old guy could possibly manage that stunt, so he agrees again.

Grandpa stands beside the desk and unzips his pants, but although he strains mightily, he can't make the stream reach the wastebasket on the other side, so he pretty much urinates all over the auditor's desk.

The auditor leaps with joy, realizing that he has just turned a major loss into a huge win.

But Grandpa's own attorney moans and puts his head in his hands.

'Are you okay?' the auditor asks.

'Not really,' says the attorney. ' This morning , when Grandpa told me he'd been summoned for an audit, he bet me twenty-five thousand dollars that he could come in here and pee all over your desk and that you'd be happy about it!'

I keep telling you! Don't Mess with Old People!!

1031. Woman Faces Jail Time

Woman Faces Jail Time For Growing Vegetable Garden in Her Own Front Lawn

When Julie Bass' front yard was torn up after replacing a sewer line she put in a vegetable garden. (ABC News)

Julie Bass faces the prospect of going to jail for what she's growing in her front yard. The illegal growth is tomatos. And zuchinis, peppers and other edible and what normally would be legal plants.

The officials in Bass' hometown of Oak Park, Mich., have charged her with growing "vegetable garden in front yard space." If convicted, she could spend up to 93 days in jail.

Bass said that the criminal charge "blew my mind." "Sometimes we laugh because it seems so silly and sometimes we cry because it's so pathetic. A lot of times it does not seem real," she told ABCNews.com.

Bass has insisted on a jury trial and a pre-trial hearing is set for July 26. If the case goes to court Radner does not believe that a jury will convict his client of a crime.

"Michelle Obama plants vegetables on White House front lawn. I don't think the jury is going to think that it's suitable for the White House, but it's not suitable for Oak Park," said Bass' attorney Solomon Radner.

The first lady's office, which is encouraging growing fresh vegetables to help fight childhood obesity, declined to comment on the Oak Park vegetable case.

Bass got the idea to plant a garden in front yard after it was torn up over a busted sewage pipe.

"There were piles of dirt outside and we knew we had to do something," Bass said. "We looked into putting in sod but it was shockingly expensive, so we starting looking into other books to do something a little more cost effective. We found pictures in a bunch of different library books of garden beds. It was perfect and we had a blank canvas."

Front Yard Vegetable Garden Called a Crime

In May, Bass started planting green tomatoes, zucchini and baby peppers among other vegetables, in five large, decorative planter boxes in the family's front yard. She claims that she sought and received approval from both neighbors and city officials in her Detroit suburb.

Oak Park's Planning and Technology director Kevin Rulkowski told ABC News affiliate WXYZ, "I told her don't do it, and she went ahead and did it anyway."

Bass said that Rulkowski's claims are "completely not true." She said, "He told me that he found out that we couldn't put fences around the front of the property, but he wasn't able to find anything specific to vegetables…He said the city allows decorative plantings."

According to Bass,the family hired professionals to make the planter boxes, bought tomato trellises, paving stones and a swing at a cost of over $500.

"What I understood is that they wanted something that would look nice," Bass said. "We thought that if we do it in a nice orderly way, we could make it pretty and aesthetically pleasing."

An Oak Park city councilman allegedly received two complaints about the garden resembling a "New Orleans cemetery." After an initial warning, Oak Park code enforcement officer Kevin Jones issued Bass a citation on June 8 for growing a vegetable garden on the front yard of her own property.

"At first we just thought the city was trying to bully us into backing down," Bass said. "There are people all over the city of Oak Park have planter boxes."
The Oak Park city screening and landscaping ordinance states, "All unpaved portions of the [screening and landscaping] site shall be planted with grass ground cover, shrubbery, or other suitable live plant material."
The debate is over what is "suitable."
"If you look at the dictionary, suitable means common. You can look all throughout the city and you'll never find another vegetable garden that consumes the entire front yard," Rulkowski told ABC affiliate WXYZ.
Radner disagrees. "Suitable does not have any meaning," he said. "What one person may think is pretty or suitable another person may think is terribly ugly or not suitable. That's why I think this prosecution is unconstitutional."
Radner also pointed to an exception listed in the city ordinance that specifically allows vegetable gardens: "Exempted from the provisions of this article, inclusive, are flower gardens, plots of shrubbery, vegetable gardens and small grain plots."
"You can't make this stuff up," Radner said.

My Travels ... some places I've been.

I have been in many places, but I've never been in Cahoots.

Apparently, you can't go there alone. You have to be in Cahoots with someone.

I've also never been in Cognito. I hear no one recognizes you there.

I have, however, been in Sane. They don't have an airport; you have to be driven there.

I have made several trips there, thanks to my friends, family and work.

I would like to go to Conclusions, but you have to jump and I don't do any jumping any more.

I have also been in Doubt. That is a sad place to go, and I try not to visit there too often.

I've been in Flexible, but only when it was very important to stand firm.

Sometimes I'm in Capable, and I go there more often as I'm getting older.

One of my favorite places to be is in Suspense! It really gets the adrenaline flowing and pumps up the old heart! At my age I need all the stimuli I can get!

And, sometimes I think I am in Vincible but life shows me I am not!

I have been in Deepshit many times; the older I get, the easier it is to get there.

Merry Christmas to all !!!
Enjoy a good laugh today!
Love,
Ralph

Technology - don't you just love it?

DON'T YOU LOVE THE WAY US Guy's are alway thinking ahead?

It all began with an iPhone...

March was when our son celebrated his 17th birthday, and we got him an iPhone. He just loved it. Who wouldn't?

I celebrated my birthday in July, and my wife made me very happy when she bought me an iPad.
Our daughter's birthday was in August so we got her an iPod Touch.

My wife celebrated her birthday in September so I got her an iRon.

It was around then that the fight started...

What my wife failed to recognize is that the iRon can be integrated into the home network with the iWash, iCook and iClean.

This inevitably activates the iNag reminder service.

I should be out of the hospital next week!!

PS: iHurt!!!
